

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

Dear Sir,

Some time ago I bought a copy of Cotton's Editions of the Bible, in which a Mr. Hamilton has made many corrections and additions. The book was published in 1852 at Oxford. If there should be any intention to reprint the book, I shall be happy to present my copy to the Bodleian library. The additions may be useful to some future editor.

I am

Yrs truly,

Dear Sir

My copy of Cotton's work has been sent to-day by the parcels post.
I do not know who Mr. Hamilton was,
but he had evidently devoted much time to the subject. The ships were loose when I bought the book, but I have had it bound, and the ships secured in their proper places. I have now much pleasure in presenting it to the Bodleian library.

Yrs. faithfully,
John Davies.

The M.S. additions I have made throughout this volume, besides those I have inserted in slips, are extracted from the titles of such copies that have passed through my hands from time to time, thus proving many statements made by Dr Cotton to have been erroneous. I am no advocate for stating "no edition."

C.W. 1861

P.S. This remark relating to the Dr. is much mitigated when I have known the most practised Bibliographers commit the same, & often, much worse errors!

THIRTY-ONE years have elapsed, since the appearance of the former edition of this work. During that period, the public attention has been largely directed towards this department of Biblical literature; not merely on the score of a taste for Bibliography; but with the far higher object, of tracing with exactness the steps by which the great work of the Reformation was accomplished in the British dominions, and of further elucidating the characters of many eminent persons, who were raised up by Providence to take leading parts in those memorable transactions.

In the course of the researches which Scholars have undertaken for the above-named objects, many interesting particulars have been brought to light respecting the publication of the earliest and rarest editions of the English Scriptures. And the accidental discovery in 1831, by Mr. Rodd, a London bookseller, of a fragment of Tyndale's first printed New Testament with Glosses, led to a series of careful and connected investigations, which have resulted in placing that portion of our Ecclesiastical history upon a clearer and more satisfactory basis than before.

Do not let us forget, that the first person, who systematically undertook to bring together such information as could be gleaned from scattered sources respecting the several English translations of the Scriptures, and to add to it some historical notices of the authors and editors of those versions, was the Rev. John Lewis, Minister of Margate; well known as the author of the lives of Wicliffe, of bishop Reginald Pecock, of William Caxton the first English printer,—and of several other literary pieces.

In the preparation of that laborious work, he received material assistance from the learned Dr. Daniel Waterland, Master of Magdalene College Cambridge; ample evidence of which may be seen, in the correspondence of the two friends, published in the last volume of Dr. Waterland's works, printed by the University of Oxford in 1823.

Mr. Lewis at first prefixed his account of English Bibles to a folio edition of Wicliffe's version of the New Testament, in 1731. Seven years afterwards, he published it by itself, with some additional information, in an octavo volume. And it was reprinted in 1818.

The first part of his work treats of ancient manuscript translations of the Scriptures, in Saxon and English; the labours of Abbat Ælfric, of Richard the hermit of Hampole, of John Wicliffe and some of his followers. The second part is employed in describing the translations made, and printed, from the reign of king Henry VIII. to the year 1729.

It has been somewhat the fashion, in late years, to speak slightly of those labours of Mr. Lewis. Orme, in his "Bibliotheca Biblica," is pleased to style the History of English Translations "a dull but important book." But it ought to be remembered, that in compilations of that kind the object is rather to convey exact information than to delight the fancy. And few persons, except those who have been actually engaged in similar researches, have any idea of the amount of labour requisite to be undergone in order to bring that detailed information before the public in a tangible and intelligible shape.

It is quite true, that Lewis' account of those matters is imperfect, and in numerous instances inaccurate. Yet competent judges have felt not only gratitude, but surprise that he was able to amass so large an amount of information respecting particulars which the difficulties of those troubled times had surrounded with obscurity; and to discover copies of so many of those interesting editions of our Scriptures, which stole forth in secrecy and silence, from unknown presses, and were dispersed by unknown hands. We read with deep interest, how these were watched, and seized, and suppressed, immediately on their appearance; how jealously they were guarded by their possessors, and frequently were concealed with the utmost care, upon any sudden outburst of the persecuting spirit which then unhappily prevailed.

The five and thirty years from 1525 to 1560, by which time Queen Elizabeth was firmly seated on the throne, comprise the most stirring and interesting period of our Ecclesiastical history. Those years furnished Mr. Lewis with abundance of curious and valuable materials; but they likewise presented most formidable difficulties to any attempt at a complete and lucid arrangement of those materials.

Although the spirit of Religious Reformation had been fairly awakened through the country; and Tyndale and a few fellow-labourers were heartily engaged in the holy work of laying the Scriptures open to the masses of the people, who now demanded, as their right, to have the Word of God in their own tongue: yet this desire could only be gratified by the most prudent management, and with the aid of the shelter of a foreign land. Tyndale himself had been forced to fly to the continent; and no printer in England was willing to hazard his liberty and perhaps his life, by being openly concerned in the publication of the Bible or New Testament in English. The tenets of the Reformation were indeed steadily gaining ground among the people: but the Church of Rome still possessed in the bishops a powerful and active party, determined at all hazards to resist the introduction of light, and the spread of doctrines which portended an utter overthrow to their ancient authority and influence.

The King played a singular part through these transactions. It has been generally supposed, that his private sentiments were in favour of a free circulation of the Scriptures among his subjects. Yet his chief concern seems to have been, how to secure and strengthen his own absolute authority. He was fickle, capricious, continually wavering to and fro: so that the Reformers could never reckon on his protection for a single day. No man could foretell in the evening what would be the Royal will, and the national creed, on the following morning: none could divine which feeling was likely to predominate—the haughty denial of the Pope's supremacy, or the fear of offending the Church and giving occasion for seditious risings among the people. The stars of Gardiner and Cranmer seemed to be alternately in the ascendant.

Under such circumstances, the dissemination of the Scriptures was a work of great delicacy and danger. No man dared openly avow himself an agent in that work. As for the books themselves, as soon as they found their way into England, they were intercepted by the Bishops and their watchful emissaries; were captiliously examined, and studiously misrepresented: every species of heresy, and every seed of sedition, was affirmed to lurk in them: the slightest oversight or error of the press was denounced as pregnant with unseen mischief<sup>a</sup>: the people were cautioned to flee

<sup>a</sup> “As for my translation, in whiche      “I have hearde saye) to be I wotte not “they afferme unto the laye people (as      “how many thousande hereyes, so that the perusal of them as so much poison; and the volumes themselves were required to be delivered up to the officers of justice, and by them were committed to the flames. Again and again, as Tyndale and his fellow-labourers proceeded, the same cry was raised, and the same destructive violence was resorted to; so that, of the five or six editions of Tyndale's first translation of the New Testament, it is now difficult to find even a fragment, much less a perfect copy.

Of course, it was to no purpose that he raised his voice in justification of his motives and proceedings. His opponents were not disposed to discuss by arguments that which they were able to put down by the strong hand of power. Yet he was strong in a conviction of the righteousness of his cause: and to those who were willing to hear coolly and impartially his reasoning in defence of himself, there was an air of sincerity as well as zeal; a modest, unassuming, and conciliatory tone. "Moreover," says he, (in an address occasioned by George Joye's unauthorized alteration of his translation,<sup>e</sup>) "moreover, I take God, which alone seeth the heart, to record to my conscience, beseeching him that my part be not in the blood of Christ, if I wrote of all that I have written throughout all my book, ought of an evil purpose, of envy or malice to any man, or to sterve up any false doctrine or opinion in the Church of Christ, or to be author of any sect, or to draw disciples after me, or that I would be esteemed or had in price above the least child that is born, save only of pity and compassion I had and yet have on the blindness of my brethren, and to bring them unto the knowledge of Christ, and to make every one of them, if it were possible, as perfect as an angel of heaven, and to weed out all that is not planted of our heavenly Father, and to bring down all that lifteth up itself against the knowledge of the salvation that is in the blood of Christ.

"Also, my part be not in Christ, if mine heart be not to follow and live according as I teach; and also if mine heart weep not night and day for mine own sin and other mens indifferently,

"it cannot be mended or correcte, they have yet taken so greate payne to ex-

Preface to his Translation of the Pentateuch, 1530.

<sup>e</sup> In his second address, or preface, to his corrected New Testament of November 1534, headed "Willyam Tindale yet once more to the Christen readers."

“ beseeching God to convert us all, and to take his wrath from us,
“ and to be merciful as well to all other men, as to mine own soul, “ caring for the wealth of the realm I was born in, for the King
“ and all that are thereof, as a tender-hearted mother would do
“ for her only son.

“ As concerning all I have translated or otherwise written, I beseech all men to read it for that purpose I wrote it: even to bring them to the knowledge of the Scripture. As far as the Scripture approveth it, so far to allow it; and if in any place the word of God disallow it, then to refuse it, as I do before our Saviour Christ and his congregation. And where they find faults, let them shew it me, if they be nigh, or write to me, if they be far off: or write openly against it and improve it, and I promise them if I shall perceive that their reasons conclude, I will confess mine ignorance openly.”

But all this, and much more, fair and reasonable as it was, could neither turn the tide nor stem it. The translations of Tyndale, though they had been revised and corrected, were still adjudged to be heretical and dangerous; whatever bore his name was forbidden; and when the sacred Text itself could no longer be withheld from the people, all Prologues or Annotations, by whomsoever written, were ordered to be utterly removed from it. This is one reason why, among the earlier editions which have reached our days, by far the greater part are mutilated and defaced; and one cause of much uncertainty and consequent confusion in describing them. So that, when Mr. Lewis is lightly charged with a want of clearness and precision in any of his statements, we may perceive abundant excuses for the defect, in the disturbed condition of the materials with which he had to construct his work.

Even at this day, when our acquaintance with these matters is far greater than ever was within his reach, there are numerous points of detail still remaining to be cleared up. We cannot yet offer satisfactory descriptions of the three or four editions of Tyndale's first translation, which immediately followed those of 1525: of the year 1534, in which his second or revised translation appeared, there are at least four editions, of the same size, quite distinct—besides the one which he himself published “in the month of November,” and also not including that which was put forth by George Joye. In 1536, there were three distinct impressions in quarto, so nearly resembling each other as only to be distinguishable by close examination; and no fewer than five duodecimo editions of that same year, which with an ordinary observer might pass for one and the same. In 1538 two editions of Coverdale's New Testament were printed by Nicolson in Southwark. Their outward appearance is the same in almost every point: but a careful inspection will shew that their contents are really different.

Again, in the years 1539, 1540, and 1541, there was published a noble series, of no less than seven editions of the "Great Bible," in large folio, designed for the use of churches. All were executed by the same printers, Grafton and Whitchurch; all are nearly alike in size, type, decoration, and contents. What wonder, if these have been often mistaken, one for another?—In those doubtful times, vernacular Bibles were things almost unknown. The minds of the common people were attracted to them by an intense curiosity. The concourse of readers and listeners was great, as soon as they were exposed to public perusal in the churches; and the copies would soon become mutilated, through continual handling. The first and last leaves would be likely to be first destroyed. Those leaves contained the distinctive marks of the edition: and after they had been lost, it became a matter of some difficulty to ascertain to what impression the remainder of the volume belonged. It subsequently became a practice, in the case of those mutilated church Bibles, to supply the deficiencies with leaves taken indiscriminately from any one of the seven editions: so that even professed Bibliographers have been deceived by that ingenious Mosaic work, and have been led to give erroneous descriptions of the book which was before them.

To assist modern collectors in distinguishing these handsome and interesting volumes, I have constructed a Tabular collation of them all; which will be found in the Appendix, at p. 285. Long and minute descriptions of them are afforded to those persons who are fortunate enough to possess the "Catalogue of Bibles, &c. in "the Collection of Lea Wilson, Esq." (4<sup>o</sup>. 1845,) a gentleman who by diligent research and great liberality succeeded in accumulating an English Biblical library of unrivalled richness; and particularly had obtained perfect copies of all these seven editions of the Great Bible; a piece of good fortune, I believe, which had never occurred to an individual before. The first of those editions possesses a peculiar degree of interest, from the circumstances which attended its progress through the press. Grafton and Whitchurch had commenced the impression at Paris, in 1538, under the patronage of Crumwell, Henry's vicar general, and the superintendence of Miles Coverdale as corrector: when the Inquisition suddenly pounced upon them, broke up the press, seized the finished sheets, and compelled the printers to fly for their lives. By great adroitness, Grafton and Whitchurch secured the types and other machinery: they likewise contrived to rescue "about four great dry-fats<sup>1</sup> full" of the printed sheets which had been ordered to be burned: and having persuaded the Paris workmen to accompany them to England, they completed a certain number of copies in London, in the spring of the following year.

The other six editions of this Bible might possibly pass as twelve: because, although Grafton and Whitchurch had the privilege of printing them in common, yet their joint names never occur together on the titles, but each placed his own on his own share of the copies. This circumstance was taken notice of by Humfrey Wanley, upwards of a century ago. A still more striking instance of this printing in partnership occurs in a folio Bible of the year 1551; where this colophon is found: "Imprynted at London by "Nicolas Hyll, dwelling in Saynct John's Streate, at the coste "and charges of certayne honest men of the occupacyon, whose names be upon their bokes." And accordingly we find no fewer than seven names of publishers, and four of printers, on different copies of this edition. See the note on the subject, at p. 27; and p. 292.

Another fertile source of difficulty and confusion in describing these mutilated ancient copies is; the fact of their lying widely dispersed in various quarters, so as not to admit of being brought under the eye at one and the same time. Persons inexperienced in such investigations may deem this a point of no importance; but a few trials will convince them of the contrary. Those, who have been in the habit of collating and comparing books, well know how treacherous even a good memory is often found in such cases; how frequently a volume, which we are examining to-day, appears to be exactly like the one we had inspected yesterday: when perhaps there really is a very considerable difference between them. In truth, it is often difficult to catch the minute and trifling varieties, which sometimes are the only distinguishing marks of a foreign printers of Tyndale's New Testament, "They print them there, and send them hither by vatts-full."

particular edition, without an actual juxta-position of several copies. And for this reason, it is of great consequence to a person who is engaged in inquiries of this nature, to be constantly within reach of extensive and rich public repositories, like the British Museum, the Bodleian, or Cambridge University Library ; which, out of their abundant store of copies, may afford him ready opportunities of deciding doubtful points, and thus rendering his description of a book exact and satisfactory.

Still, no man who undertakes to give full accounts of some hundreds of rare books — however favorably he may happen to be placed for carrying on the necessary researches—can expect that he will be able to examine every single article with his own eyes. He must often depend on printed authorities, or on accounts furnished to him by friends. It is hopeless to expect uniformity, in communications forwarded from many different quarters, by persons of different minds and tastes. Not only may it happen, that a book is very imperfectly and erroneously described ; but that several accounts of it may reach us, so widely differing from each other, that we may suppose that there are two (or more) editions of the work in question, when in reality there is only one.

Within the last few years, the department of History, to which this List refers, has received an ample and instructive illustration, in “ The Annals of the English Bible, by Christopher Anderson (a “ Baptist minister at Glasgow),” 2 vols. 8°. 1845. It is a work of deep interest and profound research ; deserving to be read and studied carefully by every one who feels thankful to Providence for the blessings of the Reformation. It has proved of the greatest use to me, in the preparation of this amended List : and I have only been able to restrain myself from quoting whole pages from it, by the recollection that I am not writing a History, but merely compiling materials for one. Mr. Anderson has brought out, in brilliant and just light, the piety, the firmness, the learning, and unwearied labours of the martyr WILLIAM TYNDALE : and has shewn us how shamefully we have long overlooked an illustrious champion of the Faith, to whose single pen the sacred cause of the Reformation in these countries was chiefly indebted for all its earlier success.

I wish that the author’s plan of treating his subject had allowed him to furnish us with more copious particulars respecting the labours of another worthy, MILES COVERDALE, the author of our first printed English translation of the Bible, folio 1535. To this day, a degree of mystery hangs over the production of that book. We do not rightly know what induced Coverdale to undertake the work;—who employed him—who protected him—who paid him: nor even, where the volume was put to press; nor by what means; and to what extent, copies of it were circulated in England.

We readily concede to Mr. Anderson, that Coverdale did not translate from the Hebrew and Greek Originals, but from the Latin Vulgate; and, that he was of a different temperament from Tyndale, and did not stand forth so prominently and boldly in defence of the free use of the Scriptures, against the tyranny of the Romish bishops and their blind abettors. Still, he has deserved well of every friend to the English Reformation. His labours in the same cause were neither slight nor few. A large and honorable mention of them would not have detracted anything from the credit of the chief hero of the piece; and would have found a most appropriate place in a sterling work like the “Annals of the English Bible.”

My object in the present compilation has been, to provide an Appendix to the works of Lewis and subsequent writers on the same subject: by enumerating all the editions, either of the whole Bible or of any detached portions of it, which can now be ascertained, and specifying the public libraries or private collections, in which copies of them may be seen. Lewis has done this occasionally, but not with sufficient accuracy or fulness. It was not directly a part of his design. He had more important matters under his consideration.

Several Lists of this kind have already been given to the public; gradually improving in character as they followed each other, but still all more or less defective and incorrect. The following is a brief notice of them.

1. “A List of various editions of the BIBLE and parts thereof, “in English; from the year 1526 to 1776. from a MS. (N<sup>o</sup>. 1140.) “in the Archiepiscopal Library at Lambeth, much enlarged and “improved.” Of this list, which consists of a single 8<sup>o</sup>. sheet, without a title-page, two hundred and fifty copies were privately printed, for the Archbishop of Canterbury, at the press of Mr. Bowyer, in 1776. It is now extremely scarce. In it the editions of the Psalms are intermixed with those of the Bible.

2. “A list, &c. (as before.) A manuscript list of English Bibles, “copied from one compiled by the late Mr. Joseph Ames, pre"sented to the Lambeth library by Dr. Gifford, hath furnished "some part of this publication: later discoveries of several learned "gentlemen have supplied the rest. London, 1778." In 8°. containing thirty-seven leaves, printed only on one side. In this list, which, like the former, was printed (by Bowyer) for presents only, the Psalms are placed in chronological order by themselves: an arrangement which, as being more distinct, I have thought it best to follow.

These two compilations were generally known by the name of "Dr. Ducarel's Lists," being supposed to have been drawn up by him: but I discovered that this opinion was erroneous, by accidentally meeting with a copy of each of them, formerly belonging to Mark Cephas Tutet, Esq. and containing in his own handwriting the explanation given below: the former of those two notes being prefixed to the edition of 1776, and the latter to that of 1778<sup>b</sup>.

<sup>b</sup> 1. "This list (down to the year "1600 only) was made by me more "than twenty years ago, merely for "my own use; but at the latter end "of last year Dr. Ducarel requested "me to continue it to that time, in "order to be printed at the expence "of the Archbishop of Canterbury. "I accordingly did in a hasty manner "bring the list down to the year 1776, "and apprehend from such haste, as "well as my want of leisure and opportunity, that there will be found "many errors and omissions. Whilst "I was employed in writing the list, "Dr. Ducarel put into my hands another belonging to the Lambeth library, drawn up by the Rev. Dr. Gifford, one of the librarians of the "British Museum, brought down, if I remember right, to about the year "1757, in which I found a few editions not mentioned by me, but very "many errors, and editions multiplied "without number. A fair copy of my "list I gave to Dr. Ducarel, and 250 "copies have been printed for presents only. Whoever will compare this "printed list with the MS. one in the "Lambeth library, will find a great "difference, as I omitted many pretended editions inserted by Dr. Gifford. Those marked G. are taken "from his list: I have never before "seen them. Many more editions of "the Psalms might have been added, "but I purposely omitted them, as "being rather paraphrases; such as "those of Ant. Gilbie, 1581. Sir E. Sandys, 1615. Church of Scotland, "1602. Ravenscroft, 1621. Geo. Sandys, 1636. R. B. 1638. Miles Smith, "1668. Ld. Coleraine, 1681. Isaac Watts, 1718. R. Daniel, 1722. Geo. Atwood, 1730. Zach. Mudge, 1744. "Mr. Pike, 1750. W. Green, 1762. "Chas. Bradbury, 1763. Jas. Merrick, 1765. Chr. Smart, 1765.

"Feb. 6. 1777, M. C. Tutet."

"2. The annotation in the opposite "title-page was occasioned by Dr. Gifford being much displeased, and "complaining on not finding himself "mentioned in the first edition as the "compiler; but surely without cause; "see my note in that edition. The "present, like the former edition, has "been printed for presents only, at "the expence of the Abp. of Canterbury; I have had no hand in any "additions that may have been made "to it; there are still retained some "editions, the existence of which I "very much doubt. 24 Jan'y. 1778. "M. C. T."

3. "The Lambeth list, enlarged and improved by the Rev. Clement Crutwell; prefixed to his edition of the Bible, with Bp. Wilson's notes, published at Bath in 1785." Several editions which appear in the former lists are left out from this, probably because the editor was not satisfied of their existence: but I have not considered myself justified in adhering to Mr. Crutwell's omissions; since it may easily happen that other observers may be fortunate enough to meet with editions which have not been seen either by him or by me.

This List was reprinted in the Prolegomena to the Bible edited by the Rev. John Hewlett, 4<sup>o</sup>. 1811.

4. Mr. Tutet's List, N<sup>o</sup>. 2, continued to the year 1792, with a notice of two manuscript versions: this is attached to Abp. Newcome's "Historical view of the English Biblical Translations," printed at Dublin, 8<sup>o</sup>. 1792.

5. A reprint of N<sup>o</sup>. 4, with a scanty supplement brought down to the year 1816; appended to a republication of "Lewis's History of the English Translations," 8<sup>o</sup>. London, 1818. Neither the editor of this last list, nor of N<sup>o</sup>. 4, appear to have seen that of Mr. Crutwell.

6. A List, appended to "Anderson's Annals of the English Bible," entitled, "Various editions of the New Testament and the Bible, in English, with certain Public Libraries and individual proprietors in possession of copies."

This list professes to contain about a hundred editions not specified in my former list. It is confined to Bibles and New Testaments alone, making no mention of PSALMS or other detached portions of the Scriptures<sup>c</sup>.

But the most minute, accurate, and satisfactory account of a large proportion of these ancient records is found in a remarkable volume, entitled, "Bibles, Testaments, Psalms, and other books of the Holy Scriptures in English, in the collection of Lea Wilson, esq. F.S.A.:" London, 1845. 4<sup>o</sup>. This book was not intended for public sale. Only a few copies were printed, for presents to the author's friends. The work is divided into four departments: the first of which, comprising Bibles, (p. 1—135: and Appendix, p. 129*—136*) contains 292 + 19 = 311 articles. Part ii. comprising New versions of the Psalms (only) is attached to the Rev. H. Latham's Anthologia Davidica, 12<sup>o</sup>. London, 1846.

Testaments, (p. 137—221.) contains 154 articles. Part iii. Editions of the Psalms, (p. 223—283,) contains 258 : and Part iv. Editions of Parts of the Bible, (p. 285—345, contains 271 ; altogether 994 articles. Many of these are pieces of the utmost rarity : and I have been informed, that the copies in general are in the finest possible condition, and that a much larger number of the earlier and scarcer editions are quite perfect, than is the case in any other known collection of equal extent.

In his preface Mr. Wilson says, “ In printing a list of my collection of Editions of the Bible in English, and parts thereof, “ —I have endeavoured to give a minute and careful collation “ or description of the most rare editions in my collection, for the “ purpose of ascertaining the identity of other copies, or proving “ the existence of editions not yet enumerated : and also to correct in some degree the errors which have been carried on from “ one author to another, as to the number of Editions which have “ been printed of the earlier versions ; and thereby to remove “ the imputation or implication that our ancestors were indifferent as to the possession of the Holy Scriptures in their own “ language.

“ Of the early volumes many very closely resemble each other “ in type, arrangement, and general appearance : and of several, “ the first and last words of each page read alike : so that actual “ comparison and collation is necessary to discover the variations : “ and the precious volumes in most instances lying in widely “ distant libraries, it was almost impossible to bring them together. This similarity of appearance led, therefore, to the supposition, in many cases, that only a single edition had been put “ forth, where actually three or four, or even more, were issued, “ every leaf differing throughout the volumes in composition and “ orthography : a favorite or particularly saleable book being several times reprinted, as in the case of the 4<sup>o</sup>. Genevan Bible “ bearing the date of 1599, of which there are at least eight distinct “ editions.

“ The greatest care has been taken to establish the proper arrangement of the Prolegomena belonging to many of the volumes ; “ the printers’ signatures to these being frequently very arbitrary “ and irregular ; particularly in the Bishops’ Bibles of 1568 and “ 1572, and they are in consequence continually found misplaced. “ I think I may confidently assert my accuracy herein.

“ To aid future collectors of an English series, I have added

" the more modern versions ; many of which, though comparatively recent, are rare and very difficult to be procured—particularly of the detached books.

" In affixing the sizes to the different volumes, I found considerable difficulty. Much confusion has hitherto existed ; one author considering a book as an octavo, which another styles a duodecimo : and in many catalogues every size below quarto is rated as octavo. In this list, without regarding the printer's signatures, or gathering of the sheets, I have generally given to each the designation that a volume of similar dimensions would receive, if published at the present time."

I have much pleasure in testifying to the great accuracy and minuteness of many of the collations and descriptions in this Catalogue. Those of the earlier and more rare editions are given with a fulness and distinctness which leaves nothing to desire. I could not insert all those particulars into a slight work like the present List : but confidently refer those persons, who desire more detailed notice of any remarkable edition, to this curious and valuable catalogue of Mr. Wilson.

With respect to the contents of any former lists, I have felt myself bound to retain whatsoever I found there ; except where subsequent examination proved a statement to be erroneous : but there is little doubt, that several editions, cited by me as well as by my predecessors in these inquiries, owe their supposed existence to mis-descriptions ; being called folios by one, and quartos by another ; or octavos by this writer, and duodecimos by his fellow. This is a point, in which even our great bibliographical authority, Mr. Herbert, is not to be depended on. He himself has acknowledged, that he often calls octavos volumes which really are twelves, (or, more likely, sixteens : for in old books the signatures more often run in eights than in any other number.) It has been seen above, that Mr. Lea Wilson confessed himself to be at fault in this mysterious nomenclature : and it is well known, that in the printed catalogues of some great libraries, as for instance, the Bodleian, no size below an octavo is specified : but all the smaller fry of twelves, eighteens, twenty-fours, thirty-twos, forty-eights, &c. &c., are made to take brevet rank and appear as octavos. most infamous ! and a disgrace

I have been careful to note down every known possessor of copies of the earlier and more rare editions : for, since many of these are imperfect, it is of some consequence to know where a second or third copy may be found. With regard to more recent editions, many of which are scarcely yet out of ordinary circulation, it did not appear to me that such exactness was indispensable. I have usually named some one public library which contained them, as just sufficient to verify their existence.

In the Introduction to my former edition, I expressed a wish to see a careful reprint of the first 12<sup>o</sup>. edition of Tyndale's New Testament. This has since been effected; as also has a handsome republication of the FIRST EDITION OF COVERDALE'S BIBLE; facts which evince the increased interest taken by the public in these memorials of the Reformation; at the same time that they afford to many persons an opportunity, which they could not previously have enjoyed, of making themselves acquainted with the language of our first translators; and of tracing the gradual changes and improvements which have been adopted from time to time. I think, that an observant reader cannot fail to remark the circumstance, that many of the words and phrases, used in our very earliest versions, have maintained their ground for centuries against repeated revisions of the translation, and are retained to this very day. Let him take up the first edition of Coverdale's Bible (printed in 1535) and read a chapter from it. To say nothing of that general similarity which pervades the whole book, he will find many verses almost word for word with those of the version in present use. Surely, that rendering must have been near the truth, which repeated examination has not seen fit to alter; that language must have been well chosen, which not only could maintain its ground amidst many changes of style and taste, but could continue to be generally intelligible after more than three centuries had elapsed, and when almost every other composition of the same age had become enveloped in considerable obscurity.

The first part of this List having been devoted to all the other portions of the Bible, the second part comprises editions of the Psalms alone, both in prose and metre. This latter class, as might reasonably be expected, is by far the more numerous; it is also the more difficult to deal with; all poetical versions being in their very nature paraphrastic, and departing more or less from the character of direct translations from a given original.

Among these, the version by Sternhold and Hopkins holds a distinguished place; having been the earliest which is known to have been adopted in our public worship, and having retained, to a certain extent, its popularity and use in many churches to the present day.

That collection was formed and published by degrees. In 1548, or 1549, was printed the first edition, containing only nineteen Psalms, all by Sternhold: in 1549 appeared the second, containing thirty-seven by Sternhold, and seven by John Hopkins: in 1556 we had fifty-one Psalms printed; viz. thirty-seven by Sternhold, seven by Hopkins, and the rest by others: in 1560, we had sixty-seven: in 1561, fourscore and seven: and in 1562 (or 1563 at furthest) the entire book.

Some idea of the great hold, which this version formerly had upon the English mind, may be obtained from observing the almost incessant editions of it, which the press continued to pour forth during the first hundred and fifty years of its reign. In this my List will be found entries of about 309 distinct editions <sup>b</sup> (and I do not imagine that I have given the whole) before the year 1700; about which time the recent translation of Brady and Tate began to divide the public favor with its older companion, and by degrees nearly drove it from the field. We must not imagine that the text is the same, in all those editions of Sternhold. Many and great changes were made in it from time to time: the first considerable alteration appeared in the editions published at Geneva; and various slighter changes of expression were introduced at subsequent periods,—(but by whom, or upon what authority, we do not know)—till about the commencement of the eighteenth century. From that time, I believe that it has continued to be printed without material alteration: and therefore I ceased to specify later editions, except they had something peculiar. The earliest editions of Sternhold are pieces of the utmost rarity. Small in size, and exposed to continual use, the copies have perished through fair wear and tear; so that a perfect one is scarcely to be met with, even in the most richly furnished libraries. Herbert had a copy of the first edition. I do not know what became of it at his sale: and I never have been able to find another.

Of the other principal versions, by Brady and Tate, by Barton, Patrick, the Scottish, the American, Merrick's, &c. I have chiefly noticed the earliest editions, with a few others of later dates, if they presented any particular feature.

Of several translations, we know of only two or three editions; as those of Rous, King James I., G. Wither, Boyd, Bp. King, Goodridge, &c.; and sometimes only a single one; as those of Archbishop Parker, Dod, Top, Burnaby, Ford, Milbourne, and the "Psalterium Americanum," 1718.

With respect to the very large number of writers, who have occasionally exercised their talents of versification in translating small portions of the Psalter, or even one single Psalm—I have felt considerable doubts whether their desultory labours ought to find place in a work like the present. But, not to mention that magnificent burst of genuine feeling, by Richard Crashaw (see p. 376), such names as Bacon, Milton, Donne, Wotton, Herbert, and Addison, could not be passed over, without the appearance of disrespect: and their undoubted reputation has paved the way for the admission of others, of perhaps more questionable pretensions. I may add, that the publication of Mr. Holland's valuable work<sup>1</sup>, "The <sup>1</sup> Besides those compositions, which Mr. Holland has recently brought before the public, there is no doubt that many others are still lying dormant in manuscript, among the half-forgotten papers of old family libraries.

We remember, that, within the last thirty years, the beautiful version of the Psalter by Sir Philip Sidney and his accomplished sister the Countess of Pembroke lay thus concealed from the public. And here I may take occasion to mention another metrical translation, by a person of considerable eminence in his day, namely, Thomas Lord Fairfax, general of the Parliamentary army under the Commonwealth. That rough soldier occasionally found leisure to cultivate the muses, in his way: and the results of those recreations still remain, in a very interesting volume, which formerly was in the library at Denton in Yorkshire, the seat of the Fairfax family. Afterwards it came into the possession of Ralph Thoresby, and is described in his Catalogue, attached to the Ducatus Leodiensis. Subsequently it passed into the hands of His Royal Highness the Duke of Sussex: and at present, adorns the choice collection of my friend the Rev. Dr. Bliss, at Oxford.

The volume is a thick quarto, consisting of about 650 pages, entirely in the hand-writing of the author, with many alterations and corrections subsequently added by him. I give the 137th Psalm here, as a specimen of the considerable nerve and vigour which is displayed throughout the work; though it is cramped by the quaint formality which characterised the language of those days.

Psalm cxxxvii.

Thinking vpon Euphrates bankes to rest,
And drowne, as in obliuions streames, our cares,
Poore Zion's state appear'd in mourning dress,
Wch<sup>ch</sup> peirst our soules, & eyes disolu'd in teares.
Then from our harts sighs did so loudly rise,
As th' ayre seem'd troubled att our sad complaint,
So great excess of teares flowd from our eyes,
As swell'd Euphrates' streames about her bankes.
Our silent lutes we on the willowes fixt,

Whose pale-greene couler shewd thē wether-bett,
 Seeing in our faces a like sadness mixt,
 In dolefull noyse our sighs did imitate.
 Those that vs poor captiues prisoners ledd,
 Thinking insultings ouer us noe wrongs,
 "Your murmuring clamors cease," thes miscrents sedd,
 "And singe vs some of Zions holy songes."
 "Tune vs," said they, "those lofty Hymns that was
 "On days of triumph hard in Zions mount,
 "Whose prayse all other Cityes farr surpass,
 "As tallest pines the lowest shrubs surmount.
 "Alas how is itt possible (said wee)
 "Harts closed vp wth greefe can songs send out?
 "And banish'd thus from Zion, how can itt be "Those sacred Hymns we here should soe pollute?"
 O Zion! should I euer thee forgitt,
 May I my selfe first in obliuion bee.
 My nimble fingers, ye, whose cūning sett
 My lute to warbling voyce noe more agree.
 My tongue vnto my mouth let stick wth heate,
 Nor powre here after more words to phrayse,
 If euer any ioye to me's more great,
 Then how best I may set forth thy prayse.
 Ye pleasures of my soule forsake me, when Into't I other pleasures else inuite;
 Saue how t' extoll thee, o Jerusalem!
 The first and last of all my thought's delight.
 But, Lord, remember how, combined, did
 Edom in stead of neighbours proue as wolues!
 That dismall day from Thee, o Lord, 's not hidd,
 Ther wrath on vs did powre as raging bulls.
 Remember how they, in insulting pride,
 Said, kill, destroy the young, old, and all,
 Raze ther foundations, raze itt, soe they cryd,
 That they in th' ruings may find ther buriall.
 O Babel fierce, o tirants worse then tygers,
 Thou hast a day, thy workes shal be rewarded!
 Happy those hands, fild full wth vttmost rigores,
 To giue thee woe, that pittie ner'e regarded.
 Happy, I say, who, from thy dried brest,
 Snatching the new-borne babes, mercy disdaines,
 That to the world they be noe more a pest Shal 'gainst the Rockes dash out thy children's braines.

The volume comprises not only the entire Psalter, but also many other pieces of poetry, as enumerated by the author in the following list:

positions; so that on the whole, I conceived it best to bring together and describe every thing of this kind which fell under my notice; and to expose myself to the charge of needless redundancy, rather than to that of wilful omission.

In the APPENDIX will be found matters illustrative of many of the more curious works previously noticed: either shewing the character of the composition, or assisting to identify some rare and choice edition.

The bulk of these illustrations was too great to allow of their being introduced as foot-notes to each page; they would have interrupted the series, and have interfered with the facility of reference. Whereas at present, by the help of the table of contents, a person may readily find the particulars of any edition which happens to be the subject of his inquiry.

Walpole, in his Royal and Noble Authors, has taken notice of this manuscript; and it is mentioned by Chalmers, in his Biographical Dictionary. But the reader will perceive, by the detailed account here given, that the descriptions of those writers are very imperfect.

This Appendix consists of the following parts :—

Specimens of translations (given literatim) of the same passage, from many of the earliest and most rare editions. Much pains have been taken to make both the spelling and punctuation of these specimens exactly conformable to the originals; although they often are uncouth, and in many cases manifestly wrong.

A. From the Old Testament.

B. New Testament: 1. From the Gospel of St. Mark; 2. From the First Epistle to the Corinthians.

It is evident, that by bringing together various renderings of the same portion of Scripture by different hands, we obtain considerable insight into the style and character of each translation; we perceive at once the points of resemblance and of difference; and likewise are enabled to trace the gradual progress towards the formation of our present authorized version. By means of this too, a person who possesses an imperfect copy of an ancient Bible may without difficulty ascertain the translator, and, probably, the particular edition.

I selected the first of these specimens from the book of Genesis, on purpose that I might include Tyndale's first Pentateuch of 1530: the second, from St. Mark, on account of some peculiar expressions: and the third from the first Epistle to the Corinthians, as embracing some little variety of interpretation, as well as of phraseology.

There are other specimens, from translations of detached books only; which of course cannot be brought into the series of parallels, but still may exhibit the style of the authors, and assist in identifying an edition. Among these are now introduced for the first time several Poetical versions of parts of the Old Testament, taken from rare editions; which it is hoped may prove an acceptable and interesting addition.

Altogether the specimens in the present edition are more than double the number in the former one.

C. The next department comprises Bibliographical Descriptions of many among the early and most rare editions of the whole Bible, or detached portions of the Old Testament. I have laboured to make these as exact as possible; in order that they may enable possessors of copies to identify an edition; and either to be sure that a copy is perfect, or to ascertain the amount of its deficiency.

D. Similar collations, or descriptions, of editions of the New Testament and parts thereof.

E. Specimens of translation from several of the most rare editions of the Psalms. [These are double the number of those which were given in the first edition of this List.]

F. Bibliographical Descriptions of many editions of the Psalms.

G. A detailed account of Wells' Paraphrase of the Old and New Testament. This work was published at various periods, in many small parts, some of which were reprinted with slight variations. Owing to these circumstances, the sets are very often found to be incomplete; and I have endeavoured here to obviate that inconvenience, by giving as full particulars of the work as I could obtain.

H. Some editions of Bibles, Testaments, and Psalms, enumerated in the Catalogue of the celebrated Biblical collection of the Duke of Wirtemberg; the first part of which was printed, in 1787. 4<sup>o</sup>. and a MS. copy of the second is in the Bodleian. The editions named are such as I have not been able to verify, by finding copies in this country: therefore, although I have little doubt that many of them exist and are properly described; yet I have not at present admitted them into the series, well knowing that a Catalogue is not always to be implicitly trusted, in the seemingly minute and unimportant particulars of date and size. It is satisfactory to me to find, that the number of these has been reduced nearly one half, by the discovery of editions in our own libraries, since the publication of my former List.

The Public was pleased to receive with favor my first attempt in this department, many years ago, notwithstanding its numerous imperfections; and to give me credit for diligence and a desire to make information on these matters more generally accessible than it had been previously.

Since that period, I have made it my business to take every occasion of correcting errors and obtaining additional information; so that I can confidently offer the present volume as more full and accurate than its predecessor. Still, I quite feel, that no one man can hope to bring a work of this kind to anything like completeness; but must be content if he can lay the foundation sure and safe, so that others may venture to build on it hereafter.

In the prosecution of these researches during a long course of years, I have been indebted to so many sources of information ;—to the treasures of so many Public Libraries, and to the kind assistance of so many private friends ;—that it would be a vain task to attempt a particular acknowledgment of all favours. I feel it due no less to the national character than to the obliging kindness of individuals, to bear a willing testimony that in every quarter I have met with the most liberal reception, and have found the utmost readiness to communicate whatever information was desired. I feel the full value of all that personal kindness ; and have endeavoured to make it serviceable to the public, in the present work.

If by chance the remark may be made hereafter, that I have not fully kept pace with the general advance in literary information which has distinguished the last quarter of a century ; I have only to plead the fact, that my own opportunities of learning have not increased, but have greatly diminished, during that time. Thirty year ago, I lost the advantage of daily access to the Bodleian Library, which had been previously at my command ; and went to reside in country parts of the south of Ireland ; where scarcely one single black-letter book is to be found within forty miles ; and where I cannot, at this day, purchase a copy even of the last printed edition of the authorized version of our Bible !

Yet I neglected no opportunity of correcting and adding to my former List : and, during occasional visits to Dublin and to England, have endeavoured to make the best use of my time, by searching out and examining any edition, which I had not previously seen, or had described incorrectly. But every one, who is experienced in these matters, knows the unsatisfactory nature of those intermittent and hurried snatches : and I think he will agree with me, that a compilation of this kind cannot be carried on effectually, except by a person who habitually resides within daily reach of such richly furnished repositories, as London or the Universities of Oxford and Cambridge alone can supply.

If I had continued to be so situated, doubtless this book would have been more full, and probably more minutely accurate. But even now, I confidently trust, that I have supplied some links which were wanting in the chain of information, have satisfied some doubts, and pointed out paths which may lead to more successful inquiries. Happy, if in any instance I may have made a taste for this department of Literature lead onwards to a higher object: if I may have induced a single Collector, while he was chiefly intent on adding to his library some particularly rare and curious edition, to look more closely and attentively into the contents of that HOLY VOLUME, which, in every shape, and every edition, is invaluable to the Christian.

REIGN OF KING HENRY VIII.

1525*.

THE GOSPEL OF ST. MATTHEW, (translated by William Tyndale,) “printed as it was written by the Evangelist”. The GOSPEL OF ST. MARK (by the same.) Supposed to have been printed at Hamburg<sup>a</sup>.

*THE NEW TESTAMENT in Englysshe, (translated by W. Tyndale,) with Glosses and a Prologue. Begun at Cologne, by P. Quentel; and finished at Worms, by Peter Schoeffer.
—British Museum<sup>b</sup>.

<sup>a</sup> No fragment of this first-fruit of Tyndale’s scriptural labours is known to be remaining. See Anderson’s Annals of the English Bible, vol. i. p. 153, &c. and the Biography of Tyndale, prefixed to the reprint of his Doctrinal works by the Parker Society in 1848.

<sup>b</sup> Only a single fragment of this edition now remains, containing, on 31 leaves, the Prologue, and part of St. Matthew’s Gospel. It was discovered in 1834 by Mr. Rodd, an intelligent bookseller of London, who with great diligence and tact traced out the particulars of its publication. It afterwards passed into the hands of the right hon. Thomas Grenville; and is now, with the rest of the magnificent Grenville library, in the British Museum. See a collation of it in the Appendix; a more full one in the “Bibliotheca Grenvilliana,” and a minute description, accompanied by three fac-similes, executed for Mr. Rodd in 1831, in Anderson’s Annals of the Bible, vol. i. p. 52–64. Le Long appears to have been aware of this edition, as printed at those two towns. N. B.—The Prologue, and also the glosses, or marginal notes, have been reprinted, in Tyndale’s Doctrinal Treatises, published by the Parker Society in 1848.

**THE NEW TESTAMENT* in Englysshe, (by Wm. Tyndale.) No place; no name: but now generally supposed to have been printed at Worms, by Peter Schoeffer.—Bristol Museum; St. Paul's, London, (imperfect)<sup>c</sup>. 12°.

<sup>c</sup> Of this valuable and highly interesting volume, the first-fruits of an attempt to print the Scriptures in the English tongue, and the chief cause of the persecution and subsequent death of the translator, a single copy only was supposed to exist. Of the manner in which this found its way into the Harleian library, and of the value set upon it by lord Oxford and Mr. Ames, a short but interesting account is given in the following extract from a letter preserved in the Bodleian library. It is in the handwriting of Ames, is addressed to Mr. George Ballard, and dated Wapping, June 30, 1743: "I cannot forbear telling you of my good success in buying at lord Oxford's sale the phoenix of the whole library; I mean the first English Testament that ever was printed in the year 1526. It has been thought no perfect one was left from the flames. My lord was so well pleased in being the possessor of it, that he gave the person [Mr. John Murrey] he had it of, ten guineas, and settled an annuity of twenty pounds a year during the person's life, which is yet paid him. The particulars are too many to commit to a letter: the old historians and Fox give a good account of it."

Herbert's account, given in a note at p. 1535, may form a sequel to this: "This first edition was in the possession of Mr. Ames, who bought it for fifteen shillings, out of the Harleian library, No. 420, sold by Tho. Osborne, 1743. Mr. John White purchased it for 15*l.* 4*s.* 6*d.* at the auction of Mr. Ames' books, No. 1252, sold by Langford [on May 13th] 1760, and sold it for twenty-one pounds to Dr. Gifford; who at his decease [in 1784] bequeathed it, with many "others, to the Baptist Museum, Bristol."

But it has been my fortune, in examining the library of St. Paul's Cathedral, to discover a second copy. Unluckily it is imperfect, both at the beginning and end; and its former owner, as if afraid of a second bishop Tonstall, has contrived most ingeniously to disguise and disfigure it, by intermixing the leaves of the Gospels and Epistles with each other in the strangest manner. The volume is in half-binding, lettered (for what reason I know not) "Lant's Testament." Surely it well deserves to be carefully taken to pieces and examined: the deficient parts should be supplied by a transcript from the Bristol copy, and inserted in their proper places, lest an unhappy accident should deprive us of either of them: the volume should then be rebound, and placed under lock and key, and under the special superintendence of the librarian.

[This was written in 1821. My suggestions have been partly adopted, and the deficient leaves appear to be the following: title, fol. 1. 2. 3. 8. 15. 16. 23. 31. 32. 39. 40. 46. 47. 116. 192. 193. 198. 255 to 262. 311 to 313. 316 to 343. 3 unnumbered leaves at the end, containing Tyndale's address, and the errata. The remaining parts of the volume are generally in fair sound condition. But yet, see Anderson on the subject, I. p. 69.]

I think it unquestionable, that Tyndale's name was not affixed to either of the New Testaments of 1525, though he added it in later editions: for in his Address to the Reader, prefixed to his "Parable of the Wicked Mammon," (first printed in 1527,) he says, "The cause why I set my name before this little treatise, and have not rather done it in the New Testament, is that

ST. PAUL'S First Epistle to the CORINTHIANS, chapter vii.; with an exposition, (by W. Tyndale); Malborowe in the londe of Hesse, by Hans Luft.—Bodleian<sup>f</sup>. [It contains sign. I. in eights. The first 8 leaves have no signature.]

"then I followed the counsel of Christ, "which exhorteth men (Matt. vi.) to "do their good deeds secretly, and to "be content with the conscience of "well-doing, and that God seeth us, "and patiently to abide the reward of "the last day which Christ has purchased for us; and now would fain "have done likewise, but am compelled otherwise to do."

George Joye has a statement to the same effect, in his tract called "An Apology to satisfy, if it may be, Wm. Tyndale," &c. 1535. 12°.

This edition was reprinted at London in 1536, with an introductory memoir of Tyndale, by Mr. George Offor, who has added numerous collations of the text with the revised edit. of 1534.

<sup>d</sup> This impression seems to have been a very large one, amounting to two, or perhaps three, thousand copies. Yet so hotly was it pursued, that no copy can now be identified in any known collection. See Anderson, I. p. 127, &c.

this edition can be identified. Lewis fancied that he had found one, in the library of Emmanuel College Cambridge, as described to him by Dr. Waterland. But I have examined that volume, and find it to be the edition of Coverdale's version, printed in 1538 without name of place or printer. In the "Repertorium Bibliographicum," 8°. London, 1819, it is stated that an edition of this year was in possession of the marquess of Blandford. But, in the Whiteknights sale-catalogue of that library, the book in question (lot 4098) is described simply as "Tyndale's New Testament, very imperfect;" without any intimation of date or of its being this particular edition.

<sup>f</sup> According to Sir Thomas More, (English Works, fol. 342.) this Exposition was thought to be the production of Fryer Roye, a person who is mentioned by Tyndale, in his introduction to the "Parable of the Wicked Mammon," as the man who helped him, while translating the New Testament, "both to wryte and to compare the

<sup>5</sup> See a collation, in the Appendix. There is good reason for thinking that these books were printed at different places. It is very rare indeed to find them altogether. The Sion College copy wants the Book of Deuteronomy: and it has all the marginal notes cut away, as directed by an act of parliament in 1542. It was presented to the College by the rev. Mr. Lewis, of Margate. The Bodleian copy of Genesis is large and fine. Mr. Tutet's books were sold by auction in 1786. His copy afterwards came into possession of Mr. Heber; and subsequently into that of Mr. Grenville, who parted with it on obtaining a perfect copy from the library of Mr. Wilkinson. It is now in possession of Dr. Daly, Bishop of Cashel. It is a beautiful book, wanting only two leaves; and these have been copied with so much skill, as to deceive the eye of almost every one who inspects them. It has been supposed that Mr. Wilkinson's is the only complete copy known. But—quære whether the late rev. Viscount Aston did not possess a similar one? Dr. Gifford's copy in the Bristol Museum is large; but it wants the book of Genesis, and the last leaf; besides some other deficiencies.

The Preface and the Prologues to the several books have been reprinted by the Parker Society, in "Tyndale's Doctrinal Treatises," 8°. 1848.

<sup>b</sup> Bale affirms, in his "Illustræ Britannicæ Scriptores," (p. 239, edit. 1548,) that in addition to Isaiah, Jeremiah, and the Psalms—which are noticed in this work—Joye translated into English the books of Proverbs and Ecclesiastes. I have not ascertained whether either of these last were printed, or whether they are yet existing any where in manuscript. Bishop Tanner has no notice respecting them in his "Bibliotheca."

<sup>k</sup> This piece is mentioned by Sir Thomas More, in his "Confutation of Tyndale's Answer," printed 1532, as one of the books of heresies imported into this realm. His words are, "Then have we Jonas made out by Tyndall, a booke that whoso delygth therin shall stonde in perill that Jonas was never so swallowed up with the whale, as by the delyte of that booke a mannes soule may be so swallowed up by the devill that he shall never have the grace to geat out agayn." (English Works, fol. 342.) It also appears among the books denounced by Stokesley bishop of London in December 1531. But, from some cause or other, the book has so completely disappeared, that I am not aware of a single copy remaining at this day. Perhaps it may have been lost, through the smallness of its bulk: or, it may have been too successfully intercepted by Sir Thomas More and his myrmidons; or possibly, copies of it may have been surrendered by the holders, in hope thereby to conceal and secure the more precious volumes of their New Testaments. From its total disappearance, some writers have imagined that the Prologue alone was put into print by Tyndale. But I think it is beyond all doubt that the text also was printed. For, besides the notices above mentioned, by More and Stokesley, bishop Tanner, in his "Bibliotheca," p. 405. mentions "Prologus in Jonam cum Jond impress. seorsum in partibus transmarinis. 12°." See also Foxe's Book of Martyrs, 1st edition, p. 573.

I now think, that I have nearly carried this surmise to a certainty, by means of the following testimony. Mr. George Coningesby, who upwards of a century ago presented his fine collection of ancient Bibles to Balliol College, Oxford, affirmed that he actually possessed a copy. He describes it as being in small 8°. consisting of three sheets, printed in a foreign type without any date or name of printer or place, with the following title: "The prophete Jonas, with an introducciō before teachinge to understōde him and the right use also of all the Scriptures, and why it was written, and what is therein to be sought, and shewenge wherewith the Scripture is locked upp that he which readeth it, can not understōde it, though he studie therin never so moch: and agayne with what keyes it is so opened, that the reader can be stopped out with no sotilte or false doctrine of man, from the true sense and understandynge therof." Next to the title-page follows a large Prologue, beginning thus: "W T. unto the Christen reader. As the evious Philistines, &c." [MS. paper in Ball. Coll.]

Doubtless, this precious little volume ought to be now in Balliol Coll. library: where I sincerely hope that some more fortunate investigator than myself will speedily detect it, and make it accurately known to the public. From the foregoing description it would appear, that the book mentioned by Herbert at p. 1547 is really this edition. Herbert himself seems not to have seen it. In fact, we may conclude that it was suppressed so early and completely, as not to be found even within a very few years after its appearance: for, though the editors of Matthew's Bible in 1537 carefully inserted into that edition as much as they could find of Tyndale's translation, the book of Jonah is the version of Miles Coverdale. GENESIS. A single sheet of an English translation was printed by George Joye, at Bergen-op-Zoom in Holland, in February of this year. He sent one copy to king Henry VIII. and a second to the new queen Anne Boleyn, in hopes of obtaining license "that he might go through the whole Bible."—See "Tyndale's Letter to Fryth." But the proposal came to nothing. Humphrey Wanley once possessed a copy of this sheet.—See Lewis; and Anderson's Annals, I. p. 358.

° Mr. Herbert, the editor and improver of Ames' Typographical Antiquities, died in 1795; and his extremely curious collection of rare black letter books was dispersed by auction.

P For these alterations, especially that of changing the word "resurrection" to "the life after this," Joye was deservedly reproved by Tyndale, in an address prefixed to his own corrected edition published in November this year. Joye attempted to defend himself, in a tract, entitled, "An Apology, to satisfy, if it may be, W. Tyndale," &c. 12°. 1535.

This edition by Joye is extremely rare. In former lists it was stated that copies were in the collections of the Earl of Pembroke and Dr. Gifford. But I have since been at Wilton-house and at the Bristol Museum, and have no doubt that the former statements were erroneous. Joye's Testament is not to be found among Dr. Gifford's books: but an imperfect copy of another edition, somewhat resembling Joye's, appears to have been mistaken for it. Nor can the copy cited as lord Pembroke's now be found in the Wilton library: most likely, it never was there; but another edition of this same year (given below) was supposed to be Joye's.

Herbert (iii. p. 1831) gives a full description of a beautiful copy belonging to George Paton, Esq., of Edinburgh: and it is stated by Anderson, (I. p. 394,) that this was the very copy which came afterwards into possession of Mr. Grenville.

Perhaps I may be permitted here, in connexion with this book, to mention an instance of the great kindness and liberality of that munificent patron of literature. On hearing that he was possessed of it, I obtained an introduction to him, and requested permission to look at the diminutive but rare and valuable volume. His reply was instantaneous, and characteristic of the man; "Put it in your pocket. Take it home, and examine it at your leisure." He had never seen me before.—On examining the edition, I soon found that it differed utterly from the supposed copies at Wilton and Bristol. And when I restored it to Mr. Grenville, he was much pleased at learning that he possessed a volume of the highest interest, and which probably was unique. He told me that he had given forty guineas for it to Mr. Thorpe a bookseller of London: and when I afterwards mentioned to Thorpe what the edition was, which he had sold to Mr. Grenville, he bitterly regretted having allowed such a treasure to slip through his hands for so inadequate a price.

¶ The copy in the library of Exeter College is a very fine one, printed upon yellow paper. The British Museum possesses three copies: one on ordinary white paper, one on yellow paper, and a third splendidly printed upon vellum, and adorned with illuminations. It is generally believed that this last was especially printed for queen Anna Boleyn, who gave her important countenance and aid to the translator; and that it was presented by him to her in a rich and appropriate binding. It came, in after-times, into the possession of the rev. Clayton M. Cracherode; by whom it was bequeathed to the Museum.

<sup>s</sup> This copy wants the title, the last page, and some part of Tyndale's Address to the reader. It has not the contradictory note in the 1st Epistle of St. John. It omits the clause in 1 Peter, ch. ii. "to the kynge as unto the chefe "heade."

<sup>t</sup> This edition retains the contradictory note in 1 Ep. John: therefore may be supposed to be of this or the following year.

<sup>u</sup> The spelling adopted in this edition distinguishes it from every other at present known. (See a description in the Appendix.) A curious reason for this is assigned by Mr. Anderson; Annals, I. p. 455. See also the Preface to Tyndale's Works, vol. i. published by the Parker Society, p. lxxiii. It is very uncommon. I do not know of any copy besides those in the Public Library at Cambridge, and in Exeter College, Oxford; the latter of which is imperfect.

<sup>x</sup> I am not sure, that it is yet fully ascertained, where this rare and interesting volume, the first edition of the entire Bible in English, was printed.

P. L. Cambridge ; Lambeth (2) ; Sion Coll. ; All Souls Coll. King's Coll. Cambr. ; St. John's Coll. Cambr. ; Emmanuel Coll. ; Durham Cathedral ; Glasgow University ; Gloucester Cath. ; Rochester Cath. ; Winchester Cath. ; Trinity Coll.

There was great secrecy about its preparation and execution: and the book itself gives no information on the point. Frankfort, Zurich, and Cologne have been named. Humphrey Wanley judged by the type, that it came from the press of Christopher Froschover at Zurich. But this does not seem to be the favourite opinion at the present day. Herbert states (iii. p. 1545) that "there were two editions, but with 'little variation.'" Certainly I saw in the British Museum, many years ago, some loose leaves of a second copy, containing a few slight variations, chiefly in the numbering of the folios.

When we consider the difficulties with which this important volume had to struggle, at the time of its appearance, and for some years afterwards; it is more surprising that we have still so many copies remaining, than that almost all of them should be more or less imperfect. The title-page, as was to be expected for more than one reason, is the part chiefly wanting. Only a single title, perfect and entire, is now known; namely, in the copy belonging to the Earl of Leicester; which book is said to have been discovered in 1846, concealed under the false bottom of an old oak chest, at Holkam-hall, the Earl's seat in Norfolk. One of the copies in the British Museum has about three-fourths of the original title-page, the remainder being made up from another edition. Of the twenty-one copies which I have seen, those in the Bodleian and in Trinity Coll. Dublin are in other respects the largest and most sound.

It is well known, and evident to all who see them, that the preliminary pieces usually attached to this edition are executed in a totally different type from that of the text, and most probably were added after the arrival of the book in England. In fact, I think this is almost demonstrated, from the circumstance of "The bokes of the hole Byble" being enumerated on the back of the original title, and repeated, in different type, immediately after Coverdale's Address to the reader. In the dedication to king Henry VIII. there is a variety: some copies reading "your dearest just wyfe and most vertuous Pryncesse Quene ANNE," [Boleyn,] while others read instead, Quene JANE [Seymour], thus intimating the particular time at which the several copies were made public. A copy in the British Museum has Anne, which subsequently has been altered to Jane. The Bodleian copy has Anne. Lambeth has one of each. Lord Jersey has Anne. Lord Spencer has Jane. Sion College has Jane. Emmanuel College has Anne. Mr. Lea Wilson has Anne. Gloucester Cathedral has Anne. In the Rochester copy the name has been purposely erased. The copies at All Souls College, St. John's College, Durham, Glasgow, Winchester, Trinity College Dublin, the duke of Sussex's, Mr. Ofor's, Mr. Grenville's, Mrs. Denyer's (Bodleian), and the bishop of Cashel's, have neither name; being defective in that part.

Earl Spencer's copy was formerly in the Harleian library: it was bequeathed to him by the rev. Jonathan Boucher. It is large and fine. The title has been manufactured, and it wants one leaf of preliminary matter, viz. that containing the latter part of "the bokes of the hole Byble," and the contents of Genesis. The compiler of "Bibliotheca Spenceriana" did not mention this defect. The Bodleian copy formerly belonged to John Selden; a second has recently been obtained, among the books bequeathed by Mrs. Denyer.

The late Mr. Dent had a copy, of which the title and first two leaves had been reprinted. This was sold by auction in London, on March 30, 1827, for eighty-five guineas.

It appears that in the next year, 1536, a new title was printed, (with some variation, viz. omitting the words "out of Douche and Latyn,") and affixed to copies of this Bible when offered for sale. Two such copies are now known; one in Gloucester Cathedral, the other belonging to the earl of Jersey. I have examined both. The edition is no other than that of 1535.

Mr. Botfield, in his very interesting "Notes on the Cathedral Libraries of England," states that the Rochester copy is perfect, with exception of the title and the map. He may fairly be said to have "discovered" that book: for it was bound up between the "Book of Common Prayer," of 1629, and "Sternhold's Psalms," 1629; it was lettered on the back by the binder, "Holy Bible, 1629;" and the compiler of the Library Catalogue at once accepted the binder's authority, and entered it as a Bible of the year 1629.

Mr. Lea Wilson, in his most valuable Catalogue of the English Bibles, Testaments, &c. in his collection, (privately printed,) 1845, p. 2. asserts that the "later dedication," with the name of queen Jane, was an alteration made for the second edition, folio, printed by Nicolson in Southwark, in 1536; [1537?] and that copies of that of 1535 are sometimes "made up with this later dedication." But there appears a difficulty in admitting the truth of this; inasmuch as Nicolson's folio edition is absolutely far more rare than the original one of 1535, so that copies could not readily be found from which the dedication might be abstracted: unless we grant that the exchange was made at the time, and by the purposed sacrifice of all the copies executed by Nicolson. It may also be noticed, that the only two copies (so far as I know) of the edition of 1535 which have the reprinted title of 1536, happen to have not the later but the earlier dedication, with queen Anne's name. Anne Boleyn was beheaded on May 19th, 1536.

Respecting the copy at Gloucester cathedral, the following particulars were communicated to me by a late member of that chapter: "The history of this book as connected with the library here is rather curious. In the year 1648 Oliver Cromwell gave the library and other matters of the church to the mayor and burgesses of Gloucester; who immediately set about the augmentation of the books: and amongst the donations enumerated is 'an old large Bible,' given by alderman Pury. At the Restoration, when the library was restored to the chapter, these books remained there. This Mr. Thomas Pury was a puritan."

The Durham copy wants the preliminary pieces, and the last leaf. The Winchester copy wants the preliminaries, and first leaf of the text. That of Glasgow is very defective.

That which has long been in Trinity College, Dublin, begins with Genesis, c. xiii. and ends with Ecclesiasticus, c. xlvi. But that library has recently become possessed of a second copy, extremely fine, and nearly perfect, having the title and three leaves admirably reprinted in facsimile.

<sup>y</sup> Mr. Wilson is led to believe the edition to be of this date, from its containing wood-cuts similar to those used in Coverdale's Bible of 1535, and in Nicolson's reprint of 1536. See a description in the Appendix. Anderson assigns it to the year 1536. (List, p. viii.)

<sup>z</sup> This is a rare and very interesting book, being the first portion of the English Scriptures printed on English ground [Anderson]. The Bodleian copy is perfect and very fine. It came from Mrs. Denyer, and probably had been in the Harleian library.

<sup>a</sup> Herbert judged that this edition was printed at London, by or for John Goughe. Mr. Lea Wilson suspected, from some of the wood-cuts and initial letters, that it came from the press of William Vosterman, at Antwerp. It appears that there are three impressions, outwardly alike, but differing from each other in several minute particulars; especially in the wood-cut preceding the Epistles of St. Paul. In one impression the stone on which the Apostle stands is blank: in the second, it has the figure of a mole: and in the third, a monogram of the engraver, or printer, containing the letters A. B. K. Minute collations of all three are given in the catalogue of Mr. Wilson, who was fortunate enough to possess copies of them all. The Bodleian has one copy with the mole, and another with the monogram. The copy in Balliol College is remarkably fine. Probably it came from the Harleian library. Mr. Ofor was in possession of all three varieties.

<sup>b</sup> Concerning the minute variations in the five or perhaps six impressions, which so nearly resemble each other in general appearance that the differences can only be seen by close comparison, consult Mr. Lea Wilson's catalogue. Most of the copies are more or less imperfect. But lord Spencer's, formerly belonging to a Duke of Newcastle, is perfect and very fine.

<sup>d</sup> Earl Spencer's copy of this rare edition is fine and perfect. It formerly belonged to Dr. Chauncy, and was sold at his auction in 1790.

* This edition came forth about the month of August. It is evidently of foreign workmanship : but hitherto the place of its execution has not been ascertained. Antwerp has been named, and Hamburgh, and also Lubec. In the absence of more exact information, I may mention that the two large fine wood-engravings, the title, and Adam and Eve, are struck from the blocks which had been used in a Dutch Bible printed at Lubec four years previously, viz. in 1533. I compared the two editions many years ago in the royal library of George III.

Earl Spencer's copy formerly belonged to Dr. Farmer, and contains some MS. notes by him. The earl of Bridgewater's copy is printed on yellow paper. This was formerly considered a rare occurrence, but I have reason to believe it to have been not uncommon about that period. I have seen seven or eight instances of English books so tinted, and formerly possessed a Basle edition of a Greek Testament, of 1531, of the same hue. The leaves bore the appearance of having been dipped in colouring matter after they had been originally fabricated. The shades were very various and uneven.

Mr. Tutet's copy was the one which is mentioned in Lewis's History, as having the falsified date, 1520, for 1537, and the alteration in Romans, ch. i. 1. "Paul, a kneave of Jesus Christ." It afterwards became the property of Mr. Bindley.

<sup>f</sup> Treveris' name does not appear on the book. It is judged to be by him, from the occurrence of wood-cuts occasionally used by him, (viz. a group of boys hunting a bear.) It contains 131 leaves, besides the title.

<sup>g</sup> It appears that this edition was superintended by Nicolson the printer during Coverdale's absence, and that it was filled with mis-renderings and all kinds of blunders. Coverdale, on discovering this, was deeply mortified; and the more so, because he had left with Nicolson a dedication to king Henry VIII, to be prefixed to the volume. He immediately caused a new edition to be printed at Paris, where he then was, (busy in preparing the Great Bible, afterwards finished in London next year,) and seems to have remonstrated with Nicolson, and probably desired the copies bearing his name to be called in. Nicolson perhaps complied with the letter of his desire, but not with the spirit of it: for he instantly put to press another edition, exactly in the same form and type, only substituting the name of "Johan Hollybushe" for that of Coverdale, in the title, but still retaining Coverdale's name at the end of the dedication. There are some changes in the translation; but to the general observer the volumes are exactly alike, except in the title-page. See Appendix, for the differences between the two editions. The first edition is extremely scarce. A perfect and exceedingly fine one is in the King's Library, (now in the British Museum.)

<sup>1</sup> This has frequently been styled the first edition of Cranmer's Bible, but erroneously; for it does not appear that Cranmer had any hand in its publication. There appears now little doubt that this is the edition which Grafton and Whitchurch were secretly printing at Paris, when they were suddenly interrupted by the Inquisition and compelled to fly. Providentially they were enabled to save a considerable number of copies of the work, which was then nearly finished; and likewise succeeded in securing the types and other materials, and even induced the printers and pressmen to come over to London with them, where in about three months they completed the work. See particulars of this transaction in Lewis' History, and more satisfactorily detailed in Anderson's Annals of the Bible, vol. ii. The volume is most interesting, valuable, and rare; and is beautifully executed. It is extremely difficult to meet with a copy, like Mr. Lea Wilson's, entirely perfect. A remarkable one is in the library of St. John's College Cambridge, being a copy specially printed upon vellum for the lord keeper Thomas Cromwell, patron of the work. It is a splendid book; every title is finely illuminated, and the whole of it in perfect condition. It is usually kept in the master's lodge. Grafton produced another copy on vellum, which was intended for king Henry VIII. This is said to be still existing, in some private collection unknown to me. [See Anderson's Annals.]

As there are no fewer than six folio editions of the Great Bible printed in 1539, 1540 and 1541, which nearly resemble each other, and their titles are frequently interchanged for the sake of making up copies, I have given in the Appendix a tabular collation of them all; by which the differences may be seen at once. But the most full, minute, and satisfactory description of these remarkable books has been given by a gentleman, who had the unparalleled good fortune of possessing perfect copies of them all; the late Lea Wilson, esq. See his admirable Catalogue, p. 12-25.

<sup>m</sup> This recognition consisted of some alterations of the text from Matthew's Bible, and a change in many of the marginal notes. For some account of Taverner, see Lewis's History, or Anderson's Annals.

<sup>n</sup> This edition was inserted into Dr. Ducarel's List, from Lewis's History. I think that no such edition of the Old Testament has been yet found.

1540.

BIBLE, Cranmer's, or the Great Bible; with Cranmer's prologue; "Fynished in Apryll;" London, by Richard Grafton, [other copies have Edward Whitchurche<sup>r</sup>.]—Museum;

<sup>o</sup> The duke of Sussex had a Bible which was supposed to be the one described by Herbert iii. p. 1450: but it was imperfect.

<sup>q</sup> This appears to be the Paris edition of 1538, with a reprinted title and dedication. Among other reasons inducing me to think that this edition of 1539 was printed abroad, is a mistake in the marginal note on John ii. ver. 6. The water-pots are there said to hold two or three fyrkens apiece: the French printers, unacquainted with the form of our letter k, have resolved it into lz; and have thus produced the unintelligible word fyrlyzen.

<sup>r</sup> One of the copies in the British Museum is a very splendid one, printed on vellum, having been a presentation copy to king Henry VIII. from Antony Marlar, a citizen of London, of the Haberdashers' company: a man who, it appears from the minutes of the privy council, bore all the expense of the six folio editions of the Bible, printed by Grafton and Whitchurch in 1539, 1540, and 1541. See Anderson's Annals, ii. p. 131, 142, 152.

We know of at least one copy of Grafton's edition of 1540, (quære whether of May, July, or November,) being in the United States of America. Isaiah Thomas, the author of a "History of Printing in America," 2 vols. 8vo.

<sup>a</sup> Ames had mentioned such a volume, from a notice in Lewis's History. But there is no doubt that there is a mistake in the date, and that the book is of the year 1549. See Herbert, p. 619. 622.

<sup>v</sup> Mr. Lea Wilson assigns the volume to 1542; because the cuts in it are those which were employed that year in a Flemish Bible printed by Van Loe. But Anderson, with more reason, adjudges it to the year 1544, (ii. p. 168, and List, p. x.) This is the copy which is described in the Harleian Sale Catalogue, Vol. i. No. 428.

lxxviii. table, 23 pages not numbered. The work was frequently reprinted; as by Jugge, without date, &c.

<sup>m</sup> Perhaps the preliminary pieces were printed in London; but the body of the work is unquestionably of foreign typography, and is now known to have been executed at Zurich. See under the year 1553. It may be well here to notice an error in Dr. Watt's Bibliotheca Britannica, under the article "Coverdale." It is possible that the author may have taken his notice of this edition from the Bodleian Catalogue, where it is described as "The Bible, i. e. the books of the Old Testament, for the New is wanting in this copy." Dr. Watt hastily mistook the word copy for edition. The New Testament was printed with the Bible. Mr. Thoresby, in his "Ducatus Leodiensis," p. 504, has the following note upon this book: "The Psalter of David, (the Proverbs,) Solomon's Ballattes, and the first four chapters in the Lamentations are divided into small sections, like verses. What is not in the Hebrew, though it be in the Septuagint, is not made part of the chapter, but an Apparatus thereto: so

1 chapt. of Proverbs begins at the 8th verse of the present edition."

Mr. Anderson has proved the place where this book was printed, by adducing a copy preserved in the Public Library at Zurich, which bears on the title-page "Imprinted at Zurich bey Christopher Froschower," with the printer's autograph. It appears that the same treatment was given to this Bible as to Coverdale's original edition of 1535; viz. that after the arrival of the book in England, the title was cancelled, and preliminary pieces were added by an English printer.

<sup>n</sup> This edition has been commonly reported to contain the version of Sir John Cheke; but upon what authority, I know not: certain it is that he translated the Gospel of St. Matthew into English, a few verses of which were printed by Strype in his Life of Sir John: but that translation varies considerably from the present. Strype, after mentioning this, proceeds to say, "Cheke also translated the New Testament into English, with annotations; which was printed both in "octavo and decimo-sexto, but this "last without the notes; which copy

The Bristol copy of this edition is so large and fine, that it almost deserves the name of large paper.

• ° A portion of this edition, beginning with the Epistle to the Galatians, is in Christ Church library, Oxford. See a full description of the volume, in a letter from its possessor Mr. Thorpe to Dr. Ducarel, printed in Dibdin's Ames, iv. p. 14.

a copy in the Public Library of Zurich, which actually bears the printer's imprint, viz. "Imprynted at Zurich by Christopher Froschawer, in the yeare after the Creation of the world, 5.5.25. and after the byrt of our Saviour, 1550." Mr. Wilson's own copy is an extraordinary one, "in the most immaculate condition,—with many leaves actually not yet cut open." [Oh, how many ivory paper-knives are yearning for the task!] He mentions some remarkable differences between his own copy and that which was formerly given to the British Museum by the hon. Arthur Onslow. See these detailed in the Appendix.

[Does Lynne allude to Daye's folio Bible, or to that in 12? See a full collation of this little book, in Lea Wilson's Catalogue, p. 291.]

<sup>t</sup> The editor of the reprint of this work for the Parker Society in 1843, states, that "there were three editions "in one year, 1550; two by Day and "Seres, and one by Tisdale. The "former two are page for page alike, "except in the Epistle Dedicatory; "and seem to be exact reprints, with "variations only in the spelling. Tis- "dale's edition also very closely cor- "responds with those of Day and "Seres, the variations being generally "very trifling."

The leaves are not numbered.

<sup>v</sup> This, as well as the next mentioned edition, is a volume of extreme rarity. See a specimen and description in the Appendix.

<sup>x</sup> The Cambridge copy of this book is the only one which I have been able to meet with. Unluckily it is imperfect, both at the beginning and end: but I can see that it differs materially from the edition dated 1550. This copy begins with a "Dedication to Mayster John Bricket of Eltam:" "Certayne lessons" in verse, 5 pages: Proverbes, (as in dated edit.): Three chapters of Ecclesiastes, (ch. i. ii. iii.)

BIBLE, Matthew's; London, by Nicolas Hyll<sup>z</sup> for Rob. Toy, 18 pages. Wisdom, chapt. vi. Ecclus. chapt. ix. Certayne Psalms, viz. Ps. 34. 54. 112. 114. 115 [probably followed by Ps. 130. 137. 111. with other songs and hymns.] A full page contains 24 lines.

There is likewise in the Bodleian an edition of the second part only, which differs from all these mentioned: it is in 18<sup>o</sup>, entirely printed in black letter; contains 140 pages exclusive of the title and of 3 leaves at the end. It has woodcuts, which seem to be the same as those in East's 12<sup>o</sup>. edition.

N. B.—This work of Bale has been recently reprinted, by the Parker Society.

2 Different copies of this edition bear the name of different publishers, and sometimes different printers, namely:

For R. Toye; as the Bodleian; and King's Library.

For Abraham Veale; as Bristol.

For John Wyghte; as Bodleian; Trin. Coll. Dublin; Publ. Libr. Cambr.

For Thomas Petyt; as St. Paul's.

For John Walley; Bristol.

Or, by John Petyt; as Lea Wilson's.

By John Wyghte; see Herbert.

By Richard Kele; as St. John's Coll. Cambridge.

The explanation of this variety is afforded by the colophon, "Imprinted at the coste and charges of certayne honest men of the occupacyon, whose names be upon their bokes." Humphrey Wanley was of opinion that Grafton and Whitchurch acted in the same manner respecting the Great Bibles: as the royal privilege was granted to them both in common as partners; "so many of the stated number of copies were to bear Grafton's name: which done, his name was to be taken out of the form, and Whitchurch's to be inserted in its place." <sup>k</sup> This is usually called the first edition of the Genevan version of the New Testament; but it was not the work of the united Genevan translators, but of a single individual, William Whitting-ham, who afterwards became dean of Durham. The volume is beautifully printed. It is the first edition of the English Scriptures, in which the verses are distinguished. The translation differs in many passages from that which was printed, together with the Old Testament, at the same place in 1560, 4°. This rare little volume has been lately reprinted in London.

<sup>o</sup> The first and rarest edition of this version, which was for many years the most popular one in England, as its numerous impressions may testify. After the appearance of king James's translation, the use of it seems to have declined: yet a fondness for its notes still lingered; and we have several instances of their being attached to editions of the royal translation; one of which kind was printed so lately as 1715. See under that year. From the peculiar reading of Genesis iii. 7. the editions of this translation have been commonly known by the name of "Breeches Bibles:" but this rendering (as Mr. Douce once shewed me,) is as old as Wicliffe's time, and occurs in his version. The copy at Balliol College is an exceedingly fine one, printed on large paper. And a similar gem is in the Public Library at Cambridge.

<sup>p</sup> N. B.—The first two and last two sheets of this volume are printed in a different letter from the remaining parts.

<sup>q</sup> A rare edition. The Brasen Nose copy is unfortunately imperfect, but the title of the New Testament remains. The title of the Old Testament bears the date 1562. Herbert has observed, that in all probability this edition was issued by John Bodleigh, one of the English refugees at Geneva; to whom, and his assigns, Queen Elizabeth granted a patent for printing the Geneva version, with annotations, during the term of seven years from January 8th 1561.

The musical notes, triplex, contratenor, &c. 3 pages; a table, 5 leaves, (last two wanting.) The Psalms in this edition are Ps. 25, 34, 54, 65, 112, 113, 114, 130, 137, 111. A page contains 28, 29, or 30 lines.

* It appears, by a remark made by Sir James Ware, the Irish antiquary and historian, that this impression of the Bible in a convenient octavo size was a very large one; and that a great number of the copies were sent over into Ireland for sale. He says [Annals of Queen Elizabeth, chapt. 2], "Dr.

“Heath, archbishop of York, sent to “the two deans and chapters of Dub“lin, viz. of Christ Church and St.
“Patrick’s, a large Bible to each, to “be placed in the middle of their

<sup>c</sup> "These prayers and sermons were framed for ministers of less ability to invent and compose prayers and sermons themselves; that the people might be instructed in sound and wholesome doctrine, whatsoever the abilities of the ministers were, under whom they happened to live." (Strype's Parker, p. 454.) Becon was a prebendary of Canterbury, and one of the persons employed by abp. Parker in preparing the Bishops' translation of the Bible. Several of his works have been reprinted by the Parker Society.

<sup>e</sup> The first edition of this translation; copies of which are rarely found in a perfect state: (of the Oxford copies that in the Bodleian Library is the only one quite perfect.) This circumstance needs not excite much wonder, when we recollect, that not only was a new translation of the Scriptures, appearing under many supposed advantages, likely to meet with numerous purchasers, and much consequent use and wear; but that a Convocation of the Province of Canterbury which met on 3d April, 1571, expressly ordered that copies of this edition should be placed in every cathedral; and moreover, that every archbishop, bishop, dean, and ecclesiastical dignitary should take care that a copy was publicly exposed in the hall or dining-room of his house, for the use of his servants and of strangers who might chance to be there. The words of the canon are these: "Quivis archiepiscopus et episcopus habebit domi suæ Sacra Biblia in amplissimo volumine, uti nuperrimè Londini excusa sunt, et plenam illam historiam quæ inscribitur Monumenta martyrum, et alios quosdam similes libros ad religionem appositos. An Abridgement of the Canonical books of the OLD TESTA-

“tuno aliquo in loco, vel in aula, vel
“in cœnaculo locabunt.”

It will be observed, that this extract may partly serve to explain the extreme rarity of copies of the first edition of Fox's Book of Martyrs; which by this same canon was ordered to be exposed together with the Bible in the above-mentioned places, and of course would be subject to the same wear and damage.

Concerning the care and labour of archbishop Parker about this translation, the reader may consult Strype's Life of Parker, under the years 1565, 1568, and 1572. The archbishop's own copy of this edition is now preserved in the library of Corpus Christi College, Cambridge.

This edition and the reprint of 1572 contain portraits engraved on copper, of Queen Elizabeth, Lord Leicester, and Secretary Cecil. For the differences between the two editions, see the Appendix.—From the subjoined entry in an old account-book of St. John's College, Cambridge, published by Mr. Hartshorne, in his “Book-rarities of Cambridge,” we learn the price at which this edition was then sold: “1571. For a new Bible in English, the last translation, 27s. 8d.”

<sup>f</sup> Strype describes this edition as being “set forth in a small but fine black letter, a curious book.” Lewis gives a full description of it.

s Ritson, in his Bibliographia Poetica, mentions another edition in 16°, without date, printed abroad. See also Herbert, p. 1597, who assigns it to the year 1558. Dibdin, iv. p. 313, cites an edition printed by Robert Stoughton in 1551.

h I apprehend the editions of 1569 and 1570 to be one and the same : for the Bodleian copy, dated 1570, has very much the appearance of an unit having been dropped in the date. It calls itself " the second edition : " such it may be ; but undoubtedly it is not the second impression of the Genevan version.

i Strype, in his Life of Archbishop Parker, at the year 1571 says, " This year was printed a translation of " Marlorate's Comment upon St. Matthew ; and, partly for the reimbursing of the proprietor, but chiefly for the profit and benefit of Ministers, the lords of the council appointed the archbishop of Canterbury and the bishop of London to deal with the province of Canterbury, that each of the clergy might purchase this book : the price whereof, being well bound, is ten shillings, and fourpence the carriage of it into the diocese." Vol. ii. p. 81. edit. 1821.

k The first six chapters only. It may be well to remark, that the numerous editions of portions of the Scripture with the commentaries of Calvin attached to them, which were published from about 1570 to 1610, generally contain the Genevan translation.

<sup>1</sup> Published by Archbishop Parker. The Saxon is translated from the Latin Vulgate; the English is the version of the Bishops' Bible. Lord Spencer's copy contains the following note, in a very old hand: "This is a rare and very excellent usefull booke, and very harde to be mett with and deare. I was twenty yeares looking for to buy one of these bookes, before I could buy one under a Marke. I offer'd many times an Angel for suche a booke as this."

<sup>m</sup> The second folio edition of the Bishops' Bible, and the last in which the three copperplates are found. It contains a double version of the Psalms, namely, that of the Great Bible, in addition to that by the Bishops.

<sup>n</sup> The Lambeth book is a presentation copy, painted, and richly bound in five volumes. Mr. Anderson suggests, that it may have been the one presented to Queen Elizabeth by the archbishop.

Herbert, p. 1488, mentions an edition of the "Ordoure, &c. of the Fast," printed by Lekpreuik in 1566. I do not know whether the "Chapters" are contained in that edition. He quotes from Maunsell's Catalogue, not having seen the book itself.

<sup>q</sup> Mr. Anderson states, "This Bible deserves particular notice; otherwise the book may be mistaken, as it actually has been, for so many as six separate editions in the same year.

"On certain titles will be found 'Printed by Richard Jugge,' but on others, 'printed by Richard Kele,' by 'John Walley,' by 'Lucas Harrison,' by 'John Judson,' or by 'William Norton.'" [To these he might have added Francis Coldock, H. C.] "It was evidently a joint undertaking; Jugge being able to bear nothing more than his own share; though most probably the printer of the whole impression. They are, without exception, the same book, having only different titles, and the last leaf answers equally for them all. These five [six] men had borne their proportions, along with Jugge, in the

<sup>t</sup> This is the first edition of this translation, or rather revision, by Laurence Tomson : it soon became popular, and was attached to many editions of the Bible instead of the former Genevan version. Tomson, the translator, was in the service of sir Francis Walsingham. Loseler Villerius is M. L'Oyseleur, seigneur de Villers. This first edition differs in some parts from subsequent ones professing to be Tomson's. It contains an English version of Beza's dedication of his translation to Louis Prince of Condé.

<sup>u</sup> This New Testament, though printed in 1576, and therefore to be reckoned the first Scottish edition, was not published until the Old Testament was completed, namely in 1579, when this Testament was joined to it. Bassandine had died previous to that year ; so that his name does not appear in the title-page of the Old Testament.

<sup>x</sup> This copy is printed on vellum. It bears on the covers the arms of Robert Earl of Leicester ; to whom in all probability it had been presented.

<sup>f</sup> In the Bodleian library there is an imperfect copy of L. Tomson's version of the New Testament, containing only the Epistles and Apocalypse, so that I have not ascertained the edition. It is in sixteens: the Epistle to the Romans begins on fol. 251; and the last leaf of Revelation is numbered 430. I merely notice it here, because it formerly belonged to queen Elizabeth, and contains at the beginning of the volume a page in her handwriting. The cover is of black velvet, curiously worked with silver. Thos. Hearne, whose eye nothing of this sort could escape, has described the little book, and has copied the queen's writing.

<sup>g</sup> A specimen of this work, consisting of the first chapter only, was printed in 1565 by Henry Denham, in 160. A copy is in Trinity Coll. Dublin.

<sup>l</sup> This is found in a very curious collection, entitled "The Monument of Matrones; containing seven severall Lampes of Virginitie, or distinct treatises—compiled—out of the sacred Scriptures, and other approved authors, by Thos. Bentley of Graies Inne, student." Each lamp has a distinct title-page. The "Divine Prayers," named above, constitute the first lamp, which consists of 42 pages. See a long and minute description of this work in Herbert, p. 954–956.

<sup>k</sup> This is the first edition of the Roman Catholic version of the Scriptures. The Old Testament was not published till 1609–10. For an account of the principles of the translation, consult the preface: and for a description of the book, see the Appendix to this work.

<sup>r</sup> The full title is thus, "The text of the New Testament of Jesus Christ, translated out of the vulgar Latine by the papists of the traitorous seminarie at Rhemes, with arguments of books, chapters, and annotations, pretending to discover the corruptions of divers translations, and to cleare the controversies of these dayes. Thereunto is added the translation out of the original Greeke, commonly used in the Church of England, with a confutation of all such arguments, glosses, and annotations, as containe manifest impietie, of heresie, treason and slander, against the Catholike Church of God, and the true teachers thereof, or the translations used in the Church of England; both by auctoritie of the Holy Scriptures, and by the testimonie of the ancient fathers. By William Fulke, doctor in divinitie. Imprinted at London by the deputies of Christopher Barker, printer to the Queene's most excellent majestie, Anno. 1589."

The two translations are in parallel columns: the annotations and confutation of them are subjoined to each chapter. For subsequent editions, see the years 1601, 1617, and 1633.

<sup>i</sup> In 1597 Broughton petitioned the archbishop of Canterbury that "a corruption," [pirated edition?] of his commentary on Daniel might be called in, as the printer had done him great injury. [Lewis.] And at the end of his version of Daniel, printed at Hanaw in 1607, he says; "One forced me to request the kinges privilege, printing my book against my will. And I hope his M. will not deny so much to any subject. In the meane time the stationers will doe justice."

BIBLE, Genevan and Tomson's; London, by R. Barker.—Bodleian; Sion College; Lambeth; All Souls College;

<sup>t</sup> This edition was greatly admired for its correctness; and for many years was regarded as a sort of standard; as may be seen in the Amsterdam English Bibles of 1640 and 1644. The Old Testament version agrees with that of Arbuthnot's edition of 1579: the New Testament is Tomson's revision; and the notes vary considerably from those printed in Arbuthnot's edition. [Dr. Lee]. This was the second Bible printed in Scotland.

<sup>x</sup> This is the first edition of the translation published by king James's authority, usually called "the Authorized Version." A full account of its preparation and execution may be seen in Lewis's History. The engraved title or frontispiece to this volume has been much admired. It is not often found in good condition. And it has sometimes been transferred from the real edition of 1611 (which has a second title, in letter-press) and prefixed to copies of the later editions of 1613 and 1617, in order to pass those off as the genuine first edition. Mr. Lea Wilson took singular pains to investigate the minute differences between five folio editions, of 1611, 1613, 1617, 1634, and 1640: and has stated them at length in his admirable Catalogue, p. 97, &c. It has been asserted, by Beloe and other writers, that there were two folio editions in the year 1611; and two copies in the British Museum were appealed to, in support of the assertion: but, though there certainly are two different Bibles in that collection, bearing the date of 1611 on their title-pages, there is little doubt that one of those titles has been borrowed, and affixed to a later edition. Still, I cannot but believe that two editions were actually issued in 1611; ~~and~~ and to this conclusion I am led by the following facts. Dr. Daly, bishop of Cashel, possesses two Bibles, dated 1611; both which agree with Mr. Lea Wilson's tests of the real edition of that year, as contradistinguished from from those of 1613, 1617, &c. Apparently, these two copies agree perfectly with each other. But on close examination it will be found, 1. that the wood-cut initial letters are frequently different in the two: 2nd, that in Genesis x. 16, one copy reads "the Emorite;" and the other, "the Amorite." 3rd, in the copy, which has the misprint Emorite, Exodus xiv. 10. is thus printed:

1 And when Pharaoh drew nigh,
2 the children of Israel lift up their eyes,
3 and behold the Egyptians marched after them, and they were sore afraid: and
4 the children of Israel lift up their eyes,
5 and behold the Egyptians marched
6 after them, and they were sore afraid:
7 and the children of Israel cried out unto the Lord.

The verse occupies nine lines of text; and the catchword at the bottom of the page is the word "For," occurring in the middle of ver. 12. Whereas, in the other copy, the verse fills only six lines; and the whole of ver. 12 is included in that page.

The bishop kindly pointed out to me these discrepancies. There was no appearance of a cancelled leaf: and I agree with his lordship's opinion, that the inaccurate copy is really the first, as, undoubtedly, it is the rarer, edition. Trinity College Dublin has a similar copy, but not quite perfect.

N. B. From this period, no editions of the authorized version are here noticed; except for some peculiarity attached to any particular one, as its remarkable correctness, or incorrectness, beauty, casual rarity, or the like.

* There were certainly three co.<sup>rs</sup>, & the really first edition should have the woodcut of the Royal arms on the page that is sometimes overleaved to the title to Spencer's Genealogies.

<sup>y</sup> In a short treatise by John Despayne, entitled "Shibboleth, or the reformation of severall places in the translations of the French and of the English Bible," (12° 1655,) we find it noted that both Napeir's and Brightman's exposition of the Apocalypse had once enjoyed a considerable share of popularity, although in his (Despayne's) time it had begun to pass away. At p. 66, he makes the following remarks: "Of certain books written on the Revelation, and believed to be propheticall.—The interpretations of Napeir on this last book of the Bible have been a long time admired, but they have now lost their reputation, for the term

"which they give to divers events that are yet to come, is already expired. These mistakes ought to serve to disabuse the vulgar, who oftentimes imagine that the conceptions of expositors are infallible predictions. So divers men do to this day extoll Brightman, who hath also commented upon the Revelations, as if that man had the spirit of prophecy; Nevertheless, if we shall observe the applications which he maketh, especially at the beginning, we shall find that he straggleth very much, if we will not take fancies for oracles." Brightman's exposition was published in Latin, at Frankfort, in 1609.

first instance of King James's version being printed in Scotland. He also notices, that the Calendar contains a much smaller number of Holy days than were inserted in the Calendar of the Church of England; in this respect agreeing with the edition printed at Dort in 1601.

Contents &c., 24 pages. The received Text is retained, except in the case of some connective particles. See an account of the work in Savage's Librarian, i. p. 215, where a copy printed on vellum is noticed.

<sup>p</sup> In the title-page this is said to be printed "according to the copy printed "at Edinburg, by Andrew Hart, in "1610." Dr. Lee observes, (Memorial, p. 112,) that it is "a very neat edition, "scarcely distinguishable from those "which were printed by the Deputies of "Christopher Barker, about 1599, &c."

Concerning the numerous Amsterdam editions, both with and without notes, which were imported into England and Scotland about this time, consult "Archbishop Laud's Life and Troubles."

<sup>q</sup> This volume is interesting as being the first edition of the authorized version of the whole Bible, printed in Scotland. Being executed in the year in which King Charles was crowned in that country, perhaps a copy of it may have been presented to his Majesty on the occasion. The title-page is engraved; and before it is an engraved frontispiece representing Adam and Eve in Paradise. After the title is a leaf, obverse blank; on reverse, the Royal Arms of England and Scotland. Dedication; Text. The leaves are not numbered. Respecting this edition, Dr. Lee presents us with the following interesting remarks. "The first edition "of any part of the Scriptures, (according to the last version,) which was "published in Scotland by any of the "King's printers, was the New Testament printed at Edinburgh in 1633. "There were two editions of it, both of "a small size; the one, 'printed by "Robert Young, printer to the King's

"most excellent Majesty for the king"dom of Scotland,' the other, printed
"by the 'printers to the King's most "excellent Majestie.' The impression "of the latter, (which is sometimes accompanied by the Old Testament,) "is said to have been extremely limited; "and some of the copies have plates. "There can be little doubt that this "is the edition referred to in a very "remarkable letter contained in the "Wodrow collection of MSS. in the "Advocates' Library, which has been "printed by Lord Hailes, in his 'Memorials and Letters,' vol. ii. p. 42. "That you may taste a little of our "condition, (says the writer,) I have "sent you two of your own Scots "Bibles, the New Testament only, "wherein they have placed such abominable pictures, that horrible impiety stares through them. These "come forth by public authority. Do "you shew them to such as you think "meet."

"These pictures are said to have been impressions from the plates of the book entitled, Imagines vitæ, passionis, et mortis D. N. Jesu Christi, &c., "printed by Boetius à Bolswert, anno 1623. It is asserted in one of the charges against Laud, that he had brought these popish pictures from foreign parts, and that with his good liking they were bound up in English Bibles, which were called the Archbishop of Canterbury's Bibles. The number of plates in the original book is said to be seventy-four, most of them finely executed. The Edinburgh Bible of 1633, in which they have in some instances been inserted, is printed in double columns, and bears a great resemblance to some London editions of the same period. With which are enumerated in Lewis's History. Dr. Lee adds three more to Lewis's list; viz. the Bibles of 1660, 1671, and 1682. I believe that the first person who publicly noticed this mistranslation was Dr. William Wotton, in a sermon "preached at Newport Pagnell, Bucks, in answer to "Tindal's book, 'The Rights of the "Christian Church.'" [See Sermon, p. 15. edit. 1707.]

<sup>x</sup> Mr. Wilson notices this edition,—which, though bearing a London imprint, and the date of this year, was really executed fraudulently in Holland some years later—as being disfigured by numerous gross and disgraceful errors. It was said in 1663, that more than seven hundred thousand copies of pirated editions had been then published, of this shamefully inaccurate description.

<sup>γ</sup> In the title-page this edition (and likewise that of 1644) professes to be printed "according to the copy printed at Edinburgh by Andrew Hart, in 1610." Mr. Wilson had two distinct impressions, differing slightly.

Christopher Ravius of Berlin states, in the preface of his work, "Prima pars Alcorani Arabico-Latini," (Amstelodami 1646, 4<sup>o</sup>.) that a single Englishman had printed at Amsterdam within the last 4 or 5 years no fewer than 40 thousand copies of the English Bible: that his last edition was of 12,500 copies: and that the English

Bibles which had been printed in that town amounted to a hundred and fifty thousand.

<sup>z</sup> This is a well-printed book. At the end of it are two leaves containing an Admonition concerning the Books of the Apocrypha, which was ordered by the synod of Dort to be attached to the Dutch version of the Bible. It is the latest edition of the Genevan version which I have met with.

 "the manuscript copy of the last translation of the Holy Bible in English, attested with the hands of the venerable and learned translators in King James's time." And that having thus secured themselves from instant detection, they published editions filled with "egregious blasphemies and damnable errata." See also Wm. Kilburne's tract, (cited in a previous note,) entitled "Dangerous errors in several late printed Bibles, to the great scandal and corruption of sound and true religion," 4to, Finsbury, 1659. Consult likewise the Journals of the House of Commons, vol. vii. p. 554.

Nor did it fare better with the Welsh Bibles, than with the English, during that unsettled time of the Commonwealth. Llewellyn, in his scarce and interesting account of the British or Welsh versions and editions of the Bible, observes (from Mr. Hughes) that the edition of 1654, "Cromwell's Bible, if I may so call it," had been printed very incorrectly. "Whole words and parts of sentences had been "omitted," p. 46. For a curious but melancholy account of the wretched state of the Bibles and Testaments printed in Scotland during the 17th and 18th centuries, consult Dr. Lee's "Memorial for the Bible Societies of Scotland," 8°. Edinburgh, 1824.

<sup>e</sup> Printed in the fourth edition of his collected works, the general title of which bears the date 1659.

<sup>f</sup> This handsome edition is found in most of our public libraries. The Duke of Sussex had two copies, one of which had no date on the first title, and the date of 1659 on that of the New Testament. It appears that presentation-copies were given by John Ogilby, the sculptor, to several public bodies, and special dedications were printed for each, in addition to the usual dedication to King Charles II. The Bodleian copy contains one such, addressed to "the right worshipful the Master and fellows of Pembroke College." The Dublin copy has a similar one, addressed to the President and fellows of Trinity College. Probably many others are existing.

<sup>b</sup> I am ashamed to say, that this is the earliest edition of the Bible printed in Ireland, which I have been able to discover. It appears that during the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries, Ireland was provided with copies of the Scriptures from the presses of London [and Holland,] and perhaps, after the year 1679, from that of Oxford.

Sternhold's Psalms, printed in the same year, 1714, accompany this edition: and the same printer also executed a Prayer Book, of the same size and letter, in the same year.

<sup>1</sup> In all probability this book was printed at Amsterdam ; which name appears on the maps accompanying it. Sternhold's version of the Psalms is appended to it.

<sup>k</sup> This is commonly known by the name of the "the Vinegar Bible," from an error in the running-title at St. Luke, ch. xxi. where we read, "the parable of the Vinegar," instead of "the parable of the Vineyard." The volume is magnificent in appearance and type ; but very soon after its appearance it was discovered to be carelessly and incor-

liffe's Bible; at the price of two guineas for the small paper, and three guineas for large paper copies. But his plan was not carried into effect. The good design, however, has been recently accomplished in a most satisfactory manner, by Sir Frederic Madden and the Rev. Josiah Forshall. See under the year 1850. The manuscript, from which Mr. Lewis printed his New Testament, passed afterwards into the possession of Mr. Herbert; and from him to Mr. Gough: and it is now deposited, with Mr. Gough's other MSS., in the Bodleian Library. Of Lewis' edition only 160 copies were struck off, at the price of one guinea in sheets.

Both pieces are very scarce. • Though this book bears a London imprint, it was really executed at Boston in New England, by Rogers and Fowle. The impression consisted of about two thousand copies, and is said to be the first English New Testament printed in America. Some few years afterwards, the Bible was printed in the same disguise, at Boston, but by different printers. It was a quarto: the copies not exceeding eight hundred. An account of both these books may be seen in Thomas's History of Printing in America, vol. i.—See note below, at p. 93.

The order of the Gospels is, Matthew, John, Luke, Mark. At the end of the volume are 16 pages of Observations on the resurrection of Jesus Christ. After which follows this title: "Mr. Whiston's primitive New Testament; Part v. containing the Epistle of the Corinthians to Paul, with his answer; preserved by the Armenians. The Epistle of Timothy to Diognetus, and the Ho"mily, with the two Epistles of Clement to the Corinthians. Part vi. containing the Constitutions of the Apostles, in viii. books. Part vii. containing the Catholick Epistle of Barnabas; with the Shepherd of Hermas, in iii. books. Part viii. containing the x. Epistles of Ignatius, the Epistle of Polycarp to the Philippians, Josephus's Homily concerning Hades, with the martyrdom of Polycarp." Whether Mr. Whiston ever published these latter parts, I do not know. The volume is printed in two columns, the pages are unnumbered. I believe this translation has never been reprinted.

JOB'S HYMNS; or a Book of Songs on the Book of JOB; by R. Erskine, M. A.; Glasgow, for J. Newlands.—Bodleian. 12°.

° I have inserted this edition merely for the purpose of noticing a fraud committed in it; the volume being really printed in North America, altho' it bears the London imprint. The following account of it is taken from "Thomas' American Printing," vol. i. p. 305. "Kneeland and Green, [printers at Boston,] printed, principally for Daniel Henchman, an edition of the Bible in small 4°. This was the first Bible printed in the English language in America. It was carried through the press as privately as possible, and had the London imprint of the copy from which it was reprinted, viz. 'London, printed by Mark Baskett, printer to the King's most excellent Majesty,' in order to prevent a prosecution from those in England and Scotland who published the Bible by a patent from the crown, or cum privilegio, as did the English Universities of Oxford and Cambridge. When I was an apprentice, I often heard those who had assisted at the case and press in printing this Bible make mention of the fact. The late governor Hancock was related to Henchman, and knew the particulars of the transaction. He possessed a "copy of this impression. As it has a London imprint, at this day it can be distinguished from an English edition of the same date, only by those who are acquainted with the niceties of typography. This Bible issued from the press about the time that the partnership of Kneeland and Green expired, (1752.) The edition was not large; I have been informed that it did not exceed seven or eight hundred copies."

"Not long after the time that this impression of the Bible came from the press, an edition of the New Testament, in 12°, was printed by Rogers and Towle, for those at whose expence the Bible issued. The credit of this edition of the Testament was, for the reason I have mentioned, transferred to the King's printer in London, by the insertion of his imprint."

Thomas subsequently adds, "This impression of the New Testament, the first in the English language printed in this country, was, as I have been informed, completed at the press, before Kneeland and Green began the edition of the Bible which has been mentioned. It consisted of about 2000 copies," p. 324.

The BOOK of JOB ; an essay towards a new version from the original Hebrew ; with a commentary, by Thomas Heath, Esq. ; London, for A. Millar.—Bodleian ; Lea Wilson. 4<sup>o</sup>.

<sup>p</sup> " This is said in the title-page to be " the performance of the old man who " sells fruit in Clare-court by Drury-

 " bishop of Canterbury, in false English,
 " and the translation itself is a ridiculous
 " jargon, of which a specimen is added,
 " in order that the reader may judge
 " for himself of the author's abilities
 " and design. ' ÆLOHIM, beginning,
 " created lucide and illucide matter.
 " 2. And the illucide, void of co-adjunct
 " co-hesion, was unmodified, and dis-" tinguishableness was nowhere upon
 " the face of the Chaos : And the Ruach

" of ÆLOHIM emanated over the peri" phery of the fluctuation. 3. Until
 " ÆLOHIM said that Æther should " coalesce to the production of light.
 " And ÆLOHIM saw the light was good,
 " when it was become a separation from " obscurity. 5. And ÆLOHIM deemed

BIBLE; a new and literal translation; by Anthony Purver, [a Quaker;] with notes; 2 vols.; London, by W. Richardson<sup>y</sup>.—British Museum; Bodleian; Lambeth; All Souls

<sup>t</sup> I insert this edition, though containing only the common text, on account of the deserved celebrity of its typographical execution; the beauty of which has caused the volume to find its way into almost every public and private library where fine and curious books are appreciated. There are a few copies printed upon large paper, which are most sumptuous specimens. The duke of Sussex had one such, with the date of 1760.

son's translation, see the Monthly Review, vols. 29. 47. and 77.

<sup>y</sup> Title, "A new and literal translation of all the Books of the Old and New Testament; with notes, critical and explanatory, by Antony Purver." Introductory Remarks on translations of the Scriptures in general, and the following one in particular, 16 pages: Appendix of Quotations, pp. xvii.—xxx: Errata, xxxi.—xxxviii.

Additional Remarks (on the New Testament), 2 pages ; Appendix of Quotations, p. iii-viii. The text, Genesis to Psalms, p. 1-745. Vol. ii. Text, Proverbs to Malachi, p. 1-334. New Testament (without any title) p. 1-339.

As this translation has never been reprinted, I give the foregoing description. Although it was originally designed for the use of the Friends, and is still recognised by them individually ; that society universally receives the authorized version of the Scriptures. It appears, that Purver had been employed nearly thirty years in the preparation of this version ; and indeed had put forth a specimen of the work so early as 1736, inviting the critical remarks of Biblical scholars on his intended performance.

<sup>a</sup> The order adopted is chiefly, but not entirely, that of Dr. Macknight. In some passages the author has altered the authorized version. He places his own explanatory additions within brackets ; and gives only three or four short notes, that the volume might be reasonable in compass and moderate in price.

I purchased this book in 1819, assured me, that although he was one of the publishers, it was the only complete copy he had ever seen. Besides Ecclesiastes, it contains translations of 2 Samuel, chap. xxiii. ver. 1—7: Isaiah, chap. viii. ver. 20, 21, 22; chap. ix. ver. 1—5; also Psalm xxvii. in prose and verse. <sup>q</sup> This edition contains the third Book of the Maccabees, newly translated by the editor, which book had not appeared in an English Bible since Edmund Becke's edition of 1551. The original MS. of Bishop Wilson is now preserved in the Bodleian Library.

Twelve copies of this Bible were printed on large paper, forming a magnificent set of books. One is in the British Museum; a second in the King's Library; Earl Spencer is the possessor of a third.

<sup>r</sup> It was said, that some of Mr Butt's friends, not satisfied with this translation, bought up all the copies of the first edition immediately after its appearance: but that the author, by no means pleased with their care for his reputation, instantly published a second.

1 CORINTHIANS, chap. xiii. paraphrased in verse, by Matthew Prior; (in Anderson's British Poets); Edinburgh. 8°.

<sup>a</sup> Remarkable for a mistake in St. Luke, chap. xxii. 34, where St. Philip instead of St. Peter, is named as the disciple who should deny Christ. I have inserted this Bible, as well as that of the year 1711, chiefly in order to point out the necessity of extreme care in the correction of the sheets, in impressions of the Sacred Text. A variety of instances might be alleged, where inattention to this particular has produced, not only nonsense, but, what is much worse, a sense totally different, nay, even contrary to that which should have been given. Similar mistakes have occurred in many of our Prayer-books. I have seen, in the Lambeth library, a Prayer-book in which a prayer was concluded in these words, "thro' the unrighteousness of "our Lord Jesus Christ." In the cathedral at Cashel there is now in use a 4° Prayer-book, printed in 1813 at the Clarendon Press, Oxford, in which it is twice read in the Litany, "O Lamb of God, which takest away "the sins of the Lord." In an American newspaper of the year 1776 the following tale is related: "A printer "in England, who printed the Book "of Common Prayer, unluckily omitted "the letter c in the word 'changed,' "in the following sentence: 'We shall "all be changed in the twinkling of "an eye.' A clergyman, not so attentive to his duties as he should "have been, read it to his congregation as it was printed, thus—'We "shall all be HANGED in the twinkling of an eye.'"

The volume contains an engraved title-page; also a frontispiece, and two other engravings; preface, five leaves; table of contents, (engraved) one page; the text, p. 1—483: observations on some terms used in this translation, [viz. Immersion, Restore, Ages, Æonian] p. i—vi. At p. 116 is an engraved folding Table, shewing the harmony of S. Matthew and S. Luke in their account of Christ's genealogy. In his preface the author describes the design and character of his version: "While an attempt is made to 'bring this sacred Book somewhat 'nearer to the English idiom at this 'day, still care is taken to steer between the two extremes, of being 'too servile and literal on the one 'hand, or too periphrastic on the 'other.'"

<sup>b</sup> Benjamin Boothroyd was born in Yorkshire, in 1768. He was the son of a shoemaker: but by means of diligence and hard study succeeded in raising himself to a respectable and independent position. He became minister of a Dissenting chapel at Halifax in Yorkshire, and afterwards at Huddersfield. In 1807 he published a short History of Pontefract, where he then resided. In 1810 he commenced an edition of the Hebrew Bible, and finished its publication in 1811. He then began this translation of the Bible into English; and (it is said) finished the correction of the last sheet of the work in the last week of his life, in September 1836.

* Benjamin Boothroyd was born in Yorkshire, in 1768. He was the son of a shoemaker; but by means of diligence and hard study succeeded in raising himself to a respectable and independent position. He became minister of a Dissenting chapel at Halifax in Yorkshire, and afterwards at Huddersfield. In 1807, he published a short History of Pontefract, where he then resided. In 1810 he finished an edition of the Hebrew Bible into English; and then began this translation of the Bible into English; and finished the correction of the work in the last week in September 1836.

* This was reprinted at in the next year: and has been published more than once, at also at Cambridge.

* As this edition of the Testament was published without any notes, contrary to the usual practice of Roman Catholics, a small tract of 36 pages was circulated with it, entitled "Supplement to the Douay Testament without Note or Comment." This piece comprises those notes which were usually printed with the Testament in late years, but with some slight differences : also, some Testimonies from the Fathers, alleging that the Church alone is competent to decide religious questions ; and the Creed of Pope Pius IV. This tract has no title-page.

¶ This volume possesses a considerable degree of interest, as exhibiting one attempt on the part of individual members of the Society of Friends to obtain an edition of the Bible fully adapted for audible reading in mixed family circles. Its title is, "The Pentateuch, or the five Books of Moses; principally designed to facilitate the audible or social reading of the Sacred Scriptures; illustrated with notes, &c." Preface, p. v—xl. Sketch of the life of Moses, p. xli—lix. Explanations, 1 page. Introduction to Genesis, p. lxi—66. The Text, p. 67—792. Interspersed through the work are several dissertations; viz. on the life and character of Abraham; on the character of Isaac; of Esau; of Jacob; of Joseph; prefatory observations on the book of Exodus; on the plagues of Egypt; on the passage of the Red Sea; on the instructions given to Moses on the mount; on Leviticus; on the religious and ceremonial laws of the Jews (100 pages); Historical Introduction to Leviticus; on Urim and Thummim; Historical Introduction to Numbers; on the life and character of Aaron; on the character and prophecies of Balaam; on the journeyings of the children of Israel (30 pages); Historical Introduction to Deuteronomy.

From the preface we collect, that this Pentateuch forms the first part of a Family Bible, designed to consist of three volumes. But so little encouragement was offered to the author, that the subsequent portions, which were in great part prepared, were never published. The title-page looks like a substitute for the one originally given (qu. in 1823?) The author calls his work a "Revision." With respect to its plan, he says, (p. xiv.) "The principal object of this work, the removing of all impediment to the social reading of the Holy Scriptures, has been pursued on the following plan: when the difficulty has arisen from a single word or expression, the sense of the original is conveyed in terms adapted to the present design. But when a whole narrative or passage occurs unsuitable for a mixed audience, the verse or verses containing it will be in Italic characters, placed under the text, and quite separated from it."

Again, at p. xix. "The common version of the Old and New Testaments is decidedly preferable, in the author's estimation, to any which he has examined: nor has he found any translation of particular books, which, upon the whole, he should prefer. Some obsolete expressions, which are almost unintelligible, it seems desirable to remove: but the style of the English version he by no means wishes to change. Hence

NEW TEST., Tyndale's; a reprint of the first edition, 1526; with a memoir of his life and writings. To which are annexed the essential variations of Coverdale's, Thomas Matthew's, Cranmer's, the Genevan, and the Bishops' Bibles, as marginal readings, by J. P. Dabney; Andover, Massachusetts, (U. S.) by Gould and Newman.—Lea Wilson. 8°.

NEW TEST., Rhemish; Belfast, by Simms and McIntyre.—Lea Wilson. 24°.

"it has been his study, in the alterations which he has deemed needful, to assimilate his language to that standard, as much as circumstances will admit."

In several parts of this volume the author has given "a lineal arrangement" of passages, adapted to exhibit the characteristic features of Hebrew poetry: and he informs us that a much larger quantity of these will appear in the second volume, containing the poetical and prophetic books.

This part however, as previously stated, has not yet been published.

The work consists of Title; Dedication "to the Universal Church of Christ;" the order of books, 1 leaf; Text, p. 1-470; Annotations, with an expository preface, by Granville Penn, Esq.; London, 1837. pp. 568. Supplemental Annotations, &c. 8vo. London, 1838. pp. 170. The author declares that he had been employed on this work thirty years.

<sup>t</sup> It contains Title: Preface, 2 pages: the Text, without any headings of chapters: the running title of the Gospels is "The Good Tidings according to Matthew, Mark, &c." There is not a single note, marginal reading, nor reference, throughout the entire volume.

<sup>u</sup> This work was stereotyped at Bungay, in Suffolk. It contains a Preface, detailing the principles, plan, and sources of the emendations adopted, 7 pages: the Canonical order, and Chronological order of the books, 1 page: a Map of the countries mentioned in the Bible: the Text, Genesis to Malachi: at 1 Kings, ch. vi. a Map of Jerusalem, and plan of the Temple: Tables of time, weights, measures, &c. 2 pages: a Map of Palestine: Title, "The New Testament—with many "thousand emendations:" the Text: Index, 6 pages.

The work was subsequently reissued with an undated title-page, calling itself "People's edition; London, C. A. "Bartlett." I believe the body of the book to be the same: perhaps the last sheet has been reprinted.

EDITIONS OF THE PSALMS,

FROM THE YEAR 1505 TO 1850.

REIGN OF KING HENRY VII.

THE FRUYTTFUL SAYNGES of DAVIDE, in the seven penitential PSALMES; devyded in seven sermons, (by John Fysher, bishop of Rochester;) London, by R. Pynson<sup>a</sup>.—Hunterian Museum, Glasgow; the late Mr. Ratcliffe. 4<sup>o</sup>.

1506, 1507.

No edition.

The same; London, by Wynken de Worde<sup>b</sup>.—*Publ. Libr.
Cambridge; St. Paul's; St. John's Coll. Cambridge; Chichester Cathedral; Earl Spencer.* 4<sup>o</sup>.

KING HENRY VIII.

The same; London, by Wynken de Worde<sup>c</sup>.—*Brit. Museum;
Bodleian; Publ. Libr. Cambridge; Bp. Daly; Lea Wilson.* 4<sup>o</sup>.

<sup>a</sup> These seven Psalms, with several others, and also portions of the Gospels and of the Old Testament, translated from the Vulgate, are found in many (but not in all) editions of the Salisbury Primer; (I have inserted such as I have had opportunities of seeing.) The version does not always agree with this by Bishop Fysher.

<sup>b</sup> The copy at St. Paul's is a fine one; that in the Public Library at Cambridge is printed upon vellum. A similar copy is said to be in the Public Library of Douay in Flanders, [Notes and Queries, iv. N<sup>o</sup>. 109. The remark there made, that the sermons are ten, not seven, perhaps arose from the circumstance that three of the seven, viz. those on Ps. 37, 50, and 101, are in two parts.] Title, bearing the royal portcullis between a dragon and a greyhound; the Text, ending on fol. 146, with the printer's colophon; the leaves are not numbered; there are no running titles. This edition may be distinguished from that of the next year by a portcullis figured in the first initial letter F.

1510.

The same; London, by R. Pynson<sup>d</sup>. (See Dibdin's Ames, vol. ii. p. 427.)—Bodleian; Lea Wilson. 4°.

1511—1518.

No edition.

1519.

[In former lists appeared notice of an edition of Bishop Fysher's PSALMS, printed in this year, by John Daye. No such book can be discovered. Daye did not commence printing, till many years afterwards.]

1520—1524.

No edition.

1525.

The same; London, by Wynken de Worde<sup>c</sup>.—Christ Church, Oxford; Lea Wilson. 4°.

1529.

The same; London, by Wynken de Worde<sup>f</sup>.—Earl Spencer; Mr. Johnes, of Hafod; Lea Wilson.

1530.

The PSALTER, translated from the Latin version of Feline, (i. e. Martin Bucer<sup>g</sup>;) Argentine, by Francis Foxe.—British Museum. 18°.

<sup>g</sup> It is well known, that Martin Bucer was induced by his friends in France and Germany to publish under the assumed name of Aretius Felinus. The version, from which this English translation was made, was published at Strasburgh in 1529. For a specimen and description of this volume, see the Appendix, infra. A transcript of Psalm 95 from this edition, and from George Joye's version, printed in 1534, is given in vol. x. in the Oxford edition of Waterland's Works. Sir Thomas More asserts that George Joye was the translator. In his "Confutation of Tyn-dale's Answer," printed in 1532, he says: "The Psalter was translated by George Joye the prieste that is wedded nowe; and I heare say the Primer too, wherein the seven Psalmes be sette in without the Letanye, lest folke shoulde praye to Sayntes; and the Dirige is left out clene, lest a man myght happe to praye therein for hys father's soule. In their Kalender before their devout prayers they have sette as a DAVID'S PSALTER; translated from the Latin (of Friar Felix, an Augustinian Eremit, with brief arguments, by Geo. Joye; Antwerp, by Martin Emperowre.—Public Library, Cambridge; Mr. Herbert. 24°.

A Paraphrase on the PSALMS; by Jo. Campensis; no place, nor printer's name<sup>b</sup>.—Lea Wilson; Mr. Herbert. 16°.

The same; London, in the house of Thomas Gygson<sup>i</sup>.—Lea Wilson. 12°.

The same; to which is added the Book of ECCLESIASTES; no place nor printer named. [Contains sign. B. in eights.] See Herbert, p. 1545<sup>k</sup>. 24°.

PSALM LI., with "an exposition after the manner of a contemplation," by Hierome [Savonarola] of Ferrarye; London, by John Byddel, for William Marshall. (Quære, 1534? it contains sign. D in eights.)—Dr. Lort; Bodleian. 4°.

"new Saynt, Syr Thomas Hytton the heretike that was burned in Kente, of whom I shall tell you more after. Him have they sette on St. Mattheys even, by the name of St. Thomas the Martyr." (More's English Works, p. 343.) And among the books publicly condemned by name, by authority of Stokesley, bishop of London, on Advent Sunday, 1531, we find "The Psalter in English, by Joye." (See Anderson, i. 306.)

Hebrew in the University of Louvain. It is probable that this English version was the work of Miles Coverdale. For Bale, in his "Illustres Britannie Scriptores," enumerates among the pieces translated by Coverdale, "Psalterium Joannis Campensis, lib. i."

<sup>l</sup> The former of these two is contained in the "Prymer in Englyshe;" and the latter in the "Goodly Prymer, the English newly corrected and printed," supposed by Sir Thomas More to have been translated into English by George Joye. Both editions are of great rarity, especially the former. See some account of them, in Herbert, p. 484-5; Collier's Ecclesiastical History; Strype's Ecclesiastical Memorials ; and the book entitled, "Three Primers put forth in the reign of King Henry VIII." edited by Dr. Edward Burton, Oxford, 1834.

<sup>m</sup> This has been reprinted, in Coverdale's Remains, 1846.

<sup>o</sup> Title, in a compartment, "The Primer in Englishe and Laten set oute at lengthe, with the exposition Miserere and In te Domine speravi, and with the Epistles and Gospels thorowe out all the whole yere." The Primer is printed in red and black ; containing sign. s. in eights. The Psalms li. and xxx. on fresh signatures, E, in eights. The Epistles and Gospels contain fol. lxxxiii. and a Table.

<sup>p</sup> The full title of this extremely rare and almost unnoticed volume is as follows : "Goostly psalmes and spiritual songes drawn out of the holy Scripture, for the comfort and consolacyon of such as love to rejoyse in God and his worde." See a particular description of the book, and a specimen of the versification, in the Appendix. See also Holland's Psalmists of Britain, i. p. 88. It has been reprinted, in Coverdale's Remains, 1846.

1543.

The same; London, by the same.—Mr. Herbert. 8°.

<sup>a</sup> Title in an architectural compartment. On reverse, an Almanac, beginning 1541. Kalendar, in black and red; a table of the names of the Psalms. A second title, "The Psalter, &c. translated into Englyshe out of the comē texte in Latyne, which customably is redde in the Church. Ricardus grafton excudebat. Cum privilegio." This is within a different compartment from the first. On reverse is a woodcut of David and Bathsheba; Text ii—cxxxviii. On the reverse of the last is Grafton's device.

The Latin text is printed in the inner column. The titles of the Psalms, and the initials of verses, are printed in red. The letter W is made by two V's, one being in black, the other in red. The St. Paul's copy of this rare book is a very fine one.

same woodcut, of David and Bathsheba, which appears in Grafton's edition of 1540. In the Public Library at Cambridge is an edition of this version in 12°, without date or place, containing sign. a viii. in eights.

<sup>h</sup> Containing Psalms cxv. and cxlv. Title within a woodcut-border; on reverse, the principall contentes of this boke; an Address by Theodore Basille to Lord Cobham, 20 pages; the Text, sign. b. iii. —m. vi. The cxlv. psalme, with a cut of king David, 3 pages; on reverse, the colophon, followed by a woodcut of our Saviour healing the sick, which fills the whole page. Theodore Basille was a name assumed by Thos. Becon. See this treatise reprinted in his Works, 2 vols. fol. 1564, and again, by the Parker Society, in 1843.

1547.

The same (in the Primer); London, by Richard Grafton.—Mr. Douce. 4<sup>o</sup>.

DEVOUT PSALMES and COLLECTES; London, by Edward Whitchurch.—Bodleian<sup>x</sup>; Emmanuel Coll. 12<sup>o</sup>.

*The PSALTER of DAVID, in Englysh; truly translated out of Latyn, &c.; with certayne godly prayers, commonly called Collettes; London, by Edward Whitchurch.—(See Herbert, p. 549;) W. Baynton, Esq. 8<sup>o</sup>.

TWENTY PSALMS of the PROPHET DAVID; with a godly meditation, by Sir Antony Cope, Knight; London, by John Daye<sup>y</sup>.—Mr. Herbert; Lea Wilson. 4<sup>o</sup>.

<sup>u</sup> This copy is printed on vellum, and a similar one is in the Bodleian.—Several editions of this piece were inserted in my former list; but, as “they are only pious breathings, and do not pretend to be exact translations, nor even paraphrases,” I forbear to take further notice of them.

<sup>x</sup> This copy is imperfect, and without date: but the letter is that of Whitchurch; and I assign it to this year, agreeably to the short notice in Herbert, p. 544. The Psalms contained in it are Ps. 1. 5. 6. 8. 12. 14. 15. 22. 25. 27. 31. 32. 34. 37. 39. 41. 51. 52. 54. 55. 59. 61. 62. 67. 77. 79. 80. 86. 90. 95. 100. 103.

1548.

The PSALTER, or PSALMES of DAVID; after the translation of the Great Bible, poincted as it shall be song in churches<sup>z</sup>; London, by Richard Grafton.—Lea Wilson. 4<sup>o</sup>.

PSALM XIV. in verse, by Queen Elizabeth<sup>a</sup>; no place, no name. "Imprinted in the year of our Lorde 1548, in Apryll."—In the Malone Collection (Bodleian). 16<sup>o</sup>.

1548, or 1549.

On the title-page is the portrait of the princess: a Dedication to her, signed Johan Bale. The Meditation, &c. The Psalm: at the end is the same cut as on the title. The book contains 48 leaves. Only a single copy was thought to be remaining of this edition; viz. that of Mr. Malone, which formerly belonged to Mr. Jacob of Feversham. But there is a second copy in the King's Library, purchased at Mr. Tyssen's sale in 1801: and I lately discovered a third, in the Earl of Pembroke's collection at Wilton house. In this last, a blank paper has been pasted over the page containing the Psalm. The "Meditation" was reprinted by H. Denham in 1564: and again, in Bentley's "Monument of "Matrons," 1582. But it does not appear, from Herbert's account of those editions, whether or not this Psalm was reprinted also. It has been more recently reprinted: viz. in Park's edition of Walpole's Royal and Noble Authors of Great Britain, 8<sup>o</sup>. 1806; and lastly, in Holland's Psalmists of Britain, 1843.

<sup>b</sup> I conceive this to be the first edition of Sternhold's version. It is excessively rare. I have never been able, so far as I know, to meet with a copy. Title, in a compartment with the sun at the top, and Whitchurch's cipher at the bottom. A Dedication to King Edward VI. The Psalms, ending on sign. D. vi. A leaf with the same woodcut as at the end of Erasmus' paraphrases in 1548-9. The last leaf is blank. The signatures run in eights. This edition contains only 19 Psalms; viz. Ps. 1. 2. 3. 4. 5. 20. 25. 27. 29. 32. 33. 41. 49. 73. 78. 103. 120. 122. 138. [Herbert's Ames.]

<sup>c</sup> Robert Crowley was a Demy of Magdalene College, Oxford. In the reign of king Edward VI. he took up the business of a printer. On Queen Mary's accession he, with many others, fled to Frankfort: returning under Queen Elizabeth, he was appointed vicar of St. Giles', Cripplegate, in London, where he died in 1588. He was author of several pieces; and was the first editor of Pierce Plowman's Visions. See further particulars concerning him in Wood's Athene, and in Strype's Life of Archbishop Parker. See also Holland's Psalmists.

 "the Metrical Version of the Psalms by
 "Sternhold, &c." 8<sup>o</sup>. 1822, p. 51, &c.
 Todd says, it is conjectured to have been composed in 1557, and published about 1560. The work has been generally ascribed to the archbishop, though it does not bear his name. In fact, there can be no doubt that the archbishop was the author. In his diary, published by Strype from the MS. now remaining in C. C. Coll. Cambridge, it is written, "Et adhuc hoc 6<sup>o</sup> Augusti,

1555, not 1557: since the remark occurs between entries of the years 1554 and 1556.] Likewise in Parker's life, attached to some copies of his book "De Antiquitate Britannicæ Ecclesiæ," fol. 1572, which life was either composed or revised by the archbishop himself, it is said of him "Psalmos item Davidicos elegantissimo metro Anglico, in tres partes divisos, quarum unaquæque quinquaginta Psalmos continet, edidit." Strype had not seen a copy of this version.

Mr. Lea Wilson discovered in the book itself what may be considered a sufficient indication of the author: "Preceding the 119th Psalm is a metrical preface, of sixteen lines: of which the initial letters of each line compose the name of the author, MATTHEUS PARKERUS. I am not aware that this fact has been before noticed." [Catalogue, p. 231.] It has been generally affirmed that this impression was not intended for public sale; but that the few copies of it which came abroad were presented by the archbishop or Mrs. Parker to particular friends. Todd mentions some instances of this kind. The volume certainly is rare: but not more so than many other early editions of the metrical Psalms: a copy, sold in 1845 in London, at Mr. Bright's auction, produced 40*l.* 10*s.* The statement in the Bibliotheca Grenvilliana, that only eight copies are known, is manifestly incorrect. See a specimen and description below, in the Appendix: see also Holland's Psalmists.

<sup>b</sup> Mr. Lea Wilson believed that Day's edition of 1563 was the first collected edition of the whole 150 Psalms; but Herbert distinctly specifies this of 1562; though he does not appear to have seen it himself. He informs us, that towards the latter end of the year 1561 Day had license to print "the resydewe of the Psalmes not heretofore prynced." "So that this maketh up the hole." Therefore he might well put forth an edition in the following year.

" tue and abolishyng of other wayne
" and triflyng ballades." The volumes (for each part, is bound by itself) are rather in an oblong 8<sup>o</sup>. form than a 4<sup>o</sup>.
I believe the work to be exceedingly scarce. The version is Sternhold's.
Altho' the Title leads us to suppose that the whole Psalter is here; yet, in the Brasen Nose copy, only sixty-two Psalms appear. The Edinburgh Review for January, 1852, asserts that Dr. E. Rimbault's copy is the only perfect one known.

<sup>d</sup> Herbert unfortunately passes over,
without notice, Day's numerous editions of the Psalms; merely saying that they were printed "again in 1564, and "frequently." p. 635.

<sup>e</sup> Bishop Percy's valuable collection of editions of the Psalms was presented by him to the Archiepiscopal Library at Lambeth.

<sup>f</sup> This is the earliest edition of the Psalms printed for the use of the Kirk of Scotland, which I have been able to meet with. It is recorded, that a general assembly at Edinburgh, in Dec.

26, 1564, ordered that every minister,
&c. should have one of the Psalm-books lately printed at Edinburgh, and should use the order therein contained,
&c. The book is of extreme rarity.

With respect to the metrical version of the Psalms, "as allowed by the Kirk
"of Scotland," its basis was that of Sternhold; though there are many variations, and forty-one of the Psalms differ from the translation used by the Church of England, [D. Laing.] Dr.
Lee observes, in his "Memorial for the "Bible Societies of Scotland," that "all the editions of the Psalms printed
"for the use of the Church of Scotland
"before 1640, with the exception of King
"James', were in general taken from "the version by Thomas Sternhold and "other English authors; not above
"one-tenth of the number having been "versified by divines of the Church of "Scotland." For some notice of Robert Pont, who is believed to have been mainly concerned in compiling this collection, see Holland's Psalmists, i. p. 190.

<sup>1</sup> Contained in a tract entitled, "Morning and Evening Prayers, with divers Psalmes, Hymns and Meditations, made and set forth by the lady Elizabeth Tyrwhit." Herbert gives a very interesting account (too long for insertion here) of a copy of this work, which was presented by lady E. Tyrwhit to Queen Elizabeth, and which the Queen caused to be bound, with some other small prayers, in solid gold, and wore it constantly at her side. This curious relic (but mutilated in some leaves) came afterwards into the possession of the Reverend George Ashby, who furnished Mr. Herbert with all the particulars respecting it, given at p. 1801—2.

<sup>m</sup> (Dr. Tattersall asserts this, in his Introduction to Merrick's Psalmes.) It has been said, that Keeper took the liberty of publishing Archbishop Parker's version of the Psalter under his own name: but this story wants further confirmation. See Hawkins' History of Music, iii. p. 422.

<sup>n</sup> The Bodleian Library contains a copy of this collection; from which some former owner has taken away the entire text of the Psalter, and that alone. Its Title, which remains, is thus: "The cl Psalmes of David in English metre. With the forme of Prayers, and ministration of the Sacraments, &c. used in the Church of Scotland. Whereunto, besydes that was in the former bookes, are added also sundrie other Prayers, with a newe and exact Kallender for xvi yeres next to come. The "forme of Prayers," &c. ends on p. 159: and Calvin's Catechism, with a separate title, of this same year, contains p. 1—193. Herbert does not

CHRISTIAN MEDITATIONS upon Eight PSALMS of DAVID<sup>9</sup>; made by Theodore Beza, and from the French translated

<sup>9</sup> The Title has no date; but the Dedication is dated 1582. The Text of the Psalms is in the margin: the Psalms are Ps. 1. 6. 32. 38. 51. 102. 130. 143.

Lord Charlemont's copy is an exquisite one, in old Grolier binding. Annexed to it is a little book of extraordinary rarity, in equally fine and perfect condition, "David's Sling against great Goliath;" printed by Henry Denham, in 1581.

<sup>s</sup> In the "Third Lampe," same date, are "Right godlie Psalmes to be said of our most vertuous and deere soue-<sup>r</sup>aigne Ladie Queene Elizabeth as at all times at hir Grace's pleasure, so especially upon the 17 daie of November—paraphrastically explained and opened by that godlie learned man Theodore Beza." The Psalms are 18, 118, together with "The Kings Heart, or God's familiar speech to the Queene," and "The Queenes Vow, or selfe-talk with God," both collected out of the Psalmes as expounded by Beza.—In the "Fourth Lampe," p. 895, are also "The Dolefull Doue, or David's Penitentiall Psalmes." There are few books of rarer occurrence, or that contain more curious and interesting matter, than the "Monument of Matrones."

<sup>x</sup> The title of this rare book is "Seven Sobs of a sorrowfull Soule for Sinne; comprehending those seven Psalmes of the princelie Prophet David commonlie called Penitentiall; framed into a forme of familiar praiers, and reduced into meter, by — &c. Whereunto are also annexed his Handful of Honisuckles; the Poore Widowe's Mite; a Dialog between Christ and a Sinner; divers godlie and pithie ditties; with a Christian confession of and to the Trinitie; newly printed and augmented, 1585, with musik notes." Dedication: the Author to his booke: the Booke to his readers: on reverse, a cut of King David: the Text, on 85 pages. The other compositions have separate titles; but the signatures are continued, to H 10 in twelves. [The above is from Herbert. I have never seen a copy.] Quære, if this be the edition quoted in Holland's Psalmists, i. p. 152, there dated 1583?

<sup>s</sup> This little volume ought rather to be called 32°. The letter is a small Roman; the signatures run in eights, A—Y 8. The pages are numbered, but the numbering is extremely incorrect. Before the Psalms are some Hymns; and after them, the Ten Commandments, Creed, Prayers, and a Table of which is one of the only two known to me, is fine and perfect. In 1819, Mr. Lloyd's copy, which at that time was believed to be the only perfect one, was sold for twenty-one guineas. See a specimen in the Appendix; and another in Holland's Psalmists.

Psalms.

° It contains, Title; on the back a woodcut; the division of the meter; the Text, p. 3-285; a Confession, a Prayer, a Prayer for the King and Queen, 4 pages unnumbered; the colophon.

<sup>p</sup> This edition is spoken of by the author, in his second and enlarged one of 1620; but it is extremely difficult to meet with. The only copy, which I have been able to hear of, is preserved in the Public Library at Cambridge. It is a small piece in 16°, having for title "Certaine Psalmes of David heretofore much out of use because of their difficult tunes, reduced into English meter better fitting the common tunes, by H. D. Printed by Robert Walgrave, 1603." The Title is followed by an Address to the Reader, of 2 pages; the Psalms are printed in Italics; the prose in the margin, as also the Titles, being in Roman. The Psalms translated by Dod here are Ps. 104. 111. 120. 122. 124. 125. 126. 130. A full page contains 23 lines. This work was privileged by King James I. See a further notice of it in "Todd's Observations on Sternhold's version," 8°. 1822. p. 60.

1616.

- The PSALMS, by Sternhold, &c.; London, for the Company.—Museum; Emmanuel College. 4°.

<sup>t</sup> Contains Title; Table of moveable feasts; a Calendar; names of the fairs in Scotland; the Contents, 18 pages; the Liturgy, sign. B ii—o viii.; the Song of Moses; the xii common tunes; sign. P i—viii.; a second Title; Text of the Psalms, including 3 pages of Table, sign. A—G ii.

<sup>u</sup> Antony à Wood (Athenæ Oxon., ii. p. 474,) affirms Sir Edwin Sandys to be the author; but no proof of this appears in the volume itself. It contains the Title; a Hymn to God, 2 pages; the Text, page 1—136; a Table, &c., and errata, 2 pages. The Psalms paraphrased are, Ps. 1, 2, 8, 15, 16, 17, 19—22, 25, 32, 34, 36, 37, 40, 42, 44, 45, 49—51, 67—69, 73, 79, 82, 84, 90, 92, 94, 100, 101, 103, 104, 107, 110—112, 118, 119, 122, 128, 130, 137, 139, 141, 145, 146. The music, in five parts, with a separate set of notes for the lute, is printed with Ps. 8, 16, 19, 21, 42, 84, 94, 103, 112, 130, and 137. The spelling is purposely singular; the versification is often rough and quaint, but sometimes exhibiting a very high and nervous vein. A specimen literatim is given in the Appendix; and another may be seen in Holland's Psalmists. I do not believe that this version has ever been reprinted.

All the PSALMS of DAVID; with certain Songs and Canticles of MOSES, DEBORAH, ISAIAH, HEZEKIAH, and others, not formerly extant for Song, &c. reduced into easy metre, by H. Dod [with the prose in the margin]; no place nor printer.—British Museum; Bodleian; Chichester Cathedral; Lambeth; Lea Wilson.

8<sup>o</sup>.

γ Title, within a border; Dedication, 3 pages: To the Christian reader, 5 pages: the Text, 1–375: a Table, 5 pages: sundrie Canticles, 3 pages: 1 blank. On a separate title, “A Description of the principall points in “the Psalms: the same act of Parliament, &c. printed 1620:” A Table, 21 pages: An act for a publique thanksgiving, 6 pages: the same act in verse, 6 pages, reverse blank.

The volume bears much appearance of having been printed in Holland: but John Bagford was of opinion that it was executed at Edinburgh. It is very incorrect. The Bodleian copy formerly belonged to Bagford: from him it passed to Dr. Charlett; and from him to Thomas Hearne. Mr. Lea Wilson possessed two copies of this rare book: which, if we are to believe George Wither, (see Todd’s “Observations on Sternhold’s Version,”) was suppressed by public authority; “Dod the silkman’s late “ridiculous translation of the Psalms “was, by authority, worthily condemned to the fire.” Indeed, one can scarcely say that the book deserved a much better fate. A specimen is given in the Appendix: and, as a curiosity, I have subjoined the act of Parliament for enjoining a thanksgiving on the fifth of November, for the kingdom’s deliverance from the gunpowder-plot, “composed into easie “meeter, a song meete for yong and “old,” [and have accompanied it with a similar piece, viz. Vicars’ “phrase in verse of the 123d Psalm, by “waye of thankesgiving for our great “deliverance from the Papistes Powder “Plot.”] I apprehend that there are not many persons who have seen an act of parliament in verse. Yet this is not the only piece of Law, which has wooed readers under the captivating garb of poetry. No longer ago than the year 1811 an octavo volume was printed at Paris, which contained the whole of the “Code Napoleon” (consisting of 2281 sections) in French verse. In the seventeenth century, a French poet named Jean Maignon formed the wild design of composing an Encyclopædia in verse; and he actually published a volume in quarto, which he called “La Science Universelle.” While his work was in progress, Scarron jeered him, by sending a message that he himself had an intention of favouring the world with a poetical version of the Councils.

Holland has given a specimen, and notice of Dod, in his “Psalmists of “Britain.”

* The title is engraved. The volume contains 381 pages. 'The king nearly, but not wholly, finished his version. Sir William Alexander [earl of Stirling], a poet of great distinction in his time, has a much better title to be considered the true author of this version than king James, under whose name it was published. In 1634 king Charles I, finding it to be exactly and truly done, allowed and recommended it to be sung in all the churches of his dominions: [Dr. Lee:] and directed that no other Psalms of any edition whatsoever be printed heirafter within that kingdom [of Scotland], or imported thither from any forrayne parts.' (D. Laing). This translation was reprinted in 1636, in folio; but it had been silently much altered, so that many of the psalms may be considered as rewritten. Specimens from each edition are given by Mr. Laing.—See some remarks upon the authorship of this version, in Holland's Psalmists, i. p. 250—267.

These are printed in Vickers' "England's Hallelujah." The Psalms are, Ps. 1—6. 8. 10. 15. 23. 51—53. 55. 56. 101. 103. 105. 107: together with Pg. 123 "paraphrased by way of thanksgiving for our great deliverances from "the papists' powder-plot."—As this last seems a fit companion for the Act of Parliament on the same subject, in verse, I have given them together, in the Appendix.—See also Holland's Psalmists.

§ See some productions by G. Withers, above, under the years 1619 and 1620. The author had sufficient interest to obtain from King James a compulsory licence that his "Hymns and Songs of the Church" should be attached to every English Psalm-book which should be printed. They are subjoined to this edition. But it appears, that the Company of Stationers had not so high an opinion of these Hymns as their author had: for they refused to add them to their editions of Sternhold's Psalms. See an amusing account of these differences between the two parties, in Todd's "Observations on Sternhold's Psalms," p. 63, &c.: see also Holland's Psalmists, ii. p. 1-12.

The PSALMS; translated (into metre) by King James<sup>m</sup>; Lon-the Liturgy, sign. B ii—o viii: the common tunes, 29 pages: to the Gentle Reader, 3 pages: the Text, sign. A—m m v: the Table, and a Forme of Prayers, &c. 18 pages.

<sup>m</sup> Copies of this edition are frequently bound up with the celebrated "Liturgy for the Church of Scotland," prepared by the Scotch bishops, with the sanction of King Charles I. and the assistance of Archbishop Laud, and printed at Edinburgh in 1637; (and reprinted there, by James Watson, in 1712.)

As copies of that interesting volume, the original edition of 1637, are seldom to be met with, except in public libraries, the following particulars may not be unacceptable here, though not immediately connected with King James' version of the Psalms: The library of the University of Glasgow contains no fewer than four copies: in one of which a former zealous possessor has written the following note: "This is 'the book called 'the Service-book,' 'that was prest upon the kirk of Scotland by the Prelates of that tyme, in

fol.

"one thousand six hundred and thirty-seven: a book full of errors, and maye be called 'the Masse in English.' The reason I kept it undestroyed is, that all generations following may take heed of Novations in the kirk, and praise God for our preservation. Alexander Blockhead (sic)."

I have seen, in England and Ireland, at different times and places, about 30 copies of this edition; and I think that nearly all of them had the catchword  "CERTAINE" printed at the foot of the last page of the prose Psalter, with which the volume concludes; denoting that "certaine godly prayers" were intended to follow, as had been the case in many previous English Service-books. Of the Glasgow copies, three are without the catchword: and on comparing the four together, I perceived that the Psalter had been reprinted; not the title-page only, but all the sheets. The copy with the catchword bears for title, "The Psalter, or Psalmes of David: according to the last translation in King James his time. Pointed as they shall be said or sung throughout all the churches of Scotland."

The three copies which have not the catchword, bear for title "The Psalter, or Psalmes of David: after the translation set forth by authority in King James his time of blessed memory: as it shall be sung or said throughout all the churches of Scotland."

These latter were the last printed, and are much more rare than the others; the tumults which arose in Edinburgh having prevented the dispersion of these copies, while many of the former had been already distributed, and thus have been preserved. I gather this conclusion, from a very valuable paper by the Rev. Alexander Irwin, printed in the "Irish Ecclesiastical Journal" for February, 1842, containing a description of a very curious and interesting copy of the book of 1637, preserved in the public library of Armagh; which has, on a fly-leaf, the following MS. memorandum: "This book was collated with the Book of Common Prayer, &c. of the Church of England, printed in quarto, 1632, which book was altered in the margin of Archbishop Laud's own hand to be sent into Scotland as the Book of Common Prayer to be printed for the use of that Church; and the differences between this and that Book so altered are noted in the places where they occur. The book so altered is in the library of the city of Norwich; and was given to it by the Rev. Mr. Watson, rector of Hingham in Norfolk. The places also in this book which are taken from those alterations are marked, either by a line drawn under them, or by commas in the margin."

Mr. Irwin gives several extracts from Prynne and Heylin, bearing upon this subject: and he adds;

"This copy, therefore, of the Scotch Prayer-book having been compared with the original volume preserved in Norwich, exhibits those alterations which were suggested by Laud, but were not adopted by the prelates in Scotland; and also enables us to trace those deviations from the English Liturgy, which were introduced, without Laud's suggestion, by the Scotch bishops. The former, the rejected alterations, have never, that I am aware of, been published, or even noticed by any writer. The latter I have discovered by a comparison of this Scotch Prayer-book with a copy of the English Prayer-book in Armagh Library, printed in

A paraphrase, (in metre,) upon the PSALMS; and upon the HYMNS dispersed throughout the OLD and NEW TESTAMENTS; by G. S. [George Sandys n;] London, at the Bell in “1615, which may be considered as the same with the copy of the edition of 1632, in which Laud inserted his MS. notes: for he effectually cleared himself from the charge of having made or allowed of any alterations in the English Liturgy from the form in which it stood after the Hampton-court Conference in James’ time. Some account of these variations may not be unacceptable to your readers.” &c. &c.

“The title of the Psalter in the Armagh copy is as follows: ‘The Psalter, or, Psalmes of David: according to the last translation in King James his time’—[Here a MS. interlineation occurs from Laud’s copy, ‘set forth by authority in King James his time of blessed memory.’ Pointed as they shall be said or sung throughout all the churches of Scotland.’ [MS. ‘You must look to the pointing of it as near as may be to the old translation.’]] &c. &c.

Again, Mr. Irwin remarks, “At the end of the Psalter in the English Prayer-books it was usual to insert ‘certain Godly prayers.’ The following memorandum is written by Laud at the foot of the page: ‘His majesty commands, that these prayers following, or any other (for they are different in several editions) be all left out and not printed in your Liturgy.’ The catchword ‘certaine’ remains, however, uncanceled at the bottom of the page.”

Since writing the above, I have learned, from the British Magazine, vols. xxix. and xxx., that the original draft of this Common Prayer-book is preserved among the MSS. in the British Museum. It is also there stated, that the Norwich book (which, since the year 1766, has gone into private hands) was found by Prynne in the study of Archbishop Laud. It seems that a second copy, besides that at Armagh, was made by Archbishop Tenison, and is now in the library at Lambeth.

In Trinity College, Dublin, are three copies of this book; which deserve some notice. One of them is the usual copy, with the catchword: the second, formerly belonging to Archbishop Paliser, is of the second, more rare edition, without the catchword, the title and the initial letters entirely different from the other. The third copy is very remarkable, being handsomely printed on large thick paper. It was a presentation-copy from Spottiswoode, Archbishop of St. Andrews, to Edward Wren, Bishop of Norwich; and still preserves the original autograph letter, dated 5 April, 1637. It is of the first edition. I do not remember to have seen, or heard of, another copy on large paper.

The Rev. Dr. Todd, fellow of Trinity College, Dublin, possesses a copy which formerly was presented by Sir Robert Sibbald to Bishop Nicolson, at the time when he was Archdeacon of Carlisle. It is of the first edition; but has the singularity of containing both the original leaf, (signature H h 3) and its cancel. The former leaves out an entire verse (the last) of Psalm 109. Not one of these four Dublin copies has the metrical Psalms attached to it.

In the copy which is in Archbishop Marsh’s Library, the leaves containing the proscribed “godly prayers” have been rudely torn out by the binder, and applied by him as linings to the leathern covers of his book.

“This volume contains two DedICATIONS, to the King and to the Queen (different from those which are found in the edition of 1648): Verses to the Author, by Lord Faulkland: Title, and prefatory matter,

° The author probably is R. Burnaby. Mr. Haslewood, the editor of "Bar-nabies Journal," in 1820, claimed this version as Richard Brathwaite's, and the portrait prefixed, as his. See vol. i. p. 357, &c. of that edition, for the reasons which led Mr. H. to that conclusion. The volume has an engraved frontispice, containing in an oval over a portrait of the author, "The Psalmes of David the Kinge and of other holy prophets paraphras'd, by R. B., Esq., London, printed for Francis Constable, 1638." The printed title reads, "The Psalmes of David the King and Prophet, and of other holy Prophets, paraphras'd in English: conferred

"with the Hebrew Veritie, set forth by B. Arias Montanus, together with the Latine, Greek Septuagint, and Chaldee Paraphrase. By R. ¶ See a specimen, in the Appendix. In the preface, the translators profess to keep close to the original text ; " We have done our indeavour to make " a plaine and familiar translation of " the Psalmes and words of David into " english metre, and have not soe " much as presumed to paraphrase to " give the sence of his meaning in other " words." This exceedingly rare volume, of which, most probably, very few copies are to be found in Europe, is not only the first edition of this version, but is likewise the first book printed within the colony of New England, and throughout the whole of that vast tract of North America, which extends from the Gulf of Mexico to the Frozen Ocean. The following notice of it is taken from " The History of Printing in " America," by Isaiah Thomas, a native of that colony. With all his diligence, he was unable to find more than one single copy of it ; and even that was imperfect, wanting the Title. Thomas says of the volume, " it is a crown octavo " [he is mistaken here,] of 300 pages : " the type is Roman, of the size of " small-bodied English, entirely new,

" and may be called a very good letter. " In this edition there are no hymns, " or spiritual songs : it contains only " the Psalms, the original long preface, " and ' An Admonition to the reader,' " of half a page at the end of the Psalms, " after Finis. This admonition respects " the tunes suited to the Psalms. " The second edition, in 1647, contained a few Spiritual songs. The third " edition, revised and amended by " President Dunster, &c. had a large " addition of Scripture songs and " hymns, written by Mr. Lyon." The translators were chiefly the Rev. Mr. Weld, and the Rev. John Eliot, the same who translated the Bible into the Indian language. This version, at first, was commonly called " The Bay Psalm- " book : " but afterwards, " The New " England version of the Psalms."

<sup>9</sup> This first edition of Rous' version of the Psalms is a little book of uncommon rarity: indeed it seems to have disappeared from view almost immediately after its birth. Few, if any, writers on the subject speak as though they had personally examined it. I never saw a copy in any library, public or private, except that of Dr. Bliss. It is probable, that the General Assembly's limited approval of this first attempt of Rous, coupled with some suggestions for its improvement, caused it to be withdrawn. It was followed by a second edition in 1643, and a third, considerably altered, in 1646. Specimens of the version are given in the Appendix.

Title, "The Booke of Psalmes in English Meeter. By Fr. Rous. (A Hebrew quotation;) London, printed by Rous was a younger son of sir Antony Rous, knt. He was several times chosen a member of Parliament; and was elected a lay commissioner of the General Assembly. In 1643-4 he was appointed provost of Eton.

<sup>r</sup> The whole book is engraved on copper. The languages are Hebrew, Greek, Latin, and English. * This edition also, as well as the first, is of considerable rarity. It contains, Title; Preface, 6 pages; To the reader, 4 pages; the Text, p. 1—312. Psalmes of harder and lesse usuall tunes corrected, and the tunes not altered, 16 pages unnumbered; a table to find each Psalm, 8 pages.

<sup>t</sup> This version is by Wm. Barton, M.A. It was afterwards much altered, and was republished in 1645, 1646, 1654, &c., down to 1768. There seems to have been a rivalry between Barton and Rous, as to which version should be generally adopted by the public: but the influence of the General Assembly prevailed to give the preference to "the old Presbyterian Provost of Eton." Specimens of Barton's version are given in the Appendix. This edition consists of the Title; tunes, 12 pages; an apologeticall Epistle, 8 pages; the Text, p. 1—304; a table, 8 pages. Holland notices Barton's version, Psalmists, ii. p. 18.

<sup>x</sup> This first edition is very rare. The work was frequently reprinted. One of the Bodleian copies contains the following note in the hand-writing of the noble author; "For the use of the "Publique Library of the famous University of Oxford, in Testimony of "the high esteem and affection towards her by Chr. + This book has no regular title-nor place of printing. It appears to have been executed between 1640 and 1650. It is printed in two columns, in a Roman letter; and consists of 8 leaves unpagged. On sign. a. we read,

<sup>c</sup> I take this to be the second edition of Lord Hatton's performance. I have not traced all the intermediate ones ; but have observed that the fourteenth edition was printed at London in 1712.

This is the third edition of Rous' version of the Psalms, corrected and amended by various committees of the House of Commons, and afterwards revised by the author. In this state it was accepted, and subsequently became the basis of the received version of the Scottish Kirk. We have seen (p. 178) that Antony à Wood's assertion that it had been printed so early as 1641 has been confirmed by the recent appearance of a copy of that first edition, in the Library of Dr. Bliss of Oxford ; and that a second edition, with some alterations, was issued in 1643.

In the Journals of the House of Commons, on the 20th of Nov. 1643, it is ordered, "That the assembly of Divines be desired to give their advice whether it may not be useful and profitable to the Church, that the Psalms, set forth by Mr. Rous, be permitted "to be publicly sung, the same being read before singing, until the books be more generally dispersed." And on Nov. 14, 1645, "The House being informed, That some of the Assembly of Divines were at the door ; they were called in : and Mr. Wilson acquainted the House, that, according to a former order of this House, they had perused the Psalms set out by Mr. Rouse ; and as they are now altered and amended, do conceive they may be useful to the Church. Resolved, &c. That this book of Psalms, set forth by Mr. Rouse, and perused by the Assembly of Divines, be forthwith printed, &c. It appears from the extracts, that in 1643 Mr. Rous had "set forth" his version ; but that, from some cause or other, the copies had not been generally dispersed." Subsequently, when the approbation of the Assembly had been obtained, this cause might cease to operate, and the amended impression would go freely abroad.

But yet we see, that even that second edition was deemed to require further alterations : and when these had been made, and on examination appeared satisfactory, then, by the order of 14 Nov. 1645, the present edition was put to press. For its public reception, and further proceedings with respect to it, see a note subjoined to the edition of the Scottish Psalms in 1650.

After this edition was published, the Rev. Henry Dunster, President of Harvard College, and a master of the Oriental languages, and Mr. Richard Lyon, educated at an University in Europe, were appointed a Committee further to revise and improve the Psalms: which service they performed in two or three years; when another edition was published, with the addition of other Scriptural songs.

<sup>1</sup> This is the first edition of the Authorized Scotch version; which is taken in great part from that by Rous. In April 1646, when Rous' last revised and amended version appeared, the House of Commons ordered "that 'Rous' Psalms, and no other, shall 'be sung in all churches and chapels 'within England, Wales, and Berwick-upon-Tweed after the first of 'next January.'"—The Lords concurred with this order.

Afterwards, the Scottish General Assembly took this translation in hand, and submitted it to the animadversions of several Presbyteries: and when it was at length altered and improved, the Assembly ordered, on 23d

November, 1649, that it should be printed and published for public use: "authorizing it to be the only Paraphrase of the Psalmes of David to be sung in the Kirk of Scotland; and discharging the Old Paraphrase, and any other, to be used in any congregation or family after 1st May, 1650." Thus, at length, the old Scottish version, first printed in 1564 by Lekpreuik, became formally superseded. This more modern one has remained during two centuries unaltered, except by a few slight variations in orthography. — [D. Laing's Notice of the Metrical Scottish versions, 8°. 1842.]

- PSALM CXXXVII. in metre; by J. Donne, D. D. Second edition. London, for Miles Flesher.—Bodleian. 12°.

<sup>k</sup> This occurs in a volume of his poetry entitled "Silex scintillans, or Sacred Poems." A second part appeared in 1655, and both edited by H. F. Lyte, Lond., Pickering, 1847. The Psalm is printed by Holland in his Psalmists of Britain, ii. p. 101.

<sup>l</sup> This book has two titles, one of which is engraved on copper. A new title was printed in 1654; when, with the addition of the Lord's Prayer, the Creed, the Ten Commandments, and the Hymns of the Church, it was put forth as a new edition.

<sup>m</sup> Containing Psalms xlviii. lxxvi. xli. cxxxv. In the dedication are to be found some particulars relative to Rous's version, and its revision by Barton; which last performance having been referred by the House of Commons to certain of their body to be examined, was not altogether approved of, being deemed by them too poetical; but the censors did themselves intend to compile a new one out of it. This was, I believe, the third edition of the New England version of the Psalms, after it had been revised and improved by president Dunster, &c., and the fifth including all former editions. I have a compleat copy of this edition; but the name of the printer and the year in which it was printed, are not mentioned. My belief that it was printed about the year 1664 or 1665 is confirmed by its being printed for Hezekiah Usher, the only bookseller that I can find an account of at that time, in New England. It is a curious fact, that non-pareil types were used so early in this country. I have not seen them in any other book printed either at Cambridge or Boston, before the revolution." ° These occur in a volume entitled "The Mirror of Divine Love Unveiled," containing a poetical paraphrase of Solomon's Song, (described above, at p. 79.) The author has been recently brought into conspicuous notice, through his "Rise and Fall of the Papacy," comprising prophecies relating to the fortunes of the Papal power. A specimen of his Psalms is given in Holland's Psalmists, ii. p. 161.

The Book of PSALMS; a new version [in metre,] fitted to the tunes used in Churches; by N. Tate, and N. Brady, D. D.<sup>r</sup>;

<sup>p</sup> The version is altered from Sternhold's: in the preface mention is made of a report, “that there would be very speedily an act of parliament for annexing Bishop Patrick's version of ‘the Psalms to the Bible.’” It is almost needless to add, that no such act was ever passed.

<sup>q</sup> This was put forth as a Specimen. The version was licensed to be sung in churches, and the first entire edition of it was printed in the next year. It is to be observed, that the version of this

Specimen differs in many places from that which was afterwards adopted; as may be seen in the Appendix. There was also another Specimen, containing only the first eight Psalms, probably printed a little before the present. Of this, several passages differ both from the second Specimen and the adopted version. Copies of each are in the Bodleian; the earlier, a sheet and a half, has no title.

* This appears to have been often reprinted : the seventh edition was published in 1708.

N. B. It may be remarked here, that during the last eighty or ninety years, there have been very numerous editions of Selections of Psalms from various versions, designed for the use of particular churches and chapels. I have not considered it necessary to make an exact search for all those miscellaneous compilations.

<sup>t</sup> This book, which (I believe) has never been reprinted, contains Title ; a Dedication to the Duke of Gloucester ;

and a Preface of 17 pages, addressed to the Archbishops, Bishops, and Clergy of Great Britain and Ireland ; an Advertisement, and the Psalm-tunes, p. 1-xxiii. ; Errata, 1 page ; the Text, p. 1-324 ; of which the last nine contain Doxologies.

The author calls himself a Presbyter of the Church of England. In his very interesting preface, he discusses the subject of our Church-psalmody, the authority for using any particular version, the merits of several translations, &c. &c. He mentions by name Sir Philip Sidney, Lord Bacon, Bishop Hall, King James I., Sandys, May, Burnaby, Bishop King, Barton, Sir John Denham, M. Smith, Goodridge, Dr. Patrick, Dr. Woodford, Dr.

Ford, Brady and Tate, and Mrs. Beale, the eminent painter, [whose version is printed in Dr. Woodford's paraphrase,] and gives warm commendation to many of them, for the peculiar merits of each. He is of opinion, that it would be most desirable that a careful selection should be made of the best translated Psalms, from many versions, which should receive the sanction of Convocation, and be admitted to general use throughout the kingdom.

lieved to be the production of John Phillips, an Oxford man, well known for his poem of "The Splendid Shilling." It is extremely scarce.

<sup>y</sup> By Mr. Carryl, created Lord Dartford by the Pretender, to whom he had been tutor. The book was printed at Paris, or at St. Germain's. By the approbations prefixed, it appears that this version was intended to supersede that in the Douay Bible, which was now considered to be too literal, as well as too antiquated for general use. The author declares his translation to be intended only for the private devotions of lay persons. He professes to follow the Latin text as closely as possible; but in obscure passages acknowledges Cardinal Bellarmin to have been his guide. A specimen is given in the Appendix. There are two varieties of title-page to the volume. One kind has a vignette: in the other a blank space is left. Some have a page of Errata at the end; which is wanting in others. The Preface fills 6 pages; a Table of the Psalms, 3 pages: three Approbations, &c. in Latin, 7 pages: the Text, p. 1-347. The volume is not a common one; Lewis states that he never could meet with it. A second edition was put forth in 1704.

<sup>a</sup> From this time no notice is taken of editions of Sternhold's version; which, soon after the appearance of that by Brady and Tate, became altered into the form and language in which it is printed to this day. See however upon this point, Hawkins' History of Music, iii. p. 511, &c.

<sup>a</sup> Another edition of this supplement appeared in 1708: and another (the seventh) in 1712. Both these latter are in the British Museum.

<sup>b</sup> The author was father of the celebrated John and Charles Wesley. Some of these Psalms occur in a volume entitled "The Pious Communicant rightly prepared," &c. and the others in his "Life of Christ." (See Holland's Psalmists, ii. p. 123, where a specimen is given.)

It does not contain the approbations of the edition of 1700. The preface is slightly altered. A very few notes are added. The following are specimens of the variations:

After the title follows an Introduction of 35 pages, on the Book of Psalms generally, and on this particular translation of them; asserting its fidelity to the Hebrew, justifying the use of blank verse, and commending the accompanying illustrations: "An admonition concerning the 'tunes,' 1 page: the Psalms, p. 1-410: Appendix, containing other portions of Scripture versified, p. 411-426. At the end of the copy in my possession are bound up "Proposals" for the publication of the work by "subscription," 7 pages.

The Psalms are divided into five books; the second beginning with Ps. 42; the third, with Ps. 73; the fourth, with Ps. 90; the fifth, with Ps. 107. Each psalm is followed by illustrations; in which the Septuagint, Syriac, Arabic, Latin Vulgate, Spanish, and Italian versions, the Christian Fathers, the Jewish Rabbis, and a variety of modern commentators are constantly quoted.

The forty-first verse of Psalm 18 has been accidentally omitted by the printer: a fly-leaf in my copy gives, in a contemporary hand, the following translation of it:

"They made a grievous cry, but
"then || a Saviour there was none: ||
"To the Eternal God, but He || did
"not then answer them. ||"

Upon the latter part of verse 43 of the same Psalm, namely, the words, "the people whom I have not known" "shall be my servants now. ||" there is this note: "Hope for Americans! Our Saviour, as man, had seen and known Asiatics, Africans, Europeans." The name of the translator [Cotton Mather?] no where appears throughout the book.

P. S. A notice and specimen of this version occur in Holland's Psalmists of Britain.

"lations I think it must be acknow-

The PSALMS ; an essay towards a new English version, from the "judges of these things, that they are "flat and mean, and altogether un"worthy of the dignity and glory of "the original. There are other trans"lations that have more of a spirit and "beauty in them. But I believe it will "be generally judged, that a better

"version might be made up out of them
"all, than any one of them alone can "furnish. An attempt is made this "way in the following collection. The "versions chiefly made use of, are those
"of Dr. Patrick, Tate and Brady, Sir
"John Denham, Sir Richard Black-
"more, and Dr. Watts' Psalms of David
"imitated, and there are a few of Mr.
"Barton's preserved. That the reader
"may know to whom the translation
"of the several Psalms is principally
"owing, there are generally prefixed
"to each Psalm the initial letters of "the person's name, out of whose "version it is taken. But to pre"vent mistakes it is proper to adver"tise the reader, that a liberty is all "along taken to alter words, lines, and "sometimes whole stanzas. The de"sign has generally been, either to "bring the sense nearer to the Orig"inal, or to render it clearer, and
"thereby more fitted for common use;

"or to render it more concise, and
"express the sense in fewer words,
"provided it be perspicuous and "smooth. There are often two or "three versions of the same Psalm "inserted, for the greater variety ; and
"where it is so, one of them at least
"is a literal version, and perhaps in "some of the rest there is a greater
"liberty of paraphrasing. The reader "will find several Psalms, to which
"there are no initial letters prefixed ;
"and these are generally not taken
"out of any one version, but are a mix"ture out of several versions, and some "of them are almost entirely translated
"anew. There are added at the end
"Hymns, particularly designed for the "Lord's Supper. These are for the "most part taken out of those of "Watts and Stennet ; but great liberty
"has been taken to alter or abridge
"them : to which are added three or "four of Mr. Boyse's sacramental
"Hymns." At the end of the vo"lume are found some musical tunes,
"fitted to the several metres of the
"Psalms.

Henry Dell, a bookseller. This person appears to have been a man of some note in his business. He lived at the Angel and Bible, in Great Tower Street, London; and was a special dealer in articles of early English literature. In the year 1761 he sent out a catalogue, containing "many scarce books printed on the black letter," and a very large collection of "Old Plays and Poetry."

This selection is taken from "Mr. Addison, Mr. Blacklock, Mr. Barton, " Mr. Daniel, Sir John Denham, Dr. " Gibbs, King James I, Mrs. Leapor, " Milton, Mrs. Masters, Mrs. Rowe, " Sir Philip Sidney, Dr. Trapp, Mrs.

" Tollett, Dr. Woodford, and several " others. Together with some originals never before printed." See specimens of several of the writers, in Holland's Psalmists, ii. p. 201, &c.

Mr. Latham states (in his List), that the Rev. Charles Wesley was author of a great part of this collection; as well as of several Psalms in metre, published in the Hymns for Methodists, and in the Methodists' Magazine.

SPECIMENS OF TRANSLATIONS

FROM

THE OLD TESTAMENT.

N.B.—Specimens from editions of the entire Bible are given first; and afterwards Specimens from detached Books.

GENESIS xliii. 11, &c.

1.—Tyndale's Pentateuch. 1530. 12<sup>o</sup>.

THAN their father Israel sayde unto thē. yf it must nedes be so now: than do thus, take of the best frutes of the lande in youre vesselles, and brynge the man a present<sup>a</sup>, a curtesie bawlme, and a curtesie of hony, spyces and myrre, dates and almondes. And take as moch money more with you. And the money that was brought agayne in youre sackes, take it agayne with you in youre handes, peradventure it was some oversyghte.

Take also youre brother with you, and aryse and goo agayne to the man. And God almightie geve you mercie in the sighte of the man and send you youre other brother and also Bē Jamin, and I wilbe as a mā robbed of his childern<sup>b</sup>.

<sup>a</sup> The articles composing Jacob's present to Joseph are thus given in two MSS. in the Bodleian; the former of which is said to be Wicliffe's translation, the second is called by Lewis the revised translation of Wickliffe.

1. "A lytle of precious liquor of "sibote" (the margin has ginne), "and "of hony, & of the liquor of the tree of "Storax, and of Stactes the liquor of "myrrh tree, and of Therebynt, and of "almondes."

2 "a little of gum and of honey, and

"of Storax, and of myrrh, and of there-
"binth, and of almondes."

The margin of this last has these notes:

"Storax, that is, precious gum.

"Myrrh, that is, a bitter gum.

"Therebynte, that is, resyns beste."

2.—Coverdale's Bible. 1535. fol.

Then sayde Israel their father unto thē: Yf it must nedes be so, then do this: take of the best frutes of the lande in youre sakes, and brynge the man a present: a curtesy balme, and hony, and spyces, and myrre, and dates, and almondes. Take other money with you also, and the money that was brought agayne in youre sacker mouthes, cary it agayne with you: peradventure it was an oversight. And take youre brother, get you up, & go agayne unto the man. The Allmightie God geve you mercy in the sight of y<sup>e</sup> man, that he maye let you have youre other brother, and Ben Jamin. As for me, I must be as one, that is robbed of his children.

3.—Coverdale's Bible. 1537. fol. (Southwark.)

Thē sayde Israel theyr father unto thē: Yf it must nedes be so, then do this: take of the best frutes of the londe in youre sakes and bryng y<sup>e</sup> man a present: a curtesy balme and hony, and spyces, and myrre, & dates, and almōdes. Take other money with you also, & the money that was brought agayn in your sacker mouthes, cary it agayn with you, peradvēture it was an oversight. And take your brother, get you up, & go agayne unto the man. The almyghtye God geve you mercy in the sighte of the man, that he maye let you have your other brother, and Ben Jamin. As for me I muste be as one, that is robbed of his chyldren.

4.—Matthew's Bible. 1537. fol.

Than their father Israel sayd unto them: Yf it must ned<sup>2</sup> be so now: than do thus, take of the best frutes of the lande in youre vesselles, and brynge the mā a present, a curtesye bawlme, and a curtesye of hony, spices & myrre, dates & almōdes. And take as moche money more with you. And the money that was brought agayne in youre sakes, take it agayne wyth you, peradventure it was some oversyghte.

Take also youre brother with you, & aryse & goo agayne to the mā. And God almightie geve you mercie in the syghte of the mā and send you youre other brother and also Ben-Jamin, and I wylbe as a man robbed of his chyldren.

5.—The Great Bible. 1539. fol.

And their father Israel sayd unto thē: If it must nedis be so now: than do thus. Take of the best frutes of the lāde in youre vesselles, and brynge the man a present, a curtesye bawlme, and a curtesye of hony, spices and myrre, nottes & almondes. And take dubble money in youre hande. And the money that was brought agayne in youre sakes, take it agayne with you, lest peradventure it was some oversyghte.

Take also youre brother with you, and aryse & goo agayne to the man. And God almightie geve you mercie in the syghte of the man, yt he maye delyver you youre other brother, & this Ben Jamin, and I shalbe robbed of my chylde, as I have bene.

6.—Taverner's Bible. 1539. fol.

Then theyr father Israel said unto them. Yf it must nedes be so now, then do thus, take of the best frutes of the lande in your vessels, and cary the man a present, a quantitie of bawlme, and a porcion of hony, spyces and myrre, dates and almondes. And take as moch money more with you. And the money that was brought agayn in your sakes, take it agayn with you, peradventure it was some oversyght.

Take also your brother with you, and aryse and go agayne to the man. And God almyghtye gyve you mercy in the sight of the man and sende you your other brother & also Ben Jamī and I wyl be as a man robbed of his children.

7.—Genevan Bible. 1560. 4<sup>o</sup>.

11 Then their father Israël said unto them, If it must nedes be so nowe, do thus : take of the best frutes of the land in your vessels, and bring the man a present, a litle rosen, and a litle honie, spices and myrre, nuttes, and almondes :

12 And take double money in your hand, and the money, that was brought againe in your sakes mouthes : carie it againe in your hand, lest it were some ouer sight.

13 Take also your brother and arise, and go againe to the man.

14 And God almightie giue you mercie in the sight of the man, that he maie deliuer you your other brother, and Beniamín : but I shal be robbed of my childe, as I haue bene.

8.—The Bishops' Bible. 1568. fol.

11 And their father Israel sayde unto them : if it must nedes be so, nowe then do thus. Take of the best frutes of the lande in your vesselles, and bryng y<sup>e</sup> man a present, a curtsie of bawme, and a curtsie of hony, spyces and mirre, nuttes and almondes.

12 And take double money in your hande, & the money that was brought agayne in your sackes, take it agayne with you, peradventure it was some oversight.

13 Take also your brother with you, and arise and go agayne unto the man.

14 And God almightie geve you mercye in the sight of the man, that he may deliver you your other brother, and [this] Benjamin: and thus I am as one that is quite robbed of his chyl dren.

9.—Douay Bible. 1609. 4<sup>o</sup>.

- 11 Therefore Israel their father said to them: If it must nedes be so, do that you wil: take of the best fruites of the land in your vessels, and carie to the man for presents, a courtesie of rosen, and of honey, and of incense, of mirhe, of terebinth, and 12 of almondes. Duple money also carie with you: and recarie that you founde in your sackes, lest perhaps it was done by 13 an error: but take also your brother, and goe to the man.
14 And my God almightie make him favorable unto you: and send backe with you your brother, whom he keepeth, and this Benjamin: as for me I shal be desolate without children.

10.—Bible, by A. Purver. 1764. fol.

11 Whereupon Israel their father says to them; if it be so now, do this; take of the applauded things of the country in your vehicles, and have down a present to the man; a little Balsam, and a little Honey, Spice and Myrrh, Nuts and Almonds.

12 Take also double money with you; even that which was brought back in the mouths of your bags, carry again with you; perhaps it was a mistake.

13 As likewise take your brother; and getting ready, return to the man.

14 And God Almighty give you compassion before him, that he may send with you your other brother, and Benjamin; and according as I am deprived of my children, I must be.

11.—Bible, by Dr. Geddes. 1792. 4<sup>o</sup>.

11 Their father Israel, at length, said to them, "Since it must then be, do this. Take of the most prized fruits of the land in your vessels; and carry down, as a present to the man, some balsam, palm-honey, storax, laudanum, pistaches and almonds.

12 And take double money in your hands, carrying back with you the money, which was returned in the mouth of your sacks : perhaps it was an oversight.

13 Take also your brother, and arise and return to the man.

14 And may God the omnipotent, give you favour before the man : that he may send back your other brother, with Benjamin ! But, if I be bereaved of my children, bereaved I must be !”

12.—Isaiah, by G. Joye. 1531. 16<sup>o</sup>.

Chap. viii.

And then sayde the Lorde agene to me : take the a grete rolle ād wryte yn it withe a pen lyke a man Maherschallal haschbaz which ys to saye , haste the to robbe , spede the to spoyle. Then I toke me certayne faithfull witnesses. Ury the preste & Zachary the sonne of Barachy : and came unto a prophetise which had now cōceyved and brought forth a sonne : & the Lorde spake unto me. Geve hym this name : hastye robber gredy spoyler : for before thys chylde can call Dadye & Māmye he shal bare away the riches of Damasce and the proye of Samarye , yn y<sup>e</sup> sight of the kynge of Assyrye.

Chap. xv. 4.

Hesebon and Eleale kryed so lowde that their voyces were harde to Jahaz , and the soudgiers of Moab when thei shulde have blowne up theire trompetes to batayle , for sorowe of their hartes they kryed ah lasse for sorowe , ower hartes blede upon Moab fleing towerd Zoar that welthye bullok , and upon the hanging of the hyll of Luhith they clymed withe wepinge.

Chap. xxxvi. 21.

At these wordes the kinges legates were so put to sylence that they had not a worde to answere.

Then returned Eliakim the presydent of y<sup>e</sup> towne house sonne of Helkie , Sobna the scribe , and Joas Secretery the sonne of Asaph unto Ezekias their clothes alto cutte , and tolde hī the oracion of Rabsacen.

Chap. xxxvii. 26.

Speakest thou not now even thus to kinge Ezekias ? saige , hast thou not harde what actes and by what power I have done them in tyme paste and what I am aboute to do now also ? that is to wete , that I am aboute to subverte thy cytes be they never so stronge and to bring them into heapes of stones ād into ruyne , whose inhabitours shal quake for feare lyke handlesse men beinge confounded , for they shalbe lyke the grasse of the felde which now is grene and anō is it thek for houses , ye which often tymes is withred before it be rype.

Chap. xlv. 16.

Withe parte of it he makethe his fyer , withe parte he seethe or rosteth his fleshe ad eate it when he hath done & so is wel satisfied : withe parte of it he is well warmed , so that he now maye saye , the worlde is wel amended , I am wel warme , I have bene at the fyer.

13—Jeremiah, by G. Joye. 1534. 12°.

Chap. xxxv.

The sermon shewed of the Lorde unto Jeremy, in the raigne of Joachim the sone of Josias kinge of Juda , on this maner. Go to the house of the Rechabites, and call them forthe , and bringe them to the house of the Lorde into some of the revestrys, and geve them wyne to drinke.

Then toke I Jazaniām the sone of Jeremy the sone of Habaznie, and his bretherne wyth al his chylderne and al the famylye of y<sup>c</sup> Rechabites, & brought them to y<sup>c</sup> house of the Lorde into the revestrye of y chylderne of Hanan sonne of Igdalie the man of God, whiche revestry was by the revestry of the rulers : this was over the vestry of Maasie sonne of Sallum cheife of the treasure house. And I set before y<sup>c</sup> sonnes of the famylye of the Rechabites, tankerdys ful of wyne and cuppes, and bad them drynke wyne. And they answerde, we drynke no wyne. For Jonadab our father the sone of Rechab commanded us sayng. Drynke never no wyne, nother you nor your sonnes. Bilde no houses, sowe no corne : also ye shal nether plante nor possede any vyneyardes : &c.

14.—Daniel, by G. Joye. 1545. 12°.

Chap. ix. 24.

LXX hebdomades ther be prefixed and apointed for thy peple and for thy holy cytie , and then shall synnes be consumed sealed up and kovered , and iniquite purged , and the everlasting rightwysnes brought forthe , visions and prophecies shalbe then sealed up , and the most holy one shalbe anoynted. Wherefore knowe thou and understande it , that from the tyme wherin it is proclaimed that Hierusalem be buylded agene , unto the prince Mes-sias : ther be .vii. hebdomads , & .62. hebdomads. For the streatis and wallis shalbe reedifyed : but a long and hard tyme ere they be seteled in quiet. Or, (as hath some textis) albeit in an harde tyme with difficulte.

15.—Proverbs, &c. by John Hall. 1550. 12°.

Chap. vi. 4.

Refraine thine eies frō to muche slepe and to thyselfe beware

As doth y<sup>e</sup> doo the bloudy hōudes, or byrde the fowler's snare

The little ant (thou slouthful man) to thyne example take

And learne of her for to be wyse, and purveyaunce to make

For where she hath no governour, nor maister her to learne

Nor wytty king under whose rule, wel holden is the sterne

Yet nature doth in her thys worke
wythout any other gyde

In somer tyme wyth busy care,
for wynter to provyde

How lōg wilt ȳ (oh slougishe man)
in ydlenes remayne

And geve the whole to rest & slepe, and slackest to take paine

Go to, go to, slepe hardely, and slumbre out thy fyll

With folded armes lye down to rest and take thou thyne owne wyl

As one that iourneth by the waye,
So povertye shall come

And also lyke a weaponed man on the shall fiercely ronne

But yf thou be industrious and well thy labour plye

Thyne hervest shal be plentiful and yelde abundauntly

And as the rivers greate and depe
 encrease by rage of raygne
 So shall thy barnes be stuffed full,
 of corne, and eke of grayne
 And thou shalt stand nothing at all,
 in feare of any lacke
 The woful bagge of beggarye shal never greve thy backe verse, by T. Drant. 1566. 4°.*

Chapter i.

Howe sytts the Citie desolate,
 so populous a place?
 The ladye of so many landes
 Becumde in wydowes case.
 The Princes of the provinces,
 her tribute nowe muste paye,
 Full sore wepte she, full sore wepte she,
 all nyght her longe decaye.
 Alongst her cheekes, the furrowing teares,
 from watrishe eyes dyd rayne :
 Of all her lovers, nowe not one,
 to comforte her in payne ;
 Her frendes thynke muche to visite her,
 her frendes are turnde to foes,
Jehoudah, captive ledde away
 a captive for the woes.
 And slaverie she brought men to
 she takes no kynde of reste :
 Mongste Pagans, where she makes her bode,
 with foes she is oppreste.
 The stretes of Syon mourne and wayle,
 Because there nowe is none,
 That cums and goes to see their feast,
 as heretofore have gone.
 The gates devoyde of folke, the priestes doo sygh in sorowes keene,
 The damsels drent, in moyste of teares,
 the dame her selfe in teene.

Her enemies rule, and who but they?
 in wealthe surcreasyng faste,
 The Lorde hathe shente her grevouslye, for heapes of lewdnes paste.

17.—The Lamentations, by Chr. Fetherstone. 1587. 12°.

Chapter i.

1. How doth the city now remaine, alone in widowes case,
 That heretofore with people was,
 repleat in every place?
 She that in glory did excell,
 and other countries shade:
 And Princesse was of Provinces, is tributary made.
2. She doth lament continuallie, with teares from dewed eyes:
 And all her friends her present state
 do grievouslie despise.
 Amongst her lovers she hath none to comfort her at all:
 For they her foes are now become,
 and daily from her fall.
3. Lo Juda in captivitie is caried away:
 Because of her oppression,
 and crueltie, I say.
 She dwelles among the heathen folke,
 where she can find no rest:
 And in the straits by enemies was grievouslie opprest.
4. The waies of Sion do lament, with grieve her wretched state:
 That no man commeth to the feasts,
 her gates are desolate.
 Her virgins are discomfited,
 her priestes do sigh and mone:
 And she is lefte in deepe distresse,
 and heavinesse alone.

5. Her adversaries beare the sway, and prosper more and more :
 For that the Lorde her doings hath afflicted verie sore.
 Because of her transgressions,
 and cruell tyrannie,
 Her children are in bondage gone,
 before the enemie.

18—Solomon's Song, by D. Fenner. 1587. 12°.

Chapter ii.

1. I am that Sharon rose,
 the lillie of the plaines.
2. As Lillies in the thornes, my love amongst the maydes remains.
3. Amongst the forest trees as is the appletree Amongst all other men my love even such a one is hee :
 Under his shade doe I most seeke for to be plast.
 For why the fruit which comes frō him is pleasant to my tast.
4. Into his house preparde for feasts he hath me ledd, Having his love so over me as is a banner spred.
5. With these flagons see ye stay me the ground above,
 And with these apples me sustayne :
 for I am sicke of love.
6. His left hande underneath
 my head it hath a place :
 And also his right hande it doeth me round about embrace.
7. Maydes of Jerusalem
 I swear ye (doo abyde
Without, with the hartes of the field or else the goates beside :)

That ye doo not rayse up,
 nor yet cause to awake,
 Untill that time that this my love in it his pleasure take.

8. It is myne owne loves voyce beholde him, he drawes neare,
 Over these mounts he leapes & skips upon the Hillocks heare.

19.—Solomon's Song, by J. Markham. 1596. 16°.

ECLOGA SECUNDA.

Ecclesia, Thaumastos.

I am (my deere) the glorious bashfull Rose
 Which on y<sup>e</sup> sommer plaines of Sharon grow,
Sharon the nurse of smells; foode to that nose
 That drawes his breath where her sweet Roseats flow.
 I am that Rose, the pride of Libanon,
 Beautie of gardens, splendour of the field,
 And I am that pale Lilly lookt upon,
 Whose virgin-colour'd purenes, pleasures yeeld.
 I am the Rose, the hie fields ornament,
 And Lillie-bloome, the valleys blandishment.

Thaumastos.

As stainelesse growes the staining Lillies blaze
 Planted amongst the undergrowinge thorne,
 And as shee makes disliking like to gaze,
 Praising her beames, chiding where shee was borne,
 So mongst the maiden daughters of the world,
 Thornie infolders of the fairest raies
 Such is my love, so is thy beautie hurld
 Into mine eye; gracing dispraise with praise.
 As Lillies are with thornes invironed,
 Such is my love with maids ingirdeled.

Ecclesia.

3. As mongst the Forrests barraine shadowing trees
 The comlie aple-bearing stock erects
 His rich regard; beyond all meane degrees
 Such is my deere mongst other mens defects.

Under thy shadowing fruitfull armes I sat,
 Thether delights inticst my fervent zeale,
 And in my rest, thy fruite to wonder at,
 Unto my mouth all honie-sweets reveale.

Like th' apple-tree in woods, such is my love,
 Faire shade, sweet taste, all sweetnes far above.

4. Into his feast-house streaming purest Wine,
 Thither my King, my love hath brought his deare,
 Waving the Ensigne of his love divine,
 Over mine head ; defending mee from feare.

5. O staie me (love) with flagons doe support mee, Raise my decline, sustaine my downe remove,
 With taste of apples (deere hart) do comfort mee,
 For I am sick, ô sick of mightie love.
 Under loves Canapee, brought to thy feasting blisse, Support and comfort me that love-sick is.

6. Under my head, (wearie for want of rest)
 My loves left hand (ô sacred hand) doth lye ;
 Soft Pyllow-lyke making my temples blest,
 Infusing slumber in my closing eye.
 And with his right hand learnt how to inlace,
 And make his Love by his infoldings glad,
 Hee makes mee ritch with kyndest kind imbrace,
 Such as the lyke no true love ever had.
 Upon his left my head takes her repose
 And with his right mee doth my Love inclose.

7. Daughters of JUDA, Twinnes of Jerusalem,
 That with my Love my fayrest one doe dwell,
 I charge you by the Hynds, and Roes, and them
 That grace our fields with beautie, or with smell,
 Not to styrre up ; or with confusions sound
 To breake the blessed slumber of my sweete,
 But let her reste, with choycest calmes be found,
 Untill to wake hir pleasure thinks it meete.
 You Syons heyres doe not my Love awake
 Untill hir selfe, hir selfe from slumber take.

8. It is my best Beloveds voyce I heare,
 Harke how his words sweet Musicks notes resound,
 See where he comes, marke how he doth appeare,
 O how his words with ravishment confounde;
 See where he comes, and by the mountayns leaps,
 By mountayn leaps my jolly capring Love,
 See where he skyps by hyls, and earthy heapes,
 Leaping, and skyping looke how my deere dooth move.
 The voyce I heare issues frō my Loves lip,
 Whilst by the Mounts he leaps, and hils doth skip<sup>c</sup>.

Chap. xii.

1. *Remember thy creator then, in these thy youthfull dayes,
 Ere croked age all pleasure to thy lothed life denayes.*

1. And since thou canst not shun death's fatall day,
 And as the tree doth fall so shall it rise,
 (While yet thou mayst) prepare a quiet way
 Unto thy soule, which in such danger lies,
 If thou in time reliefe do not devise.

The earth and earthly things, do helpe denay,
 Heaven is the harbor, where thy soule doth dwell,
 Let not thy hope on earth then longer stay,
 But it and workes thereof from hart expell,
 Delay no time in hope long life to have,
 Youth may, age must, ere long time go to grave.

To heaven thy progresse thou dost wish to make,
 Then clothe thy selfe accordingly therefore,
 The clogs of worldly love and lust forsake,
 And thinke them burdens to thee evermore
 And in thy life, have lights of vertue store.

Let thought of thy creator thee awake
 From sinnes of youth, hart burdensome in age,

Remember God account of thee will take
 If thy repentance not his wrath assuage,
 Yea leave thou sinne, ere lust leave tempting thee,
 Thy abstinence else, cannot vertue be.

2. While sunne, moone, stars seem light ; and rayny clouds are furre,
 3. Whilst keepers of thy house are strong, whose pillars stedfast are.

2. The feeble members which have lost their might,
 (Through which their senses did affection prove)
 No marvell now, if they take lesse delight
 In vain prospects which they tofore did love,
 Since they the meanes do want doth liking move.

The sunne, moone, stars (heaven's ornamēt, earth's light)
 Can yeeld small comfort to the senselesse corse,
 When all thy ioynts begin by day and night,
 Do [to?] tyre thy life, and breed the soule's remorse,
 No marvell if thou then, prove continent,
 But thou shouldst temp'rance even in youth frequent.

3. Before this glorious building do decay,
 Wherein thy soule doth sojourne as a guest,
 Thy comelie body which erecteth aye,
 The thought and eyes to heaven as mansion blest,
 Grow feeble, and therein thou find no rest.

When trembling hand, his duety doth denay,
 And brainefalne thighes, and legs bend under thee,
 When lamed limbs on others strength must stay,
 And crouches (in their steed) of force must bee,
 What time thou twise a child, shalt weary grow,
 That thou the strength of youth didst ever know.

4. Ere teeth wax few, and windowes clos'd, deny thy eyes the light.
And dore shut up, thy grinding iaws, to chaw have lost their might.

Before the Catours of thy diet fayle,
 Those ivorie teeth which do thy food prepare,
 Which lost or loose, theyr labours not avayle,
 But broths and minst-meats must become thy share,
 And sharpened knife, thy toothlesse gums must spare.

Before that darksome mists thy eyes assayle,
~~Where~~ watchfull sight thy Centinell should bee,

When (christal humor failing) they shall quayle,
 And spectacles shall teach them now to see,
     Or closed windowes force thee take thy leave
     Of world's vaine shades, which did the soule deceave.

4. Before thy wanny cheekes sink hollowed in,
 (In which well-formed words should fashion have)
 And corral lips which have their portall bin,
     And plyant tongue which elocution gave,
     Now faltering signes, for interpreters do crave.

Whilst those white cliffes (the bounders which begin,
 The repercussion causing sweet resound)
 Stand firme on rocke of their iaw-ioyning chin,
 Through which they gracious passage somtimes found,
     And form'd that powrefull gift of eloquence,
     The root of sweet content and sharp offence.

Chap. xv. 1.

1. But God will never die his hands with bloud,
 His heart with hate, his throne with cruelty,
 His face with furies map, his browe with cloud,
 His raigne with rage, his crown with tyrannie:
     Gratious is he, long-suffering, and true,
     Which ruleth all things with his mercies view.

Gratious, for where is grace but where he is?
 The fountain-head, the ever-boundlesse streame,
 Patient, for where is patience in amisse,
 If not conducted by pure grace's beame:
     Truth is the moderator of them both,
     For grace and patience are of truest groth.

2. For grace-beginning truth, doth end in grace,
 As truth-beginning grace, doth end in truth,
 Now patience takes the moderator's place,
 Yong-olde in suffering, olde-yong in ruth:
     Patience is olde in being alwaies yong,
     Not having right, nor ever offering wrong.

So is this moderator of God's rage,
 Pardoning those deeds, which wee in sin commit,

That if wee sin, shee is our freedom's gage,
 And wee still thine, though to be thine unfit :
 In being thine (ô Lord) wee will not sin,
 That we thy patience, grace, and truth may win.

3. O grant us patience in whose grant we rest,
 To right our wrong, and not to wrong the right,
 Give us thy grace (ô Lord) to make us blest,
 That grace might blesse, & blisse might grace our sight:
 Make our beginning and our sequell truth,
 To make us yong in age, and grave in youth.

Wee know that our demaunds rest in thy will,
 Our will rests in thy word, our worde in thee,
 Thou in our orisons, which dost fulfill,
 That wished action, which wee wish to bee :
 'Tis perfect righteousness to know thee right,
 'Tis immortalitie to know thy might.

- 4, 5. In knowing thee, we know both good and ill,
 Good, to know good and ill, ill to know none,
 In knowing all, wee know thy sacred will,
 And what to do, and what to leave undone :
 We are deceiv'd, not knowing to deceive,
 In knowing good and ill, wee take and leave.

The glasse of vanitie, deceit, and shewes,
 The painter's labour, the beguiling face,
 The divers-coloured image of suppose,
 Cannot deceive the substance of thy grace :
 Only a snare, to those of common wit,
 Which covets to be like, in having it.

Chap. ii.

I am the field rose, and the Lilly white.
 Ev'n as a Lilly which the thornes doe throng,
 So is my love amongst the daughters dight :
 And as an Apple tree the woods among,
 Soe's my belov'd amongst men. Oh ! how I long
 Under his pleasing shadow to abide !
 His fruit delightfull is unto my tongue,
 He sets me at the banquet by his side,
 And with sweete love as with a Banner doth me guide.

Stay me with flagons, comfort me with smells
Of fragrant apples : I am sicke of love,
His right arme with embracements me compells ;
About my necke he doth his left hand move.

O daughters of Hierusalem above
I charge you by the Roes, and champaine hind,
You stirre not to displease, or wake my love :
I heare his voice, behold he comes behind,
And leapes and skips o're hils and mountaynes like the wind.

23.—Solomon's Song, by H. Ainsworth. 1623. 4°.

I am the rose that doth in Sharon grow
The lilie also of the valleis-low
Like as the lilie is the thornes among ;
So is my Love among the daughters-yong.
As th' apple-tree, among trees of the grove,
So is among the Sonnes, he whom I love :
I in his shade desired, and down sate ;
And sweet his fruit was unto my palate.
Into the house of wine he hath me led ;
And over me love was his banner-spred.
Stay me with flagons : strow me a bed to lie,
With apples : for even sick of love am I.
His left hand underneath my head have place ;
His right hand also, me about-imbrace :
O daughters of Jerusalem, you by
The Roes, or by Hindes of the feild, doe I
Adjure : if that ye stirring-doe-disease,
And if the Love yee stirr-up till it please.
My Loved's voice ! behold he comes : he leaps
Upon the mounts ; upon the hilles he skips.

24.—Genesis, by John Looksp. 1740. 8°.

Then their Father Israel said to them, If the case is truly so, now do this ; Take of the best of the Land along with you, and carry down a little Balm, Honey, Spices, Myrrh, Nuts, and Almonds for a Present to the man : take double Money with you, and carry again the Money that was brought back in the Mouths of your Sacks ; perhaps it was a Mistake. Take your Brother also, and get ye up, and return to the Man : And may the Mighty give you favour in the Presence of this Man, that he may send away your brother and Benjamin ; if I am robb'd, I am robb'd.

33 Be not deceived: evill speakings corrupt good maners.

34 Awake to live righteously, and sinne not: for some have not the knowledge of God, I speake this to your shame.

35 But some man will say, How are the dead raised up? & with what body come they forth?

38 But God giveth it a bodie at his pleasure, even to everie see<sup>d</sup>e his owne bodie.

41 There is another glorie of the sunne, and another glorie of the moone, and another glorie of the starres: for one starre differeth from another starre in glorie.

44 —There is a natural bodie, and there is a spiritual bodie.

45 As it is also written, The first man Adam was made a living soule: and the last Adam was made a quickening Spirit.

32 If (according to man) I fought with beastes at Ephesus, what doth it profit me, if the dead rise not againe?

33 Let us eate and drinke, for to morow we shal die. Be not <sup>b</sup> seduced, Evil communications corrupt good maners.

34 Awake ye iust, and sinne not. for some have not the knowledge of God, I <sup>c</sup> speake to youre shame.

29 Else what shall they do who are baptized for the dead, if the dead rise not up entirely? Why then are they baptized for the dead?

30 And why are we in danger every hour?

31 That I die daily, I protest by the boasting which I have of you in Christ Jesus our Lord.

32 If according to man I fought with beasts at Ephesus, what advantage will it be to me, if the dead rise not up? Let us eat and drink; for tomorrow we shall die.

33 Do not mistake: evil discourses spoil good manners.

34 Awake to righteousness, and do not sin; for some have not the knowledge of God. I speak to your shame.

35 But somebody may say, How do the dead rise up? And with what body do they come?

36 O foolish one, what thou sowest is not made alive, except it die.

37 And as for what thou sowest, thou dost not sow the body it will be, but naked grain, it may be of wheat, or of some of the rest.

38 But God gives it a body as he will, and to each seed its own body.

APPENDIX C.

BIBLIOGRAPHICAL DESCRIPTIONS.

EDITIONS OF THE OLD TESTAMENT.

N. B. Editions of the whole Bible are first described; and afterwards, editions of detached portions.

1. Bible, Coverdale's. 1535. fol.

The title, within a wood-cut compartment, representing King Henry VIII. holding a sword in his right hand, and with his left hand delivering the Bible to some Bishops kneeling before him: (in different parts of the page are labels charged with sentences of Scripture, in English.) "BIBLIA. The Bible, that is the holy Scripture of the " Old and New Testament, faithfully & truly translated out of " Douche and Latyn in to Englishe, 1535." Below are three texts of Scripture. On the reverse of the title, "The bokes of the hole Byble, " how they are named, in Englysh and Latyn, howe longe they are " written in the allegacions (i. e. how they are abbreviated in the " marginal references) how many chapters every boke hath, and in " what leafe every one begynneth. The bokes of the first part " (Genesis to Deuteronomy)—of the seconde part (Josua to Esther) " —of the thirde parte (Job to Salomon's ballettes)—The prophetes " (Esay to Malachy)"—Then, without doubt, should follow another leaf containing the books of the Apocrypha and New Testament, with (perhaps) the contents of Genesis on the reverse. This leaf however is wanting, both in the Museum copy, and in every other which I have seen.

These "bokes" are printed in the same character as the Text. The same names are reprinted, in a different letter, after Coverdale's address to the reader. Dedication to King Henry VIII., 5 pages; called, in the running title, "an Epistle unto the Kynges hyghnesse," and signed (quite at the bottom of the page) "youre " graces humble subiecte and daylye oratour, Myles Coverdale." This sheet bears the signature ✕. except in those copies which have Queen Jane, where the signature is * *.—"A prologe to the " Christen reader," 6 pages. "The bokes of the hole Byble:" 2 pages. "The contentes of the boke of " Genesis;" 1 page. The first book of Moses, &c. fol. i.—xc. A map of the Holy Land; which map is extant in Lord Jersey's and Mr. L. Wilson's copies alone (as far as I have yet observed,) and is headed "The descripcion of the londe of promes, called Palestina, Canaan, or the holy londe." "The second parte of the Olde Testament." Josua, &c. to Hester, fol. ii—cxx. Job, &c. to "Salomon's balettes," (without any separate title,) fol. i—lii. on the last, "Fautes escaped in the pryntinge of this parte." "All the Prophetes in Englishe," fol. ii—cii. "Apocripha," fol. ii—lxxxiii. falsely numbered lxxxi. Then follows a blank leaf. "The Newe testament," fol. ii—cxiii. on the reverse of the last is "a faute escaped in pryntinge the new Testament;" and below, "Prynted in the yeare of oure LORDE M.D.XXXV. and fynished the fourth daye of October."

Round all the titles, except that to the third part, are borders cut in wood. Woodcuts are also at the beginning of Genesis, in several other parts of the O. T. and at the beginning of each book of the N. T. The letter of the Text is an angular Swiss or German. The running titles and signatures in the same. It should however be noted, that the Dedication, Prologue, and Contents of Genesis, in every copy which I have examined, are in a different character. There are a very few marginal references; these are in Roman letters. On fol. xli. of part i. is a large wood-cut of the Tabernacle and its contents; which is repeated on fol. lvi. The initial letter of Genesis is a large flourished text capital. A full page of Text contains 57 lines.

The singularity of the type at once distinguishes this edition from every other. The reimpression of 1550 is in a somewhat similar character, but smaller; and is in quarto, not folio.

2. The same edition, with Title dated 1536.

Lord Jersey's copy, formerly belonging to Mr. Fairfax, besides possessing the map, has the singularity that the title-page is dated not 1535, but 1536; and begins thus: "BIBLIA, The Byble: that is, the holy Scripture of the Olde and New Testament, faythfully translated in to Englyshe, M.D.XXXVI." (The figures are much larger than those of the original title.) The sentences of Scripture within the labels are in English, printed with a type which, though it differs from any which is found either in the preliminary matter or in the body of the work, yet exactly agrees with that on the map; thus apparently proving that at least these two belong to one and the same edition.—[9 March 1827. Spencer-house.]

3. Bible, Coverdale's, by Nicolson, 1537. fol.

Title, within a compartment representing the king on his throne, delivering the Bible, &c. "BIBLIA The Byble, that is the holy Scripture of the Olde and New Testament, faythfully translated in Englysh, and newly oversene & corrected M.D.XXXVII. [Three texts of Scripture.] Imprynted in Southwarke for James Nycolson." On the reverse is, "a Prayer prescribed by Nicolas Bysshoppe of Salisbury." "An Epistle unto the Kings hyghness," by Miles Coverdale, 5 pages. "Prologue to the Christen reader," 6 pages. "The bokes of the hole Byble," 2 pages. "The Contentes of Genesis," 1 page. [This sheet is signed * *.] The text, beneath two woodcuts, illustrating the works of the six days of Creation, Genesis to Ruth, fol. i—cxvi. (for cxvii.) Title, within a compartment of eight woodcuts, resembling that in the edition of 1535, "The seconde parte of the olde Testament," 1 Samuel to Hester, fol. ii—c. Without any title-page, Job to Canticles, fol. i—lx. with fresh signatures. Title, within the woodcut of edit. 1535, "All the Prophetes in Englishe," (in a different style of printing,) Isaiah to Malachy, fol. ii.—ciii. Within a woodcut border, "APOCRIPHA," &c. 3 Esdras to 2 Maccabees, fol. ii—lxxxix. One blank leaf. Title to the New Testament, same as in edit. 1535, with the border in addition, "The New Testament," S. Matthew to Revelation, fol. ii—cxix. Tables of Epistles and Gospels for Sundays and Saints' days, 4 pages. The Queen's name in the Dedication is JANE. Each book has its contents prefixed. There are a few woodcuts throughout the volume. Many of the running titles are in Latin. The words Jesus and Christ are printed in Roman capitals; and the word LORD, except in the Prophets and the Apocrypha; but not so the word God.

A full page contains 57 lines. Mr. Lea Wilson was of opinion that fol. xxxi. in the New Testament has been cancelled and reprinted: as "it contains only 53 lines and 54: the columns are "two letters narrower; and the type is exceedingly spaced out." A beautiful and entirely perfect copy is in the Baptist Museum, Bristol, and another is said to be in the Cathedral Library at Lincoln.

4. Bible, Coverdale's, by Nicolson. 1537. 4°.

Title, in black and red, within a compartment having columns at the sides, and a medallion charged with two heads at the top, "The Byble that is the holye Scripture of the Olde and Newe

"Testamente faythfully translated in Englysh and newly oversene
 "and correcte. M.V.XXXVII. [Three texts from Scripture.]
 "Imprynted in Southwarke in Saynt Thomas Hospitale by James
 "Nycolson. Set forth with the kinges moost gracious licence."—
 "The bokes of the hole Byble," 2 pages; Epistle to King Henry VIII. (with the name of Queen JANE,) and to the Christen reader, together 9 pages: Almanac, beginning 1537, and Calendar, 4 pages: The text, Genesis to Deuteronomy, fol. i—xcvii. Title, "the "seconde part," &c. in the same compartment, Joshua to Esther,
 fol. cxviii. (for xcvi.)—ccxxvii.—Title, in the same compartment, and with the imprint, "The thyrd part," &c. on reverse "the "contentes," Job to Malachi, fol. ii—clxxix.—Title, in the compartment, but without the imprint, "The new testament faythfully
 "translated and lately correcte by Mylcs Coverdale,&c." On reverse,
 "the Contente of the newe testamente, &c." The Text, S. Matthew to Apocalypse, fol. ii—cxxiv. "A Table to find the Epistles and "Gospels after the use of Salisbury," reverse of fol. cxxiv. to cxxvi.

The whole volume is printed in black letter. At the beginning of each book is a large woodcut initial: these letters contain spirited representations of the well-known "Dance of Death."

A full page contains 59 lines. (This collation is from the copy formerly belonging to Mr. Douce, now in the Bodleian.)

5. B. Matthew's. 1537. fol.

Title, "The Byble, which is all the holy Scripture: In which "are contayned the Olde and Newe Testament truely and purely "translated into Englysh by Thomas Matthew. Esaye 1. Hearcken
 "to ye heavens and thou earth geave eare: for the Lorde speak-
 "eth. M.D,XXXVII." This title, in red and black, is within a fine wood-engraving which fills the page. At the bottom, in large characters, "Set forth with the Kinges most gracyous licece." A calendar and almanac for 18 years, beginning 1538, 4 pages. "An "exhortation to the study of the holy Scrypture," 1 page. At the bottom are large flourished text capitals I. R. [for John Rogers.]
 On reverse, "The summe and content of all the holy Scripture," 2 pages. Dedication to King Henry VIII. 3 pages. At the beginning and end are flourished text capitals. "To the Chrysten
 "readers;" and a "Table of the pryncipal matters conteyned in
 "the Byble;" together 26 pages. "The names of all the bokes
 "of the Byble," and "A brief rehersall of the yeares passed sence
 "the begynnyng of the worlde unto this yeare of oure Lord

"M.D.XXXVII;" together 1 page. On the reverse, a wood-engraving of Adam and Eve in paradise, occupying the whole page. Genesis to Salomon's Ballet, fol. i—ccxlvii. "The Prophetes in Englysh." This title is in black and red, between 16 woodcuts, together filling the page. On the reverse, a large woodcut, between R. G. and E. W. [Richard Grafton and Edward Whitchurch,] in flourished text capitals. "Essay, &c. to Malachy, fol. i—xciii;" at the end of Malachi, W. T. [Wm. Tyndale,] in flourished text capitals. "The volume of the booke called Apocripha, conteyned in the comen Transl. in Latyne, which are not founde in the Hebrue nor in the Chaldee. The Regestre thereof. The thyrd boke of Esdras," &c. This title, also in red and black, is between 15 woodcuts; the reverse contains an address to the reader. Esdras, &c. to 2 Maccabees, fol. ii—lxxxi. One blank leaf. "The Newe Testament of oure sayvour Jesu Christ, newly and dilygently translated into Englyshe with annotations in the Mergent to helpe the Reader to the understandinge of the Texte. Prynted in the yere [of] our Lorde God M.D.XXXVII." This title, in red and black, is within the same wood-engraving as that to the O. T.; the reverse blank. St. Matthew to Revelation, fol. ii—cix. Tables of the Epistles and Gospels after Salsbury use, 5 pages, foll. cx. cxi. On the next and last leaf is, "The ende of the Newe Testament, and of the whole Byble. To the honoure and prayse of God was this Byble prynted and fynessed in the yere of oure Lorde God a. M.D.XXXVII."

It has marginal annotations: and 78 woodcuts, in several parts. Those in the Revelation are encircled with a double border of flowers. At the beginning of the Psalms and Proverbs is one, the whole breadth of the page. The Psalms are divided into five books. The Canticles are printed in red and black. The running titles, signatures, marginal notes, &c. are all in the Gothic letter. A full page contains 60 lines.

I have mentioned above, at p. 12, that it is still an unsettled point, at what place this elegant edition of the Bible was executed; and have offered there a conjecture on the subject. Mr. Lea Wilson has noticed, that some few errors and omissions occur in the Text, and that unfortunately these were continued in many subsequent editions.

6.—Bible, Taverner's. 1539. fol.

Title, within an architectural compartment; "THE MOST SACRED

"BIBLE, &c. translated into English and newly recognised with great diligence after most faythful exemplars, by RYCHARD TAVERNER. Prynted at London, &c. by John Byddell for Thomas Barthlet. MD.XXXIX." Reverse blank. A dedication to the King. An exhortation to the study of the holy Scriptures; together 2 pages. The summe and content of all the holy Scripture. The names of all the bokes, &c. A briefe rehersall declarynge how long the world hath endured, &c. A Table of the principal matters, &c. The text, Genesis to Solomon's Song, fol. i—ccxxx. Then follows, on a separate leaf, "The Boke of the Prophetes. Esaye, &c." Isaiah to Malachi, fol. ii—lxxxix. On a separate leaf, "The volume of the bokes called Apocripa." Esdras &c. fol. i—lxxv. A blank leaf. After which comes the following title, within an architectural compartment:

"THE NEW TESTAMENT OF OUR SAVIOUR Jesu Chryst, translated into English: and newly recognised with great diligence after moost faythfull exemplars, by RYCHARD TAVERNER. Prynted in the yere of our Lorde God M.D.XXXIX." St. Matthew, &c. fol. i—ci. Tables of Epistles, &c. 3 leaves not numbered; on the last of which is, "The ende of the newe Testament, and of the hole Byble.

"To the honour and prayse of God was this Byble prynted: and fynysshed, in the yere of our Lorde God, a M.D.XXXIX."

The volume has no woodcuts. In the margin are notes, references, and pointing hands. The running titles and titles of chapters are in Roman letters. A full page contains 68 lines.

Mr. Lea Wilson has noticed, that the words "This cup is the new testament in my blood," (1 Corinth. xi.) were accidentally omitted in the printing. In some copies they have been supplied, by a slip of paper containing three lines being pasted over the existing two lines: in others the leaf has been cancelled, and the line printed in, but so as to be observable. His copy had the leaf in both states.

7.—Bible, the Great. 1539. fol.

Title, in black and red, within a beautiful wood-engraving (copied in Lewis' history.) "The Byble in Englyshe, that is to saye the content of all the holy scripture, bothe of y<sup>e</sup> olde and newe testament, truly translated after the veryte of the Hebrue and Greke Textes, by y<sup>e</sup> dylygent studye of dyverse excellent learned men, expert in the forsayde tonges. Prynted by Rycharde Grafton and

"Edward Whitchurch. Cum privilegio ad imprimendum solum. "1539." On the reverse, "The names of all the bookes of the "Byble," &c.—"A Kalender and Almanach for xix years (beginning 1539)," 4 pages. "An Exhortacyon," &c. 1 page. "The summe and content," &c. 2 pages. "A Prologue," &c. 1 page. "A descripcyon and successe," &c. 2 pages. The text, Genesis to Deuteronomy, fol. i—lxxxiiij.—Within a border composed of 16 woodcuts, "The seconde parte of the Byble" &c. (printed in black and red) Joshua to Job, fol. ii—cxxxiii. one blank leaf. "The thirde "parte," &c. Psalms to Malachi, between a border of 16 different woodcuts, fol. ii—cxxxiiij.—Within the same engraving used for the first title, "The volume of the bokes called Hagiographa," &c. in black and red. Esdras, &c. fol. ii—lxxx, falsely numbered lxi. Title to the New Testament, within nine woodcuts (and not the large Holbein engraving, as in all the other editions, of 1540 and 1541,) "The newe Testament in englyshe translated after the "Greke" &c. in black and red. The text, fol. ii—ciii, the two latter containing tables of the Epistles and Gospels &c. On the reverse of the last is, "The ende of the New Testamēt; and of the "whole Byble, Fyniished in Apryll, Anno mccccxxxix. A Dño "factū est istud." There are woodcuts before the books of Exodus, Leviticus, Numbers, Deuteronomy, Joshua, Judges, Ruth, 1 and 2 Samuel, 1 Kings, 2 Chronicles, Ezra, Nehemiah, Esther, Job, Psalms, St. Matthew, Ep. to Romans; but none to Genesis, 2 Kings, 1 Chronicles, Proverbs, Ecclesiastes, Solomon's Song, the Prophets, the Apocrypha. There are numerous pointing hands, in the text and margin.—A full page contains 62 lines. This edition is readily distinguished from the six others, by having the Holbein frontispice to the Apocrypha, and not to the New Testament; and by the several woodcuts having on each side of them a pillar or border, which was omitted in the subsequent editions.

8.—Bible, The Great, (for Berthelet.) 1540. fol.

Title, in black and red, within a wood-engraving similar to that of the Bible of 1535, "The Byble in Englyshe, that is to saye &c. "truly translated after the veryte of the Hebrue and Greke textes, "by the diligent studye of dyvers excellent lerned men experte in "the foresaide tongues.—Prynted at London by Thomas Petyt and "Roberte Redman, for Thomas Berthelet: Prynter unto the "Kynges grace. Cum privilegio &c. 1540." On the reverse, "An Almanac for xxx yeres," beginning 1540. "The Kalender," in black and red, 2 leaves. "The names of all the bokes," &c. and "A Prologue, expressing what is meant by certayn signs and "tokens set in the Bible," 1 leaf. The text, Genesis to Job, fol. i (unnumbered)—ccxiij. "The thyrd part of the Byble," &c. fol. i—cxlii. Apocrypha, fol. cxliii—ccxxvii. Title, in black only, within the same woodcut as to the Old Test. "The newe Testament in "Englyshe, after the last recognicion and settinge forth of Eras"mus," &c. reverse blank. The text, fol. ii—cii. Tables, 2 leaves. Colophon, "The ende of the newe Testament: and of the whole

"Byble. Finished in Apryll ANNO. M.CCCCXL. Imprynted at Lon"don, by Robert Redman, and Thomas Petyt, for Thomas Berthe-
"let," &c. This edition, which is a reprint of the Great Bible of 1539, has no woodcuts: it has pointing hands, in the text and margin. A full page contains 57 lines.

9.—Bible, Cranmer's, by R. Grafton, April 1540. fol.

Title in black and red, within the compartment of the edition of 1539 (both coats of arms being left untouched), "The Byble in "Englyshe, that is to saye the contēt of al the holy scripture, both
"of y<sup>e</sup> olde, and newe testamēt, with a prologe therinto, made by "the reverende father in God, Thomas archbysshop of Cantorbury,
"This is the Byble apoynted to the use of the churches. Prynted
"by Rychard Grafton. Cum privilegio ad imprimendum solum.
"M. D. xl." The reverse of the title is blank.—A Calendar and Almanac (beginning 1540), 4 pages. "An exhortacyon," &c. 1 page.—"The summe and content," &c. 2 pages.—A prologue, 1 page.—"A descripcyon and successe," &c. 2 pages.—Cranmer's prologue, 6 pages, having a flourished text capital F, and at the end H R. in the same letters.—"The names of all the bookes," &c.
1 page, the reverse of which is blank.—The text, Genesis, &c. fol. i—lxxxiii.—"The seconde parte," &c. between 16 woodcuts, "Josua," &c. fol. ii—cxiii.—"The thirde parte," &c. between 16 different cuts, Psalmes, &c. fol. ii—cxxxii.—"The volume of the bokes called
"Hagiographa," between 16 cuts, fol. ii—lxxx.—"The newe
"Testamēt in englyshe," &c. within the frontispiece of the Old Testament, St. Matthew, &c. fol. ii—ciii, falsely numbered for ciii.
—On this latter leaf, and one more which is unnumbered, are contained the Tables; at the end of which follows, "The ende of the "newe Testament; and of the whole Byble, fynished in Apryll, anno M.CCCC.XL.—A dño factū est istud."—

This edition, like that of the preceding year, contains pointing hands in the text and margin. Several woodcuts are dispersed throughout the volume. Before the books of Ezra, Nehemiah, Esther, Job, Matthew, and Romans, are large and handsome woodcut initials, of a kind found only in this edition. The books of 1 Samuel, 1 Kings, 2 Chronicles, and Psalms, have for initials large flourished text capitals. A full page contains 62 lines.—Some copies bear the name of E. Whitchurch instead of Grafton : but have no other difference. The library of King George III contains a remarkably fine copy.

10.—Bible, Cranmer's, July 1540. fol.

Title in black and red, within the Holbein engraving, "The Byble in Englyshe, that is to saye the contēt of al the holy scrypture, both of y<sup>e</sup> olde, and newe testamēt, with a prologe therinto, made by the reverende father in God, Thomas arch-bysshop of Cantorbury, This is the Byble apoynted to the use of the churches. Prynted by Richard Grafton. Cum privilegio, &c. M.DXL." Reverse of the title is blank. A Kalender and Almanac, 4 pages. The prologue, 6 pages. "The names of al the bookes" &c. 1 page; reverse blank. The Text, Genesis to Deut. fol. i—lxxxiiij. "The seconde parte," &c. fol. ii—cxxij. "The thyrde parte," &c. fol. ii—cxxxij. "The volume of the bokes called Hagiographa," fol. ii—lxxx. "The newe Testament," fol. ii—cii; the last two leaves are unnumbered. The colophon, "The ende of the newe Testament, and of the whole Byble, Fynished in July, Anno M.ccccc XL. A domino factum est istud, This is the Lordes doynge." Before the first chapter of St. Matthew is a woodcut of St. Mark, seated behind a table, and looking to the right, his hat hanging in the front.

The pointing hands are retained, in the text and the margin. A full page contains 62 lines.

11.—Bible, Cranmer's, December 1540—1541. fol.

Title, in black and red, within the Holbein woodcut, "The Byble in Englyshe, that is to saye the content of all the holy scrypture, both of the olde and newe testament with a prologe therinto, made by the reverende father in God, Thomas archebysshop of Cantorbury, This is the Byble appoynted to the use of the churches. Printed by Rycharde Grafton. Cum privilegio," &c. An. do. M.D.XL.

Cromwell's arms are defaced. The reverse of the title is blank. Calendar and Almanac (the year 1549 printed MXLIX,) 4 pages. "An exhortacyon," &c. 1 page. "The summe and content," &c. 2 pages. "A Prologue, expressynge what is meant by certayne

"sygnes," 12 lines, ending with "God save the Kynge," 1 page. "A description and successe," &c. 2 pages. Cranmer's prologue, 6 pages. The woodcut prefixed to St. Matthew is the same as in the edition of July 1540, representing St. Mark seated at a table, his hat hanging in front.—The pointing hands are removed from the text and margin. A full page contains 62 lines.

Some copies of this edition have "Printed by Edward Whitchurch;" but they are like the above in all other points.

12.—Bible, Cranmer's, May 1541. fol.

Title in black and red, within the Holbein woodcut, "The Byble in Englysh, that is to saye the content of all the holy scripture, both of the olde and newe Testament with a Prologe therinto, made by the reverende father in God, Thomas archebyshop of Cantorbury. This is the Byble appoynted to the use of y<sup>e</sup> churches. Prynted by Edward Whitchurch Cum privilegio," &c. Finished the xxviii. daye of Maye ANNO DOMINI. M.D.XLI. Cromwell's arms are defaced from the title-page. On the reverse are "The names of all the bookes," &c. A Kalender and Almanac, 4 pages. Prologue, 6 pages; six leaves in all.—The text, Genesis to Deut. fol. i—lxxxiiij. "The seconde parte," &c. fol. ii—cxxxij. "The thyrd parte," &c. fol. ii—cxxxiii, falsely numbered cxxxij. "The volume of the bokes called Hagiographa," fol. ii—lxxx. "The newe Testament," &c. fol. ii—ciii, falsely numbered ciiij. the last leaf is not numbered. Colophon, "The ende of the newe Testament: and of the whole Byble, Fynysshed in Maye, Anno m.ccccc.xli. A dño factū est istud." The woodcut prefixed to St. Matthew differs from those of all the other editions. St. Mark here sits at a writing-desk, and looks to the left, having a hat upon his head.—The pointing hands are all removed from the text and margin. A full page contains 62 lines.

13.—The Bible, Cranmer's, November 1540. fol.

Title in black and red, within the Holbein woodcut, "The Byble

 " Printed by Edwarde Whitchurch. Cum privilegio &c. 1541."

On the reverse of the title, "The names of all the bokes, &c."
 "A Kalender and almanacke for xviii yeares," 4 pages. The Prologue, 6 pages, with flourished text-capitals: in all, 6 leaves. The text, Genesis to Deut. fol. i-lxxii. "The seconde parte" &c. fol. iicviii. "The thyrde parte," &c. fol. ii-cxvi. "The iiiii parte" &c. fol.
 ii-lxxii. "The newe Testament in Englyshe, translated after the " Greke, cōtaynyng these bookes. The Gospels," &c. fol. i-xcii.
 1 more leaf, unnumbered. The Table of Epistles &c. is printed in three columns. Colophon, "The ende of the newe Testamente and " of the whole Byble. Fynyshed in November Anno m.ccccc.xl.
 " A dño factū est istud." This edition contains only one flourished capital in the text, viz. at the beginning of Genesis. It has some woodcuts in the Old Testament, but none in the New, except before St. Matthew's Gospel, where is the same cut as in the editions of July 1540 and Decr. 1541. The Latin titles of the Psalms are in Roman type, except the letter x. The numbering of pages in the New Test. is very faulty. The pointing hands are taken away. A full page contains 65 lines.

14.—Bible, Cranmer's, November 1541. fol.

Title exactly like the last edition (Novr. 1540). Preliminary pieces, Parts 1, 2 and 3, alike. "The iiiii parte of y<sup>e</sup> Byble," fol. ii-lxxii. "The newe Testament in Englyshe translated after the " Greke, cōtaynyng these bookes. The Gospelles," &c. fol. ii-xcii.
 1 leaf of Table, numbered xcii also. Colophon, "The ende of the " Newe Testament and of the whole Byble. Fynyshed in Novem" ber. Anno m.ccccc.xlj. A dño factū est istud."

The woodcut to S. Matthew is the same as in edit. of Novr. 1540, but the initial letter much larger. The Latin titles of the Psalms are in Roman letter; very incorrectly printed. There are no pointing hands. A full page contains 65 lines.

16.—Bible, Cranmer's, by E. Whitchurch. 1549. fol.

Title, in black, within a woodcut containing the King's arms at the top, "The Byble in Englishe, &c. after the translacion" "appoynted to be read in the Churches. Imprynted at London" "in Fletestrete, &c. by Edward Whitchurche. The xxi day of" "December, the yeare of our Lorde M.D.XLIX. Cum privilegio," &c. reverse blank. Cranmer's prologue, 7 pages; at the end is, "God save the Kyng." "The summe and content of al the holy" "Scripture," &c. 2 pages. "An exhortacion to the study," &c. 1 page. Genesis to Deuteronomy, fol. i—xcviii. "The seconde" "parte of the Byble," &c. within a compartment made up of 11 woodcuts; Josua to Hiob, fol. ii—cxlii. "The thyrd parte," &c. as before; Psalms to Malachy, fol. ii—cxlviii. "Apogrypha. The" "fourth parte of the Bible." This title has no woodcut. Esdras, &c. fol. ii—xcvi. "The Newe Testament," &c. between 10 woodcuts. On the reverse begins "A Table to find the Epistles and" "Gospels usually read in the Church, accordynge unto the booke" "of Common Prayer:" this occupies 3 pages. St. Matthewe, &c. fol. i—cxvi. On the reverse of the last is, "The ende of the newe" "Testament, and of the whole Byble." There are a few woodcuts how many? in Genesis. The Latin titles of the Psalms, the parts which are not in the Hebrew, the marginal references of the first two sheets of the Old Testament and of the Apocrypha, are in Italics: the rest in Gothic. A full page contains 57 lines.

I think that a close inspection of this volume will convince any person that it was executed at two different presses. The whole of part 1, as far as sheet L (inclusive) of the second, and the Apocrypha, are from one press; the rest of the volume, with the general title and preliminary matter, from another. In proof of this it may be observed, that in the former portion the initial letters of the chapters, and of the running title, are not cut in wood, but are flourished; and of a Dutch or Swiss make, nearly resembling those of Coverdale's Bible of 1535, particularly the capital M, the figure of which is very remarkable: these may be well seen in the title to the Apocrypha. The contents of each chapter are in the same letter, but smaller. The words Lord and God are printed in Roman capitals. The Italics used in the margin differ from those used in the Psalms, &c. The initials of the books of Leviticus, Joshua, Judges, Samuel, Kings, and 1 Chronicles, contain the letters I. H. in white on a black ground. None of these peculiarities appear in the rest of the volume. A full page contains 57 lines.

17.—Bible, Matthew's, by Raynalde and Hyll. 1549. fol.

Title, in black and red, within an engraving of the King seated on his throne, &c. "The Byble, whych is all the holy scripture: In whych are contayned the olde and newe Testament, truelye and purely translated into Englishe By Thomas Matthewe. 1537. And now Imprinted in the yeare of oure Lorde M,D,XLIX. Esaye 1. &c. Imprinted at London by Thomas Raynalde and William Hyll, dwelling in Paules Church Yeard." On the reverse, the contents of the volume. A Calendar and Almanac, beginning 1550, 4 pages. "An exhortacyon to the studye," &c. 1 page. "The summe and contente," &c. 2 pages. "A descripcion and successe," &c. 2 pages. "To the Christen readers," and "A table of principal matters conteyned in the Byble," 27 pages. "The names of al the bokes," &c. "A brief rehersal of the yeares passed, &c. unto this yere of 1549," 1 page. "Unto the reader W. T." 3 pages. Genesis begins on the reverse of fol. i. The paging is continued to Job, which ends on fol. ccliiii, falsely numbered ccxliiii. Psalms to Malachi, fol. i—ccxvi, falsely numbered ccxix. The Apocrypha, fol. ccxvii—cccxl. The New Testament. The title (as given by Lewis, p. 182.) in black only, within the compartment of the Old Testament; reverse blank. St. Matthew to Acts, fol. ii—lxxvi. Tyndale's Prologue to the Epistle to the Romans, in small type, 4 leaves, not numbered. The Epistle to the Romans, &c. fol. i—xlvi, falsely numbered for lvii. On this last begins the "Table of Epistles and Gospels, after the use of Salysbury;" which fills this and the three following leaves. On the recto of the last, "The ende of the new Testament and the whole Byble. TO THE honoure and Prayse of GOD was this BYBLE prynted and fynished, in the yeare OF OURE LORDE GOD A MDXXXVII. And nowe agayne accordingly imprented, and finyshed the leaste daye of Octobre. In the yeare of oure Lorde God M.D.XLIX. at London. By Wylliam Hyll and Thomas Reynaldes Typographers. God save the Kyng. Cum privilegio." This edition contains Tyndale's prologues to the books of the Pentateuch and to Jonas; but wants that to the New Testament. The margin has Scripture references, and capital letters down the page. The heads of chapters, and notes, are in a smaller type. The initial letters of the prologues to Leviticus and Deuteronomy are very large flourished text capitals. The numbering of the leaves is clumsy and confused through the whole of the volume: the types are rude, and much battered ; and the composing is very faulty. A full page contains 53 lines ; sometimes, 54.

18.—Bible, Matthewe's, by Day and Seres. 1549. fol.

Title, in red and black, between 14 woodcuts, "The Byble, that " is to say all the holy Scripture : In whych are cōtayned the olde
" and New Testament, truly and purely trāslated into English, &
" nowe lately with greate industry & diligēce recognised. Eaaye l.
" Hearken &c. Imprynted at London by Ihon Daye, dwelling at " Aldersgate, and William Seres, dwelling in Peter College. Cum
" gratia et privilegio ad imprimendum solum. xvi. daye of August.
" M.D.XLIX."

On the reverse is "An Almanac for xxix years," beginning 1549.
"Calendar," 2 leaves. "An exhortation," &c. and "The summe
" & content," &c. 1 leaf. "Dedication by Edm. Becke," 3 pages.
"A description & successe," &c. 1 page. Address to the Christian readers, and "A Table of the pryncipal matters," &c. "A perfect
" supputacyon of the yeaeres from Adam unto Christe," &c. together 12 leaves. "A prologe shewyng the use of the Scrypture," and "A register or a bryefe rehersall of the names of the moost famous
" and notable persons," &c. 2 leaves. All these pieces occupy 20 leaves. Genesis to Deuteronomy, fol. i—lxxxvi, falsely numbered lxxxviii. "The seconde parte of the Byble, &c. 1549." (This is within a compartment containing four historical cuts at the top and bottom.) Josua to Job, fol. ii.—cxiii.—"The thyrd part, &c.
" in the yeaere of oure Lord MDXLIX." in a compartment, as before ; Psalms to Malachi, fol. ii—cxlv. (Note, in this part are two leaves not numbered, between foll. xlviii. and xlix.) "The " volume of the bokes called Apocripha," &c. in a compartment, as before. On the reverse is an address to the reader. Esdras, &c.
fol. ii.—lxxvi. "The newe Testament of oure sauoure Jesu Christe,
" newly and dilygently translated into Englyshe wyth Annota-
" cions in the Mergent to helpe the Reader to the vnderstand-
" ynge of the Texte. Prynted in the yeaere of oure Lorde God.
" M.DXLIX." This title is in a compartment, having the four Evangelists at the corners. "Williā Tindale vnto the Christen Reader, fol. ii—cxxi. Table, two leaves : on the latter are the imprint and date.—(N.B. fol. lxxxv. is utterly omitted.)

This edition contains Tyndale's prologues. It has woodcuts throughout. At the beginning of the Psalms, and likewise of Isaiah, is a larger one, occupying the whole breadth of the page :

and before each Gospel is the figure of the writer, executed in a different style from the other cuts. To that of St. Mark is affixed the engraver's mark I. F. The titles, notes, and references, are wholly in the Gothic letter, of a peculiar form. A full page contains 65 lines.

19.—Bible, Coverdale's. 1550. 4<sup>o</sup>.

Title in red and black, within a woodcut border, "The whole Byble, that is the holy scripture of the Olde and new Testament faythfully translated into Englyshe by Myles Coverdale, and newly oversene and correcte. M.D.L. Printed for Andrewe Hester, &c." Below is "Set forth with the Kynges mooste gracious licence." Reverse blank. "The bokes of the hole Byble," 1 page. Dedication to K. Edward VI. 4 pages. "Myles Coverdale to the Christen reader," 5 pages. Almanac (for 14 years, beginning 1550,) and calendar, 4 pages. Genesis to ii. Maccabees, fol. i—ccccxciii. S. Matthew, &c. fol. i—cxxi. Tables of Epistles and Gospels after Salisbury use, 3 leaves, not numbered. Colophon, "To the honoure and prayse of God, was this Byble prynted and fynished in the yeare of oure Savyoure Jesu Christ M.D.L. the xvi. daye in the moneth of August," on the recto of the last. There is a woodcut at the beginning of Genesis, but no other throughout the volume. The folios are marked with Roman numerals; and the Latin titles of the Psalms are in Roman letters; all the rest of the book is in a Swiss or German Gothic. The preliminary pieces and title are in a different Gothic. The Apocrypha begins on fol. cccc. There are references, and a very few notes, in the margin. A full page contains 50 lines.

20.—Bible, Cranmer's, by E. Whitchurch. 1550. 4<sup>o</sup>.

Title, without any compartment, "The Bible in Englishe, that is to saye. The content of al the holy scripture, both of the olde, and neuue Testament, accordinge to the translacion that is appointed to be rede in the Churches.

"Prynted by Edvvard vwhythchurche,
"Cum privilegio ad imprimendum solum.

"M.D.L."

The reverse of the title is blank. Cranmer's prologue, 7 pages.—"The summe and cōtent of all the holy Scripture, &c." 2 pages. "The names of all the bookes, &c." 1 page.—The Text, Genesis to Deuteronomy, fol. i—lxxxvii.—a blank leaf. "The seconde parte

"of the Byble," &c. fol. i—cxxxii. "The thyrd parte," &c. fol. i—cl. "The volume of the bookes called Hagiographa." fol. i—lxxxviii.—"The newe testament in english, translated after the Greke," &c. fol. i—cxi. on reverse of which the Tables begin: these occupy one other leaf, and end with the words "The ende of the Tables." There are no woodcuts in the volume, except large and small flowered initials. The text, running titles, heads of chapters, and marginal references, are in the Gothic letter. There are no notes, nor prologues. The type is small, in double columns, one of which contains sometimes 60, sometimes 61 or 62 lines.

The library of St. Paul's contains a second copy, still more imperfect than the other. The Duke of Sussex's copy also is imperfect. Mr. Douce has a perfect one.

Title, in black and red, within an architectural compartment, "The Byble, that is to say, al the holy Scripture contained in the "olde and new Testament, faythfully set furth according to y<sup>e</sup> Coppy "of Thomas Mathewes translaciō, wherunto are added certayne "learned Prologes, & Annotaciōs for the better understanding of "many hard places thorowout the whole Byble. Esaye I. Hearken " &c.—Imprinted at London by Jhon Day dwellyng over Aldersgate. Cum gratia &c. Anno a m.d.l.i."—Reverse blank. Almanac for xxvii years, beginning 1551. Calendar, 3 pages: Edmund Becke's dedication to king Edward VI. 3 pages. In the initial E is a woodcut, of Becke presenting his book to the king. "To the Christen readers." "A Table of the pryncipal matters," &c. "A gatheryng of certayne harde wordes," &c. "An exhortation to the studye of the Holy Scripture." "The summe "and content of al the holy Scripture." "A perfect supputation "of yeres from Adam unto Christ, by Edmund Becke," brought down to 1551. "The names of al the bookes," &c. "A regyster "or a bryefe rehersall of names of the most famous and notable "persons," &c. "A descripcion and successe of the kynoges of "Juda & Hierusalem," &c. W. Tyndale's prologue. These preliminary pieces occupy 22 leaves, besides the title. Genesis to Deuteronomy, fol. i—lxxxiii, falsely marked xxxiii. "The second parte of the Byble," within the same compartment; Josua to Job, fol. ii—cxvii.—A blank leaf. "The thirde parte," &c. as before; Psalms to Malachi, fol. i—cxlii. "The volume of the “ bokes called Apocripha :” as before. On the reverse is “ a pro“ loge to the reader ;” iii Esdras, to iii Maccabees, fol. ii—lxxxiii.

 “ The Newe Testament, &c. Anno M.D.L.I.” within the same compartment. Tyndale’s prologue, to Revelation, fol. i—xcviii. Tables of epistles, &c. accordyng unto the boke of Common praier,
 2 leaves. [Colophon, &c. as given in Herbert.]

This edition has marginal notes, references, and pointing hands. It contains Tyndale’s prologues. Every part of the volume is in the Gothic letter. At the beginning of each Gospel is a woodcut ; that of St. Matthew has an inscription round it ; that of St. Mark bears the engraver’s initials I. F. as in Daye’s edition of 1549. A full page contains 67 lines.

N. B. A copy at St. Paul’s contains a detached leaf, following the tables and colophon, on which is a large handsome cut of the Royal Arms, encircled by the Garter, and supported by two pillars, round which a ribbon is tastefully waved, bearing the inscription, “ 1549. “ VIVAT REX. 1549.” Near the bottom are the letters E. R. and on the pedestals of the pillars are the printer’s initials I. D. Over the cut is printed “ O Lord for thy mercyes sake, save the Kyng ;” and below it, “ Feare God, and honour the Kynge.” I have only observed this elegant leaf in the copies at St. Paul’s, and at St. John’s College, Cambridge.

Mr. Lea Wilson (Catalogue, p. 39) has remarked some curious particulars respecting the translation given in this edition. He says, “ It is not a little singular that, notwithstanding the asser“ tion in the first title, that this volume is ‘ faythfully set furth
 “ according to y<sup>e</sup> copy of Thomas Mathewes translaciō ;’ yet
 “ with the exception of the 31st chapter of Deuteronomy to Joshua “ 18th inclusive, and the Book of Psalms, the whole of the Old “ Testament is Taverner’s translation, of the text of 1539, with a “ few trivial variations made by Edmund Becke. The chapters “ above excepted are Mathewe’s, 1537. In the Apocrypha, the “ 3d Esdras, Tobit, and Judith are entirely a new translation, dif“ fering from all others : the remaining books are Taverner’s.”

22.—Bible, Matthew’s, printed by N. Hyll. 1551. fol.

Title in black and red, within a compartment formed by two large woodcuts at top and bottom, with four smaller on the sides. The lower one represents the King on his throne delivering a book to some kneeling Bishops, as in Coverdale’s Bibles, of 1535, 1536. On the reverse is an almanac, beginning 1549. “ A Table for the

"ordre of the Psalms." "The order how the rest of holy Scripture is to be read." "The Kalender." "An exhortacion to the study," &c. "The summe and content of the holy Scripture." "To the Christian readers." "A description & successe of the Kynges of Juda and Jerusalem." "A table of the principal matters." "A perfit supputacion of the yeares, &c." "A Prologue shewynge the use of the Scripture." "The names of all the bokes of the Byble." "A Register or a briefe rehearsall of the names &c." These preliminary pieces occupy nineteen leaves, exclusive of the title. The text, Genesis to Deuteronomy, fol. i—cxii. "The seconde parte of the Byble," &c. between eleven woodcuts, Joshua to Job, fol. ii—clv. "The thirde parte," &c. as before, Psalms to Malachi, fol. ii—cxc. "The volume of the bokes called Apocripha:" between ten woodcuts, fol. ii—cii. "The Newe Testament, &c. imprynted at London in the yeare of our Lorde God. 1551." within the same wood-engraving as to the title of the Old Testament; St. Matthew, &c. fol. ii—cl, the last of which is not numbered. On the reverse of the last is the Colophon, (as given by Lewis,) "Imprynted at London by Nicolas Hyll, dwelling in Saynct John's Strete, at the coste and charges of certayne honest menne of the occupacyon, whose names be upon their bokes." In the Trinity College Oxford copy the last leaf is double; the second colophon being, "Imprynted at London by Nicolas Hyl for John Wyghte &c. 1551." That in the Bodleian, and in the Public Library, Cambridge, have the same. One copy at Bristol has—for Abraham Veale; a second—for John Walley. King George's copy—for Robert Toye. That at St. Paul's—for Thomas Petyt. That at St. John's Coll. Cambridge, "printed by Richard Kele. vi daye of Maye." The volume contains Tyndale's prologues; it has marginal notes and references, and capital letters down the page. It has no woodcuts, nor Roman characters. A full page contains 55 lines.

23.—Bible, Cranmer's, by N. Hyll. 1552. 4p.

Title wanting.—A Calendar, in black and red, 12 pages. "The order of Commen prayer for Mattins and Evensonge thorowe oute the whole yere," 24 pages: on the last, "Imprynted at London by Nycholas Hyll, for Abraham Veale," &c. "A Table of the Principal Matters," &c. 28 pages. The Text, Genesis to Job, fol. i—cciiij. Within the woodcut used by Nicolson of Southwark to Coverdale's Bible of 1537, and to the N. Testaments of 1538, "The thyrd part of the Byble," &c. Psalms to Malachi, fol. ii—cxxxij. Within the same woodcut, "The volume of the "bokes called Hagiographa," Esdras to 2 Maccabees, fol. cxxxv—ccxiv. Within the same border, printed in Italic letters, "The "newe Testament in Englyshe, translated after the Greke, cō-taynyng these Bookes." Matthew, &c. fol. ii—c. Tables, 2 leaves, unnumbered. On the last, "Imprynted at London by "Nycholas Hyll. Anno M.D.L.II." The running titles, heads of chapters, marginal notes, &c. are all in black letter. The initial letters of books are coarsely cut in wood. The Latin titles to the Psalms are in a larger letter than the rest of the volume. A full page contains 61 lines.

24.—Bible, Cranmer's, by Whitchurch. 1553. fol.

Title, in black, between eleven small woodcuts, "The Byble in "English, that is to say, the contente of all the holy scripture, bothe "of the olde and newe Testament, accordyng to the translaciō that "is appointed to be read in churches.—Imprynted at London by "Edwarde Whytchurche. Cum privilegio, &c." Reverse blank. "The names of al the bokes of the bible, and the contente of the "chapters of every boke, with the number of the leaffe where the "bokes begynne;" 2 pages. The Text, Genesis to Deuteronomy, fol. i—lxxxviii. "The second part of the Bible," &c. between 12 woodcuts, fol. ii—cxxxiii. "The third part," &c. between 11 cuts, fol. ii—clii. "The volume of the bokes called Hagiographa," between 10 cuts, fol. ii—lxxxvii.—"The newe Testament in Englishe, translated after the Greke," &c. "printed in the yeaere of our Lorde "God, MDLIII." between woodcuts of the four Evangelists at the corners. On reverse, "A table to find the Epistles and Gospels "usually read in the Church, accordinge unto the boke of Com-mon-prayer," 3 pages. St. Matthew to Revelation, fol. i—cxvi. The volume has no woodcuts, beside the initial letters.—The Latin titles of the Psalms, and the disputed text in 1 John, ch. v. are in Roman character: there are marginal references, but no notes: the heads of chapters are in a smaller type. The parts wanting in the Hebrew are generally in Italics. A full page contains generally 58, sometimes 59, lines.

25.—Bible, Cranmer's, by R. Grafton. 1553. 4<sup>o</sup>.

Title, in an architectural compartment, "The Bible in Englishe "according to the translation of the great Byble. 1553." Reverse blank. "The names of al the bookes of the Byble, and the content of the chaptres of every boke with the nombre of the leafe," &c. 2 pages. The text, Genesis to 2 Maccabees, fol. i—ccclxxvii, wrongly numbered ccclxxxii. Title, within the same compartment as before, "The newe Testamente in Englishe, &c." St. Matthew, &c. fol. ii—xcii. "Table to fynd the Epistles and "Gospels, &c. after Salysbury use," 2 leaves. On reverse of the last, "Imprinted at London by Richarde Grafton, &c. MDLIII."

This volume is printed in two columns, in a remarkably small but distinct type. In the margin are references, and indications of the portions appointed to be read as daily lessons. There are no Prologues, except to the Apocrypha; no heads of chapters: no notes: and no woodcuts. A full page contains 62 lines.

26.—Bible, Coverdale's, by R. Jugge. 1553. 4<sup>o</sup>.

Title, within a black Arabesque border, resembling that of Jugge's New Testament of 1552, "The whole Byble, &c. 1553. "Prynted at London by Rycharde Jugge, &c." Reverse blank. "The bokes of the whole Byble," 1 page. Coverdale's dedication to King Edward VI. 4 pages. Coverdale's prologue to the reader, 5 pages. "The table and Kalender expressynge the ordre of the "Psalmes and Lessons to be sayde at the Morninge and Evenynge "prayer, &c." 2 pages. "Proper Psalmes and Lessons, for divers "feastes and dayes, &c." 2 pages. An Almanac (beginning 1553) and Calendar, in black and red, 8 pages. The Text, in foreign type, this being really the edition of 1550. (See above, N<sup>o</sup>. 19.)

27.—Bible, Genevan, by R. Hall. 1560. 4<sup>o</sup>.

"The Bible and Holy Scriptures conteyned in the olde and "Newe Testament. Translated according to the Ebrue and Greke, "and conferred with the best translations in divers langages. "With moste profitable annotations upon all the hard places, and "other thinges of great importance as may appeare in the Epistle "to the Reader." Beneath is a woodcut, of the Israelites passing through the Red sea, surrounded with texts of Scripture. "At "Geneva. Printed by Rouland Hall. M.D.LX." On the back of the title is, "The names and order of all the bookes," &c. An Epistle or Dedication to Queen Elizabeth, 4 pages, beginning "To the "Moste Vertuous and Noble Quene Elisabet, Quene of England, "France ad Ireland, &c. your humble subjects of the English "Churche at Geneva wish grace and peace from God the Father

"through Christ Jesus our Lord." This Dedication was continued "in all the editions till 1583. An address "To our beloved in the "Lord, the Brethren of England, Scotland, Ireland," &c. 2 pages<sup>a</sup>. Genesis to 2 Maccabees, fol. 1—474. Then follows a second title, "The Newe Testament of our Lord Jesus Christ," &c. with the same woodcut and imprint as before. The description of the Holy Land, with a map. "The holy Gospel," &c. fol. 2—122. "A "brieft Table of the interpretation of the proper names," &c. 7 pages. "A Table of the principal things contained in the Bible," 17 pages and a half. "A perfitte supputation of the yeres and times "from Adam unto Christ," 2 pages. "The order of the yeres "from Paul's conversion," 1 page; the reverse is blank. There is no colophon. The book is printed in two columns; the text, running titles, and signatures, are Roman. The contents of the chapters are in Italics. The verses are marked at the side. The marginal notes are in a smaller Roman character. Very few marginal references. Woodcuts in Genesis, Exodus, 1 Kings, &c. At Numbers, chap. xxxiii. is a map of the journeys of the Israelites; and at Joshua, ch. xv. a smaller one, of the division of the land of Canaan for the twelve tribes: at the end of Ezechiel, a map of the Temple and citie restored: before the Acts, a map of places mentioned therein; all these maps are struck off on separate leaves. The text is divided into verses (this is the first edition of the Old Testament, in which that division occurs.) The vowels in the Hebrew names are accented. A full page contains 63 lines.

28.—Bible, Cranmer's, by Cawood. 1561. 4<sup>o</sup>.

Title and preliminary pieces wanting. Genesis to Job, fol. i—cciii. "The thirde parte of the Byble," &c. within an architectural compartment, The Psalter to Malachi, fol. i—cxxxiii. "The "volume of the bookes called Hagiogroph<sup>a</sup>," in a compartment, as before; Esdras, &c. fol. cxxxv—ccxiv. At the bottom of this last are two woodcuts. "The Newe Testament in English, translated after the Greke," &c. in a flowered compartment, with a woodcut at top and at bottom. St. Matthew, &c. fol. ii—cii. The last two, containing tables, are not numbered. On the recto of the last, "Imprinted at London in Powles Churcheyarde, by "Jhon Cawoode, Prynter to the Quenes Maiestie, MDLXI." The type is a small Gothic. There are no woodcuts besides those above mentioned. The running titles and paging are in Roman. The Latin titles of the Psalms, in Italic. There are marginal references, but no notes. A full page contains 61 lines.

29.—Bible, Cranmer's, by R. Harrison. 1562. fol.

Title, in black, within the fine woodcut formerly used for Mathew's Bible of 1537, "The Bible in Englishe, &c. according " to the translation that is apointed to be read in Churches. Im- " printed at London, in White Crosse strete by Richarde Harrison, " anno Domi. 1.5.6.2." On the reverse, an address " With what " judgements the bookes of the olde Testament are to be read;" and a note " to knowe what is meant by certaine diversitie of " letters and markes that we have set in the Byble." A calendar, in black and red, 4 pages. Cranmer's prologue, 6 pages. "A " description and successe of the kynges," &c. 2 pages. "The " names of all bookes," &c. 1 page; having on the reverse the large cut, of Adam and Eve in Paradise, which appeared in Mathew's Bible of 1537. The text, Genesis to Deutv. fol. i—xc. On reverse of this last, "The second part of the Bible," &c. Josua to Job, fol. i—cxxxviii. On reverse, "The thyrde parte," &c. Psalms (unpaged) to Malachi, fol. —clvi. "The fourthe " parte," &c. fol. i—lxxxviii. Title, within the same woodcut as to the Old Test. "The newe Testament," &c. Imprinted at London by Richarde Harrison, Anno Do. m.vc.lxii. On reverse begins a Table to find the Epistles and Gospels, 3 pages. A Map and description of the Holy Land, 2 pages. The text, fol. i—cxix., wrongly numbered cxvii. Colophon, "The ende of the newe " Testamente and of the whole Bible, Imprinted at London in " White Crosse Strete by Richard Harrison, the yeare of oure " Lorde, a thousande fyve hundred thre score and two. Cum " privilegio," &c. This edition has small woodcuts in the Apocalypse, and a few larger ones in different parts of the Old Testament (except the Pentateuch), and the usual ones of the Evangelists, St. Paul, &c. There are marginal heads and references. The Psalms are divided into verses. At Ezechiel, ch. xlvii., a large map is inserted between foll. cxxvi. and cxxvii., and there are others, at Numbers, ch. xxxiii., Joshua, ch. xv., and after the book of Acts. The heads of chapters, as far as Judges, ch. ix., are printed in a different type from those of the rest of the volume. A full page contains 58 lines.

30.—Bible, Genevan. Geneva, 1562. fol.

Title, "The Bible [in very large letters] and Holy Scriptures," &c. In the middle of the page is the figure of a seven-branched candlestick, with texts of Scripture. Below it, "Printed at Geneva, "M.D.LXII." On the reverse, "The names and order of all the "Bookes," &c. The Epistle to Queen Elizabeth, 3 pages. "To "our beloved brethren," &c., 2 pages. On the reverse begins the Text, Genesis to 2 Maccabees, fol. 5—432, reverse blank. "The "Newe Testament," &c., with the figure of the candlestick, as before. "Printed at Geneva, M.D.LXI." On reverse, "The order "of the yeres from Paul's conversion." A large Map, headed "The description of the holie land, &c." The Text, fol. 2—111. "Tables, of interpretation of Proper names, and of the Principal "things," &c. and "a Perfite supputation of the yeres, &c. unto "this present yere 1560." 24 pages unnumbered. The volume is printed in Roman type. The vowels are accented. There are detached maps in Numbers and Joshua; and a large folding plan of the City of Jerusalem and the Temple, at the end of Ezechiel. Mr. Wilson notices two curious misprints, viz. "Blessed are the "place-makers," Matth. v. 9., and in the contents of Luke, ch. xxi. "Christ condemneth the poor widow."

31.—Bible, Cranmer's. Rouen, 1566. fol.

The title, in red and black, within a large woodcut, representing the Divine Glory at the top, Jesus Christ and Moses on the sides, and Queen Elizabeth seated on her throne at the bottom, "The "Bible. In Englyshe of the largest and greatest volume, that is "to saye: the contentes of all the holye Scripture, booth of the "oulde and newe Testament. According to the translation apoynt-"ed by the Queenes Maiesties Iniunctions to be read in all "churches within her Maiesties Realme. At Rouen, at the coste "and charges of Richard Carmarden. Cum privilegio. 1566." The reverse is blank.

The order how the rest of holy Scripture (beside the Psalter) is appoynted to be read. Proper lessons. Briefe declaration, &c. To fynd Easter. Calendar. The Prologe. Morning Prayer. Evenyng Prayer. The Letanie. The Collects, and names of all the bookes of the Bible. (Together, 21 leaves.) The Text, Genesis to Deut., fol. i—lxxxviii. Seconde parte, Joshua to Hiob, fol. i—cxxxiii. "at the cost and charges of Rychard Carmarden, "1566." The thirde parte, &c. Psalms to Malachi, fol. i—cl. The Apocripha, fol. ii—xc. Title, within the same engraving as to the Old Testament, but in black only, "The newe Testament in Englyshe translated after the Greke," fol. i—cxiii. Colophon, "The ende of the newe Testament, M.D.LXVI." A Table of Epistles and Gospels, 1 leaf unnumbered.

The volume is very well printed. The Latin titles of the Psalms are in Roman capitals. The initial letters of chapters are cut in wood. A full page contains 58 lines.

32.—Bible, the Bishops'. 1568. fol.

Title, within a narrow border, "The. holic. Bible. conteynyng the "Olde Testament and the newe." All the rest of the page is occupied with a copperplate engraving, in the centre of which is a half length of Queen Elizabeth within an oval: (the rest as described in Lewis, p. 240); reverse blank. "The summe of the whole Scripture," 1 leaf. "A Table of the genealogie from Adam to Christ," 11 pages. The initial letter contains Archbishop Parker's arms, &c. beneath which is the date 1568. "A Table of the books of the "Old Testament: the newe in lyke manner," 2 pages. Then follows one blank page. "Proper lessons for Sundays, for holy dayes," 2 pages. "Proper psalms on certayne dayes." "The order howe "the reste of holy Scripture is to be read." "A briefe declaration "when every terme beginneth and endeth." "An almanacke for "30 years, beginning 1561." "To fynde Easter for ever." "These "to be observed for holy dayes." "A Table for the order of the "psalmes." These pieces together occupy 4 pages. A Calendar, 12 pages. Archbishop Parker's preface, in the Roman letter, 6 pages. Cranmer's prologue or preface, in Gothic letter, 5 pages. "A description of the yeres from the Creation of the world until "this present year of 1568," 1 page. "The order of the books of "the Old Testament; of the Newe Testament;" 1 page: reverse blank. The text, Genesis, &c. with a woodcut at the beginning, fol. i—cxxviii. On a separate leaf, "The seconde part of the "Byble, conteynyng these bookes, The booke of Josuah<sup>b</sup>," &c. Underneath is an engraving on copper, of Lord Leicester in armour, within an oval. "The booke of Josuah, &c." fol. ii—clxxxv. On jects from the book of Judges, formed into one design. He had not seen that leaf in any other copy besides his own.

a separate leaf, "The thirde parte," &c. Beneath is a woodcut, of King David playing on the harp. On the reverse, "A prologue of "St. Basill the great, upon the Psalmes," printed in Italic, with Lord Burleigh's arms in the initial D. At the beginning of the first Psalm is a copper-plate of Lord Burleigh standing between two pillars, holding in his left hand a Hebrew book open, and in his right hand the initial B<sup>c</sup>. "The Psalmes," &c. fol. ii—cciii. On a separate leaf, "The volume of the bookes called Apocrypha," &c. Beneath is a woodcut. "The thirde booke of Eadras," &c. fol. ii—cxviii. On the reverse of the last leaf is a "Description of the "holye lande," with a map. On the next leaf is the title of the New Testament, being a wood engraving similar in design to the frontispiece of the Old Testament, except that the oval there occupied by the portrait of Queen Elizabeth is here left blank, and within it is printed, ¶ "The newe Testament of our Saviour Jesus "Christe." On the reverse is "A preface into the newe Testament," printed in Roman letter, with Archbishop Parker's arms, &c. as before, in the initial letter. The text, St. Matthew, &c. fol. ii—clvi. On the reverse of this begins a Table to find the Epistles and Gospels, continued to the next leaf, which is by mistake numbered clx. On the reverse of this last is the colophon, and Jugge's device; but no date. There are marginal references, notes, and various readings. The contents are prefixed to each chapter. The running title is printed in Roman characters. All the initials of books and chapters are cut in wood. On folio ii. b. of part 1. is a small map of the garden of Eden. On fol. liii. is a woodcut of the Tabernacle and manner of encamping of the Israelites; which fills the whole page. On folio lxiii. are two tables of consanguinity and affinity. At fol. cv. is a map of the journeyings through the desert. After Joshua, chap. xix. is a map of the division of the land of Canaan. At the end of the Psalms, in some copies, is a table entitled, Numerus secundum Hebræos. At the end of the Acts is a map of the journeys of St. Paul, followed by "the order "of tymes." The whole number of engravings, including the title, portraits, and maps, is 143. A full page of text contains 57 lines <sup>d</sup>.

<sup>c</sup> Of this portrait Bagford says, "Because Secretary Cecil holds in his "hand an Hebrew book, some think "it to be the portraiture of Hugh "Broughton, the Hebrician."

Secretary Cecil's arms, also some of the other initials, which with execrable taste were selected from Ovid's Metamorphoses, occur in a folio edition of Grafton's Chronicle, printed by Henry Denham, in the next year, 1569.

33.—Bible, Cranmer's, (J. Cawood). 1568. 4°.

Title, within an architectural compartment, having two cherubs at the upper corners, and military ornaments on the sides, "The Bible in English, that is to say: The content of all the holy Scripture, bothe of the olde and newe Testament. According to the translation that is appointed to be read in the churches. Anno 1568." [Every alternate line of the foregoing is printed in red.] On the reverse, "An Almanack for xiii yeares," beginning 1567. A Calendar, in black and red, 12 pages. "A Table for the order of the Psalmes to be sayd at Morning and Evening Prayer," in black and red, 1 page. "The order how the rest of holy Scripture is to be read," 1 page. The text, with an initial letter figuring two birds, fol. 1—109. A Title, within a flowered border, "The seconde parte of the Byble, &c." fol. 1—163. One blank leaf. A Title, within an architectural frame, having a head in the centre of the upper part, and at the bottom Cawood's cypher, "The thirde parte &c." (this leaf is unnumbered) fol. 164—344. Title, within the same frame, "The volume of the bokes called Hagiographa." On reverse, an address to the reader. The text, fol. 345—438. Title, within five woodcuts, representing at the top the Last Supper, at bottom the Crucifixion, "The Newe Testament in English, translated after the Greke, conteynynge these bookes, Mathewe, &c." in black only. Reverse blank. The text, fol. i—the last leaf in this copy is fol. 125, on reverse of which chapter xxii of the Revelation begins.

The volume is wholly printed in black letter, in two columns. It has marginal references: no notes: no heads of chapters. The numbering of the pages is very faulty. The type is small. A full page contains 53 lines.

34.—Bible, the Bishops, by Jugge. 1569. 4°.

Title-page, elegantly engraved on copper, containing a portrait of Queen Elizabeth seated on a throne. Beneath it, the words "The holi Bible," are engraved. Reverse, blank. "The preface," 5 pages. "The prayer," 1 page. "The whole Scripture of the Bible is divided &c." 3 pages. "The newe Testament in lyke maner" &c. 2 pages. "A Kalender," in black and red, 12 pages. "The order howe the rest of holy Scripture" &c. and "Proper lessons" &c. together 8 pages. "The order of Morning and Evening prayer," 8 pages. The Text, Genesis (with a large initial I, dated 1569, containing Archbishop Parker's arms)—to Deuteronomy, fol. 1—105: 1 leaf containing Jugge's device. Joshua begins on fol. 113: but Mr. Wilson has found the same inaccuracy of paging in all the copies which he examined, and believes that nothing is wanting. The initial-letter of Joshua contains the Earl of Leicester's arms. Job ends on fol. 261. "The thirde part of "the Bible, &c." fol. 2—172. The initial letter of the Psalms contains Lord Burleigh's coat of arms. "The volume of the bookes "called Apocrypha, &c." fol. 2—101 (for 100). A map of the Holy Land. Title, in a handsome woodcut border, "The newe Testament of our Lorde and Saviour Jesus Christ. 1569. Cum privilegio." The reverse blank. The Text, fol. 2—127. A Table, 3 pages. On the last, "Finis. Imprinted at London in powles Churchyarde by Richarde Jugge, Printer to the Queenes Maiestie. "Cum privilegio Regiæ Maiestatis." "Faultes escaped in the "pryntyng," 1 leaf.

This book is printed in two columns, in black letter. The running titles, contents of chapters, marginal notes (but not references), Latin titles and arguments of the Psalms, and the interpolations of the Text, are in a small Roman letter.

35.—Bible, Genevan, Geneva. 1569. 4°.

Title, "The Bible and Holy Scriptures conteyned &c. (as in edit. 1560.) There is added in this second edition certeine tables—and a Calender historical, with other things. At Geneva, Printed by John Crespin MDLXIX." Reverse blank. Dedication, 3 pages; address "to our beloved" &c. 2 pages; names and order of all the books &c. 1 page: Declaration of the Golden number, and other tables, 6 pages: A supputation of years, 1 page: A cycle of the Sun, 1 page: Calendar, 6 pages; "Faires in Fraunce and elsewhere," 1 page. The Text, Genesis to Malachi, p. 1—410. Apocrypha, p. 1—94. Table of interpretation of Proper Names, 10 pages: one blank leaf. A Map of the Holie Land. Title of the New Testament—printed by John Crespin MDLXVIII. Matthew to Revelation, p. 2—129. Table of principall things, 18 pages. Supputation of years from Adam to Christ, 2 pages; order of years from Paul's Conversion, 1 page.—N. B. Sternhold's Psalms, printed at Geneva in 1569, are usually attached to this edition of the Bible.

36.—Bible, The Bishops'. 1572. fol.

N. B. As this resembles the edition of 1568 in many particulars, I have chiefly noticed those in which it differs from it: for the rest, consult the description of that edition.

Title, "The holie Bible." Beneath is the same copper-plate and portrait. The Almanac begins with 1572, and ends with 1610. The Calendar has the signs of the Zodiac in the inner margin: and most of the Romish saints are taken away from it. The description of the years is brought down to 1572. The dates in the several initials are changed from 1568 to 1572, (the last figure being scarcely legible.) The woodcut at the beginning of Genesis is different, and is placed in a sort of frame composed of another woodcut. The engravings throughout the whole volume, including the titles, portraits, and maps, are only 30 in number. The Text, Genesis, &c. fol. i—cxii. The plate of Lord Leicester's portrait<sup>c</sup> has been retouched. In the initial letter of the book of Joshua are his arms. Josuah, &c. fol. cxiii—cclxx. The map at Joshua chap. xxi. is engraved on copper, on a detached paper. Before the book of Ezra is "A very profitable declaration for the understanding of the histories of Esdras, Nehemias, Esther, Daniel, and divers other places of Scripture." The portrait of Lord Burleigh<sup>c</sup> is placed on the leaf containing the title, "The thirde parte of the Bible," &c. The engraving has been so retouched, that the character of the countenance is completely changed. The initial B. is also removed from it, but traces of it are still visible in the plate. There are two versions of the Psalter, that of the Great Bible, in black letter, and a new one, after the Hebrewes, in Roman. Psalms, &c. fol. ii—clxxxix. (for cxc.) In the initial letter of Jeremiah are Lord Burleigh's arms. Esdras iii. &c. fol. ii—cv. Prefixed to the first book of the Maccabees is "A necessary table for the knowledge of the state of Juda, from the beginning of the monarchy of the Greeks until the death and passion of Jesus Christe."

The New Testament, fol. ii—cxxxviii. 2 more leaves of table unnumbered. The colophon, with the date 1572, is on the recto <sup>c</sup> Respecting these portraits, the following quaint note appears in the Catalogue of Thomas Rawlinson, attached to a copy of this edition (N<sup>o</sup>. 2516).

"N. B. Icones Comitum Leicestræ et
"Burleigh, ad capita Librorum Josuæ

"et Davidis, ad gratiam eorum viis et
"modis satis iniquis conciliandam, ex
"ipsius Archiepiscopi Cantuar. hor-

of the last. The portraits of the Evangelists differ from those in the former edition : and portraits of St. James and St. Peter are here prefixed to their Epistles. The cuts of the Revelation are brought all together, and prefixed on one leaf to the book, instead of being dispersed through it.

These two editions are very frequently found robbed of their portraits ; but it seems that these were not originally added to every copy. For instance, in the library of Balliol college is a very fine copy of the edition of 1572 ; in which the pages are perfect, but the portraits have never been impressed.

The paper of this edition is much finer and stronger than that of 1568.

37.—Bible, Genevan, Edinburgh. 1576—9. fol.

Title, in black, "The Bible and Holy Scriptures, &c." In the middle of the page is a large cut, of the arms of Scotland ; and beneath it, "Printed in Edinburgh Be Alexander Arbuthnet, Printer to the Kingis Maiestie, dwelling at y<sup>e</sup> Kirk of feild." 1579. On reverse, "The names and order of all the bookes," &c. A Dedication to King James VI. 4 pages. "An double Calendare—the Romane and the Hebre," &c. An Almanac—Table to find out the sign of the moon, &c. Rules for understanding the Calendar. Some verses, "Of the incomparable treasure of the Holy Scriptures," &c. "A description and successe," &c. "An exhortation to the studie," &c. The printer's device. These pieces together fill 18 pages. The Text, Genesis to 2 Maccabees, fol. 1—503. "The thirde Boke of the Maccabees, newlie translated out of the original Greke." [But though this is announced, it never was added.] 1 blank leaf. Title, "The Newe Testament," &c., with the same cut of the Scottish arms, and beneath, "At Edinburgh. Printed by Thomas Bassandyne, M.D.LXXVI." Reverse blank. The Text, fol. 1—125. Table of proper names, "A Perfite supputation of the yeres," to 1576 : "The order of the yeres," &c. together 27 pages.

The volume is printed in Roman letter. The vowels are accented. In Genesis and Exodus are a few woodcuts. A map at Numbers ch. xxiii. another, on a separate leaf, at Joshua ch. xv. and a folded plan of the Temple of Jerusalem, at the end of Ezekiel.

Perfect copies of this edition are very rare.

38.—Bible, Genevan, by Barker. 1583. royal fol.

Title, in black and red, within a woodcut border, "The Bible translated according to the Ebrew and Greeke, &c. Imprinted at London by Christopher Barker, &c. 1583." Dedication to the Queen, 2 pages. "To the diligent and Christian reader," 1 page. Cranmer's prologue, 4 pages. The genealogy of Christ, 11 pages. An Almanac, beginning 1578, 1 page: Calendar, 12 pages. The names and order of the books, 1 page, in black and red. "Howe to take profyt, &c." 1 page. "The summe of the whole Scripture," 2 pages. "Certaine questions and answeres touching the doctrine of Predestination," 2 pages. In a handsome border, the verses "Of the incomparable treasure," &c. 1 page: on reverse, an engraving of Adam and Eve. The text, Genesis to Job, 1—262. On a separate leaf, "The Psalter or Psalms of David," &c. Psalms to Malachi, 264—347. On a separate leaf, "The bookes called Apocrypha," &c. 438—532. Title, in the same border as before, "The Newe Testament, &c. Imprinted at London, &c. C.B." On reverse, a small map and description. The text, 1—137. Tables, 18 pages. "A perfitte Supputation," &c. 2 pages; ending with a vignette, the large coat of arms, the imprint and date, as at first.—The book is finely printed, and the paper excellent.

39.—Bible, the Bishops'. 1585. fol.

Title, in black and red, within a compartment of fanciful architecture, "The Holy Byble, &c." Reverse blank.—Cranmer's prologue, 4 pages; Genealogies, 11 pages; Almanac, beginning 1580, 1 page; Calendar, 12 pages; the books of the Old and New Test. &c. 3 pages: on reverse of the last, a large cut of Adam and Eve. The text, Genesis to 2 Maccabees, fol. 1—536. Title of the New Testament, within the same compartment; on reverse, a Preface: Description of the Holy Land, with a map, 1 page: table of Genealogy, &c. 1 page; the text, fol. 3—137: on reverse of last, the Royal Arms, and the colophon.—This edition has no woodcuts. A full page contains 58 lines.

40.—Bible, Douay version. 1609—1610. 4°.

 "the holie Lambe, mdcix." On reverse, the Approbation : Address to the English reader, 12 pages ; "The summe and partition of "the Holie Bible," 4 pages : Argument of Genesis, 2 pages ; the Text, p. 1—1114. "To the Curteous reader," &c. p. 1115.

Title, "The Second Tome of the Holie Bible," &c. mdcx. On reverse, the Approbation : "Proemial Annotations on the Psalms," 12 pages : the Text, p. 15—1071 ; on reverse, a Table of the Epistles taken from the Old Testament ; an historical table of the Old Testament, p. 1073—1096. Table of principal things, p. 1097

41.—Bible, Genevan, Edinburgh, A. Hart. 1610. fol.

Title, "The Bible, that is, the Holy Scriptures contained, &c.
 "At Edinburgh, Printed by Andro Hart, and are to be sold at his
 "Buith, on the North side of the gate, a litle beneath the Crosse.
 "Anno Dom. 1610." "To the Christian reader," 2 pages. An Almanac and Table for 50 years to come (beginning 1610), 2 pages.
 "A declaration of conformitie, &c." "A Kalender," 3 pages. The verses "Of the incomparable treasure, &c." And the names and order of the books, 2 pages ; in all, 6 leaves.

This edition was esteemed for many years as being very correctly printed ; and it formed a kind of standard copy for several succeeding editions in Scotland.

42.—Bible, Authorized. First edition. 1611. fol.

Title, within a handsome copper-plate, exhibiting on the sides full-length figures of Moses and Aaron ; at the corners, the four Evangelists ; at the top, a group, of SS. Peter, Paul, Andrew, and other saints, with the Holy Spirit and the name IEHOVAH : at bottom, within an oval, a Pelican feeding her young ; the engraver's name, "C. Boel, fecit—in Richmond,"—"The Holy Bible, conteyn-
 "ing the Old Testament and the New : Newly translated out of "the Originall tongues : and with the former Translations dili"gently compared and revised, by his Maiesties speciall Cō"mandement. Appointed to be read in churches. Imprinted at "London by Robert Barker, Printer to the King's most Excellent

"Maiestie. Anno Dom. 1611." This is followed by another title, in letter-press, within a woodcut border, having the same words.—Dedication to King James, 3 pages; Address of the translators to the reader, 11 pages; Calendar, in black and red, 12 pages; Almanac, beginning 1603, with table to find Easter, 2 pages; Table of Psalms and Lessons, &c. 4 pages; "Dayes to be observed," &c. 1 page; Names and order of the Books, 1 page; The Genealogies of holy Scripture (title within two black lines), 36 pages. A map of Canaan engraved on copper, by John More and Jo. Speede, dated 1611; on its back, a table of all the places mentioned in the map. The text, in two columns, with marginal notes: the pages enclosed within single black lines: the Signatures, A—z, A a—z z, A a a—z z z, A a a a—z z z z, A a a a a—c c c c c, in sixes, ending with the Apocrypha.—Title, "The New Testament, &c." within a woodcut of fanciful architecture, with figures of the Evangelists, medallions, &c. and the imprint as before; reverse blank. The text, A 2—z, A a, in sixes. After Revelation, the word FINIS. The letter of the text is Gothic: heads of chapters, and marginal notes, in Roman: various readings, in Italic. A full page contains 59 lines.

N. B. See in Mr. Lea Wilson's Catalogue a detailed account of minute differences which distinguish genuine copies of this first edition from some others which greatly resemble it.

DESCRIPTIONS OF DETACHED BOOKS OF THE OLD TESTAMENT.

1.—Pentateuch, Tyndale's. 1530. 12°.

Title, "The fyrst boke of Moses called Genesis;" within a border of wood. On the reverse, "W. T. to the reader," occupying 7 pages. "A prologue, shewing the use of the Scripture," 8 pages.

"The fyrst boke," &c. fol. i—lxxvi. On the reverse begins "a Table expoundinge certeyne wordes," 7 pages: at the end of the seventh is this Colophon; "Emprented at Malborow in the lande of Hesse by me Hans Luft, the yere of oure Lorde "M.cccccc.xxx. the xvii. dayes of Januarii." On the reverse of fol.

v. (Genesis, c. 4.) is a marginal note, occupying the whole length of the page.

A full page contains (generally, but not always,) 31 lines.

The Letter is a Dutch Gothic. The Signatures are Gothic Capitals.

"A Prologe in to the seconde boke of Moses called Exodus." 8 leaves.

"The seconde boke of Moses, called Exodus," (within the same woodcut as before.)

Exodus, fol. ii—lxxvi. On foll. xliii. xliv. xlv. xlv. xlvii. xlviii. xlix. l. lvi. lvii. are woodcuts, nearly filling the page.

"A prologe into the thirde boke of Moses, called Leviticus," (within the former woodcut,) occupying 8 leaves.

"The thyryde Boke," &c. (within the woodcut,) fol. ii—lii.

"A prologe into the fourth boke," &c. as before; 10 leaves.

"The fourthe boke," &c. fol. ii—lxvii.

"A prologe into the fyfte boke," &c. as before; 4 leaves.

"The first chapter of Deuteronomy," fol. i—lxiii. At the end is an explanation of some Hebrew words, occupying part of the next leaf.

Genesis and Numbers are printed in Gothic character; the others in Roman, except the letter W. It is nearly certain, that these two books were published before the others. Perhaps the books of Exodus, Leviticus, and Deuteronomy, were executed at some other place; possibly at Hamburg. Genesis and Numbers have 31 lines in a page; the other books 28. There are some marginal notes throughout, but no woodcuts, except in Exodus.

2.—Pentateuch, Tyndale's. 1534. 12°.

Title, between four woodcuts,

"The firste boke of Moses called Genesis, newly correctyd and amendyd by W. T. M.D.XXXIIII."

"Unto the reader. W. T." xi pages.

Genesis begins on the reverse of the last leaf of the preface; and the next leaf is paged i. It ends on fol. lxxxi. b. At the end is "The end of the first boke off Moses called Genesis." It is printed in Roman letter. The other four books are exactly as in the edition of 1530. There are a few marginal notes.

3.—Isaiah, by George Joye. 1531. 16°.

Title, within a compartment, "The Prophete Isaye, Translated "into englysshe, by George Joye, My shepe heare my voyce (saith "Christe) Joan x. Every man that is of y<sup>e</sup> truthe heareth the my "voyce. Joā. xviii. Despyse not the doctrine ad warning of y<sup>e</sup> "Prophete of God." Reverse blank. Prologue, 7 leaves. The text, "The vision or prophecy of Isaye, &c." 112 leaves, unnumbered. Sign. A—P, in eights. On recto of fol. 112, "Printed in "Straszburg by Balthassar Beckenth in the year of our lorde 1531. "the x daye of Maye;" reverse blank. The text is printed in a large German letter: the running titles and heads of chapters in the same. The initials are cut in wood. There are only two marginal notes or references; but occasionally a pointing hand occurs in the margin. The stops are, the sloping line, colon, period, and note of interrogation. A full page contains 25 lines.

The spelling is generally very incorrect; so that the modern reader will scarcely be disposed to agree with George Joye, that his book is "Isaye speakinge playne Englysshe."

Nothing can be finer than the condition of the copy at Bristol, which formerly belonged to Herbert.

4.—Jeremiah, by G. Joye. 1534. 12°.

Title, "Jeremy the Prophete, translated into Englysshe: by "George Joye, &c. The Songe of Moses is added in the ende, to "magnif ye our Lorde for the fall of our Pharaο, the Bisshop of "Rome. Anno. m.d. and xxxiiii. in the monethe of Maye." Preface, 18 pages. Errata, 1 page. Text, fol. i—c. Lamentations, fol. ci—cix. The prayer of Jeremi, fol. cx. The Song of Moses, fol. cxi, cxii. At the end is the word "Finis." There is no colophon. The volume has marginal notes: some few chapters have an argument prefixed, in a smaller letter. A full page contains 29 lines.

5.—The Book of Joshua, by Coverdale. No mark. (1539?) 12°.

Title, within an architectural woodcut, "Annotations in the "boke of Josue shewynge brefflye in every chapter by comon places "how thys boke servyth for oure learnynge, what is y<sup>e</sup> profyt and "the use therof whych is the fyrst boke of the seconde part of the "Bible." On reverse, The printer to the reader. "The auctor "to the Reader," 4 pages. The Annotations, sign. A 4—1. 5. recto; reverse blank. The text, [Coverdale's version] with a separate title, (sign. 1 6) having a woodcut of Joshua, the same as that prefixed to this book in the Bible of 1535. On reverse, the printer's

Notice of fautes, &c. ending, "I have left the fautes tyll that albe
 "printed, and than I wyll set the fautes out in order as I have
 "comytted them." The first chapter, &c. Sign. 1 7—P v. reverse.
 "The eynde of the bo. of Josua." "A brefe somme of this boke," &c. 1 page. The errata, 3 pages.

The volume is badly printed, with worn-out types. The initials of chapters are cut in wood. Pointing hands are in the text and margin. Mr. Lea Wilson judges the book to have been printed by Thomas Gybson, in 1538 or 1539.

6.—The Books of Solomon, by R. Redman. 1540. 18°.

Title, within a neat woodcut border, "Here begynneth the Pro-"verbes of Salomon. Wherunto is added dyvers other Bookes of "the Byble. Very good and profytable for every Chrysten man "for to knowe. Prynted in the yeare of our Lorde. 1540." On the reverse, "The contentis of this Booke. | The Proverbes of Sa-
 "lomon. | ECCLESIAST. | The boke of the Preacher. | CANTICA
 "CANTICORUM | The Ballet of Ballettes | LIBER SAPIENTIE | The
 "Boke of wysdome. | ECCLESIASTI. | The boke of Jesus Syrac.
 " | The number of Chapters of every Boke | Proverbia Salo-
 "monis. xxxi. &c." The text, A 2—v 6 rev. One leaf, with "Here endeth the boke of Jesus, the sonne of Sirache. &c.
 "FINIS hujus libri." On reverse, "Imprynted at London in "Flete Strete, by me Robert Redmā dwelling &c. Anno Domini M.DDDDDXL." On the next leaf is Redman's device: the reverse is blank. The running titles and chapters are in Roman capitals. A full page contains 34 lines.

7.—Daniel, by G. Joye. 1545. 12°.

Title, "The exposition of Daniel the Prophete gathered oute of "Philip Melanchton, Johan Ecolampadius, Chonrade Pellicane, &
 "out of Johan Draconite, &c. By George Joye. A Prophecye
 "diligently to be noted of al Emprowres & kinges in these laste
 "dayes. (Then follow two texts of Scripture.) 1545. In Auguste."
 A dedication to Maurice Duke of Saxony, by Ph. Melancthon, 7 pages. "The argument of the hole boke," 8 pages. "A brefe
 "supputacion of the ages and yeris of the worlde." The volume contains fol. 244, numbered from the title inclusive. At the end is, "Emprynted at Geneve. 1545. G. I."

The running title, text, and marginal notes, are all in the same
Gothic letter. A full page contains 30 lines.

8.—The Apocrypha, by Daye and Seres. 1549. 12°.

Title, within a flowered compartment, in the lower part of which is the date 1549, "The volume of the boke called Apocripha:" the reverse is filled with a woodcut. "To the reader," 2 pages. The thyrd boke of Esdras, &c. beginning on A iii. Tobias begins on I vii. Ecclesiasticus with a prologue, on V vi. 2 Maccabees on P p viii. 3 Maccabees ends on Y y iii. "Imprinted at London "by Jhon Day, &c. and Wylliam Seres, dwellinge, &c." There are marginal references and notes. The heads of chapters are printed in a smaller character. A full page contains 83 lines.

9.—The Books of Solomon, by E. Whitchurch. (1549?) 12°.

The title, within a compartment: Address to the Christen reader. The Proverbes, &c. fol. ii—clii. There are marginal notes. The signatures run in eights. At the end is, "Imprynted in London in the olde Jury by Edwarde Whytchurch." A full page contains 34 lines.

10.—The Books of Solomon, by W. Bonham. 12°.

The title, within a compartment; on the sill of which are the initials N. H. The Proverbes, &c. beginning on sign. A ii. The Ballett of Ballettes, on H v. Wisdom, on I v. Ecclesiasticus, on M viii. it ends on Y ii. On a spare leaf is, "Imprinted at London "in Paule's Churcheyarde, &c. by Wylliam Bonham." The signatures run in eights. There are marginal notes. The heads of chapters are in a smaller character. A full page contains 31 lines. The Museum copy formerly belonged to Elias Ashmole.

11.—Baldwin's Canticles of Solomon. 1549. 4°.

Title, within an architectural compartment, bearing Whitchurch's device at the bottom, "The Canticles or Balades of Solomon, phraselyke declared in Englysh metres, by William Baldwin. M.D.XLIX." On the reverse is an address to the reader, explaining the Book to be a dialogue between Christ and his Church. This is followed by a dedication to King Edward VI. of four pages, dated "at London the first of June 1549." The text, viz. chapter 1st, according to the text in the Great Bible, succeeded by an argument of each Song prefixed to the Songs themselves. The work ends on the reverse of p. 11.—after which follows one leaf, containing the Interpretation of the Hebrew words, and a notice of an Erratum; and a second leaf, of which the recto is blank, and the reverse has Baldwin's device, and the colophon "Imprinted at London by William Baldwin, servaunt with Edwarde Whit-churche. Cum privilegio ad imprimendum solum."

Lord Charlemont's copy of this scarce book was formerly Tom. Hearne's; and bears the well-known formula, "Suum cuique. Tho<sup>s</sup>. Hearne 1722. Feb. 5."

12.—Hall's Proverbes, &c. (printed by Raynalde.) 1550. 12°.

Title, within a border of four pieces, "Certayn chapters takē out of the Proverbes of Salomō, wyth other chapters of the holy Scripture, and certayne Psalmes of David, translated into English metre, by John Hall. Whych Proverbes of late were set forth, Imprinted and untruely entituled, to be thee doynge of Mayster Thomas Sternhold, late grome, of the Kynges Maiesties robes, as by thys copye it may be perceaved. Dedication, "To the ryghte good ād worshypful Mayster John Bricket of Eltā Esqre.," 6 pages: a preface to the reader, on the excellence and usefulness of the Proverbs and Psalms, 6 pages: the text, viz Proverbs, chapt i. v. 8, to the end of chapt. xi. The vith chapter of the Book of Wisdom: the ixth chapter of Ecclesiasticus: the iiid chapter of St. Paul's 2d Epistle to the Thessalonians: certayne Psalms of David, viz. Ps. xxi. xxxiii. liii. lxiii. cxiii. cxii. cxliiii.—at the end of which, on sign. g x is "Finis. Im-printed at Londō in Paules church yearde, at the signe of the "Starre, by Thomas Raynalde." The leaves are unnumbered: the signatures run in eights, A—G, except G which has ten leaves. The whole is in black letter, of 2 sizes. A full page contains 25 lines in the chapter of Ecclesiasticus, and 24 in the other parts.—The punctuation is very incorrect. The Cambridge copy is perfect and in fine condition. I never heard of a second.

12*.—Pentateuch, by Tyndale. 1551. 12°.

The title, within a wooden compartment,

"The fyrste parte of the Bible," &c. with the date. On the reverse is an address to the reader by John Daye, announcing that for the convenience of the poor he had printed the Bible in four separate parts. Tyndale's prologue, 7 pages: Genesis, &c. At the end is, "Imprinted at London by Jhon Daye, &c. 1551." This colophon is on a separate leaf. The leaves of the volume are not numbered. The signatures A—Y, A a—v u run in eights. It contains all the prologues, heads of chapters, marginal notes and references: these are printed in a smaller letter. A full page contains 33 lines.

13.—The Books of Solomon, by W. Copland. 1551. 12°.

Title, without any woodcut, "The bokes of Salomon, namely. " Proverbia Ecclesiastes, Cantica Canticorum, Sapientia, Ecclesiasticus or Jesus the Sonne of Syrach. Anno. do. M.D.L.I. Mensis Aprill." Reverse blank. The text, recto A ii—h iiii; colophon, "Imprinted at London in the flete strete at the sygne of the " Rose Garland by Wylyam Copland." The book is printed in a large black letter. It has heads and chapters, and marginal references. A full page contains 23 lines.

14.—Genesis, by Wm. Hunnis. 1578. 4°.

Title, within a woodcut border, "A Hyve Full of Hunnye: Contayning the Firste Booke of Moses called Genesis. Turned into " English meetre by William Hunnis, one of the Gent. of her " Maiesties Chappell, and Maister to the children of the same. " Seene and allowed, accordinge to the Order appointed. Imprinted at London in Fleetstreete, neere unto Saynct Dunstanes " Church, by Thomas Marsh, 1578. Cum privilegio." On the reverse, Lord Leicester's crest. A poetical Dedication to the Earl of Leicester, consisting of 15 lines, the initial letters of which form the words Robert Leycester: on reverse, a poetical address to the reader; the initial letters of the alternate verses forming the author's name. A large woodcut, of a coat of arms; on reverse, a poetical epistle by Thomas Newton, "The argument of this " booke," 2 pages. The text, fol. 1—132. Finis. The printer's imprint, as before. The text is in black letter: the running title, in Roman capitals: contents of chapters, in Italics; marginal notes, in small Roman.

15.—Psalms and Proverbs, by T. Rogers. 1579. 12°.

Title, "A Golden Chaine, taken out of the rich Treasurehouse " the Psalmes of King David: also, The pretious Pearles of King " Salomon; Published for the adorning of al true Christians which " are the right Nobilitie, against the triumphant returne of our " blessed Saviour, which is nigh at hande. By Thomas Rogers. " Psalm 119, verse 113, 127. I hate vaine inventions &c. Allowed

To the Christian reader, 5 pages. The table of King David's chaine, 3 pages: on the reverse, a woodcut of David. The Text, p. 1—218. On a separate title-page, "The Pearles of "king Salomon, &c. 1579." On reverse, the same cut of king David. The text, page 1—198. Finis. A Table, entitled, "The "Thredes of the first part of Salomon's Pearles," &c. 5 pages. Another table for the two parts, 7 pages. The printer's device and colophon.

16.—Lamentations, by C. Fetherstone. 1587. 12°.

Title, "The Lamentations of Jeremie, in prose and meeter, with "apt notes to sing them withall: Together with Tremelius his annotations, translated out of Latin into English by Christopher "Fetherstone, for the profit of all those to whom God hath given "an in-sight into spirituall things. Seene and allowed. London, "Printed by John Wolfe, dwelling in Distaffe-lane, neere the signe "of the Castle. 1587." The reverse is blank. An epistle by C. Fetherstone "to the godly, zealous, and my worshipfull frend, "M. John Bannister, Maister of Chyrurgerie," (in which he speaks of this little volume of verses being delivered to him by a friend, insinuating that it was not his own composition:) 2 pages. Tremelius' annotations upon the Lamentations, with the prose text translated from his Latin version, p. 1—42. Then follows a second title, "The Lamentations of Jeremie in Meeter, with apt notes to sing "them withall. London, Imprinted by John Wolfe, &c.—1587." The metrical version, p. 43—82. One leaf, containing a large animal's head (woodcut) and Wolfe's imprint as before. The volume is wholly in the Roman letter, except the running title, and titles to each chapter, which are in Italics. Musical notes are placed at the beginning of each chapter, comprising the first stanza. A full page contains generally 24, but sometimes only 22, lines.

The Cambridge copy is perfect and clean. I never saw another.

17.—The Wisdom of Solomon, by J. Middleton. 4°. 1597.

Title, "THE WISDOME OF SOLOMON paraphrased, written by "Thomas Middleton. A Jove surgit opus (an oval woodcut). "Printed at London by Valentine Sems, dwelling on Adling hil at "the signe of the white Swanne. 1597." The reverse is blank.

A Dedication to Robert Earl of Essex, 2 pages. "To the gentle" men-readers," 2 pages: The text, 187 unnumbered pages, ending on the recto of sign. B b 2, with the words, "A Jove surgit opus:
"de Jove finit opus." The signatures run in fours: each page contains four six-lined stanzas; and bears, at the bottom only, the light Arabesque border common to poetical pieces of this period.

I do not know of any other copy besides this in the Malone collection.

18.—Ecclesiastes, by H. Lok. 1597. 4<sup>o</sup>.

Title, "Ecclesiastes, Otherwise called the Preacher. Containing " Salomons Sermons or Commentaries (as it may probably be " collected) upon the 49. Psalme of David his father. Compen-
" diously abridged, and also paraphrastically dilated in English
" poesie, according to the analogie of Scripture, and consent of the " most approved writer thereof. Composed by H. L. Gentleman.
" Whereunto are annexed sundrie Sonets of CHRISTIAN PASSIONS
" heretofore printed, and now corrected and augmented, with other
" affectionate Sonets of a feeling conscience of the same authors.

Imprimatur. Dedication, 3 pages. To the reader, 5 pages; re-
pages, not numbered; reverse blank. Errata, 1 page; reverse blank.
An abridgment, or the contents of the Storie of Stories, 24 pages; reverse blank. Mr. Lea Wilson was of opinion, that the volume really was printed at Amsterdam.

20.—The Garden of Zion &c. : by Z. Boyd, Glasgow. 1644–5. 12°.

Title, "THE GARDEN OF ZION : Wherein the life and death of " godly and wicked men in Scriptures are to be seene, from " Adam unto the last of the kings of Judah and Israel, with
" the good uses of their life and death, (2 couplets of verses).
" Printed at Glasgow, by George Anderson, 1644." A Dedication to King Charles I. 6 pages, the last blank. To Charles, Prince of Wales, 2 pages. A Watchword to the General Assemblie, 2 pages.

APPENDIX D.

DESCRIPTIONS OF THE NEW TESTAMENT, AND PARTS THEREOF.

1.—New Test. Tyndale's. Cologne and Worms. 1525. 4<sup>o</sup>.

It is known, that only one small fragment of this precious edition is remaining. The Title is wanting. "The Prologge," 7 leaves, on signatures A ii—B iiiii. The Table of all the Books of the New Testament, 1 page: on reverse is a large woodcut of St. Matthew. The Text, Matthew ch. i, ending at ch. xxii; altogether 24 leaves remain. The type is a German Gothic. The signatures run in fours. The Glosses are printed in the outer margin of the page, in type similar to the Text; but the capital letters differ. A full page contains 37 lines.

N. B. Fac-similes of the woodcut, of the first page of the Prologue, and of the first page of the Text, were struck off by Mr. Rodd, the discoverer of this treasure: and they have been given again in Anderson's Annals of the Bible.

2.—New Test. Tyndale's. 1525. 12<sup>o</sup>.

The Title is wanting in both the known copies. The Text, fol. 1—343 (wrongly numbered 353), ending with the words "The ende of the newe Testiment." On the reverse begins an address "To the reder," 3 pages. "The errours comitted in the prentyng. r. with the nombre folowyng it, signyfie the leafe off the boke. sy, with the nombre before it, declareth the fyrst or the seconde syde of the leafe. ly with the number before it noteth in what lyne the errour is, as here after apereth." 3 pages. The leaves are numbered. The signatures run in eights, A—Z, A A, B B. A fresh set begins, at the Epistle to the Romans, A a—T t iiiii. The reverse of the last page of Errata is blank. A blank leaf, unnumbered, is between foll. 198 and 199, after the Book of Acts. There are no marginal notes.

St. Mark begins on fol. xliiii b

St. Luke " " lxxi b

St. John begins on fol.	cxix
Acts	“ “ cliii b
Romans	“ “ cxcix
Ephesians	“ “ ccliii b
St. James	“ “ cccxv
Revelation	“ “ cccxxi b

The following words are thus spelt: Corrinthyans, Romayna, Galathyans, Phillippyans, Collossyans, Tessalonyans, Hebrues. A full page contains 33 lines.

3.—[N. B.—The imperfect copy of an edition, in Emmanuel College Cambridge, supposed by Dr. Waterland and Lewis to be of the year 1528 or 1529, has been examined by me, and appears to be Coverdale's Test., printed in 1538, 16°.—I am not aware that any copy of 1527, 1528, or 1529, has yet been identified.]

4.—N. T. Tyndale's, by George Joye. 1534. 16°.

Title, in red and black, within an architectural compartment, "The New Testament as it was written, and caused to be written, by them which herde yt. Whom also oure saveoure Christ Jesus commaunded that they shulde preach it unto al creatures.

"The Gospell of S. Mathew.

"The Gospell of S. Marke.

"The Gospell of S. Luke.

"The Gospell of S. Jhon.

"The Actes of the Apostles.

"Joelis ii.

"I will poure oute of my spryte upon all flesshe, and youre sonnes and youre doughters shal prophesy, youre yonge men shall se visions, ad youre olde men shal dreame dreames." On the reverse is an Almanac for 18 years, beginning with 1526. A Calendar, in black and red, 12 pages. The Text, beginning on the leaf preceding signature A i. and ending on sign. B b b i. on the reverse of which last leaf is the following colophon in large letters:

"¶ Here endeth the new Testament diligently oversene and corrected, and prynted now agayn at Antwerpe, by me wydowe of Christoffel of Endhovē In the yere of oure Lorde. m.ccccc. and xxxiiii. in August." Immediately afterwards is the Table of Epistles and Gospels, beginning thus: "This is the Table, where in you shall fynde, the Pistelys & the Gospellys, after the use, of Sarysbuery." It occupies 26 pages; and concludes on the reverse of the last leaf with a register of signatures, headed, "Thus shall you gather together thys boke." The sheets are marked +. A—Z. A—H. A a—X x. A a a—C c c. There is no date, device nor colophon at the end of the volume.

The following is the order of the Saints' days named in the Table; St. Andrew, S. Nicholas, Conception of our Lady, S. Thomas, S. Fabian and S. Sebastian, S. Vincent, Conversion of S. Paul, Candlemas, Cathedra Petri, S. Mathias, The greeting of our Lady, S. George, S. Mark, St. Philip and James, the finding of the Cross, S. John Port-Lattin, S. Dunstan, S. Austin, S. Barnabas, Exaltation of King Edward, Nativity of S. John, SS. Peter and Paul, Commemoration of S. Paul, Visitation of our Lady, Exaltation of S. Thomas Martyr, S. Margaret, S. Mary Magdalene, S. James, S. Anne, Petri ad vincula, Transfiguration of our Lord, The name Jesu, S. Laurence, Assumption of our Lady, S. Bartholomew, Decollation of S. John, Nativity of our Lady, Exaltation of the Cross, S. Matthew, S. Michael, Exaltation of K. Edward, S. Luke, SS. Simon and Jude, All Hallows day, All Souls day, S. Martin, S. Katherine.

The volume is miserably mis-spelled, but neatly printed. It contains marginal references, but no notes, heads of chapters, prologues, nor preface; nor does the name of the translator or editor appear throughout it. It has woodcut initials, and small portraits before the four Gospels, the Acts, Romans, and Revelation; and immediately before the Epistle to the Romans is a second title, (within a compartment differing from that at the commencement of the book and containing a shield with the printer's monogram and initials C E) "The Epistles of the Apostle S. Paul, &c.;" the reverse of this leaf is blank. A full page of text contains 32 lines.

S. Mark begins on Sign. g.	vii.
Acts	B. i. b.
Romans	A a. i.
Ephesians	i i. v.
James	s s. vii.
Revelation	t t. vi. b.

Among other deviations from Tyndale's translation may be observed the use of the phrase "lyfe," or "lyfe after this," instead of "resurrection," in S. Matthew ch. 22. S. Mark ch. 12. S. Luke ch. 14. S. John ch. 5; yet in other passages the word resurrection is retained; as may be seen in the Acts, ch. 1; in 1 Corinth. ch. 15, in Philipp. ch. 3, and other places. The mistake in ch. 14. of S. Mark, of two hundred instead of three hundred pence, which occurs in Tyndale's first edition, of 1525, is repeated in this. It only remains to state, that the copy lately in possession of the Rt. Hon. Thomas Grenville, through whose liberality and kindness I am enabled to furnish the foregoing description of this excessively rare volume, is perfect, clean, and in the finest possible condition.

5.—N. T. Tyndale's, corrected, Novr. 1534.

Title, "The newe Testament, dyligently corrected and compared with the Greke by Willyam Tindale, and fyneshed in the yere of oure Lorde God a M. D. & xxxiiij. in the moneth of November." This title is within a border of wood, at the bottom of which is a blank shield.

"W. T. unto the Christen reader." 17 pages. "A prologe into the iiii Evangelystes," 4 pages. "Willyam Tindale yet once more to the Christen reader," 9 pages. [In this address Tyndale complains heavily of George Joye, for altering his translation in many important instances, particularly in rejecting the word resurrection, and (concealing his own name) still uttering it as Tyndale's genuine translation. He also gives at length the colophon of Joye's edition, in order that it might be distinguished from his own<sup>f</sup>.]

Then follows a second title, within a woodcut, as before, except that the shield is here charged with arms, and has the initials M. K., "The newe Testament. Imprinted at Anwerp by Marten Emperowr. Anno M.D. xxxiiij."

"The bokes conteyned in the newe Testament."

(The order is, Philemon, Peter, John, Hebrues, James, Jude.) Thessalonians is spelled Tessalonians.

<sup>f</sup> Joye replied to this address, in a small tract entitled "An apology made by George Joye, to satisfye, if it may be, W. Tyndale, to pource & defend himself agaynst so many slanderouse Lies feigned upon him in Tyndale's uncharitable & unsobber Pistle, so well worthy to be prefixed for the Reader to induce him into the understanding of his New Testament diligently corrected and printed in the yere of our Lord 1534, in November." 12<sup>o</sup>. no place, 1535.

This small tract is of very great rarity. In the thirty or forty public libraries, which I searched some years ago, I could only meet with one single copy; which was in the University Library at Cambridge, a collection extremely rich in these small pieces connected with the Reformation. I do not know that this tract of Joye has ever been reprinted.

St. Matthew begins on fol. ii. wrongly marked i.

St. Mark                   on     xlv. b.

Acts                     on     clvi. b.

Romans                 on     ccxx. b.

Ephesians             on     cclxxviii. b.

James                 on     ccclxviii. b.

Revelation           on     ccclv.

The Revelation ends on fol. cccclxxxiii. (falsely numbered for cccclxxxiv.) Immediately follow the Epistles taken out of the olde Testament, &c. continued to fol. cccc. A Table of the Epistles and Gospels for Sundays, 16 pages. A Table of the same for Saints' days (with some "thinges added to fill up the leffe with "all.") 5 pages.

"The ende of this boke."

The signatures run in eights. The edition has marginal references and notes; some few of the latter in S. Matthew and S. Mark are in the Roman letter. There are no heads of chapters. The Prologue to the Romans is in smaller type than the Text. There are woodcuts only in the Revelation, except some small ones at the beginning of the Gospels and of some of the Epistles. A full page contains 33 lines.

6.—N. T. Tyndale's. 1534. false edition. 12°. (Bodleian.)

The first Title is wanting. Tyndale's address to the reader, 18 pages; "a table for the iiii Evangelistes, &c." 21 pages. Then follows a second Title, within four woodcuts, "The newe Testament Anno M.D.XXXIIII." Underneath is a monogram, with G. H.

On the reverse of the title, "The bokes conteyned in the newe Testament."

S. Matthew &c. fol. i.—ccclx. (falsely numbered cclxii.) Table of Epistles & Gospels, 8 leaves, not numbered. The numbering of the folios is often incorrect.

This edition contains the prologues to the Romans and other Epistles, printed in a smaller letter: it has marginal references, heads of chapters, and notes; these last differ from the genuine edition of this year, but resemble those found in Tyndale's subsequent editions, with which the text also generally agrees. It has woodcuts, either those of the genuine edition, or others imitating them very closely; I incline to think the latter, as the workmanship appears somewhat coarser. The cut of St. Paul however, prefixed in this edition to the Epistles to the Romans, Corinthians, Galatians, Colossians, Thessalonians, and Hebrews, is entirely different: in the true edition it is small; in this it occupies the breadth of the page. In 1 Corinth. ch. xi. there is an accidental omission of the words "This cup is the new testament in my blood."

S. Mark begins on fol. xxxix. Acts on fol. cxxxi. Romans on clxxvi. (falsely numbered clxxvii.) S. James on fol. cccxv. Revelation on fol. cccxxi. There is no colophon. A full page contains 89 lines.

This edition is briefly described by Herbert, p. 1543, and the identical copy there mentioned, formerly belonging to Mr. Ibbot, is that which I am now using. It wants all the prefatory matter, 28 leaves; 6 in S. John; 1 in the prologue to the Romans; and 2 in the Epistle to the Romans. A second copy is in the Earl of Pembroke's library, being that which was formerly supposed to be George Joye's edition. See above, pp. 3. and 318.

This book was doubtless printed at Antwerp; but from the great variations observable in it I cannot believe the date 1534 to be the true one: especially when it is considered that Tyndale's own, from which it is principally copied, did not appear till Novr. in that year.

7.—N. T. Tyndale's, (1534.) imperfect. 12°. (Lea Wilson.)

Title wanting: Wm. Tyndale's Address to the Christen reader, 15 pages: a prologue into the iiii Evangelistes, 3 pages: a Table, &c. 22 pages (ought to be 24.) Second title wanting: Text: Prologue to the Romans, in very small type, 26 pages, beginning on signature v 5. "The Pistles of the Olde Testament" occupy 14 leaves, ending on sign. v 4 reverse. Table of Epistles and Gospels, 8 leaves.

S. Luke begins on H. vii. rev.

1 Corinth. on c. iii.

1 Peter on l. iii.

Revelat. on p. 5.

The leaves are not numbered. The words in 1 Corinth. ch. xi. "This cup is the new testament in my blood" are left out. There are small cuts of the Evangelists before the Gospels: a cut of S. Paul, the same as used in Coverdale's Bible of 1535, before six of his Epistles: a cut of S. Peter: and a larger one of S. John, before the Revelation. A full page contains 39 lines.

8.—N. T. imperfect, 12°. (British Museum.)

Title wanting. A calendar in red and black, 5 leaves. "A prayer for the reader, expressynge after what sort Scripture shulde be red," 2 leaves. St. Matthew, &c. to Revelation. "A Table to fynde the Epistles and Gospels usually red in the chyrche, after Salysbury use," &c. It has no prologues, heads of chapters, nor notes; the marginal references are in small Roman characters; the running title, signatures, and text, in Gothic. The first line of the title to each book is in Roman capitals. It has flowered initials, but no woodcuts. The leaves are not numbered; the signatures, in eights, A—Z. a—q.

St. Mark begins on signature F.

Acts on s. iiiii.

Romans on z. vi.

Ephesians on f. vii.

Revelation on o. iiiii.

1 John v. 7. with some other passages, is printed in a smaller type. A full page contains 37 lines.

9.—New Test. Tyndale's, 1535. 12°. (Exeter College.)

Title, and Tyndale's preface, wanting in this copy. [I think it probable, that the title and preliminary pieces were as follows: (these being found by Dr. Bliss in a copy of a N. Test. 12°. partly made up of the spurious edition of 1534).]

Title, in an architectural compartment, with a blank shield at the bottom, in red and black letters:

"The ne-

"we Testament yet once agay

"ne corrected by Willyam Tindale:

"where unto is added a Kalendar

"and a necessarye Table, wherein ea

"sely and lightelye maye be foun

"de any storye contayned in the

"foure Evangelistes and

"in the Actes of the "Apostles

"Prynted in the yere of oure

"Lorde God. M.D.

"G xxxv."

On the back of the Title, an Almanac for xxi years, beginning

1535.— (Tyndale's preface against Joye: W. Tindal yet once more to the Christen reader; these two pieces copied in MS.) "The office of all estates," 2 pages. "Willyam Tindale unto the "Christen Reader," 18 pages.]—The volume begins with "A prologe to the Epistle to the Romans," 16 leaves, with the signatures ✠ and *: "A table for the foure Evangelistes," &c.: "A table for "the Actes of the Apostles," together 12 leaves. On the reverse of the last is, "The bokes conteyned in the newe Testament." Then follows a second title, "The newe Testament, dylygently "corected and compared with the Greke by Willyam Tindale: and "fynessed in the yere of oure Lorde God A. M. D. and xxxv." On the reverse is given again a list of "the bokes conteyned, &c." and "A prologe of S. Matthew." The text of St. Matthew begins on fol. ii, (marked i,) St. Mark on fol. xl, the Acts on fol. cxxxiii, Romans (without any break for the Prologue, which, standing in so unusual a place, may fairly be supposed to have been transposed by the binder) on fol. clxxiii. Hebrews on cclv. Revelation on cclxxi. It ends on the recto of fol. ccxcix. The Epistles taken out of the Olde Testament (with a large flowered initial letter). These end on fol. cccxii rev. with the words "Here ende the Epistles of the Olde Testament." The signatures run in eights. There are marginal references, and heads of chapters, but no notes. The letter, but above all the spelling, prove the volume to have been executed in the Low Countries: viz. it reads, "faether, "moether, taeke, holly, Saeynct, stoene, oones, thoese, sayede, "whorsse, &c. for "father, mother, take, holy, saint, stone, once, "those, said, worse," &c. Upon this circumstance, see some remarks in Anderson's Annals of the Bible; and the observations of a recent editor in the note below §. A specimen of this edition is given in Tyndale's Works, 1850, vol. iii. p. 287. The misprints are exceedingly numerous. There are small woodcuts at the beginning of each Gospel; and in the Revelation larger ones, occupying about two thirds of the page; the execution of these is very coarse. There are initials of two sizes, cut in wood. A full page contains 38 lines.

§ He was in prison at Vilvorde. "He "prepared this edition for the instruction of the ploughboys in his native "country (as formerly he had pledged "himself that, 'if God spared his life, "he would cause a boy that driveth "the plough to know more of the "Scriptures than a Priest') by printing

"it in what might be properly called "the vulgar tongue, conforming the "spelling to their rude pronunciation, "whilst to help them to the understanding of the subjects treated of, "he put headings, for the first time, "to the chapters." Tyndale's Works, vol. I. Preface, p. lxxiii.

10.—New Test. Coverdale's (1535 or 1536?) 12°. (imperf.
Lea Wilson.)

Title wanting, and all before fol. 43, on which is, "The summe of the Gospel of S. Marke:" on f. 69 (The Summe of) "The Gospel of S. Luke:" The Summe of S. Jhon, f. 114. Tyndale's Prologue to Romans, f. 191—208. Apocalypse ends on 350. rev. "Epistles of the Olde Testamēt." Epistles of the Sayntes, f. 362. Table, f. 364. Table for Sayntes dayes, f. 369. The volume is paged in figures. Some chapters are followed by a Gloss, in a smaller type. A woodcut of S. Paul is the same as that used in Coverdale's Bible of 1535. Mr. Wilson believed this to be the earliest edition of Coverdale's Testament separate from the Bible.

11.—N. Test. Tyndale's. 1536. fol.

Title, within a woodcut border, composed of boys in groups, and a small medallion, "The Newe testament yet ones agayne corrected by W. Tyndale: and in many places amēded, where it scaped before by neglygence of the printer. Also a Kalender, And a necessary table &c. &c. Newly printed in the yere of our Lorde M.D.xxxvi." (See Herbert, p. 1832.) On the reverse is an almanac for xxiii yeres, beginning with 1535. A Kalender, 2 leaves. Tyndale's prologue, 9 pages: a prologue into the four evangelists; a table to the four evangelists, and to the Acts of the Apostles. The office of all estates; The Bokes contayned in the Newe Testament. These pieces together occupy 12 pages, and are followed by one blank page. Then commences the text of S. Matthew, on signature B, marked Fo. Primo. The Revelation ends on fol. cxcvii, after which follow the Epistles taken out of the Old Testament, to fol. ccv. Four unnumbered leaves of Table conclude the volume, the last words of which are, "The ende of this boke.—God save the Kynge! and all his well wyllers." (I suspect that another leaf should follow, containing the printer's device, and perhaps a colophon.)

The volume contains all Tyndale's prologues. It has no woodcuts. The signatures run in sixes. The running title, paging, and marginal references are in the Roman letter; but the text, heads of chapters, and marginal notes, are in Gothic.

St. Mark begins on fol. xxiii.

The Acts on fol. lxxxi.

Romans on fol. cxvi.

Ephesians	on fol. cxlvi.
S. James	on fol. clxxxiii.
Revelation	on fol. clxxxvi.

A full page contains 44 lines. There are several peculiarities observable in the spelling; among others, the word not is spelled nat; and spirit, spiryte. Both the text and notes, as well as the order of books, appear to be conformable to Martin Emperor's edition of the year 1534.

12.—New Test. Tyndale's. 1536. 4<sup>o</sup>.

Title, in black, within a wooden border, "The newe Testament
" yet once agayne corrected by Willyam Tindale: whereunto is " added a necessary Table, &c. Prynted in the yeaere of our Lorde
" God. m.d. and xxxvi." The reverse is blank. "W. Tyndale unto
" the Christen reader," 5 pages; "The Office of all Estates," 1 page.
The Text, S. Matthew to Acts, fol. i—cxlii. A second title, within the same woodcut, "The Epistles of the Apostle Saynct Paul," &c. with the date. Reverse blank. A Prologue to the Romans, in smaller type, and with separate signatures, 7 leaves; the text continued, f. cxliii—ccxvi. Epistles out of the Old Testament, &c.
f. ccxlvii—ccliv (for cclvi). Table of Epistles, &c. 16 pages. On the last are the Royal Arms, supported. The whole volume is in black letter. There are large woodcuts before each Gospel, and St. Peter's Epistles. Many small ones in the Gospels, and 21 larger ones in the Apocalypse.

S. Mark begins on f. xxxiii.	Acts	on f. cxi rev.
Romans on f. cxliii.	Ephesians	on f. clxxix rev.
St. James on f. ccxxiii.	Revelation	on f. ccxxvii.

A full page contains 38 lines.

N. B. Mr. George Offor many years ago pointed out to me that there are three distinct impressions of this Testament; resembling each other in all the main features, but evidently set up at different times. The chief mark of distinction is an engraver's mark, in the woodcut prefixed to S. Peter's Epistles. In one impression, the stone at the Apostle's foot is blank: in a second, it bears the figure of a mole: in a third, it has a monogram, including the letters A K B. Mr. Offor possessed all three varieties. So also did Mr. Lea Wilson; who has detailed in his Catalogue many of the peculiarities distinguishing each of the three; and observes, that many of the woodcuts appear in two Flemish Bibles printed at Antwerp. Some have attributed this Testament to the press of John Gough.

13.—New Test. Tyndale's. 1536. 12°.

Mr. Lea Wilson had three editions of this date and size, resembling each other in all main points, but differing in many minute particulars, for an account of which the reader is referred to his Catalogue, p. 145, &c. He specifies a fourth of the same year, at Bristol; and a fifth, and perhaps a sixth, at S. Paul's Cathedral.

Title, in red and black, within a wooden border of 4 pieces, "The newe Testament yet once agayne corrected by Wylliam Tyndall. Wheare unto is added an exhortacion to the same of Erasmus Rot. wyth an Englyshe Kalender, and a Table, necessary to fynde easily and lyghtely any story contayned in the iiii evangelistes & in the Actes of the Apostles. 1536." On reverse, an Almanac for xxi yeares: a Calendar, in black and red, 12 pages; "The Office of all estates," 2 pages: "An exhortacion to the diligent studye of Scripture," 24 pages: Wm. Tyndale unto the Christen reader, 16 pages. A second Title, in black only, within a border, "The newe testament newlye corrected. 1536." On reverse, "The bokes conteyned, &c." The Text.

S. Mark	begins on f vi.
Acts	on u v. rev.
Romans	on c v.
Ephesians	on k iv.
Revelation	on t vii. rev.

Epistles out of the Old Testament, and Tables as usual, 24 leaves. The Prologue to the Romans is in the same type as the text, and is contained in the regular course of signatures. The initials are plain, except those at the beginning of each book. The first line of S. Matthew's text is printed in a letter different from all the rest of the book. The leaves are not numbered. The signatures run in eights. There are woodcuts in the Apocalypse, and some smaller ones before each Gospel and some of the Epistles. A full page contains 35 lines.

N. B. This collation was taken from the Bristol copy, compared with Earl Spencer's. In two of Mr. Wilson's editions the date on the title-page is not in figures, but in Gothic numerals. Mr. Ames was strongly of opinion that this edition was printed in London, by Thomas Berthelet or John Gough.

14.—N. T. Tyndale's. 1536 or 1537. 16°. (Mr. Douce).

Title, without any sort of compartment, "The Newe Testament

"yet once agayne corrected. Wheare unto is added an exhortaciō "to the same of Erasmus Rot. with an Englysshe Kalender. And "a Table, necessary to fynde easly and lyghtely any story con-

 "stles." The first six words of this title are in red. On the reverse of the title begins the Calendar, in black and red; the Office of all estates; occupying together, inclusive of the title, 16 pages.
 An Exhortation, &c. (the title and the first line being in Roman letter,) 23 pages. "Willyam Tyndale unto the Christen reader," 18 pages. The text, with the short prologue to St. Matthew: at the end of which follow the Epistles, &c., 34 pages: a Table, &c., 19 pages; ending on the recto of the last leaf, with no other colophon than these two words, "The ende."

The volume contains prologues, notes, and heads of chapters to the Gospels and Acts; and in all points appears to follow the 12<sup>o</sup>.
 edition of 1536. It has woodcuts throughout, occupying about two thirds of the page; those in the Apocalypse being of the same size as the rest. Every part is in the Gothic letter, excepting the first line, or two lines, of the titles of the several books. The leaves are not numbered: the signatures run in eights, (beginning at Erasmus' exhortacion, the first leaf of which is marked A.) A—Z.

There is no indication of either place or printer: but I judge it to be of foreign execution; and to have been printed from the 12<sup>o</sup>. edition of 1536. Mr. Douce's copy of this rare edition is perfect, clean, and quite sound.

"The Epistles of the Old Testament," 19 pages; Table of Epistles and Gospels, 10 pages: "The summe and content," &c. 4 pages: colophon, "Imprynted at Antwerpe by Mathew Crom. In the "yeare of oure Lord M.D.XXXVIII." with a woodcut, of a scroll enclosing a text of Scripture.

The Prologue to the Romans enters into the regular course of signatures: at its end is an engraved scroll, bearing a text from Tobit. The chapters are numbered; but not the pages. Many of the chapters have glosses at the end, printed in a smaller type. There are many woodcuts in the volume; those in the Apocalypse fill the whole page. A full page contains 48 lines.

The Bristol copy unfortunately wants the title; but in all other respects is in high preservation and beauty.

16.—New Test. Coverdale's, Lat. and Engl. 1538. 4<sup>o</sup>. First edition.

Title, in red and black, "The newe testament both Latine and Englyshe ech correspondent to the other after the vulgare texte, communely called S. Jeroms. Faythfully translated by Myles Coverdale. Anno mcccc.xxxviii. Ieremie xxii, &c. Printed in Southwarke by James Nicolson. Set forth wyth the Kynges moost gracious licence." Reverse blank. A Dedication to King Henry VIII. signed "Myles Coverdale," 3 pages. "To the Reader," 3 pages. "An almanacke for xviii yeares" (the 1st, 3d, and 5th words printed in red) and Calendar, 4 pages; altogether six leaves. The text, Latin and English, the latter commencing "The holy Gospell of Jesus Christ after Mathewe. The fyrst chapter," fol. 1 (unnumbered) to 344. "A Table to finde the Epistles and Gospels, &c." 4 pages unnumbered. The Latin text is in the Roman character; as also are the running titles, and numbers of the chapters. The marginal references are in a smaller black letter. There are no heads of chapters, no prologues, and very few marginal notes. The numbering of the leaves is very irregular: for instance, in Acts, folios 166. 169. 170. 161. 162. 163. 169. 170. 179. 180. &c. succeed each other.

St. Mark begins on fol. 45. Acts on fol. 155. Romans on f. 202. Hebrews on f. 189. Apocalypse on 321. A full page contains 41 lines.

17.—New Test. Coverdale's, Lat. and English. 1538. 4°. Second edition.

Title, in black only, "The newe testament both in Latine and Englyshe eche correspondente to the other after the vulgare texte comunely called S. Ieromes. Faythfullye translated by Johan Hollybushe. Anno m.ccccc.xxxviii. Ieremie xxii. &c. Prynted in Southwarke by James Nicolson. Set forth &c."—Dedication to the King, signed "Myles Coverdale," 3 pages. (The paragraph mark ¶ at the beginning is printed in red.) To the reader, 3 pages. Almanac and Calendar, 2 leaves. The text, beginning "The holy Gospell of Jesu Christe after Mathewe. The fyrst Capter," fol. 1—342. Table, &c. 2 leaves, not numbered; having no other colophon than "The ende of the table."

In this edition, as well as the other, the numeration of the leaves is very incorrect: foll. 169. 162. 163. 164. 165. 166. 175. 170. 179. 178. 179. 180. 186. 185. 184. 185. 186. follow each other; 193 is numbered 139. The number of lines in a page is the same, 41.

It appears, that Coverdale was much dissatisfied with the former edition, and set forth that printed at Paris by F. Regnault, as more correct; endeavouring at the same time to call in the copies of the other: in this he seems to have amply succeeded, insomuch that very few are now to be found. Lewis had never seen it; and Herbert describes it as being very scarce. I give here a few of the variations, which may serve to distinguish one edition from the other.

18.—New Test. Latin and English, by R. Redman. 1538. 4°.

Title, in black and red, within a woodcut (as given by Lewis, p. 118.) On reverse, An Almanac for xxii years, beginning 1539. A Calendar, 6 leaves. A second Title, in black only, within the same woodcut, "The newe Testament in Englyshe and in Latin, "Novum Testamentum Anglicè et Latinè, anno Dñi 1538." On reverse, "The bokes containyd in the Newe Testament." The text fol. ii—cclxxxxij. The Epistles of the Olde Testament, &c. in English alone, eight leaves not numbered. A "Table of Epistles," &c. four leaves; on the last is the printer's colophon, and the date MDXXXVIII. A full page contains 40 lines.

19.—New Test. Coverdale's. 1538. 16°. (Trin. Coll. Dublin.)

Title, in red and black, "Search the scripture," in a label over "The newe Testament," (both within a woodcut tablet) "Faythfully translated, and latly correcte, by Myles Coverdale. With a true Concordaunce in the margent, and many necessary annotations after the Chapters, declarynge sondry harde places conteyned in the texte.—Prynted in the yere of oure Lorde M.cccccc.xxxviii. [a wood-ornament]. Set forth wyth the kynges "license." On the reverse of the title is an Almanac for 18 years, beginning 1538. A Calendar, in black and red, 12 pages. An address to the reader, 2 pages. A prologue unto the Newe Testament, 8 pages. The sum of St. Matthew's Gospell, 4 pages. The Text, beginning on signature † vii, followed by † viii, after which follows a i &c.; so that, contrary to general usage, signature A does not commence the volume.

Before each Gospel and Epistle is a Sum of its contents; and very many of the chapters are followed by glosses upon certain passages. The margin contains references; and in the Text are inserted in red letters the cross + and half-cross †, denoting the beginning and ending of an Epistle or Gospel appointed to be read in the church; the marks (* and †) pointing to the marginal references, and a pointing hand (☞) referring to the gloss at the end of the chapter.

The titles of each book, and also of its Sum, are printed in red, and inclosed within woodcut tablets: the titles of the chapters, of the glosses, together with the running titles throughout the volume, and all the initial letters, are likewise in red ink; and a double set of red lines is printed round every page, separating the title from the text, and this from the marginal references; also dividing the text from the gloss, and one chapter from another. Some of the initials are flowered, others are not. There are woodcuts at the beginning of the Gospels, Acts, and most of the Epistles; of which that before the Epistle to the Romans is larger than the rest. The Revelation contains the usual plates. The volume is entirely in the Gothic letter; it is not paged: the signatures run in eights; and are these: +. ‡. a—y. A—x. [signature i being repeated, but the first extending to half a sheet only,] A a —N n, the last of which is not a complete sheet.

S. Mark begins on g ii b

Acts on A i

Romans on i ii

Ephesians on R vi

S. James on E e vii b

Revelation on F f viii

The Apocalypse is followed by the Epistles from the Old Testament, and these by the customary Tables. The last leaf is unfortunately wanting in the Dublin and Cambridge copies, so that I can say nothing of the colophon. Herbert describes the volume at p.1549, but neither was his copy perfect. A full page contains 37 lines.

I should observe, that the translation agrees with that of the 8°. not the 4°. edition by Coverdale, published in this same year; and that Tyndale's prologue to the Epistle to the Romans is inserted, but with some alterations and omissions.

20.—New Test. Lat. and English, Coverdale's. Paris. 1538. 8°.

Title, in black and red, within an elegant architectural compartment, "The new testament both in Latin and English after the vulgare texte: which is red in the churche. Translated and corrected by Myles Coverdale: and prynted in Paris, by Frances Regnault. M.ccccc.xxxviii. in Novembre. Prynted for Richard Grafton and Edward Whitchurch, cytezens of London. Cum gratia & privilegio regis." Dedication, to Lord Cromwell, 2 pages: Almanac and Kalendar, in black and red, 8 pages; the Text, fol. i—ccclxxiii. Table of Epistles and Gospels, 2 leaves, unnumbered ; the Latin Text is in Roman letter. The signatures are A—M M in eights.

In other particulars this edition quite agrees with that which is next described, bearing the date of 1539. A full page contains 49 lines.

21.—New Test. Coverdale's, Lat. and English. R. Grafton.
1539. 8°.

Within four wood-engravings is the following title, printed in black and red: "The new testamēt both in Latin and English "after the vulgare text: which is red in the churche. Trāslated "and corrected by Myles Coverdale. 1539. Prynted by Richard "Grafton and Edward Whitchurch. Cum privilegio ad imprimendum solum. I am the way, y<sup>e</sup> trueth and y<sup>e</sup> lyfe. Jo. xiii. a." A dedication "To the ryghte honorable lorde Cromwell," 2 pages, To the reader, 2 pages. An Almanac for seventeen years, beginning 1539. A calendar. "The holy Gospell of Jesus Christ after "St. Matthew," above a woodcut occupying the breadth of the page. The Text, fol i. to cclxxiii. Tables of the Epistles and Gospels, 2 leaves more, unnumbered. "The end of the Table." The Latin text (in the inner side) occupys about a third of the page: it is printed in the Roman character, as are the marginal references; these last are in Latin. The running title also is in Latin, (excepting the names of the four Evangelists,) but in the Gothic character. The signatures run in eights. There are no cuts, except those above mentioned. The running title of the Epistle of St. James is printed by mistake ad Jacobum; over which a slip of paper is pasted, having Jacobi; and on the reverse of fol. ccxlv "ad Hebræos" occurs, instead of "1 Petri." A full page contains, of the English text, 49 lines.

22.—New Test. Coverdale's. Antwerp. 1539. 8°.

Title wanting; a Calendar, in black and red, and Prologue upon the New Testament, together 13 pages. A large woodcut, and the short "Prologue of St. Matthew," fill the 14th page. The Text, (with a woodcut of the persons named in the genealogy of Jesus Christ,) beginning on sign. A i. and continued to the end of the Acts. The Prologue to the Romans in a smaller type, and with separate signatures +, + +, 27 pages; at the end of it is a woodcut, representing Faith, Hope, and Charity. "Hereunto is "added the summe and content of all the hole Scripture, &c."

4 pages, in the same type, and having a woodcut of a scroll containing a text of Scripture: 1 blank page. "The Epistle of the "Apostle saynt Paul to the Romayns," with a large woodcut, filling the whole page; signature a, &c. The Epistles of the Old Testament, 30 pages; the last bearing two woodcuts, one of them the scroll above mentioned: "Fautes escaped in the pryntyng," 1 page: Table of the Epistles, 9 pages; ending with this colophon, "At "Antwerpe, by Matthew Crom. M.D.XXXIX."

This edition contains marginal references, glosses, and heads of chapters; it also has a very great number of woodcuts; of which those prefixed to the Gospels, Acts, Romans, 1 Peter, and James, also the cuts of the Apocalypse, fill the entire page; it has woodcut initials, of several sizes; of which there is a very remarkable one prefixed to St. John's Gospel, containing the name Jehovah, surrounded by a Hebrew inscription within a Glory.

The leaves are not numbered. The signatures (in eights) are A—Z. A a—B b. +. +. +. a—v, the last leaf being v viii.

St. Mark begins on r viii

Acts on x

Romans on a

S. James on o

Revelation on o vii.

The whole of the column is in a large Gothic letter. The translation agrees with that of Matthew Crom's edition of the preceding year. A full page contains 35 lines.

N. B. Mr. Douce's copy of this book, which formerly belonged to Herbert, unfortunately wants the title and first leaf of the Calendar; but is otherwise in very fine condition. The St. Paul's copy is more defective.

23.—New Test. by R. Taverner; 4°. 1539. (St. Paul's.)

Title, within a wooden compartment of playing boys, "THE "New Testament in Englysshe: after the Greke exemplar: Dily- "gentlytranslated, and corrected by Rycharde Taverner. M.D.XXXIX. "Cum Privilegio a. i. s." On the reverse is an Almanac for 28 years, beginning 1539. A Calendar, in black and red, 6 pages. A Table for the four Evangelists, 16 pages:—the same for the Acts, 6 pages. The text, (with a very rude woodcut by the side of the initial letter) St. Matthew to Acts:—one blank leaf. Romans to Revelation, with a fresh alphabet of signatures. The Epistles of the Old Testament. Tables. On reverse of the last leaf, "Imprynted at London in Paule's Church yearde, at the sygne of the Mayden's heed, by Thomas Petyt, for Thomas Berthelet, Prynter to the Kynges Grace. Cum p. a. i. s." The leaves are not numbered. The signatures run in eights. No woodcuts, except of the Evangelists and St. Paul. Marginal notes. The running title in Roman type; all the rest in Gothic. The translation agrees with that in Taverner's folio Bible of the same year. A full page contains 34 lines.

Title, and preliminary pieces, wanting. The Text, fol. i—cccv. The Epistles of the Old Testament, fol. cccvi—cccix. Tables of Epistles &c. 9 leaves unnumbered: on the last, "Imprynted at London in Paule's Church yearde, at the sygne of the Mayden's heed, by Thomas Petyt for Thomas Berthelet, Prynter to the Kynges Grace. Cum privilegio &c." The volume has marginal references; but no notes, nor prologues; nor any woodcuts. The running titles are in Roman character: the numerals are Arabic. A full page contains 36 lines.

Title, in red and black, "The newe testament in Englyshe, translated after the texte of Master Erasmus of Roterodame: in anno m.d.xl.: 'Let the worde of Christ dwell in you plenteously in all wysdome.' Collos. iii. c. Prynted by Rychard Grafton, and Edward Whytchurche. Cum privilegio ad imprimendum solum." On the reverse is an Almanac for xix years, beginning with 1540. A Calendar, in red and black, 3 leaves. The Text, fol. i—ccxlii; on the reverse of this last begins the table of Epistles and Gospels, which occupies 11 pages. There is no colophon.

The volume is entirely printed in the Gothic letter: it has no prologues, heads of chapters, nor marginal notes; neither is there a single plate throughout the whole of it. The Epistles taken out of the Old Testament, which accompany almost every ancient edition of the N. T. are wanting in this. It has marginal references, and initials cut in wood. A full page contains 39 lines.

Mr. Denyer's copy, from which this description is taken, is printed upon yellow paper.

26.—New Test. "Ames' unknown N. T. of 1540." k

<sup>k</sup> [This has been examined, since the publication of my former list, and is found to be Taverner's edition, printed by Petyt in 1539.]

27.—New Test. according to the Great Bible. 1546. 12°.

Title, in black and red, within a compartment bearing the King's Arms at the top, and Grafton's cipher at the bottom, "The newe testamēt in Englishe, accordyng to the translacion of the greate Byble. Londini In officina Ricardi Graftoni. 1546." On the reverse, an Almanac for xxv years. The Calendar, in black and red, in double columns, 6 pages: a Table for the 4 Evangelists and Acts, 22 pages:—"A compendious and briefe rehersall &c." 2 pages. The Text, beginning on sign. a i, ending on a iii. A Table to find the Epistles &c. 7 pages:—1 blank page. On the last leaf, "Imprinted at London within the precinct of the late dissolved house of the Gray friers by Richard Grafton, printer to the Princes grace, the ix. day of October. M.D.XLVI. Cum privilegio ad imprimendum solum."

The pages of this edition are not numbered. The text is in black letter; but the running title, and the marginal references, in Roman; as are also the words Jesus, Lord, Christ. There are no annotations, nor prologues; and no woodcuts throughout the volume. Dr. Gifford's copy at Bristol is in the best possible condition. It is a very rare edition.

28.—N. T. Tyndale's, (circa 1544?) 32°.

Title, Calendar, wanting: Exhortation to the studye of Scripture, 23 pages: "Willyam Tyndale unto the Christen reader," (printed in Roman letter,) 18 pages. The Text: St. Mark begins on κ. iii. Acts on c c. iii. rev. Prologue to the Romans, 39 pages: Philemon begins on A A. Revelation ends on κ κ. rev. "Here folowe the Epystles, &c." 25 pages: "Epistles of the Saynctes, &c." 9 pages: Table, 15 pages: "Epistles and Gospels of the Saynctes," 4 pages. There are many woodcuts in the Gospels; a few in the Acts; 20 in the Apocalypse; all wretchedly executed. The prologues, marginal notes, running titles, and contents of chapters, are in the same type as the text. A full page contains 36 lines: the size of its letter-press is 2 inches by 3 $\frac{6}{16}$ .

N. B.—Mr. Lea Wilson, having found all the woodcuts and initial letters in a folio Flemish Bible, printed by Van loe at Antwerp, in 1542, attributes this little volume to that press and year. I have not heard of a second copy.

29.—N. T. Erasmus' and Tyndale's, Lat. Engl. W. Powell. 1548. 4°.

Title, in black, within a border, having Holbein's initials on the left hand, naked boys at the top, and the assassination of Porsena at bottom, (the same as used in R. Banckes' edition of the Epistles and Gospels, in 1540.) "The Newe Testament in Englishe and in Latin. Novum Testamentum Anglice et Latine. Anno Dñi. 1548. On reverse, "The bokes containyd in the newe Testament." The Text, fol. ii—ccclxxxii; "Epistles of the Old Testamente" &c. in English only, 16 pages unnumbered: The Table, &c. 8 pages: On the last, "Thus endeth the newe Testament &c.—Imprynted " by Wylliam Powell &c. the yere of our Lorde M.ccccxlvii. and " the first yere of the Kynges moste gracious reygne. God save " the kynge."

The Latin text is in the outer column; in a smaller letter than the English: The volume contains no notes, prologues, references, nor heads of chapters. There is a woodcut before each version of each Gospel. All Tyndale's prologues are omitted. The adverb not is uniformly spelled "nat." The signatures run in eights. A full page of the English version contains 40 lines, and of the Latin 57.

30.—N. T. Tyndale's, by W. Tylle, 1548. 4°.

Title in red and black, within an architectural compartment, "The newe Testament of the last translacion. By Wylliam Tyndall " with the prologes and annotacions in the mergēt, &c. Imprinted " in the yere of our Lorde God MD.xlix." &c. On the reverse, "an Almanac for xxii. yere:" "A Kalender" in black and red, (having four verses at the foot of each month,) 6 pages. Tyndale's prologue, 6 pages. "The sum or contents of the four Gospels and " the Acts," 6 pages. The Text, v i. &c. The pages are not numbered. St. Mark begins on sign. f ii. Acts on q v. b. Romans on x viii. b. Ephesians on d d ii. St. James on k k ii. b. Revelation on k k vii. ending on m m vi. b. "The Epistles taken " oute of the olde Testament whych are red in the churche after the " use of Salisburie uaon (sic) certen dayes of the yere," 20 pages. "Cum privilegio," &c. The volume has no woodcuts; no numbering of folios. There are marginal notes. The Evangelists are called Matthew &c. not St. Matthew &c. The whole volume is printed in black letter. The prologue to the Romans is in a smaller type. A full page contains 35 lines.

31.—N. T. Cranmer's Version. J. Herford, 1548. 24°.

Title, in black and red, within a narrow border, "The newe Testamente in Englysh according to the translation of the great Byble. Londini. ex officina Johann. Herfordiæ. Anno Domini M.D.xlviii." On reverse, an Almanac for xv years. "The Kalender," in black and red, 12 pages: "A Table for the iiij Evangelistes &c." 25 pages: on reverse of the last the Text begins. A new set of signatures commences at Acts. On the recto of a b 3. is "The ende of the newe Testament. Here followeth a table to fynde the Epistles &c." 11 pages. No colophon. S. Luke begins on m i. Romans on g ii. b. Collossyans on q i. Jude on z iii. The initial letters of books are cut in wood. The running titles, marginal references, and chapters, are all in black letter. The volume is badly printed. A full page contains 37 lines.

32.—N. T. by Coverdale and Tyndale. R. Wolfe, 1549. 12°.

Title, in black and red, within a woodcut border coarsely ornamented with red, "THE NEWE TESTAMENT. Diligently translated by Myles Coverdale, and conferred with the translacion of Willyam Tyndale, with the necessary concordances truly alleged." AN. M.D.XLIX." Beneath is Wolfe's device. On reverse, in black and red, "An almanacke for ix yeares." The Calendar: "For to knowe in what signe the sonne is:" together 16 pages. A second Title, in black only, "THE NEWE TESTAMENT. Translated by Myles Coverdale, and conferred with W. Tyndale's translation." AN. M.D.XLIX. Jesus Christus, &c." On reverse, an address to the reader; A prologue, 5 pages: a map and "description of the lande of Promes &c." "A true and perfect rekeninge of the yeares &c." 5 pages: "A godly prayer, &c." 1 page, reverse blank: 32 pages in all. The text, Matthew to John, sign. a 1.—z 7. The map of St. Paul's journey. Acts, a a 1.—g g. 6. "The order of tymes," 2 leaves: Romans to Revelation, a i.—r iii. Table of Epistles &c., 7 pages.

The running titles are in Roman capitals. There are very small woodcuts before the Gospels and Acts; and five larger ones in other parts of the volume.

33.—New Testament, Tyndale's. 1549 [qu. 1539?] 12°.

Title, in black and red, within a woodcut border. "The newe Testament of our Saveour Jesus Christ translated by M. Wil.

Matthew.” The Text, St. Matthew &c. “ The gospell of S. Marke of whose auctorite ye shall fynde after his last Chaptre.” Accordingly we find the prologue at the end of St. Mark's Gospel. St. Luke and St. John have each a prologue. That to the Romans is printed in the same letter as the text: it occupies 36½ pages. After the Revelation, “ The ende of the Newe Testament. Here folowe the Epistles,” &c. 30 pages. “ This is the Ta— Table (sic) wherein ye shall fynd “ the Epystles & the Gospels after the use of Salsburye,” 18 pages. The first three words and a half are in Roman letter, the only instance throughout the volume. There is no colophon. The pages are not numbered. The signatures (in eights) beginning with Tyndale's address, A—z. a—z. A a—c c. St. Mark begins on g iiii. Acts, on v vi. Romans on e iiij. St. James on u. Revelation on u vi. The Epistles of the Old Testament end on b b v. There are woodcuts in the Apocalypse only. The contents are prefixed to each chapter in the Gospels and Acts; but no further. Some years ago I perceived in a copy of this Testament the curious fact, that one leaf (the last of sheet h) had been reprinted, in a type entirely different from the rest of the volume, and closely resembling that used by John Daye in his folio Bible of 1549. I observe that Mr. Lea Wilson has since taken notice of the same circumstance. Doubtless the leaf is a cancel. And it is likely that Daye reprinted it, and likewise the date in the Title (which I have not seen); for I cannot think this edition to be so late as 1549. It bears many marks of being printed abroad. The type resembles that of Martin Emperor's Antwerp edition of 1534, but is rather larger; and the book is more negligently composed, and the spelling is more faulty. The marginal notes often differ from those of Emperor's edition; and there are also some variations in the prologues to the Evangelists. Many new notes are likewise added.

The note at 1 Peter, ch. v. runs thus, in Emperor's edition; "Par-
 " ryshes, the Greke hath lottes; that is, they to whome any lot
 " chaunce or election is to preache Gode's worde." But in this edition it runs, "Parisshe the Greke had lottes that is to saye,
 " pareshes or dioseses unto which the prestes & bishops are ap-
 " poynted, by lot or elecciō to preach goddes worde to them." The clause in 1 Peter chapt. ii., "unto the king as unto the chefe head," is omitted. A full page contains 35 lines. The Bristol copy is a fine one, but unluckily not quite perfect. Mr. Wilson's had the title, which was not in any copy which I had examined.

34.—New Test. Tyndale's. W. Copland. 1549. 12°.

Title, in red and black, surrounded by woodcut ornaments,
 "The Newe Testamente of our savyoure christ set forth by Wil" lyam Tyndale, with the annatacion of Thomas Mathew. Anno
 " M.D XL.IX. y<sup>e</sup> xxiii. daye of May." An almanac, beginning 1549.
 A Calendar, 6 leaves. "W. Tindale to the reader," "the bokes " conteyned," &c. and "a prologue to S. Matthew;" together occupying 8 leaves. After the Revelation follow the Epistles taken out of the Old Testament, 12 leaves. On the reverse of the last is, "Newly imprinted at London by me William Copland, dwel-" lyng," &c. The leaves are not numbered. The volume contains signatures B—Y. A a—Y y. A A—E E. There are no woodcuts.
 The prologues, marginal notes, &c., are in the same letter as the text. A full page contains 38 lines.

Mark begins on i. vi.

Acts reverse of Y i.

Romans reverse of a g 2.

Ephesians reverse of o o 2.

Revelation reverse of A A v.

The Museum copy formerly belonged to Mr. Cracherode.

35.—New Test. Tyndale's. Lat. and English. T. Gaultier.

"Excusum Londini in officina Thomæ Gaultier, pro I. C.

"Pridie Kalendas Decembris anno Domini M. D. L."

On the reverse is "an Almanacke for xxii years." "J. C. unto the "Christen reders," 1 page, (reverse blank). Calendar, in black and red, 12 pages. "An Exhortation" by Erasmus, 9 pages. "The "summe and content," &c., 2 pages; followed by one blank. The text, sign. A—Z. A a—H h 5. Epistles from the Old Testament, 3 leaves. Table, 2 leaves. No colophon. The volume contains no woodcuts. The Latin text alone is printed in Roman letter.
There are heads of chapters throughout the Gospels and Acts alone. Marginal references, but no notes. A full page contains, of the English text, 54 lines.

36.—N. T. Coverdale's, (really Tyndale's). Zurich. 1550. 16°.

Title, in black and red, "The newe Testament faythfully translated by Myles Coverdal. Anno 1550." Beneath is a wood-engraving of our Saviour, within a circle: below it, a text of Scripture: reverse blank. A calendar, in black and red, 6 leaves: one blank leaf: a second Title, in black only: within a woodcut, "The "Newe Testament &c. Newly and faythfully oversene & corrected:"
reverse blank. "A Table to fynde the Epistles and Gospels newly "set forthe by the Kynge's commaundement, after the copy called the Service boke or Communion," &c. 5 leaves. "What St. Mat"thew conteyneth," 3 leaves. The Text, fol. ii—ccccxvi. There are no woodcuts, except initial letters. The margin has references, and a very few notes; no prologues, no heads of chapters.
The translation agrees rather with Tyndale's than either of Co-verdale's.

St. Mark begins on fol. lviii.

Acts on cc.

Romans on cclx.

Ephesians on cccxxi.

Revelation on ccccxviii.

The type of the text is a secretary Gothic, differing from that of the preliminary pieces; the running title is in the same. The folios are numbered with Roman capitals. The signatures run in eights. A full page contains 26 lines.

N. B. It has been proved, that this volume was printed at Zurich, by the fact of a copy being found in the public library of that town, bearing the imprint, "Imprynted at Zurich by Christopher Froschauer in the yeare—1550." See, in Mr. Lea Wilson's Catalogue, an account of his beautiful copy, perfect and uncut; with notice of the variations from that which was given to the British Museum by Speaker Onslow; this latter contains some leaves printed by John Daye, which probably were added after the copies had arrived in England.

37.—New Test. Tyndale's, by Daye and Seres. 1550. 12°.

Title, in black and red, within a compartment, having the royal arms at the bottom, "The new Testamēt of our Saviour Christ newly set forth after the best copie of William Tindale's translation, whereunto are added the notes of Thomas Mathewe, with other, &c." Imprinted by John Daye and William Seres, &c. On reverse, the arms of the Duchess of Suffolk. "The Printer to the reader," (in red), 1 page; on reverse, an Almanac, beginning 1550: Calendar, in black and red, 12 pages; "a Table of principal matters, &c." 45 pages; "a Declaration of the table," &c. and "Imprinted at London by John Daye, &c." 2 pages; one blank. Wm. Tyndale to the reader, 15 pages: "The bokes conteyned in the Newe Testament; a Prologue upon the Gospell of Saynte Mathew," with a coarse woodcut, and a couplet of verses. The Text, sign. c i.—St. Mark begins on i iv. Prologue to the Romans, on e e ii. filling 33 pages; Revelation, on a a v rev. Epistles from the Old Testament, 6 pages; "a Gatheryng of harde wordes," &c. 11 pages. Colophon, "Imprynted at London by John Day — Anno m<sup>o</sup>l. the vi day of February." The whole book is in black letter: tables, prologues, &c. &c. in the same type as the Text. A full page contains 38 lines.

38.—New Test. Coverdale's and Tyndale's. by R. Wolfe. 1550. 12°.

Title, in black and red, in a wooden border, "The Newe Testament. Diligently translated by Myles Coverdale, and conferred with the translacion of Willyam Tyndale, &c. AN. M.D.L." On reverse, in black and red, an Almanac, Kalendar, &c. 16 pages. The Text, a—z. a—y viii. including 9 pages of Tables. On reverse of the last, Wolfe's device, and imprint in Italics.—There are 21 small cuts in the Apocalypse, and some others through the volume. Before the Acts is a map, headed "The journey of S. Paule." The running titles are in Roman capitals: the marginal references in small Roman.—A full page contains 31 lines.

89.—New Test. Cranmer's, printed at Worcester. 1550. 4<sup>o</sup>.

Title, with the royal arms at top, and the head of King Edward at bottom, "The Newe Testament of our Saviour Jesu Christe, "with the notes and expositions of the darke places therein." "The Prynter to the reader," 1 page. On reverse, in black and red, "An Almanac for 25 years," beginning 1550. A Calendar, 6 leaves, in black and red. "A Table of the feastes," &c. "A Table to fynde the Epistles," &c. "The order how the Newe Testamente is read," &c. "A Table for the foure Evangelistes, wherein thou maiest lightlye fynde any story containyd in them." These together occupy 10 leaves. The Text, "St. Matthew, &c. to Revelation," A i—R r v rev. "Epistles out of the Old Testament," 6 pages. "Notes and expositions of the darke places," &c. 63 pages. On the reverse of the last leaf is, "Imprinted the xii. Daye of January, Anno Do. m.ccccc.l. At Worceter by Jhon Oswen. Cum gratia & Privilegio ad imprimendum solum." There are no woodcuts, no prologues, no contents of chapters. Marginal references, but no marginal notes. The leaves are not numbered. The signatures (in eights) beginning with St. Matthew, are A—Z. A a—X x. A full page contains 32 lines <sup>a</sup>.

40.—New Test. Tyndale's, by R. Jugge. 1552. 4<sup>o</sup>.

Title, in red and black, "The Newe Testament of our Saviour Jesu Christe. Faythfully translated out of the Greke. Wyth the Notes and expositions of the darke places therein," with a portrait of King Edward VI. in an oval. On the reverse, The bill for authorizing the price of the book. A Dedication "To the most puyasant and mightye Prince Edwarde the syxt," &c. in black only. A Calendar (in which S. Barnabas, and the Conversion of S. Paul are omitted, though they are named in the table of Epistles and Gospels) in black and red, 12 pages. "An Almanacke for xxiiij yeares," beginning 1552, 1 page. A "Table of the principall matters," &c. xi pages. "A perfecte supputation," &c. ending thus—"and from the byrth of Christ unto this pre-

"An exhorta- "cyon," &c. 1 page. "The lyfe of the blessed Evangelyste Saynte "Mathew," with a woodcut, 1 page. The lives of the other Evan- gelists occur in their places. Each Gospel begins with a flourished text-capital: and before that of S. Matthew is a woodcut repre- senting the kings, priests, and judges named in the genealogy of our Saviour. At the end of the Acts is, "The description of the "Lande of promys," with a map, 1 page. "The order of tymes," 4 pages; at the back are Jugge's device and imprint. Then fol- lows a new title, in black only, within a woodcut border, "The "Epistles of Sainte Paule to the Romaynes," &c. &c. On the re- verse is, "The Argumente of the Epistle to the Romaynes," 1 page. At the end of the New Testament follow the Epistles of the "Olde "Testament," and a Table to find the Epistles and Gospels; toge- ther 9 pages: on the back of the last are Jugge's device and colo- phon. This edition has numerous woodcuts: those in the Gospels fill the breadth of the page, and frequently are composed of two blocks joined together. The running titles, notes, and marginal references, are in Italics. The volume is not paged.

S. Mark begins on r vii

The last leaf of the book is r r vii. A full page contains 37 lines. A perfect and very fine copy is in Archbishop Marsh's library, at Dublin.

41.—New Test. Tyndale's, by R. Jugge. 1553. 4p.

Title, in red and black, "The Newe Testament, &c." [as in edit. 1552,] With the notes, &c. The words "Mathewe xiii. f." beneath the king's picture, are printed in red ink. On the reverse is, "The "cotype of the bill assigned by the Kinges honorable counsell, for "the auctorisinge of this Testament," fixing the price of each copy at "twentye and two pence for every boke in papers and un- "bounde." This bill bears date, "At Grenewiche the .x. of June. Dedication, "To the mooste puyssaunte and mightye Prince Ed-

"warde the syxte," &c. (of which the first four words are in red letters,) 2 pages. A Calendar, (in which the Conversion of S. Paul is inserted, not however in red but in black ink; but St. Barnabas is still omitted: the "fishe days" are also noted,) 12 pages.—An Almanac for xviii. yeares, beginning 1553, 1 page. "Table of principal matters," 14 pages. "A true and perfect rekenyne of the yeares and tyme, &c." with a woodcut, 1 page.

N. B. This supputation is merely an abridgment of that in the edition 1552. and descends not lower than unto Jesus Christ.

"An exhortation," &c. 2 pages. "The description of the lande of promys," &c. with a map, 1 page. On the reverse is the life of St. Matthew, with a woodcut as before.

At the end of the Acts is "The Carte Cosmographie of the Peregrination or Journey of S. Paule, with the distaunce of the myles:" a map, and beneath it an address to the reader. On the reverse of this page begins "The order of tymes," 4 pages. On the 5th is Jugge's device and imprint. A new title, &c. as before, "The Epistles of St. Paul," &c. On the reverse of q q viii begin "The Epistles of the Old Testament;" and on the rev. of a r ii is the Table to find the Epistles and Gospels: at the end of which is Jugge's imprint, with his device on the back of the leaf.

St. Mark begins on r v

Acts on s viii

Romans on a a ii

S. James on m m ii b

Revelation on o o iv b.

The last leaf of the book is a r iv. A full page contains 37 lines.

It has the woodcuts of the edition of 1552; which indeed it resembles very closely, except that the notes and references are here in the English letter, not in Italics. The volume is not pagged.

N. B. The library of Trinity College Dublin contains an imperfect copy of an edition by Jugge, which appears to differ in some points from both these.

41.—New Test. Geneva. 1557. 12°.

Title, "The Newe Testament of our Lord Iesus Christ. Conferred diligently with the Greke, and best approved translations. "Table." Below is a neat woodcut, representing Time drawing Truth from a cave; and under it, "AT GENEVA, Printed by Conrad Badius, M.DLVII." On the reverse of the title is, "The ordre of the bookes of the Newe Testament." "The Epistle declaring that Christ is the end of the Lawe, by John Calvin," 8 leaves. The translator's address to the reader," 2 leaves. "The argument of the Gospel," 1 leaf. St. Matthew, &c. fol. 1—430. The table and supputation of the years from Adam to Christ, fol. 431—455. On the last is, "PRINTED BY CONRAD BADIUS M.D.LVII. THIS X OF JUNE." On the reverse are the Errata<sup>b</sup>. The letter is a small beautiful Roman; the marginal notes are in a smaller Roman; but the heads of chapters, and Scripture references, are in Italics. The verses are divided by figures, as at present; and this is the first edition in which such a division occurs. A full page contains 37 lines.

42.—New Test. Tyndale's<sup>c</sup>. [1561]. 12°.

Title, in black and red, "The newe Testament of our Saviour Jesu Christ. Faythfully translated out of the Greke, and perused by the commandment of the Kynges Maiestie and his honourable counsell, and by them aucthorised. With the notes & expositions of the darke places therin." In a neat frame below is a small oval portrait of King Edward VI. with an inscription. The reverse is blank. Dedication (with the first five words printed in red) 2 pages. A Kalender, in black and red, 12 pages: an Almanacke for xx yeares, beginning 1561: and a "Table of the principall matters," &c. 42 pages: "A true and perfect reckenyng of the yeares," &c. 1 page: [the initial letter is s instead of r.] "An exhortacyon, &c." 2 pages. A map of Palestine, 2 pages; the life of St. Matthew, 1 page; altogether 32 leaves. The Text, A i—& & iv. including the Epistles, &c. 5 pages, and a Table, 4 pages. The colophon (having the first five words in Italics.) The rest of the book is wholly in black letter. The pages are not numbered. There are 19 cuts in the Apocalypse; and some before the Gospels and Acts. A full page contains 35 lines.

copy, greatly resembling the above; but differing in some particulars, especially in having more Italics, particularly in the colophon.

43.—New Test. Tyndale's. R. Jugge. [1566.] 4<sup>o</sup>.

Title, in red and black, chiefly in Italic and Roman letter, with the portrait of King Edward without the words "Vivat Rex;" "The Newe Testament &c." On reverse, an Almanac for xxv yerres, beginning 1566. "The Epistle," or Dedication, in red and black, Roman letter, 2 pages: Kalender, 12 pages. "Table of principall matters," 15 pages: "a true and perfect reckening," 1 page; "An exhortation &c." 2 pages: a map, 1 page; on reverse, the lyfe of S. Matthewe, with a woodcut. The Text, A—v vi. A map: "the order of times," 3 pages: "The Epistles of Saint Paule" &c. A a i—Q q viii. including the Epistles and Table. The Colophon. The running titles are in Roman; the notes, contents of chapters, and marginal references, in Italics. The cuts in the Gospels are the same as those in the editions of 1552 and 1553: but those in the Apocalypse are entirely different.

44.—N. Test. L. Tomson's first edition. 1576. 8<sup>o</sup>.

Title, "The neuu Testament of our Lord Jesus Christ translated out of Greeke by Theod. Beza. Whereunto are adjoyned brief Summaries of doctrine upon the Evangelistes and Actes of the Apostles, together with the methode of the Epistles of the Apostles by the said Theod. Beza: and also short expositions on the phrases and hard places taken out of the large annotations of the foresaid author and Joach. Camerarius, By P. Loseler Vilerius. Englished by L. Tomson." In the middle of the page is a woodcut, of the angel appearing to the shepherds, surrounded by the words, "Beholde I bring you tidings of greate ioy that shalbe to all the people. Luk. 2. 10." Beneath which is, "Imprinted at London by Christopher Barkar dwelling in Poules churchyard at the signe of the Tigres head. 1576. Cum Privilegio." On the reverse of the Title is, "The order of the books" &c. "An epistle to the right honorable M. Francis Walsingham Esquier, &c. and to the right worshipful M. Francis Hastings," 12 pages. Beza's address to the Prince of Condé, &c. 29 pages. "The printer to the diligent reader," 2 pages. "The description of the Holy land," and a map, 2 pages. The Text, f. 1—460. On the recto of the last is the imprint; and on the reverse Barker's large device of the Tiger and Lamb. Then follows a Table of the principall things that are contained in the Newe Testament, &c.:

45.—New Test. Rhemish. 1582. 4<sup>o</sup>.

Title, within a border, "The New Testament of Jesus Christ, " translated faithfully into English, out of the authentical Latin, " according to the best corrected copies of the same, diligently " conferred with the Greeke and other editions in divers languages: " with Arguments of bookes and chapters, Annotations, and other " necessarie helpes, for the better understanding of the text, and " specially for the discoverie of the corruptions of divers late trans- " lations, and for cleering the controversies in Religion, of these " daies: In the English Colledge of Rhemes [2 quotations in Latin " and English]. Printed at Rhemes, by John Fogny. 1582. Cum " Privilegio." On the reverse, "The Censure and Approbation." The Preface to the reader, 22 pages. "The signification or Mean- " ing of the Numbers and Markes used in this new Testament," 1 page. "The bookes of the New Testament, accordinge to the " counte of the Catholike Church," with "testimonies from S. Au- " gustin and others," 8 pages. "The summe of the New Testa- " ment"—"The summe of the 4 Gospels"—"The argument of " S. Matthewe's Gospel"—together 2 pages. The Text, p. 8—745. "A Table of the Epistles and Gospels, after the Roman use. An " ample and particular table directing the reader to all Catholike " truthes, deduced out of the holy Scriptures, and impugned by the " adversaries." "The explication of certaine wordes in this trans- " lation, not familiar to the vulgar reader, which might not con- " veniently be uttered otherwise." Errata—together 27 pages. The annotations are plaeced at the end of each chapter. The shorter notes, references, and numbers of the verses, are in the margins. At the end of S. John's Gospel is "The summe and the order of " the Evangelical historie: gathered breifly out of al foure, even " unto Christ's ascension."

46.—New Test. Authorized, first edition. 1611. 12<sup>o</sup>.

Title, in black, within an architectural woodcut, "The New Tes- " tament &c. Newly translated out of the Original Greeke: and " with the former Translations diligently compared and revised. " By his Maiesties speciall command. Imprinted at London, by " Robert Barker, &c. An. 1611. Cum privilegio!" On the re- verse, in Roman letter, "The names and order of the books &c."

The Text, A—A a. The book is printed in black letter, with a black line round each page: the marginal references, in Roman, are divided by another line. The initial letters of each Book are cut in wood. The running titles, and heads of chapters are in Roman; the contents of chapters, in Italics.

DESCRIPTIONS OF PARTS OF THE NEW TESTAMENT.

47.—St. Matthew, ch. v. vi. vii. with an exposition by W. Tyndale. [1530?] 16°.

Title, in Roman letter, within a woodcut composed of figures, "An expositcion uppon the v. vi. vii. chapters of Mathew, which thre chaptres are the keye and the dore of the scripture, and the restoring agayne of Christes lawe corrupte by the papistes. Item before the booke, thou hast a prologe very necessarie, con-taynyng the whole somme of the covenant made betwene God and us, uppon which we be baptised to kepe it. And after thou hast a table that leadeth the by the notes in the mergentes, unto all that is intreated of in the booke." Reverse of the title, blank. "The Prologe," fol. ii—xii.: on reverse begins the Exposition, fol. xii—cxv. On the reverse, a Table, 10 pages unnumbered. The book is in Roman letter, except w which is Gothic. The initial letters of the 3 chapters are very large and singular. Mr. Lea Wilson judges the type to be very like that of Tyndale's Pentateuch of 1530; and assigns that year as the probable date of the volume.

48.—The same. No place, no date. 16°.

Title, without any woodcut, "An Exposycyon upō the v. vi. & vii. chapters of Mathewe, whiche thre chapters are the keye &c.—in the boke. CUM PRIVILEGIO." Reverse blank. "Unto the reder," fol. ii (for iii) to fol. xi rev. at the bottom a woodcut. The text, fol. xii—cvii. rev. signed w. t. The table, commencing on o 4 unnumbered, 4 leaves (2 more wanting.) The running title is in Gothic: the Text in Roman, except the letter w: the Exposition in a smaller Roman, with the same exception. But, on the last two leaves, the text is printed in Gothic. The word "not" is constantly spelled "nat." After many of the clauses of exposition 3 or 4 printed hands in a line, mixed with crosses, occur. There are 4 woodcut initial letters, in addition to the woodcut after the preface.

49.—The same. No date. (1538?). 12°.

Title, "An Exposy | cyon vpon the v. vi. vii. chap | ters of Ma-
 " thewe, which thre chap | ters are the keye and the dore of the |

" kepe it.

" And after thou haste a table that

" ledeth the by the notes in the

" margentes, vnto al that

" is intreated of in the

" booke.

" ¶ CVN PRIVILEGIO."

The title is in black letter entirely, except the 'cun privilegio'—and not in any woodcut or border; reverse blank. "Unto the " reader," fo. ii (black letter). This prologue extends to fol. xi not xii; and is in Roman letter—the first letter H is a woodcut somewhat ornamented, and is the Roman letter.

On fol. xii (which is in Roman letter, all the others throughout the book being black letter) begins the work thus:

" The v. chapter

" of Mathewe."

this is in black letter; as is the text throughout; the exposition however is in Roman letter. The first letter of the text, w, is in a woodcut (and is the Roman letter) ornamented like the first letter of the prologue.

The marginal notes are Roman; chap. 5 ends at the foot of the recto of fol. lviii, and chap. 6 begins on the reverse.

" ¶ An Exposy-

" cyon of the syxte

" Capiter."

Like the rest; text black letter, except the initial letter T, which is Roman; an ornamented woodcut. The exposycion is Roman.
 This part extends to the end of fol. xci.

Fol. xcii. "An Expositi-
 " on of the vii.
 " Chapter."

The initial letter J, like the other initial letters, Roman; and a woodcut with two grotesque heads in it.

This part extends to the bottom of the recto of fol. cix, with

" w. t."

" The table whiche shall sende you to
 " all thynges conteyned in
 " this boke."

The Table, in Roman letter, commences on the next page, and extends to ten pages, unnumbered. At the bottom of the tenth page, which is the recto of leaf cxiii.

" ¶ Cum priuilegio
 " regali."

The last page is blank.

 1553. 16°.

Title, "The Actes of the Apostles, translated into English Metre, and dedicated to the Kynges moste excellent Maiestye, by Christofer Tye, Doctor in Musyke, and one of the Gentylnen of hys Graces moste honourable Chappell, wyth notes to eche Chapter, to synge and also to play upon the Lute, very necessarye for studentes after theyr studye to fyle theyr wyttes, and also for all Christians that cannot synge to read the good and Godlye storyes of the lyves of Christ hys Appostles. 1553." On the reverse of the title are three stanzas from "Syrack xxxii." followed by the words "Hynder not Musyke." Dedication, "To the Vertuous and Godlye learned Prynce Edwarde the vi. by the Grace of God King of Englande, Fraunce and Irelande, Defendour of the Fayth, and on earth next and immediatly under Christe, of the Churches of England and Irelande the Supreme head, your grace's humble lovyng and obedient servaunte Christofer Tye, wysheth the continuance of God hys feare to dwell in your graces heart, longe to raygne in mucche honoure, healthe, wealthe and victorie." Then follows a metrical preface, consisting of 25 stanzas, commencing thus :

“ Consydrynge well, most godly Kyng
 “ The zeale and perfecte love
 “ Your Grace doth beare to eche good thyng
 “ That geven is from above.” &c.

APPENDIX E.

TRANSLATIONS OF THE PSALMS.

1.—The Psalter, from M. Bucer. 1530. 24°.

Psalm xix.

The hevens declare the maieste of God: and y<sup>e</sup> firmament sheweth what are his workes.

On daye succeding a nother whetteth continually owre thoughtis: & on nyghte folowing a nother encresethe owre knowledge.

Theis creatures have nether speche nor wordes: nether is their voices eny where harde.

And yet their poyntyng and shewyng hath taught all the worlde: & their dumme speche hath gone forth into all y<sup>e</sup> costes of y<sup>e</sup> worlde.

He hath fastened in them a tabernacle for the sonne: this sonne cometh forth of his cloudes lyke a brydegrome, ye lyke a fresshe valiaunt knyghte to make his course.

Frome y<sup>e</sup> farthest easte parte of y<sup>e</sup> hevens cometh he forthe: havynge his recourse unto the other extreme: nether is their eny mane that maye hyde hym frome his heate.

N. B. In Psalm iii the following explanation of the word Selah occurs in the shape of a note: "This worde Selah signifieth y<sup>e</sup> " sentence before to be pondred with a depe affecte, longe to be " rested upō and the voyce there to be exalted."

2.—The Psalter, by George Joye. 1534. 24°.

The hevens declare the almighty majesty off god, and the firmament sheweth forth the worke of his handis.

Every day precheth the same: every night layeth forth the same also unto our knowlege.

There is nether speche nor tōgue but amonge them are the voyces of these al herde.

Into al the worlde goeth forth the speche of them , and their wordis unto the worldis ende.

He hath set in them a tabernacle for the sonne: whēce he procedeth like a bridegrome out of his chābre , and like a geaunt he dresseth him selfe to peruse his coursse.

Frome the one syde of the hevens he goth forth myghtely to the tother: and there is noman that maye hyde him from his heat.

3.—Psalm xxii. by M. Coverdale. 1537. 16°.

1. The Lord is my Shepherd: I shall lack <sup>a</sup> nothing.
2. He feedeth me in a green pasture, and leadeth me to the <sup>b</sup> fresh water.
3. He quickeneth my soul, and bringeth me forth in the way of righteousness for his name's sake.
4. And <sup>c</sup> though I walk <sup>d</sup> in the valley of the shadow of death, yet fear I <sup>e</sup> no evil: for thou art with me: thy staff, thy sheep-hook do <sup>f</sup> comfort me.
5. Thou preparest a table before me against mine enemies. Thou anointest my head with oil, and fillest my cup full.
6. Oh let thy lovingkindness and mercy follow me all the days of my life, that I may dwell in the house of the Lord for ever.

N. B. The readings below are from the Bible of 1535.

4.—Goostly Psalms, by Myles Coverdale. (1539.) 4°.

Psalm cxxxvii.<sup>b</sup>

1.

At the ryvers of Babilon
 there sat we downe ryght hevely
 Even whan we thought upon Sion
 we wept together sorofully for we were in soch hevynes
 y<sup>t</sup> we forgat al our merynes and left of all our sporte & playe on the willye trees y<sup>t</sup> were therby we hanged up our harpes truly
 And morned sore both night & day.

<sup>a</sup> can want

<sup>c</sup> (omitted)

<sup>d</sup> should walk now

2.

They that toke us so cruelly and led us bounde into pryson requyred of us some melody with wordes full of derision when we had hanged our harpes awaye this cruell folke to us coulde saye
 Now let us hear some mery songe
 Synge us a songe of some swete toyne as ye were wont to synge at Sion where ye have lerned to synge so longe

3.

To whom we answerd soberly beholde now are we in youre honde how shulde we under captivite synge to the lorde in a straunge londe Hierusalem. I say to the Yf I remembre the not truly
 My honde playe on the harpe nomore
 Yf I thynke not on the alwaye
 Let my tonge cleve to my mouth for aye and let my loose my speache therfore.

4.

Yee above all myrth and pastaunce Hierusalem I preferre the Lorde call to thy remembraunce
 The sonnes of Edom ryght strately
 In the daye of the destruccion which at Hierusalem was done for they sayd in theyr cruelnes
 Downe with it, downe with it, destroye it all Downe with it soone, that it may fall
 Laye it to the grounde all that there is.

5.

O thou cite of Babilon
 Thou thyselfe shalt be destroyed
 Truly blessed shalbe that man which even as thou hast deserved

Shall rewarde the with soch kyndnesse
 As thou hast shewed to us gyltlesse which never had offended the Blessed shall he be that for the nones
 Shall throwe thy chyldren agaynst the stones
     To brynge the out of memorie.

5.—Psalm xiv. by Princess Elizabeth. 1548. 12°.

Fooles that true fayth, yet never hod,
 Sayth in their hartes, There is no God.
 Fylthy they are, in their practyse,
 Of them not one, is godly wyse.
 From heaven the lorde, on man ded loke,
 The knowe what wayes, he undertoke,
 All they were vayne. and went a straye,
 Not one he founde, in the ryght waye,
 In harte and tunge, have they deceyte,
 Their lyppes throwe fourth, a poysoned beyte.
 Their myndes are mad, their mouthes are wode.
 And swyft they be, in shedynge blode.
 So blynde they are, no truth they knowe,
 No feare of God, in them wyll growe.
 How can that cruell sort be good?
 Of Gods dere folcke, whych sucke the blood?
 On hym ryghtly, shall they not call.
 Dyspayre wyll so, their hartes appall.
 At all tymes God. is with the iust,
 Bycause they put, in hym their trust.
 Who shall therfor, from Syon geve,
 That helthe whych hāgeth, in our beleve?
 Whan God shall take, frō hys the smart,
 Than wyll Jacob, reioyce in hart.
     Prayse to God.

6.—The Penitential Psalms, by Sir Thos. Wyatt. 1549. 12°.

Ps. li.

Rue on me Lord, for thy goodnes and grace.
 That of thy nature, arte so bountifull

For that goodnes, that in thy worde doth brace Repugnant natures, in quiet wōderfull
 And for thy mercyes, nōber withoute ende
 In heaven and earth, perceaved so plentifull
 That over al, they do themselves extende
 For hys mercye, moche more then man can synne
 Do away my synne, that thy grace offende
 Ofte tymes agayne wasshe me, but washe me well wythin
 And from my synnes, that thus makes me afrayde
 Make thou me cleane, as ever thy wonte hath bene
 For unto thee nowe, none can be layde
 For too prescrybe, remyssion of synne
 In harte retourned, as thou thyselfe haste sayd
 And I beknowe my faulte, and my neglygence.

7.—The Psalter, by R. Crowley. 1549. 4°.

Psalm xix.

To us the heavens do declare,
 Godde's wonderful glorie :
 And the cōpasse thereof doeth shewe
 hys handworcke trulye.
 The day that succedeth shall teach us yet a little more :
 And the nyght folowyng shall shewe
 more then that went before.
 They have no maner of language,
 nor wordes sowndyng wyth noyse :
 They speake not as men use to speake,
 no mā doeth heare theyr voyce.
 Yet went theyr rule through out y<sup>e</sup> world,
 all men have heard theyr sounde :
 And theyr wordes went into the coastes,
 of all the worlde so rownde.
 In these heavens the Lorde hath sette,
 a dwellyngeplace and tent :
 For the sunne that wyth his bryght beames, is alwaye resplendent.
 And as a brydgrowme he commeth
 out of his bower bryght :
 Ryght cherfully to renne his rase,
 lyke to a man of myght.

At the utmost parte of the easte,
 he doeth his rase begynne :
 And in the utmoste of the weste,
 is hys returnynge in.
 And under the heavens that be so wonderfull and wyde :
 There is not one that from his heate may hym absent or hyde.

8.—Psalms, by Sternhold. 1549. 12°.

Psalm xix.

1.

The heavens and the fyrmamente,
 do wondersly declare :
 The glory of God omnipotent,
 Hys woorkes and what they are,

2.

Eche day declareth by hys course,
 an other day to come :
 And by the nyght we knowe lykewise,
 a nyghtly course to runne.

3.

Ther is no lāguage, tong, or speche,
 where theyr sound is not hearde :
 In al the earth and coastes therof theyr knowledge is conferd.

In them the lord made royally,
 a settle for the sunne :
 Where lyke a Gyant joyfully
 he myght hys iourney runne.

5.

And all the skye from ende to ende
 he compast round about :
 No man can hyde hym from his heate
 but he wil fynd hym out.

9.—Certain Psalms, by W. Hunnis. 1550. 8°.

Psalm li.

1.

Have mercye lorde, upon my soule thy goodnes me restore,
And for thy mercye infinite my synne thynke on no more.

2.

From wickednes lorde wasshe thou me and clense me from my synne,
For I confesse my evyll lyfe that I before was in.

3.

Onlye to the have I synned
and done yll in thy syght,
That in thy wordes whē men the judge
myghtest overcome by ryghte.

4.

Beholde I was begotte in synne and so my mother bare me
Wherfore I clayme thy sayynge helthe
Mercy good lorde and spare me.

5.

That I may render unto the truthe in the inwarde parte Then secretely I shall receive thy wysedome in my hart.

6.

With ysop lorde then sprinkell me
And so shall I be cleane
And whyter thus shall I be made than ever snowe hath ben.

10.—Psalms by Sternhold. 1551. 12°.

Psalm xix.

1.

The heavens and the firmament,
doe wonderously declare :
The glorye of god omnipotent, his workes and what they are.

2.

Eche daye declareth by his course,
 an other daye to come :
 And by the night we knowe likewyse
 a nightly course to runne.

3.

There is no language, tong, or speche,
 where their sound is not heard :
 In all the earth and coastes thereof their knowledge is conferde.

4.

 but he will finde him out.

11.—Certain Psalms, by F. Seagar. 1553. 12°.

Psalm cxii.

The man is blest that feareth God and walketh in hys waye :
 That in hys lawe, hath hys delyght and doth hys wyll obaye.
 Hys seade on earth, shall prosper well
 And wondrouslye increase :
 The faythfull flock, shal be blessed
 Wyth everlastinge peace.
 Hys house wyth rytches, shall abounde
 Wyth plenty and great store :
 Hys ryghteousnes shall styl indure and last for evermore.
 Unto the man that mercy sheweth
 and walketh here aryght ;
 From darknes great, shall then appeare
 Unto hys eyes playne lyght.

O happy is, the mercyfull
 That lendeth lyberallye :
 And in hys words, is circumspect
 And speaks advysedlye.
 The wycked and the ungodlye
 Shall it beholde and se :
 And wyll conceave dyspleasure then
 And sore offended be.
 They shall for it, gnashe with theyr teath
 And vanysh quyte awaye :
 And all their desyre, and their wyll
 Shall peryshe and decaye.

With frantique madnesse why frets thee multitud heathen ?
 And to vayn attemptings what fury sturs the pepil ?
 Al thee worldlye Regents, in clustred coompanye crowded,
 For toe tread and trample Christ with his holye godhead.
 Brake we their hard fetters, wee that be in Christiā houshold,
 Also from oure persons pluck we their yrnye yokes.
 Hee skorns their worckking, that dwels in blessed Olympus :
 And at their brainsick trumperie follye fireth.
 Then shall he speake too those in his hard implacabil anger,
 And shall turmoyle them, then, with his heauey furye.
 I raigne and doe governe, as king, by the Lord his apointmēt,
 Of mount holy Sion, his wil eke hev'ny preaching.

Thee father hath spoken : thow art my deerely begotten :
 This day thy person for my great issue breeding.
 Too me frame thy praiera, eke of ethnicks the heyre wil I make Ev'n very babes, yong babes, yong sucking babes thy triumphant Might set foorth ; to the shame of them which injury offer, Ev'n to the shame of them which damned blasphemy utter.

When that I looke to the skies, and lyft myne eyes to the heavens,
 Skies thyne owne hand-work and heavens fram'd by thy fingers ;
 When that I see this Sunne, that makes my sight to be seeing
 And that Moone, her light, light half-darck, dayly renuing, Sunne dayes-eye shynyng, Moone nights-light chereful apearng
 When that I see sweete Starres through christal skies to be sprinkled,

Some to the first spheare fixt, some here and there to be wandryng,
 And yet a constant course with due revolution endyng.
 Then doe I thinck, ô Lord, what a thing is man, what a wonder ?

Psalm viii.

1.

How noble is thy mighty Name,
 O Lord, o're all the worlds wide frame,
 Whose glory is advanc't on high
 Above the rowling heavens racke!
 How for the gracelesse scorner's sake,
 To still the avenging enemy,

2.

Hast thou by tender infants tongue,
 The praise of thy great Name made strong,
 While they hang sucking on the brest!
 But when I see the heavens bright,
 The moone and glittering starres of night,
 By thine Almighty hand address,

3.

Oh! what is man, poore silly man,
 That thou so mind'st him, and dost daine
 To look at his unworthy seed!
 Thou hast him set not much beneath
 Thine Angels bright; and with a wreath
 Of glory hast adorn'd his head.

4.

Thou hast him made high soveraigne
 Of all thy works, and stretcht his raigne
 Unto the heardes, and beasts untame,
 To fowles, and to the scaly traine,
 That glideth through the watry Maine.
 How noble each-where is thy Name!

25.—Certain Psalms, by Lord Verulam. 1625. 4<sup>o</sup>.

Psalm cxxxvii.

1.

When as we sate all sad and desolate,
By Babylon, upon the rivers side,
Eas'd from the Taskes, which in our captive state,
We were enforced daily to abide,
Our harps we had brought with us to the field,
Some solace to our heavy soules to yeeld.

But soone we found, we fail'd of our account,
For when our Mindes some freedome did obtaine,
Straight-waies the memory of Sion Mount
Did cause afresh our wounds to bleed againe ;
So that with present griefs, and future feares,
Our eyes burst forth into a streame of Teares.

3.

As for our Harps, since Sorrow strooke them dumbe,
We hang'd them on the Willow Trees were neare ;
Yet did our cruell masters to us come,
Asking of us some Hebrew Songs to heare ;
Taunting us rather in our Misery,
Than much delighting in our Melody.

4.

Alas (said we) who can once force or frame
His grieved and oppressed Heart to sing,
The prayses of Jehova's glorious Name,
In banishment, under a forraine King ?
In Sion is his seat, and dwelling place,
Thence doth He shew the brightnesse of his face.

5.

Hierusalem, where God his Throne hath set,
Shall any Hower absent thee from my minde ?
Then let my right Hand quite her skill forget ;
Then let my voice, and words, no passage finde ;
Nay if I doe not thee prefer in all,
That in the compasse of my thoughts can fall.

Remember thou, O Lord, the cruell cry
Of Edom's Children, which did ring and sound,

Inciting the Chaldæans Cruelty,
Downe with it, downe with it, even unto the ground.
 In that good day, repay it unto them,
 When thou shalt visit thy Hierusalem.

7.

And thou, ô Babylon, shalt have thy turne
 By just revenge, and happy shall he bee,
 That thy proud Walls and Towers shall wast and burne,
 And as thou did'st by us, so doe by thee.
 Yea happy he, that takes thy childrens Bones,
 And dasheth them against the pavement stones.

Psalm xix.

1. The glory of Almighty God,
 the heav'ns doe still proclaime:
 And their extended stately roundes,
 shew what his hands did frame.
2. Each day by day burstes dayly forth, the wonders of his might:
 And night to night instructing this,
 by darkenesse doth give light.
3. They have no speech nor words at all,
 their meaning to declare:
 and yet their voyce, without these helpes,
 is current every where.
4. Their line is stretch'd o're all the earth, their sounds no bounds confine:
 They are a tent, whereas install'd,
 the Sunne with pompe doth shine.
5. For like a bride-groome marching forth with a majestike pace:
 He like a strong man, cherefully
 doth runne a constant race.
6. He from the East, at first doth take his progresse to all parts:
 Then goes his circuit to the West,
 and heat to all imparts.

Psalm xxiii.

1.

Isr'ell's great Shepheard is my Shepheard kinde,
In him (therefore) all needfull things I finde;
Corporall comforts, aliment externall,
Spirituall Dainties, Manna, food supernal:
In fields hee foulds mee, full of tender Grasse,
Where silver-streames doe smoothlie, sweetly passe.

And when my soule with sorrow seemes deprest,
The Lord re-cheers it, with sweet peace and Rest,
And me with rules of Righteousnesse instructeth,
And me in Goodnesse graciously conducteth:
So that in Death's dire Dale I walke secure,
Thy rod, thy Staffe, supporting mee most sure.

3.

And, maugre all the malice of my foes,
My Cuppe with all choice Blessings overflowes,
My Table is with Dainties well appointed,
My head with Oyle of Gladnesse is annointed:
And, all my daies, God's Grace shall me defend
And in his holy-house, my life I'll spend.

29.—Psalm i. from the same version. 1640.

O blessed man, that in th' advice of wicked doeth not walk :
nor stand in sinner's way, nor sit in chayre of scornfull folk.

2. But in the law of Jehovah, is his longing delight :
and in his law doth meditate
by day and eke by night.
3. And he shall be like to a tree planted by water-rivers :
that in his season yeilds his fruit,
and his leaf never withers.
4. And all he doth, shall prosper well,
the wicked are not so :
but they are like unto the chaffe which winde drives to and fro.
5. Therefore shall not ungodly men, rise to stand in the doome, nor shall the sinners with the just,
in their assemblie come.
6. For of the righteous men, the Lord acknowledgeth the way :
but the way of ungodly men,
shall utterly decay.

30.—*Psalm i.* from the same version, corrected by Dunster and Lyon. 1650. 8°.*

1.

O blessed man that walks not in th' advice of wicked men
Nor standeth in the sinners way nor scorers seat sits in.

2. But he upon Jehovah's law

And in his law doth meditate both in the day and night.

3. He shall be like a planted tree by water brooks, which shall
In his due season yield his fruit.
whose leaf shall never fall:

4. And all he doth shall prosper well.
The wicked are not so:
But they are like unto the chaff.
which wind drived to and fro.

5. Therefore shall no ungodly men in judgement stand upright.
Nor in th' assembly of the just shall stand the sinfull wight.

6. For of y<sup>e</sup> righteous men, y<sup>e</sup> LORD

1.

On the proud bankes of great Euphrates flood
 There we sate, and there we wept :
 Our Harpes that now no musick understood,
 Nodding on the willowes slept,
 While unhappy captiv'd wee
 Lovely Sion thought on thee.

2.

They then that snatcht us from our countries breast
 Would have a song carv'd to their eares
 In Hebrew numbers, then (ô cruell jest !)
 When Harpes and Hearts were drown'd in teares
 Come, they cry'd, come sing and play
 One of Sion's songs to day.

3.

Sing ? play ? to whom (ah) shall we sing or play
 If not Jerusalem to thee ?
 Ah thee Jerusalem ! ah sooner may
 This hand forget the masterie
 Of Musicks dainty touch, then I
 The Music of thy memory ;

4.

Which when I lose, ô may at once my tongue
 Lose this same busie speaking art,
 Unpearch't, her vocall Arteries unstrung
 No more acquainted with my heart,

 A wither'd leaf, an idle guest.

5.

No, No, thy good Sion alone must crowne
 The head of all my hope-nurst joyes.
 But Edom cruell thou ! thou cryd'st downe, downe
 Sinke Sion, downe and never rise,
 Her falling thou didst urge, and thrust,
 And haste to dash her into dust.

6.

Dost laugh ? proud Babils daughter ! do, laugh on,
 Till thy ruine teach thee teares,

Even such as these ; laugh, till a venging throng
 Of woes, too late doe rouze thy feares.
 Laugh, till thy childrens bleeding bones
 Weepe pretious teares upon the stones.

Psalm xix.

The heav'ns God's glory do declare :
 The skyes his hand-works preach.
 Day utters speech to day, and night to night doth knowledge teach.

There is no speech nor tongue, to which their voice doth not extend.
 Their line is gone through all the earth,
 their words to the world's end.

In them he set the sun a tent who bride-groom-like forth goes From's chamber, as a strong man doth, to run his race, rejoyce.

From heavn's end is his going forth circling to th' end again :
 And there is nothing from his heat that hidden doth remain.

36.—The Psalms, by Bishop King. 1651. 12°.

1.

The Heavens high declare the fame
 Of God, who did them frame,
 One day another tels, and night
 His wonders doth recite.

They have no language, yet they teach,
 Without or tongue, or speech :
 And through the earth their sound is gone
 To every Nation.

3.

Ps. xix.

1.

The Heavn's, whose beauteous frame we see,
God's skill and pow'r proclaim ;
The laws by which each day succeeds
The night, declare the same.

These, tho' they have no voice like ours,
Nor words to them belong ;
Yet they express to all the world
Thy praise, without a tongue.

3.

The Sun has there a glorious tent :
No bridegroom shews his face
So chearful, nor no Champion runs
With so much strength his race.

4.

Forth from the eastern coast he bends
His course unto the west :
All th' earth rejoices in his light,
And by his heat is blest.

38.—The Ascents of the Soul, by Lord Coleraine, 1681.

Ps. cxxiv.

Had not the Lord been on our side,
Now may the wrastling Israel say,
When Esau did his troops provide ;
Our flocks had been the Lyon's prey.

2.

Had not the Lord been on our side,
 When men against us rose (like waves);
 The surges of their rage and pride
 Had snatcht us quick into our graves.

3.

Like Whales upon Amittay's son,
 Death's jaws on us they opened wide;
 Dathan's strange end how could we shun,
 Had not the Lord been on our side?

4.

When seas of rage swell'd to that height
 As on our souls to whelm their tide;
 Those torrents had destroy'd us quite
 Had not the Lord been on our side.

5.

Then had the stream our strength o'erpowr'd
 But we through floods, thro' foes, did wade;
 And were not, as a prey, devour'd
 Nor of their cursed teeth afraid.

6.

Blessed be God! our life's got free
 From all the toyls their mischief set;
 As birds out of a snare, so we
 'Scape strangely through the fowler's net.

7.

Hell snares are broke, our souls are freed,
 For on God's help our hearts are stay'd;
 God's word speaks Heav'n, and earth his deed;
 His hands preserve the works they made.

8.

God keep us all, as all he made;
 From Him the heav'ns and earth proceed:
 Upon his truth our trust is stay'd:
 Hell's snares are broke, and we are free'd.

Ps. xix.

The Heavns throughout their vast extent
 Proclaim their great Creator's praise:

And the star-spangled firmament
His wondrous workmanship displays.

Each day unto the next relates
His daily Providence's stories :
Night likewise after night repeats
Renewed prospects of His glories.

Wherever men converse by speech,
Though various languages they use,
These preachers, understood by each,
Nature's religion do infuse.

Their line through all the earth is gone,
And their words reach its utmost bounds :
For in them dwells the glorious Sun,
Whose constant light the world surrounds.

Each morning, like a Bride-groom trim'd
His golden beams adorn his face :
And as a giant strongly limb'd,
Rejoycing, he begins his race.

From th' Eastern point of Heaven bright
He makes his progress to the West :
Scatt'ring each-where both heat, and light
With which all creatures are refresht.

40.—Brady and Tate's first Specimen. 1695. 8°.

The Heav'ns declare thy glory, Lord, which that alone can fill ;
The firmament and stars express
Their great Creator's skill.

Revolving days, with ev'ry dawn,
fresh beams of knowledge bring :
From darkest nights successive rounds divine instructions spring.

3.

Their pow'rful language to no realm
or region is confin'd ;
Tis Nature's voice, and understood alike by all mankind.

Their doctrine's sacred sense itself through earth's extent displays ;
 Whose bright contents the circling Sun
 Around the world conveys.

5.

No Bride-groom for his nuptials drest,
 has such a chearful face ;
 No Giant does like him rejoyce to run his glorious race.

From East to West, from West to East,
 his restless circuit goes ;
 And through his progress, chearful light and vital warmth bestows.

That all and singuler divines
in Churches Cathedraill
And ministers in everie Church which is Parochiall :
Or other place, that is for use of prayer knowne by name,
In England's realme or within dominions of the same,

3 D

16.

Shall alwayes on the fifth day of the moneth of each November,
 In prayers to Almighty God give praise and thanks for ever :
 For this most wondrous happienesse
 in our deliverance :
 That so the same may be preserv'd in due remembrance

The fifth part.

17.

And that all people dwelling in England's dominion,
 They shall resort with diligence
 Allway that day upon,
 In faithfullnesse, to parish Church
 or Chapel customed :
 Or to some usuall place, whereas our God is worshiped

18.

In prayer, preaching, or the lyke,
 to serve God usually :
 And then and there they shall abyde
 in order, soberly :
 All tyme of prayer, reverently,
 or preaching of God's word,
 Or anie other service true performed to the Lord.

19.

And that all persons maie be put in mynde of this good lawe,
 And of this dutie : as they stande
 of God and King in awe :
 And that they maie the better to the same prepared be
 In holie service to our God.
 Be it a sure decree

21.

May duly be observed as a day of sanctitie :
 And that that daye, this Act be read
 In publique distinctly.

FINIS.

[This Act is printed at the end of H. Dod's version of the Psalms, 1620.]

44.—Psalm cxxiii. paraphrased by waye of thanksgiving for our great deliverances from the Papists Powder Plot : by I. Vicars.
 1631. 12<sup>o</sup>.

1.

Now may England
 confess and say surely ;
 If that the Lord
 Had not our cause maintain'd,
 If that the Lord
 Had not our state sustain'd
 When Antichrist
 Against us furiouslie
 Made his proud Brags
 And said, We should all die

2.

Not long ago
 They had devoured us all :
 And swallowed quicke
 For ought that we could deeme :
 Such was their rage
 As we might well esteeme :

3 D 2

And as proud floods
 With mighty force do fall ;
 So their mad-rage
 Our lives had brought to thrall.

3.

Our King and Queene
 The Prince and princely race ;
 Their Counsell grave,
 And chief Nobility ;
 The Judges wise
 And prime tribe of Levi ;
 With all the prudent
 Statesmen of the Land,
 By Pouder fierce
 Had perished out of hand.

4.

The raging streames
 Of Rome with roaring noise
 Had with great woe
 Ore-whelm'd us in the Deepe :
 But, blessed Lord
 Thou didst us safely keep
 From bloodie teeth
 And their devouring jawes :
 Which as a prey
 Had griped us in their clawes.

5.

But, as a bird, .
 Out of the fowler's grin,
 Escapes away :
 Right so it far'd with us ;
 Broke were their nets
 And Wee have scaped, Thus,
 God that made heaven
 And earth was our Helpe then
 His mercy saved us
 From these wicked men.

6.

O let us therefore
 With all thanks and praise, .

Sing joyfully
To Christ our heavenly King :
Whose wisdom high
This fact to light did bring :
Grant then ô Lord
We doe thee humbly pray
We may accord
To praise thy name alway.
Amen.

APPENDIX F.

DESCRIPTIONS OF EDITIONS OF THE PSALMS.

1.—The Psalms. (Argentine). 1530. 24°.

Title, in black and red, within a compartment, "The Psalter of David in Englishe purely ad faithfully trāslated aftir the text of Feline: every Psalme hauynge his argument before, declarynge breffly thentente & substance of the wholl Psalme." On the reverse, "Johan Aleph greteth the Englishe nacion. Be glad in y<sup>e</sup> Lorde (dere brothern) & geve him thanks: which nowe a y<sup>e</sup> laste of his merciable goodnes hath sente ye his Psalter in Englishe, faithfully & purely translated: which ye may not mesure and Juge aftir the comē texte. For the trowth of y<sup>e</sup> Psalmes muste be fetched more nyghe y<sup>e</sup> Ebrue veritie, in the which tonge David, with the other syngers of y<sup>e</sup> Psalmes firste sunge them. Let y<sup>e</sup> gostly lerned in y<sup>e</sup> holy tonge be juges. It is y<sup>e</sup> spirituall man (saith Paule) which hath the spirit of god y<sup>t</sup> muste de—rue & juge all thynges. And y<sup>e</sup> men quietly sittynge (if the truth be shewed them) must juge and stand up and speke (the firste interpret<sup>r</sup> holdynge his pease) god geve ye true spirituall & quiete sittynge juges Amē."

The first Psalm, with a wooden initial, containing David playing on the harp. Psalm cl. ends on fol. 235. Then follow 8 pages of tables. At the end, "Emprinted at Argentine in the yeare of oure lorde 1530. the 16. daye of January by me Francis foxe (not foye, as it has been often printed.) Praise ye the lorde." The titles, initials of each verse, and some other parts, are in red. The folios are numbered in Arabic numerals. The signatures run in eights. A full page contains 21 lines.

The Museum copy is a beautiful one, it formerly belonged to Dr. Coombe. I do not know of the existence of a second.

2.—The Psalter, by George Joye. 1534. 24°.

The title, surrounded by a rude woodcut, in four parts, "David's Psalter, diligently and faithfully trāslated by George Joye, with brief Arguments before every Psalme, declaringe the effecte therof. Psalme cxx. Lorde, delyver me from lyinge lippes ad from a deceaitful tonge."

The whole of this, except the words "David's" and "Psalmes cxx." is in red. Reverse of the title, blank. No dedication, nor preface. The text, fol. 2—221: on this last is, "Thus endeth the text of the Psalmes, translated oute of Latyne by George Joye. The year of our Lorde M.D.xxxiiii, y<sup>e</sup> monethe of Auguste." Then follows a table of contents, 7 pages, unnumbered; after which, "Martyne Emperowr. 1534." The book is printed in Gothic letter, of two sizes; it has titles and arguments to each Psalm; and a few marginal notes. The leaves are numbered. A full page contains 21 lines. The Cambridge copy of this excessively rare book, is quite perfect.

3.—The Psalms, by Jo. Campensis. No place. 1534. 16°.

Title, in a neat woodcut border, "A paraphrasis upon al the Psalmes of David, made by Johannes Cāpensis, reader of the Hebrue lecture in the universitie of Lovane, and trāslated out off Latyne into Englishe. 1534." The reverse is blank. "Unto the reader," 2 pages. The Text, fol. a iii—& 8; concluding, on the reverse, with the words, "Here endeth the Paraphrasis upon the Psalter of David made by Johannes Campensis." The volume bears no name of place or printer.

4.—Goostly Psalms, by Miles Coverdale. (1539?) 4°.

Of this very rare volume, unnoticed (until recently) by all our bibliographers<sup>a</sup>, and of which perhaps the only copy now remaining is the one preserved in the library of Queen's College, Oxford, the following description, though long, may be acceptable. The title, "Goostly psalmes and spirituall songes drawn out of the holy Scripture, for the comferte and consolacyon of soch as love to rejoyse in God and his worde. Psalm cxlvi. O prayse the

<sup>a</sup> I had said (p. 136.) that this volume was utterly unnoticed; and at the time of writing that note, I believed it to be so: for I had not then had an opportunity of consulting the first edition of Fox's Book of Martyrs, a volume of which the inspection "non cuivis homini contingit." In that edition, at the end of some Injunctions issued by K. Henry VIII. in 1539, is a Catalogue of books forbidden to the people; and among those attributed to Coverdale, occurs "Psalmes and spirituall songes drawn out of the holie Scripture."

This denunciation may have greatly contributed to its present rarity. No mention however is there made whether these Psalms were in prose or verse. This list of prohibited books seems to have been omitted in all subsequent editions of Fox's history; at least it is not contained in those of the years 1576. 1583. 1641. 1684. nor is it given by Wilkins in his Concilia; although the Injunctions themselves are there reprinted. The Psalms have been recently reprinted, in "Coverdale's Remains," 1846. 8°.

" Lorde, for it is a good thinge to synge prayses unto oure God.
 " Collos. iii. Teach & exhorte your awne selves with Psalmes &
 " Hymns & spirituall Songes. Jaco. v. Yf eny of you be mery,
 " let him singe Psalmes.

" To the boke.

" Go lytle boke, get the acquaintaunce
 " Amonge the lovers of Gods worde
 " Geve them occasyon the same to avaunce
 " And to make theyr songes of the Lorde
 " That they may thrust under the borde
 " All other balettes of fylthynes
 " And that we all with one accorde
 " May geve ensample of godlynes

 " Go lytle boke amonge mens chyl dren
 " And get the to theyr compayne
 " Teach them to synge y<sup>e</sup> cōmaundementes ten
 " And other balettes of God's glorie
 " Be not ashamed I warande the
 " Though thou be rude in songe and ryme
 " Thou shalt to youth some occasion be
 " In godly sportes to passe theyr tyme."

On the reverse, " Myles Coverdale Unto the Christen reader. It
 " greveth me (most deare Reader) whā I consydre the unthank-
 " fulnesse of men, &c. &c. — Yee wolde God that oure myn" strels had none other thyng to playe upō, nether our carters &
 " plowmen<sup>b</sup> other thyng to whistle upon, save Psalmes, hymnes,
 " and soch godly songes as David is occupied with all. And yf
 " women syttyng at theyr rockes, or spynnyng at the wheles,
 " had none other songes to passe theyr tyme withall, thā soch as " Moses sister, Elchanahs wife, Debora, and Mary the mother of " Christ have songe before thē, they shulde be better occupied, <sup>b</sup> Thus also had said Erasmus, in the preface to his first edition of the New Testament in Greek [Basil. 1516. fol.] "Optarim ut omnes mulierculæ legant Evangelium, legant Paulinas Epistolas. Atque utinam hæc in omnes omnium linguas essent transfusa, ut non solum a Scotis et Hybernis, sed a Turcis quoque et Saracenis legi cognoscique possint.

"Primus certe gradus est, utcumque cognoscere. Esto riderent multi, at caperentur aliquot. Utinam hinc ad stivam aliquid decantet agricola, hinc nonnihil ad radios suos moduletur textor, hujusmodi fabulis itineris tandem levet viator. Ex his sint omnia Christianorum omnium colloquia. "Tales enim ferme sumus, quales sunt cotidiane nostræ confabulationes."

“ then with hey nony nony, hey troly loly, & soch lyke fantasies.
 “ — Therefore to geve oure youth of Englonde some occasion
 “ to chaunge theyr foule & corrupte balettes into swete songes
 “ and spirituall Hymnes of God’s honoure, and for theyr owne “ consolacion in hym, I have here (good reader) set out certayne “ cōfortable songes grounded on God’s worde, and taken some “ out of the holy scripture specyally out of the Psalmes of David,
 “ at whō wolde God that oure musicians wolde lerne to make “ theyr songes : — As for the comē sorte of balettes which now
 “ are used in y<sup>e</sup> world, I reporte me to every good man’s cōsciēce “ what wycked frutes they brynge. — Alas the worlde is all to “ full of vicious and evell lyvers alre dy. It is no nede to cast “ oyle in y<sup>e</sup> fyre. Oure owne nature provoketh us to vyces (God “ knoweth) all to sore. No man nedeth entysynge therto.” —

“ Now (beloved reader) thou seist the occasyon of this my small “ labour. Wherefore yf thou perceavest, that the very worde of “ God is y<sup>e</sup> master therof, I praye the accepte it, use it, and pro“ voke youth unto y<sup>e</sup> same. And yf thou felest in thine hert, that “ all the lordes dealyng is very mercy & kyndnes, cease not then
 “ to be thākfull unto hym therfore : but in thy myrth be alwaye “ syngyng of him, that his blessed name may be praysed now and “ ever. Amen.”

This title and address occupy 4 leaves, with the signature ✠
 Then begin, “Goostly Psalmes,” &c. in various metres, with musical notes, fol. i. continued to fol. lvi. ; on the reverse of the last is a Table of the Songs contained : [among them are, the Magnificat, Nunc dimittis, and Psalms xi. ii. xlv. cxxiii. cxxxvi. cxxvii (2). l. (2). cxxix. xxiii. lxvi. xiii. cxlvi. cxxxii, according to the numbering of the Latin Vulgate.] “Imprynted by me Johan Gough, “cum privilegio Regali.” The signatures run in fours. The type is Gothic.

5.—The Psalms. Printed by E. Whitchurch. (1547 ?) 12°.

Title, in black and red, within a compartment, “The psalter of “David in English truly translated out of Latyn. Every psalme “havyng his argument before, declaryng brefely thentēt & sub“stance of the whole Psalme. Whereunto is annexed in thende “certayne godly prayers thoroweoute the whole yere, comōnly “called collettes.” On the reverse, a woodcut of David and Bathsheba. “The firste psalme,” fol. ii. Psalm cl. ends on fol. cxiii.
 Table; “Prayers called Collettes,” fol. cxiiii—cxxxviii. On the last, "Imprynted by Edwarde Whȳtchurch cum privilegio ad imprimendum solum." Then follow the Song of the three Children, Magnificat, Benedictus, Te Deum, and the Athanasian Creed; occupying 4 leaves, not numbered. The titles of the Psalms, and initials of the verses, are in red. The signatures run in eights. A full page contains 34 lines.

6.—The Psalter, Cranmer's translation, by R. Grafton. 1548. 4<sup>o</sup>.

Title, in black within a border, "The Psalter or Psalmes of David after the translation of the great Bible, poincted as it shalbe song in Churches. Cum privilegio &c. 1548." Reverse blank. An Almanac, in black and red: on the reverse, a Table of the names of the psalms after the order of the Alphabet. In this page the dividing letters A B & c are printed in red, all the rest in black, 5 pages. Te Deum, &c. 6 pages; altogether 7 leaves. The Text, A ii—s s v. On the reverse, "Imprinted &c. by Richard Grafton &c. M.D.XLVIII." On recto of the next leaf is Grafton's large device.

The Latin titles of the Psalms are in Italics. The signatures run in fours. On K iv b a line has been omitted in the printing, and is pasted on. A full page contains 25, sometimes 26, lines.

7.—The Psalter, Cranmer's version, by E. Whitchurch. 1549. 4<sup>o</sup>.

Title, in black, without a border, "The Psalter &c. (as before) —1549." The Text, A ii—c v. "Te Deum, Benedicite &c." "The Latany" &c. A Table containing the names of the Psalms, &c. Sign. A—E. Colophon, "Printed at London in Fletestrete at the synge of the Sunne, by Edward Whitechurch.

The Latin titles of the Psalms are in small black letter. The signatures run in eights and fours alternately. A full page contains 25 lines.

8.—The Psalter, Cranmer's version. At Worcester. 1549. 4<sup>o</sup>.

Title, in black and red, within a handsome woodcut border, "The Psalter or Psalmes of David after the translation of the great Bible, perfectly pointed as it shall be songe in Churches: With a Table shewynge what Psalmes be appointed for every day in the year. Cum privilegio &c. ANNo Do. M.D.XLIX. Mense Septembris." On reverse, in black and red, "In the end of this boke is added to. Te Deum," &c. &c. A Calendar, in black and red, 12 pages. An Almanac for xix years, beginning 1548,

1 page. The order how the Psalter is to be read, 1 page. The Text A i—P iiij. A Table of names of the Psalms, 6 pages: on reverse of the last, "Imprinted the fyrst day of Septembre. Anno "Do. M.D.XLIX. At worceter by Jhon Oswen. Cum privilegio ad "imprimendum solum."

9.—The Psalter, by R. Crowley. 1549. 4°.

Title, in red and black, "The Psalter of David newly translated into Englysh metre in such sort that it maye the more decently, and wyth more delyte of the mynde, be reade and songe of al men. Wherunto is added a note of four partes, wyth other thynges, as shall appeare in the Epistle to the Reader. Translated and Imprinted by Robert Crowley in the yere of our Lorde. M.D.XLIX. the xx daye of September. And are to be solde in Eley rentes in Holburne. Cum Privilegio ad Imprimendum solum." On the reverse is a Table to find all moveable feasts. A Calendar, in red and black, 6 pages. "To the Christian Reader," (in which, among other things, Crowley announces that he has followed the translation of Leo Judas,) 3 pages. The "note of four parts," 2 pages. A Latin dedication to the President and Fellows of Magdalene College, Oxford, 3 pages. The Text, beginning on sign. A i. ending on T t ii. Immediately after the Psalms follow the Magnificat, Nunc dimittis, Benedictus, Benedicite, Te Deum, & Quicunque vult; ending on the reverse of U u iiiii. The word Finis, but no other colophon. The leaves are not numbered: the signatures run in fours. The whole of the book is in the Gothic letter, except the Latin Dedication, which is in Italics. A full page contains 30 lines.

10.—The vii Psalms, by Sir Thomas Wyatt. 1549. 12°.

Title, "Certayne Psalmes chosen out of the psalter of David, commonly called thee. vii penytentiall psalmes, drawen into englyshe meter by Sir Thomas Wyat Knyght, wherunto is added a prologe of y<sup>e</sup> auctore before every psalme, very pleasaūt & profettable to the godly reader. Imprynted at London' in Paules Churchyarde, at the sygne of thee Starre, By Thomas Raynald. and John Harryngton." On the reverse is a Dedication by John Harryngton to William Marquess of Northampton, 3 pages. "The Prologe of the author" (in verse) 6½ pages; which is followed immediately by the Text. The volume is printed in black letter, (except the Latin titles to each Psalm, which are in Roman.) It contains signatures A i—E iv in eights: the leaves are not numbered. On the recto of the last we read, “FINIS. Cum privilegio ad imprimendum solum. M.D.XLIX. The last day of December.” A full page contains 24 lines.

11.—Psalms by Sternhold. (Second edition?) 1549. 12<sup>o</sup>.

Title, within a compartment bearing Edward Whitchurch's cipher at the bottom, “Al such Psalmes of David as Thomas Sternehold late grome of y<sup>e</sup> kinges Maiesties Robes didde in his life time draw into English metre. Newly emprinted by Edward Whitchurche. Cum privilegio ad imprimendum solum.” Reverse blank. A Preface to King Edward VI, 4 pages. The Psalmes (thirty-seven in number) by Sternhold commence on sign. A iiii. and end on the recto of c ii with the words, “Finis. Here end the psalmes drawen into Englishe metre, by M. Sternholde.” On the reverse is a preface by John Hopkins, announcing his addition of seven others to those translated by Sternhold; c iii to h iii. On the reverse of which last we read, “Finis. Imprinted at London by Edward Whitchurche. the xxiiii daye of December. ANNO. Dom. 1549.” At the end is a spare leaf, containing a woodcut of the church, &c. as in the edition of 1551.

The volume is well printed: the psalms are in a large Gothic letter: the titles to each psalm, and the running titles, in Italics; the contents of each psalm (in a four-lined stanza) in a smaller Gothic. The leaves are not numbered: the signatures run in eights. A full page contains 24 lines.

The Cambridge copy of this very rare edition is perfect and in fine condition.

12.—Psalms by W. Hunnis. 1550. 12<sup>o</sup>.

Title, within an architectural compartment, having a female figure, seated, at the bottom, “CERTAYNE Psalmes chosen out of the Psalter of David, and drawen furth into Englysh meter by William Hunnis servant to the ryght honorable syr Wylliam Harberde knight Newly collected and imprinted.” On the reverse is an address to the reader, 2 pages; in which Hunnis states that he has “picked out these psalmes folowing which no late wryter hath hytherto touched,” and promises that “other thynges shalbe taken in hande of me, bothe more wyllnglye and also finished more exactlye, yf I do perceiue these the fyrste fruites of my labours and paynes to be accepted & taken in good worth.

"Farewell." Then follows the Text, consisting of psalms 51. 56. 57. 113. 117. 147. (none of which had been versified by Sternhold or Hopkins); the Song of Zacharias; the Song of the three Children; a thanksgiving to God for delivering from adversitie, Ecclesiastus the last; and, the Complaint of a sinner. The whole of these are in stanzas of four lines, excepting the last, which is in six-lined stanzas, with the burden Miserere mei Deus.—The work consists of 14 unnumbered leaves; on the last of which is, "Imprynted at London in Aldersgate Strete by the wydowe of Jhon Herforde, for Jhon Harrington the yere of our lorde. m.d. and l. Cum privilegio ad imprimendum solum."

The volume is printed in black letter; but the Latin titles of each psalm, and the running title "certayne psalmes in metre," are in Italics. A full page contains 20 lines.

The Cambridge copy is quite perfect, sound, and clean. I have never yet met with another.

13.—Psalms by Sternhold, 1551. 12°.

Title, within a compartment, "Psalmes of David drawn into English metre by Thomas Sterneholde. Cum privilegio, &c. Imprinted at London by Edward Whitchurche, anno Domini 1551." [This is taken from the Censura literaria, for the Bodleian copy wants the title.] A Dedication to King Edward VI. 4 pages. The running title of this is, "The preface." "Psalmes of David," &c. from signature A iiii. to G ii. on the recto of which is, "Finis. Here ende the Psalmes drawn into Englishe metre by M. Sterneholde." On the reverse is Hopkins' address to the reader, concerning his addition of vii psalms of his own translation. "Psalmes of David," &c. fol. G iii to H iii; on the reverse of the last leaf is the colophon, "Imprinted at London in Flete Strete at the signe of the Sunne over against the conduit, by Edward Whitchurche, the xxii day of June. Anno Dom. 1551."

At the end of the book is a spare leaf, containing a woodcut of the church in a state of glory, with this line in the inner margin, "All fayre and white art thou my churche, and no spotte is in thee." The reverse is blank <sup>a</sup>.

<sup>a</sup> In Trinity College Dublin there is an edition which in most particulars agrees with this: but the Title reads, "All suche Psalmes of David as Thomas Sternholde late Grome—dyd in hys lyfe tyme drawe, &c.:" and it bears no date; and the book is entirely in black letter, except the Latin titles, which are in Roman. The copy wants the last two leaves, and two others in the middle. Probably it was printed in this year or the following. A full page contains 24 lines.

The Psalms translated by Sternhold are in number thirty-seven, viz. i. to xvii. xix. xx. xxi. xxv. xxviii. xxix. xxxii. xxxiv. xli. xliii. xliv. xlix. lxiii. lxxiii. lxxviii. ciii. cxx. cxxiii. cxxviii. The seven added by Hopkins are Psalms xxx. xxxiii. xlii. lii. lxxix. lxxxii. cxlvi. The Text of the volume is in Gothic; the running title, and Latin titles of the Psalms, in Italic; the sum of each Psalm, (one stanza) in Roman. The leaves are not numbered. The signatures run in eights. A full page contains 24 lines.

14.—Psalms by Sternhold. (1551?) 24<sup>o</sup>.

Title, within a compartment, having at the bottom Whitchurch's cipher with the engraved date 1545, "Psalmes of David drawn into Englyshe metro by Thomas Sterneholde. Cum privilegio ad imprimendum solum." The reverse is blank. A preface to King Edward VI. 5 pages. The Psalmes, &c. sign. a iv b to f viii. on the recto of which is, "Finis. Here end the Psalmes drawn into English metre, by M. Sternhold." On the reverse is John Hopkins' address to the reader, respecting the seven psalms which he added. The Emmanuel College copy stops here.

It is printed in black letter; the titles, and running title, in Roman; the sum of each psalm, in Italic. The signatures run in eights. A full page contains 27 lines.

15.—Certain Psalms by F. Seagar. 1553. 12<sup>o</sup>.

Title, within an architectural compartment, "Certayne Psalmes select out of the Psalter of David, and drawn into Englyshe metre, wyth Notes to every Psalme in iiij parts to Synge, by F. S. Imprinted at London by vvylllyam Seres, at the sygne of the Hedge Hogge. 1553." The reverse is blank. An Epistle or Dedication (in verse) "to the ryght honorable lorde Russell," 4 pages. Psalms 88. 31. 51. 112. 130. 138. 140. 141. 142. 143. 144. 145. 146. 147. 149. 43. 64. 120. 70: after which comes, "A Discription of the lyfe of man, the worlde, and vanities therof (in four-lined stanzas:)" ending with "Finis. q<sup>d</sup> F. S. Cum privilegio ad imprimendum solum. 1553." The volume contains signatures A—g viii in eights. The pages are not numbered. The Text is in black letter; the titles and preface (of four lines) to each psalm, as also the running title, are in Roman. The musical notes are in four parts; and occupy the two opposite pages at the beginning of each psalm.

The copy in Emmanuel College Cambridge is perfect, sound, and clean; it formerly belonged to Archbishop Sancroft. Its rarity is considerable: but its poetical merits may be questioned. A full page contains 6 stanzas, or 24 lines.

16.—Fifty-one Psalms by Sternhold. Geneva. 1556. 16°.

Title, "One and fiftie Psalmes of David in Englishe metre, wherof .37. were made by Thomas Sterneholde: ad the rest by others. Cōferred with the hebrewe, and in certeyn places corrected as the Text, and sens of the Prophete required." Below is Crespin's device, viz. a large Y, with an old man holding up a rod in one hand, and with the other pointing to a scroll, which appears to encircle the Y, and contains the words, "Intrate per arctam viam.—Jam. 5. Yf any be afflicted let him pray, and if any be merye, let him singe Psalmes." The reverse is blank. The Psalms, (followed by "the Commādements of God," Exod. xx) p. 1—159. On the reverse, "The fautes Which chanced in printinge." The Psalms here printed are Sternhold's 37, and 7 by John Hopkins, as in the edition of 1551; to which are now added Ps. 23. 51. 114. 115. 180. 133. 137. all which appear to have been the productions of W. W. being the same with those which occur in later editions of the old version under those initials; with one exception, viz. ps. 115: for which in the more recent editions a different version (by N.) is substituted. The volume is printed in Roman letter; the marginal readings and references, in Italic. A full page (where the musical notes do not interfere) contains 30 lines.

This Psalter forms part of the Geneva Collection, of the Form of Prayers, Confession of Faith, Order of Discipline, Calvin's Catechism, &c.; but has a separate title, paging, and signatures. At the end of the Catechism, which is last in the volume, the Printer's device is repeated, with "Imprinted at Geneva by John Crespin. Anno. D.M.D.LVI. the tenth of february."

17.—Sixty-seven Psalms, by Sternhold, &c. 1560. 16°.

Title, "Psalmes of David in Englishe metre, by Thomas Sterneholde and others: conferred with the Ebrue, and in certein places corrected, as the sense of the Prophete required: and the Note ioyned withall. Very mete to be used of all sorts, &c. Newly set fourth and allowed, according to the order appointed in the Quenes Maiesties Iniunctions

"James v. If any &c.

"Colloss. iii. Let the word, &c.

1560."

The reverse is blank. On p. 3 Psalm 1 begins, having the note, and a preface before it. The Psalms here published are 67 in Number: viz. Ps. 1—17. 19. 20. 21. 23. 24. 25. 28. 29. 30. 32. 33. 34. 37. 41—44. 49—52. 63. 66. 67. 68. 71. 73. 78. 79. 82. 94. 103. 114. 115. 119. 121. 123. 124. 125. 127—130. 133. 137. 146. 149. These end at p. 181. They are followed by the Hymns Benedictus, Magnificat, and Nunc Dimittis, in metre; the ten Commandments, “with an addition: the Lord’s Prayer, and the xii Articles of the “Christen fayth.” The volume ends in the middle of this last piece, at p. 192. Not having met with any second copy, I am unable to say how much is wanting.

The Text of the Psalms is in Gothic: the titles, and the running title, in Roman. The pages are marked in figures. A full page (where no musical notes interfere) contains 4 eight-lined stanzas, or 32 lines: but sometimes 31; and occasionally 33.

18.—The Psalter, by Abp. Parker. (1560?) 4<sup>o</sup>.

Title, in black, within a border, “The whole Psalter translated “into English Metre, which contayneth an hundreth and fifty “Psalmes. The first quinquagene. Imprinted at London, by “John Daye” &c. “Ad lectorem, To the reader,” 1 leaf. “Of “the vertue of the Psalmes,” 12 pages. “Athanasius in psalmos,” 4 pages. “Of the use and vertue of the psalmes, by Athanasius,” 12 pages. “Psalmi quodammodo sic constituti,” &c. 3 pages. “Basilius, &c. in psalmos,” 18 pages. On the last is an extract from Lord Surrey’s translation of Ecclesiastes. “A short introduction.” The Text, Psalm i. with an argument in Italic, the text in Gothic, and a collect in Roman. On p. 146 is, “The ende “of the first Quinquagene.” “The seconde quinquagene,” &c. on a separate leaf; Psalms li. to c.; p. 147—280. “The third and “last quinquagene,” &c. as before: Psalms ci—cl.; p. 281—424. “Gloria Patri, Te Deum,” &c. 22 pages. “The eight tunes, with “the notes,” 18 pages. “The Table,” 3 pages. “Index,” 3 pages. “Fautes escaped,” 1 page. On the reverse, the printer’s device and Colophon.

19.—The Psalms, by Sternhold; in 4 parts. 1563. 4<sup>o</sup>.

Title of the first part, within a flowered border, “Medius of the “whole psalmes in foure partes, whiche may be song to al musicall “instrumentes, set forth for the encrease of vertue and abolishyng “of other vayne and triflyng ballades. Imprinted at London by "John Day dwelling over Aldersgate, beneath Saynt Martyns. "Cum gratiâ et privilegio Regiæ Maiestatis per septennium. 1563." On the reverse is a cut of the Royal Arms between two pillars, on the pedestals of which are the initials I. D. On the next leaf (A ii.) begins Veni Creator, followed by Venite, Te Deum, Benedicite, Benedictus, Quicumque vult, and other hymns, as far as page 23, on which is the first Psalm. This volume, of which the paging begins at sheet B, leaving A unnumbered, ends with p. 147; on the reverse is the printer's Colophon, as in the Title. 2. "Contra tenor of the whole psalmes," &c. as before. On the reverse, a woodcut of a man sitting opposite to a woman with two children, to whom he appears to be explaining something. This part contains pp. 149. with the Colophon, as before. 3. "Tenor of the whole psalmes," &c. as before. On the reverse the same woodcut. This contains pp. 141. with the Colophon, as before. 4. "Bassus of the whole psalmes," &c. as before. On the reverse the same woodcut. Then follows a table of Psalms and hymns, &c. contained in the book, 1 leaf, not paged. This part contains pp. 151; with the Colophon, as before. The musical notes are in every page. The pages are numbered. The signatures run in fours. Although the titles would lead us to believe that the whole Psalter was to be found in these volumes; yet they contain (in this copy) no more than sixty-two Psalms.

20.—The Psalms, by Sternhold. J. Day. 1563. 4°.

Title, within a woodcut border, "The VWhole Boke of Psalmes, "collected into English metre by Thomas Starnhold, J. Hopkins "and others: conferred with the Ebrue, with apt Notes to synge "them with all. Faithfully perused and alowed according to the "order appoynted in the Queenes Maiesties Iniunctions. Very "mete to be used of all sorts of people privatly for their solace " & comferte: laing a part all ungodly songs and Ballades, which "tende only to the norishing of vice & corrupting of youth [2 texts "of Scripture]. Imprinted at London by John Day dwellynge " &c. Cum gratia et privilegio Regie Maiestatis, perseptennium. "An. 1563." On the reverse is a large cut, of the Stationers' Arms. "A shorte introduction into the Science of Musicke, made "for suche as are desirous to have the knowledge therof, for the "singing of the Psalmes;" 9 pages. "A treatise by Athanasius," &c. 7 pages. "The use of the rest of the Psalmes," &c. 2 pages. "Veni Creator," &c. &c. sign. B iii to D i. ending with "FINIS."

On the reverse, paged 2, begins the Text, ending on p. 372. "Ser" tayne other Psalmes that be usually song," pp. 373, 374. More ought to follow, but this copy (Mr. L. Wilson's) ends here.

The volume is in black letter, long lines; running titles in the same type; but the marginal notes, and contents, are in a smaller Gothic: Latin titles, and numbers, in Roman.

21.—The Psalms, by Sternhold &c. 12°. Edinburgh. 1564.

The title of this rare and valuable book is as follows: "The " Forme of Prayers and ministration of the Sacraments &c. used " in the English Church at Geneva, approved and received by the " Church of Scotland. Whereunto besydes that was in the former
" bokes, are also added sondrie other prayers, with the whole
" Psalmes of David in English meter. The contents of this boke " are contained in the page following. 1 Corinth. iii. 'No man can " lay any other foundation, then that which is laid, even Christ
" Jesus.' Printed at Edinburgh by Robert Lekprevic M.D.LXIII." On the reverse of the Title, "The contents of the boke. 1. A Kal" lender with an almanack for 12 yeeres. 2. The Confession of the " Christian Faith. 3. The order of electing Ministers Elders and " Deacons. 4. The assembly of the Ministerie everie Thursday.
" 5. An order for interpretation of the Scriptures and answering " of doutes, observed one day in the weke 6. A confession of our " sinnes used before the Sermon. 7. Another confession used in " the Church of Edinburgh. 8. A confession used in tyme of ex-
" treame ttrouble (trouble). 9. A general prayer after the Sermō " for the whole state of Christs Church. 10. Other sortes of " prayers to be used after the Sermon, the Sunday and day of " publick prayer. 11. Prayers used in the tyme of persecution by " the Frenchemen and when the Lordes Table is ministred. 12. A
" thankesgiving for our deliverance, with prayers for continuance " of peace. 13. A prayer used at general and perticuler assem" blies. 14. The Ministration of Baptisme and the Lordes Supper.
" 15. The forme of Mariage. the visitation of the Sicke, with a " prayer for the Sicke, and the maner of Buryall. 16. An order " of Ecclesiastical Discipline. 17. The 150 Psalmes of David in " meter. 18. The Cathechisme of M. Calvin. 19. A brief exami" nation of Children before they be admitted to the Lords Table.
" 20. Sundrie sorts of prayers. 21. A prayer for Scollers. 22. A " prayer for labourers."

Then follow, in black and red letters, the Calendar and Almanac, a table for the Golden number &c.; "A table for the "shyning of the mone," with an address concerning it by William Stewart to the Reader: a rule to find out moveable Feasts: a rule to know when the mone ryseth &c.; and a sonnet of 14 lines addressed by Wm. Stewart to the Church of Scotland. All these pieces (including the Title) occupy 12 leaves. The "Confession "of faith &c." p. 1—117. A table of the Psalms, 4 leaves, unpaged. The Psalms (with music to the first stanza of each) p. 1—460. Next follows a new title, "The Catechisme or maner to "teache children the Christian religion. Wherein the minister "demandeth the question, and the chylde maketh answer: made "by the excellent Doctor and Pastor in Christs Church, John Calvin. Ephes. 2. The doctrine of the Apostles and Prophetes is "the foundation of Christs Church. Imprinted at Edinbrough by "me Robert Lekprivik. 1564. Cum privilegio." p. 1—181, where the volume ends, without any colophon or imprint, the verso of the last leaf being blank.

The version of the Psalms is that which was remodelled at Geneva, and there printed in 1556; as will be seen on referring to the specimen given above, at p. 361. The volume is fairly printed, in Roman letter of two sizes, the introduction to each Psalm being in a smaller character: the titles and running title are in Capitals: the signatures run in eights. A full page, where the musical notes do not interfere, contains 25 lines.

It is clear that Herbert had never seen this volume, of which he merely gives a slight notice from Collier's Ecclesiastical History. The Corpus Christi copy is exceedingly fine, in sumptuous calf binding of the time, clasped, the leaves gilded, and ruled with red lines throughout. It was presented to the College by Richard Thomson, a fellow, in the year 1623.

22.—The Psalms, Genevan version. H. Denham. 1578. 16°.

Title, "The Booke of Psalmes, wherein are containyd prayers, "meditations, prayeses and thankesgiving to God for hys benefits "towards his Church: translated faithfully according to the "Ebrewe: with briefe and apt Annotations in the margent," &c. &c. "Imprinted at London by Henry Denham, being the assigne "of W. Seres. 1578." On reverse, the Royal Arms. An Epistle to the Queen, 12 pages: To the reader, 4 pages: The Argument upon the Psalmes, 2 pages. The Text, commencing with a small headpiece containing the crest and motto of Lord Burleigh, p. 1—373. A Table, 5 pages, unnumbered: a second Table &c. 8 pages. On reverse, Denham's device and imprint.

23.—The Psalms, Scottish version. Middelburgh. 1594. 8°.

Title, "The cl. Psalmes of David in Meter. For the use of the "Kirk of Scotland." &c. A large cut of the Royal Arms of Scotland: beneath it, "Middelburgh, Imprinted by Richard Schilders, "Printer to the States of Zeeland." Reverse blank. "Ane Almanacke for the space of xxx 3eiris" beginning 1593. "A Calendar," 13 pages: "the use of the Epact," 1 page. "The names of "the Faires in Scotland," 2 pages. "The contentes of the Buke," 3 pages. The Confession of Faith, &c.; p. 1—247. A second title, with a woodcut of a Printing-press, and the words PRELUM. R. SCHILDERS. The Text ends on p. 776. "A Table of the hail Psalms," 3 pages, reverse blank.

24.—The Penitential Psalms, by Hunnis. 1600. 24°.

The title, "Seven Sobs of a sorrowful soule for sinne &c. (as in the editions of 1585 &c.) Whereunto are also annexed his Handful of Honisuckles: The poor Widow's mite: a Dialog betweene "Christ and a sinner: Divers godlie and pithie ditties, with a "Christian confession of and to the Trinitie; newly printed and "augmented. 1600."

The different pieces in the volume have separate Titles; which bear the imprint, "Newlie printed for Peter Short, 1600."

It is a very rare little book.

25.—The Psalms, in prose and verse. Dort. 1601. 16°.

Title, "The cl. Psalmes of DAVID in prose and meter. For the "use of the Kirk of Scotland. At Dort, Printed by Abraham "Canin, at the expenses of the aires of Henrie Charteris, and Andrew Hart. 1601. Cum Privilegio." An Almanac for 14 years to come: The Calendar, 13 pages. The use of the Epact, 2 pages. The Faires in Scotland, 2 pages. The Contents of the Buke, 3 pages. The Confession of Faith, &c. p. 1—202. A second Title, as before. The Text, p. 1—408. "A Table of the hail Psalmes," 6 pages: 1 blank leaf.

The prose is the Genevan version; the verse Sternhold's.

26.—Leighton's Penitential Psalms. 1618. 4°.

Title, "THE TEARES OR Lamentations of a sorrowful Soule. Set

" forth by Sir William Leighton Knight, one of His Maiesties Honorable Band of Pentioners. At London Printed by Ralph Blower. Anno Dom. 1613."

On the reverse, "A Declaration by the Author." "The Epistle dedicatorie," 3 pages. A metrical address to the reader; and various others (in verse) to the author, 7 pages. "To the Most High and Mighty Prince Charles, &c." 2 pages. The text, p. 1—189. Table of contents, 3 pages. This is a very scarce volume.

27.—The Psalms, by H. Dod. 1620.

Title, within a border, "Al the Psalmes of David: with certein songes and canticles of Moses, Deborah, Hezekiah, and others, not formerly extāt for song: and manie of the said Psalmes dayly omitted and not song at all, because of their difficult tunes. Nowe faithfully reduced into easie meeter, fitting our common tunes. Printed 1620." Dedication, 3 pages: To the Christian reader, 5 pages. Text, p. 1—375. A Table, 5 pages. "Sundrie Canticles, chosen out of the Scriptures," 3 pages.

On a separate title-page, "A Discription of the principal points contained in the Book of Psalms." The same Act of Parliament, &c. "for a publique thanksgiving upon the fift day of November, Enacted November the fift 1605, &c." 1620. 12°. A Table &c. 21 pages. The Act, 6 pages. "The same Act in verse, meete for song, thereby to retrain in minde our safetie from the gun-powder treason," 6 pages.

APPENDIX I.

Editions of the Bible, and of the Psalms, cited in the Catalogue of the Biblical Library of the Duke of Würtemberg ; which are not inserted in the preceding List, because hitherto I have had no opportunity of verifying their existence, and am of opinion that the dates, and sizes, of many of them are erroneously set down. N. B. It will be perceived, that this list is very much reduced, since the publication of my former edition.

- ✓ P. 23. (Bible, by Whitchurch, 4<sup>o</sup>.) add—St. Paul's Cathedral.
- ✓ P. 33. line 4. (Tie's Book of Wisdom.) This work is not in Lord Charlemont's library. On my first visit, "The Book of Wisdom, 1565" appeared in the Catalogue; but the little volume could not be found in its place: on making further search, after that sheet was printed off, the book was discovered: it was indeed "The Book of Wisdom," but a work of a totally different class.
- ✓ P. 36. line 10. for Devon, read Somerset.
- ✓ P. 45. add—1582. Bible, Genevan, 4<sup>o</sup>. London, by Chr. Barker.—Bodleian.
- ✓ P. 48. 1588. A copy of the Bishops' Bible, fol. is in the Bodleian.
- ✓ P. 71. line 10. the word Yorke ought to be in Roman letter.
- ✓ P. 85, line 10. For Hales, read Hailes.
- ✓ P. 102, add, 1781. The Song of Deborah; in verse, by Dr. Sneyd Davies (published in Nichols' Collection of Poems, vol. v.); London, for John Nichols. 12<sup>o</sup>.
- ✓ — The Lamentations of Jeremiah; paraphrased in verse, by Mrs. Wharton. (ibid.) 12<sup>o</sup>.
- ✓ P. 105. (Pentateuch, Hebrew and English, 1789.) This date ought to have been 1787. A copy of the work is in the Bodleian.
- ✓ P. 118. (Bible, Hebrew and English, 1822) add a note,—Only one number of this work is in the Bodleian.
- ✓ P. 119. (Bible, by W. Alexander, 1823.) This ought to be transferred to the year 1828. The work appeared in parts. The following Title was added in 1828: "The Holy Bible containing the Old and New Testaments, principally designed to facilitate the audible or social reading of the sacred Scriptures; illustrated, &c. by William Alexander. In three volumes. York, by W. Alexander and Son, 1828." There is a second Title, as for the Pentateuch alone, no more of the work having been published.
- ✓ P. 126. add—1838. Bible, by Miles Coverdale; reprinted from the edition of 1535. 4<sup>o</sup>. London, for Samuel Bagster.—Lismore Library.
- ✓ P. 128. add—1841. NEW TEST. Rhemish. Belfast, Syms and McIntyre.—Dr. Cotton. 18<sup>o</sup>.
- ✓ P. 130. add—1845. THE SONG OF SOLOMON; a metrical version: 8<sup>o</sup>. London.—Bodleian.
- ✓ P. 162, line 28. for Sir Thomas, read Sir William.
- ✓ P. 175. add—1636. The Seven Sobs of a Sorrowful Soul, &c. by W. Hunnis; now newly augmented: whereunto is added his Handful of Honisuckles, and the Poor Widow's Mite; London, by R. Y. for the Company. 12<sup>o</sup>.—Dr. Cotton.

- ✓ P. 197, add—1697. The PSALMS OF DAVID in meeter, newly translated. 8°. London.—Bodleian.
- ✓ P. 216, add to note 1.—Barclay's paraphrase was first published in 1767. A Selection of Psalms and Hymns by him, together with a paraphrase on the Epistle to the Hebrews, was published in 1783. 12°.
- ✓ P. 227, add—1826. The PSALMS, Scottish version, and Paraphrases and Hymns, with a Dissertation by the Rev. John Barclay, and an account of his life, Edinburgh, printed for the Committee of the Bersean Church. 12°. (I have seen it. H. C.)
- ✓ P. 230, add—1837. The PSALMS, translated from Martin Luther's Manual, by the Rev. H. Cole; London, Seelys. 12°. e/
- ✓ P. 234, add—1848. A Selection from the PSALMS, prepared for Congregational use; from the Hebrew, by Dr. Wait; London. 8°.—Bodleian.
- ✓ — 1848. Select PSALMS in English verse, by F. B. Burrow; London. 8°.—Bodleian.
- ✓ — 1850, for J. Fysh, read, the Rev. Frederick Fysh: and add, a second volume was published in 1851.
